The Inter-faith Council for Wales is currently working on a project with the Equality and Human Rights Commission and the Community Development Foundation to help build capacity for inter faith work in Wales. This includes holding Interfaith Consultation events across Wales and creating a Wales Interfaith Network to help share knowledge and experience of inter faith activities. The project will run from January to April 2010.

Interfaith Consultation Events across Wales are being held on the following dates:
27 March – Newport (South East Wales area)
17 April – Bangor (North West Wales area)
24 April – Lampeter (West Wales area)

For more information contact Nigel Anthony at info@interfaithwales.org.

The Inter-faith Council for Wales is developing an online Map and Directory of Interfaith groups, projects, activities and events across Wales. Anyone involved in such work is invited to contact the Council at info@interfaithwales.org or to phone Nigel Anthony, the Development Worker on 07940 001394. (The early development of the Map and Directory can be found at www.interfaithwales.org.)

Repair grants for places of worship

English Heritage, with the Heritage Lottery Fund, are running a Repair Grants for Places of Worship in England scheme, which is available to support urgent repair projects to listed places of worship in England, for example the repair of roofs, gutters, towers etc where the overall project cost is estimated to be in excess of £10,000. They welcome applications from any faith group that worships in a listed building, regardless of the type of building (for example, a building formerly used as a cinema but now used by a formally constituted faith group for worship at least six times a year would be eligible).

Applications can be made in two batches each year, with this year's application deadlines being 30 June 2010 for grade I and II listed buildings and 30 September 2010 for grade II buildings. An application pack can be downloaded from www.english-heritage.org.uk where you can also find details of your local English Heritage regional office to help you with any queries.

Research project on multi faith spaces

The University of Manchester have launched a new research project, Multi-Faith Spaces: Symptoms and Agents of Social and Political Change. They are currently in the early stages of their investigation and are seeking to locate a wide range of multi-faith spaces to visit and survey; speak with individuals who are (or have been) involved in their design and management; and locate and evaluate key documents and materials.

They would like to hear from anyone interested in taking part in this research, anyone who wishes to nominate a multi-faith space that could be included and anyone who has documents or photographs that might be of interest to the research team. For further information please visit their website at www.manchester.ac.uk/mfs or email mfs@manchester.ac.uk.

UNICEF and Religions for Peace release guide for religious communities

UNICEF and Religions for Peace have released From Commitment to Action: What Religious Communities can do to Eliminate Violence against Children. The joint guide, produced with input from religious actors and child protection specialists, aims to help religious communities harness their spiritual, moral and social strengths to prevent, respond to and eliminate violence against children.

From Commitment to Action outlines practical ways that religious leaders, theologians, educators, community mobilisers and others can respond to violence directed towards children that are in keeping with the recommendations of the Violence Study. It also includes concrete suggestions for how these actors can work effectively with governments, civil society and United Nations agencies.

IFN AGM and National Meeting

IFN held its AGM and National Meeting in London on 8 July. At the AGM Officers and Executive Committee members for 2010-11 were elected. Co-Chairs are Rt Revd Dr Alastair Redfern and Dr Manazir Ahsan MBE. Vice-Chairs are Dr Girdari Bhan; Venerable Bogoda Seelawimala; Dr Indarjit Singh CBE; and Mr Vivian Wineman.

The National Meeting was on the theme of 'Shaping our shared society: the key role of local inter faith organisations' with a wide range of speakers of different faiths from local, regional and national bodies. The meeting looked at how local inter faith organisations working at local level are developing their work, what challenges they are facing and the opportunities they see ahead. The day also included presentations on how national faith communities can support and encourage local work. Andrew Stunell MP, Parliamentary Under Secretary of State in the Department of Communities and Local Government was among the speakers.

Equality Act

The Government is taking steps to implement the core provisions of the Equality Act 2010 with effect from 1 October, (as the previous Government had planned), but decisions have not yet been taken about some of the Act's provisions, including those on public duties.

"Equality Act 2010: What do I need to know?" is a series of summary guides and 'Quick Start' guides to the key changes in the law, produced by the Government Equalities Office in partnership with the British Chambers of Commerce, Citizens Advice and the Equality and Diversity Forum, to support implementation of the Act. These guides set out clearly what the legislation will mean for business, the public sector, the voluntary sector and the public, aiming to help people understand their new responsibilities and rights.

The four guides are as follows:

- Equality Act: what do I need to know? A summary guide to your rights
- Equality Act: what do I need to know? A summary guide for voluntary and community sector service providers
- Equality Act: what do I need to know? A summary guide for public sector organisations
- Equality Act: what do I need to know? A summary guide for businesses who sell goods and services

The guides can be downloaded from www.equalities.gov.uk/default.aspx?page=1631.

Report on Places of Worship

The first ever sample survey of places of worship, recently published by English Heritage, indicates that 89% are in good condition but 11% are at risk or in serious need of repair.

Research into the impact of the £25 million a year Repair Grants for Places of Worship (RGPW) scheme, run jointly by English Heritage and the Heritage Lottery Fund, reveals that:

- 76% of congregations would not have been able to complete their repair and maintenance project at all without a grant.
- Without a grant, over the last eight years, some 1,190 of England's most important places of worship would have become seriously at risk and 30% state that they would have closed, 17% indefinitely.
- For 73% of places of worship, the RGPW makes up more than 50% of the total cost of their repairs.

Recipients of both schemes said grants helped them plan a more certain future for their place of worship, increase numbers of visitors and broaden community use. Grants also impact on the local economy as the research found that 90% of recipients exclusively used local businesses to undertake repairs.

In response to the survey, English Heritage has produced a practical guide, Caring for Places of Worship, together with a DVD and dedicated website, www.english-heritage.org.uk/powar. Dr Simon Thurley, Chief Executive of English Heritage, said: "We are also encouraging the different faith groups and Christian denominations to make the launch of Caring for Places of Worship the biggest ever co-ordinated offer of help to local congregations, reinforcing the good work already being done and supporting those that are struggling."

Church of England report on evangelism in a multi-faith society

The Church of England has published a General Synod report entitled Sharing the Gospel of Salvation exploring the subject of Christian evangelism in a multi-faith society. The report was commissioned after a Private Members Motion was put to the General Synod in February 2009 about evangelism among people of other faiths.

The report can be downloaded from:

'Big Society' and faith communities

Faith communities and inter faith bodies around the UK are beginning to explore the Government's Big Society agenda.

The theme was addressed in the presentation to IFN's National Meeting on 8 July by Andrew Stunell MP, one of CLG's new Ministers.

On 16 July, together with the Chief Rabbi, the Archbishop of Westminster and leaders of other faiths, the Archbishop of Canterbury hosted a discussion with the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, Eric Pickles, and CLG's Minister for Decentralisation, Greg Clark on the Government's Big Society agenda. www.archbishopofcanterbury.org/2939

Remembering the WWI contribution of Indian soldiers of different faiths

The Prince of Wales and The Duchess of Cornwall paid tribute to the contribution of Muslim and Sikh and Hindu soldiers in the First World War during a visit to the Neuve-Chapelle Indian Memorial on 19 July. Their Royal Highnesses attended a memorial service, which was attended by children from a number of schools in Britain learning about the contributions of the many different ethnic communities that fought and died in the First World War for the Allied cause. The Prince and The Duchess toured the memorial grounds meeting with veterans, Gurkhas and representatives from Britain's Hindu, Sikh and Muslim communities who had made the journey to Neuve-Chapelle especially for the service.

Review of Prevent

The Home Office's Structural Reform Plan includes a commitment to review the Prevent programme. The Government believes that this is not working as effectively as it could. The review will look at, among other matters, separating the Prevent strategy from wider community cohesion and integration work and how Prevent objectives are prioritised and how these are delivered locally. The Government is due to report on the findings of the review by January 2011. A rapid review of the Government's key counter-terrorism and security powers is also underway.

Carnegie UK Trust report on Making Good Society

The Carnegie UK Trust has recently published a report entitled 'Making Good Society'. This is the final report of the Commission of Inquiry into the Future of Civil Society, which explores how civil society, including faith communities, can help to grow a more civil economy, to enable a rapid and just transition to a low carbon economy, to democratise media ownership and content and to grow participatory and deliberative democracy.

Hard copies of the report can be ordered from makinggoodsociety@carnegieuk.org or it can be downloaded from http://democracy.carnegieuktrust.org.uk/civil\_society/publications/making\_good\_society.

ACPOS launches online inter faith discussion forum

An online inter faith discussion forum is being launched by the Association of Chief Police Officers in Scotland (ACPOS).

The inter faith web forum is the first of its kind to be used by police forces and partnership agencies across Scotland to gather opinions from young people of all faiths.

Its launch this week comes six months ahead of ACPOS' first Interfaith Youth Conference and aims to provide a platform for discussion before and after the event which is being held in December 2010. By engaging with young people across the country, ACPOS hopes the forum will not only give them a voice to raise concerns and issues, but will be used as a basis for generating the content of the conference itself. There are six key areas on the forum, including subjects such as the role of the media in representing faith communities and the impact of hate crime. Each area has been specifically chosen and tailored to reflect the different groups involved in the conference.

Following the event, the website will stream pod casts from the event's keynote speakers, allowing those unable to attend to listen to the content as well as contribute further to the forum and maintain an ongoing inter faith dialogue. The Interfaith Youth Conference will bring together 200 young people from faith communities across Scotland. Further information can be found by visiting the conference website at www.interfaithconnect.org.

The conference is being run by Association of Chief Police Officers in Scotland (ACPOS) with support from AMINA Muslim Women's Resource Centre, Anne Frank Foundation Scotland, British Transport Police, Crown Office and Procurator Fiscal Service (COPFS), Scottish Inter Faith Council, West of Scotland Regional Equality Council and with the co-operation of schools across Scotland.

Holocaust Memorial Day Trust

'Untold Stories' is the focus of Holocaust Memorial Day 2011.

The Holocaust Memorial Day Trust is running a programme of free afternoon workshops across the UK suitable for anyone organising an HMD 2011 event and is keen to work with faith and inter faith groups. The workshops will consist of an introduction to HMD and the resources available from HMDT, together with guidance on using the theme of Untold Stories. The workshops are being held during September and October. For more information visit www.hmd.org.uk or call 0845 838 1883. Places are limited.

HMDT has now released its Education Materials for HMD 2011, which can be found at <http://education.hmd.org.uk>.

The HMD 2011 Campaign Pack can be pre-ordered from www.hmd.org.uk/resources/campaignpack or by calling 0845 838 1883.

Global Community Links – funding programme open

Global Community Links (GCL) is a programme that aims to increase understanding of global issues in the UK through 'links' between community groups, including faith communities, in the UK and community groups in developing countries. It provides funding and support to established 'links' to build support for international development within their wider community and across the UK. Global Community Links is funded by UKaid from DFID and delivered by a consortium of the British Council, iCoCo, the Inter Faith Network for the UK and VSO.

There are two types of Community Linking grants. These are: £1,000 - to a maximum £2,000 to be spent over a four month period, or £7,000 - to a maximum of £10,000 to be spent over a nine month period. Round one is now open and the application deadline is 6 August. To find out more about the programme and how to apply, visit www.dfid.gov.uk/communitylinks. [See below for workshop on 31 July.]

Rights to Warmth campaign

A campaign is underway locally and nationally with places of worship and faith community organisations to promote awareness of the dangers of the cold.

Last winter is expected to record, once again, in excess of 35,000 winter deaths. This affects everyone, not just those who are short of means and now exposed by rises in fuel costs. It mainly arises because there is insufficient understanding of the lasting damage cold does to health, meaning also at least 300,000 emergency admissions. Rights to Warmth will be campaigning to promote awareness of the dangers of the cold and the importance to everyone of staying warm and using the financial support available to do so.

International Council of Christians and Jews – report on Istanbul conference

The ICCJ held its annual conference this year in Istanbul. The conference theme, 'So that you may know one another' was taken from Sura 49:13 of the Quran and focused on the theme of Christian-Jewish-Muslim encounter. Each day's work was introduced by a meditative moment from one of the three religions, Judaism, Christianity and Islam. This was followed by plenary lectures preceding each day's workshops and deliberations. Full texts of plenary lectures and opening addresses will become available soon on the ICCJ website, www.iccj.org.

ICOCO Awards for Bridging Cultures 2010 – Celebrating intercultural dialogue

The Awards for Bridging Cultures (ABCs) were created to promote the work of the many organisations across the UK that promote intercultural dialogue. Funded by the Baring Foundation, the awards scheme gives cash prizes for projects that successfully build trust and respect between people from different cultures.

There are three different categories of the Awards:

- Voluntary or community groups or organisations running projects to promote intercultural dialogue with gross annual financial income of over £100,000 (in the last two financial years)
- Voluntary or community groups or organisations running projects to promote intercultural dialogue with gross annual financial income of £100,000 or under (in the last two financial years)
- Local authorities, public sector organisations and private companies who can demonstrate their support for voluntary sector projects which promote intercultural dialogue by financing, initiating or supporting grassroots projects.

The deadline for applications is 13 September and full details can be found at: www.bridgingcultures.org.uk.

Certificate in Inter Faith Relations

The fourth Certificate Course in Inter Faith Relations begins at the London Inter Faith Centre in September. This is a two year course for “anyone interested in a fuller engagement with people and issues around living in a many and non faith society”. The course runs on Wednesday evenings from 7.30pm until 9.30pm. The course fees are £175 per term or £500 per year and advice on available grants can be given. This is a highly interactive course and each two-hour session will generally be divided evenly between presentation and discussion. If you would like further details, please contact Rev Maggie Hindley on 020 7372 2765 or at maggie.hindley@londoninterfaith.org.uk.

Diary dates

Global Community Links is hosting an Inspiration Activation Workshop in Birmingham on Saturday 31 July from 10am-4.30 pm to help people increase the impact of their 'link' and to make the best use of an Action Grant if successful in applying for one. If you are part of an inter faith group or faith community group which has a 'Link' with an overseas community group in a developing country, Inspiration Activation workshops are a great opportunity to develop ideas. In a day of fun, interactive group activities and discussion, you will develop your ideas about how you can involve your wider community, help other people learn more about the realities of life in your Link community overseas and build support for international development in the UK.

For more information and to register at the Birmingham workshops or to find out dates of later workshops please contact Global Community Links at: communitylinks@britishcouncil.org.

The Joseph Interfaith Foundation is hosting an event entitled "Illuminating the Soul: Similarities between Jewish and Muslim mystical poetry" at 7pm on 29 July. Mehri Niknam MBE, Executive Director of the Foundation, will be giving a talk at the Jewish Museum, Raymond Burton House, 129-131 Albert Street, Camden Town, London NW1 7NB in conjunction with the Museum's exhibition: "Illumination: Hebrew treasures from the Vatican and major British collections". For further information, please contact the Foundation on info@josephinterfaithfoundation.org.

The Joseph Interfaith Foundation is also arranging a meeting of Palestinian and Israeli youth with British Muslim youth in August 2010. This is a closed meeting and anyone interested in attending should contact the Foundation on info@josephinterfaithfoundation.org.

The Jewish Museum is hosting an event on Sunday 25 July entitled "The Other Schindlers: Who were they and why?". As a baby, Agnes Grunwald-Spier JP was saved from the horrors of Auschwitz by an unknown official. Now a trustee of the Holocaust Memorial Day Trust, she has written a book bringing together the stories of thirty individuals who rescued Jews during World War II. Together with Henry Grunwald OBE QC, she will be exploring why people were prepared to risk so much for their fellow men and women.

The event is being held at 2.30pm on Sunday, 25 July at the Jewish Museum in London. Tickets cost £10 and can be obtained by emailing admin@jewishmuseum.org.uk or phoning 020 7284 7384. Please visit the Museum's website, www.jewishmuseum.org.uk, for further information.

JAINpedia is conducting special intercultural tours surrounding the Jain collections at the Victoria & Albert Museum in London. The tours will be conducted on 25 July and 15 August by a specially trained V&A Intercultural Guide. The tours are open to the general public and Jain community alike. Places are limited so it will be on a 'first come, first served' basis. Further to this there will be an active programme of events and activities at the Museum until 2012 when the display ends. In September 2010

Jainpedia will be displaying a special exhibition at the Treasures Gallery in the British Library. This will be held up until March 2011 supported by another series of cultural activities and events for the public. For further information, please visit www.jainpedia.org.

The Muslim Youth Helpline is offering a free half-day interactive training session on young Muslims and relationships, in advance of publishing a report on this issue. The training will cover a range of issues, from forced marriage and child sexual abuse to stereotyping and faith sensitivity.

There are only two training sessions, each with a maximum capacity of 25 people. The sessions take place from 10am until 1pm and from 2pm until 5pm on Friday 30 July and are being allocated on a 'first come, first served' basis. The training is being held at the Esmee Fairbairn Foundation, 90 York Way, London N1 9AG. For further information and a booking form, please contact musab.younis@muslimyouth.net.

Hull and East Riding Interfaith is holding its next forum on the topic of "What are the causes of prejudice?". The topic will be opened by a refugee living in Hull whose family has suffered prejudice, harassment, and persecution first in their own country, then again in Hull. The meeting will be held at 5 pm on Tuesday, 28 September in Committee Room 1, Ground Floor, Guildhall, Hull and all are welcome. For more information and a map, visit www.heri.org.uk.

The Ammerdown Centre in Bath is hosting a number of different inter faith events during August and September. ## UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Inter Faith Week 2010

Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland

Inter Faith Week in England and Wales drew to a close on 27 November. A huge variety of excellent events took place in both countries and this year, for the first time, also in Northern Ireland. Faith communities held and took part in numerous activities from open door days to faith and social action events and dialogues. Inter faith organisations hosted exhibitions, festivals, discussions, faith and food events and much, much more. Schools, FE colleges and universities stepped up their involvement and other agencies and institutions such as local authorities, hospitals and prisons joined in too. There was also greater involvement this year from the private sector and two events focused particularly on faith in the work place. Media coverage was considerably up on last year. For some examples, see: www.interfaithweek.org.uk/index.php/media/media-coverage.

At national level, there was no multi faith event on the scale of last year's launch as the change in Government led to late confirmation of support for the Week and limited planning time. But the new Government expressed strong support for the Week and the Secretary of State for Communities, Eric Pickles, hosted a reception at Admiralty House for the Week at which Communities Minister Andrew Stunell also spoke (see www.communities.gov.uk/news/communities/1777179)

Scottish Inter Faith Week

Scottish Inter Faith Week was held from 28 November to 5 December with a special launch event in Inverness. Its theme this year was 'Faith in Action'. The Week was again very successful despite severe weather conditions meaning that some events had to be postponed.

Inter Faith Week dates for 2011

Inter Faith Week 2011 will take place in England, Wales and Northern Ireland from Sunday 20 November until Saturday 26 November. Its first day will again coincide with Mitzvah Day (whose organisers have chosen 20 November for that Day).

Dates for Scottish Inter Faith Week and for National Sewa Day (which this year was on the same day as Mitzvah Day) have not yet been announced.

Publication of the Government's Equality Strategy

The Home Secretary, Theresa May, announced on 2 December the publication of the Government's Equality Strategy: Building a Fairer Britain. The document, which can be found at www.equalities.gov.uk/news/equality\_strategy.aspx, sets out the Government's vision for "...a strong, modern and fair Britain...built on two principles of equality – equal treatment and equal opportunity.....a society where no one is held back because of who they are, or where they come from.” The Government describes its approach as one “aimed at changing culture and attitudes, tackling the causes of inequality and building a stronger, fairer and more cohesive society where equality is for everyone and is everyone’s responsibility”. Its strategy describes how it will work with business, local communities and citizens to promote good practice, transparency and accountability, “moving away from the identity politics of the past and to an approach that recognises people’s individuality”. It sets out a new role for Government, “promoting equality through transparency and behaviour change and working with businesses, the voluntary sector and wider civil society to create equal opportunities for everyone”.

The wide-ranging document sets out the Government’s plans in a variety of fields – on early years, education and social mobility; a ‘fair and flexible’ labour market; opening up public services and empowering individuals and communities; changing culture and attitudes; and on transparency and accountability.

The Equality Strategy also announced that the Government Equality Office, currently located within the Cabinet Office, is to become part of the Home Office.

Equality Act 2010

As previously reported, the new Government implemented the main provisions of the Equality Act 2010 with effect from 1 October 2010 and intends that the provisions relating to the new general public duty and the secondary legislation setting out specific public duties should come into force in April 2011.

On 17 November the Government announced that it will not bring into force Section 1 of the Act which would have placed on Government departments and certain other public bodies a duty to consider how their strategic decisions might help to reduce inequalities associated with socio-economic disadvantages. In its recently published Equality Strategy, (see above), the Government said that it would be seeking greater transparency in relation to the gender pay gap in private and voluntary sector organisations through voluntary action and would therefore also not implement the gender pay reporting measures in Section 78 of the Act at least until the effectiveness of this voluntary approach can be assessed.

The Strategy also announced that the Act’s provisions on positive action on recruitment and promotion in Section 159 will be brought into force in April 2011. The Government is still considering a number of other provisions in the Act (of which full details are also available on the GEO’s website) including the provision in Section 202 relating to civil partnerships on religious premises.

A revised Briefing Note on the Act has been placed on IFN’s website at www.interfaith.org.uk/briefingnotes.htm.

Equality Act and race/caste: NIESR Report published

To date, legislation on discrimination and harassment on the grounds of caste has not been covered by UK discrimination legislation. However, Section 9(5) of the Equality Act 2010 made it possible to amend by Ministerial Order the description in the Act of the protected characteristic of 'race' "so as to provide for caste to be an aspect of race", thus bringing caste within the scope of the Act.

In this context the previous Government commissioned the National Institute of Economic and Social Research (NIESR) to explore 'the nature, extent and severity of caste prejudice and discrimination in Britain, and its associated implications for future Government policy'. The Government has now received the NIESR report and will be considering whether or not to exercise the power in Section 9(5). The report and an executive summary of it are available on the Government Equalities Office website at: http://www.equalities.gov.uk/equality\_act\_2010/faqs\_on\_commencement\_of\_the\_eq/caste.aspx

The NIESR report identifies evidence suggesting caste discrimination and harassment in relation to employment (bullying, recruitment, promotion and task allocation); the provision of services; and education (pupil on pupil bullying), all of which constitute discrimination and harassment of the type covered by the Equality Act. The study also identified evidence suggesting caste discrimination and harassment which may fall outside the Equality Act in relation to voluntary work, harassment, demeaning behaviour and violence.

The report suggests that to reduce caste discrimination and harassment, the Government might take educative or legislative approaches and that either would be useful in the public sector, but that non-legislative approaches are less likely to be effective in the private sector.

Localism Bill introduced

The Localism Bill was introduced into Parliament on 13 December 2010. Its aim is described as being to shift power from central government back into the hands of individuals, communities and councils. The measures in the Bill exemplify and take forward the six actions of decentralisation that underpin the Government's approach to this, further information on which can be found in Decentralisation and the Localism Bill: an essential guide (www.communities.gov.uk/publications/localgovernment/decentralisationguide).

A full copy of the Bill can be found online at <http://services.parliament.uk/bills/2010-11/localism.html>.

Review of Prevent

A review of the Government's strategy for preventing violent extremism was announced on 9 November by Home Secretary Theresa May. The review will assess how this strand of the Government's counter-terrorism programme can work more effectively. The conclusions will inform what is described as a 'refreshed strategy' to be published next year. Lord Carlile of Berriew QC will provide expert, independent oversight on the review.

The Government envisages a clearer separation between work on preventing violent extremism, led by the Home Office, and on the promotion of integration, which will be led by the Department for Communities and Local Government (CLG). As part of its work on integration CLG will also be coordinating work across Government to address challenges faced from non-violent extremism.

National Citizen Service (NCS) piloting planned

National Citizen Service (NCS) is a key part of the Government's plans for building the 'Big Society'. It will bring 16 year olds from different backgrounds together in a residential and home-based programme of activity and service. As part of the experience, participants will spend two weeks away from home, to give them the opportunity to develop life skills and resilience and to serve their communities. Activities will include outdoor challenges, structured tasks to develop personal skills whilst visiting and helping groups in the local neighbourhood, and designing and delivering a social action project in consultation with local communities.

NCS will give many young people an introduction to community action and there will be opportunities for them to continue their involvement once they have completed their NCS programme, and to keep in touch via alumni networks. There will also be opportunities for some NCS graduates to take part in International Citizen Service, enabling them to undertake valuable voluntary service in developing countries.

The Government is planning to run two years of pilots, starting in summer 2011 and then building on that learning with another pilot in 2012. Over 10,000 16 year olds will have the opportunity to take part in Summer 2011, and 30,000 in Summer 2012. The model will be tested by a wide range of organisations in a range of locations, including urban, rural and suburban settings in different parts of the country. Those organisations running NCS pilots in 2011 will be seeking to establish strong links with local groups in their areas, including faith organisations, to ensure young people from all backgrounds are able to take part in NCS.

Supporting a Stronger Civil Society – OCS consultation

The Office for Civil Society (OCS) is taking a new approach to funding advice and support services for civil society groups. Through its consultation, OCS is looking for your thoughts and ideas on the role it can play in ensuring that civil society in England has the advice, support and influence that will help it to modernise and respond to change.

Having considered the current evidence base and given the difficult fiscal situation, the Office for Civil Society expects its future investment in support services to be guided by the following principles:

- Central investment must be a catalyst for driving greater efficiency and reducing long term dependence on the state.
- Reform of the support system must be driven by frontline needs.
- Infrastructure organisations have a valuable role to play, not least in strengthening local networks.
- To address inequality and to ensure all voices are heard and promote cohesion, there is a need to ensure support is accessible by diverse organisations.

The consultation asks for specific feedback on proposals in six key areas:

- Easier access to advice through online services
- Access to wider sources of support, particularly from the private sector
- Direct support to frontline organisations through bursaries
- Consolidation of support services through merger and collaboration
- Better local public sector partnerships
- Better partnerships between Central Government and national infrastructure.

The proposals in the consultation are all subject to outcomes of the Spending Review. Further information about the consultation, and a downloadable consultation document, can be found at: <http://www.capacitybuilders.org.uk/consultation/aboutconsultation>. The consultation closes on 6 January.

OCS consultation on modernising commissioning

On 7 December the Office for Civil Society published the Government's Green Paper on Modernising commissioning: increasing the role of charities, social enterprise, mutuals and co-operatives in public service delivery. The proposals and questions set out in the paper are intended to encourage discussion and responses to it will be fed into the Treasury-led Public Service Reform White Paper due to be published in early 2011.

The key questions asked by the Green Paper are:

- In which public service areas could Government create new opportunities for civil society organisations to deliver?
- How could Government make existing public service markets more accessible to civil society organisations?
- How could commissioners use assessments of full social, environmental and economic value to inform their commissioning decisions?
- How could civil society organisations support greater citizen and community involvement in all stages of commissioning?

Responses are to be submitted by 5 January to the Cabinet Office at ocscommissioning@cabinet-office.x.gsi.gov.uk

BBC Diversity Strategy review

The BBC is currently reviewing its diversity strategy in preparation for the public sector equality duty of the Equality Act coming into force next April.

It is seeking the views of organisations representing a diverse range of people across the UK along with their members. It would like input on its draft Diversity Strategy to help ensure that it has a positive impact on all staff and its diverse audiences.

Individuals and organisation can give their views by visiting: www.perceptor.com/perceplive/Survey/BBC\_EQ\_P. The consultation runs until 7 January 2011. Once the findings from the research and the consultation process have been considered the BBC will finalise the Diversity Strategy and publish it in April 2011.

Charity Commission seeks views on future strategy

The Charity Commission is seeking to review its key priorities for the next five years and develop a new strategy which can be delivered within the resources available.

A preliminary consultation, which runs to 14 January, is the first stage of the review. It asks for comments on the key risks the Commission should seek to address, and the different expectations stakeholders have of the charity regulator. As the review progresses, outline proposals and further questions for consultation will be published, with the intention of completing the review and implementing the necessary changes from next May.

Responses are invited from all those with an interest in the effective regulation of charities. There are three ways to respond:

- Complete a survey at charitycommissionreview.blogspot.com, answering some key questions about the Commission's role and approach
- Post comments on the site, to help spark debate and encourage the exchange of ideas
- Email responses directly to strategicreview@charitycommission.gsi.gov.uk

The Charity Commission is the independent regulator of charities in England and Wales. See www.charitycommission.gov.uk for further information.

An update from the Scottish Inter Faith Council

In the first few months of the new year the Scottish Inter Faith Council will be organising a conference for young people which will be organised in partnership with the Association of Chief Police Officers. SIFC will also be beginning arrangements for a visit of inter faith activists from Barcelona and New York. This is the third of a series of international visits which have allowed contact and sharing of ideas and resources across different cultures and concerns.

PROJECTS

London 2012 Cultural Programme

The Culture Diary is the calendar and online planning tool created by the Greater London Authority to help the planning and promotion of every cultural event taking place across London in 2012. The Diary is open to all events from large spectacles to small community events, whether specifically for 2012 or part of an ongoing programme. Registration is free - visit the Culture Diary website and register as a new user www.theculturediary.com. The Culture Diary closes to new registrations on 31 December 2010. Once registered, bodies have until 31 March 2011 to add details of any cultural event/s they are planning in 2012. All planned events can be added even if they are pending, for example awaiting funding, artists or venues. Events can be updated with further details when these are available. If necessary events can be removed from the Diary at a later stage.

JAINpedia

JAINpedia is an on-going project digitising rare and sacred Jain manuscripts. An official launch of the JAINpedia display at the Victoria and Albert Museum was held on 18 November when His Royal Highness Prince Charles visited the display and viewed the JAINpedia website. The display at the Nehru Gallery, in the Victoria and Albert Museum is continuing until December 2012.

The Institute of Jainology and JAINpedia in partnership with the British Library have opened a display on Jain manuscripts at the John Ritblat Gallery: Treasures of the British Library until April 2011. ## FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

£100 million Transition Fund

A £100 million Transition Fund has opened for applications. It is designed to help civil society organisations which deliver public services adapt to a different funding environment during a period when they are at risk from reductions in taxpayer funded income affected by public spending reductions. The fund, which was announced in the Government's Spending Review, will be managed by the Big Fund, which is part of the Big Lottery Fund.

The Fund is available to organisations with a turnover of between £50,000 and £10 million which usually derive much of their funding from state sources and which are spending at least 50 per cent of their total income delivering frontline public services in designated areas. Grants of between £12,500 and £500,000 will be available to enable organisations to make changes to become sustainable in the longer term. For more information on eligibility and how to apply, visit <http://www.biglotteryfund.org.uk/transitionfund>, or contact the Big Fund on 0330 303 0110 or email enquiries@bigfund.org.uk.

Global Community Links - Next grant round opening 4 January

'Community linking' is an ongoing relationship between a community group in the UK and a community group in a developing country. Any kind of community group can be involved in a link, from youth groups to sports clubs to faith groups to social enterprises.

Global Community Links is a programme funded by UKaid from DFID, delivered by a consortium led by the British Council and including the Inter Faith Network, that increases understanding of global issues in the UK through promoting linking between community groups in the UK and developing countries. Through enabling cross-learning between groups in the UK, it is also designed to deepen community cohesion in this country at the same time as increasing development awareness.

The next GCL round of grants opens on 4 January and closes on 14 February. Global Community Links funding is open to community groups in the UK, including the Channel Islands and Isle of Man, that are involved in a link with a community group in a developing country. Groups can apply for up to £10,000 to be spent over nine months on activities in the UK.

Grants are for: a) building knowledge and understanding of global development, including the Millennium Development Goals or b) building an understanding of global interdependence and promoting actions that individuals can take to reduce global poverty levels. Grants are to build knowledge and understanding of development in the UK, and cannot be used for visits overseas from the UK. The grants can, however, be used to bring a representative from your link group overseas to the UK.

Share and Learn Grant Scheme

The Share and Learn Grant Scheme is funded by the Children's Workforce Development Council which is working in partnership with a Children and Young People's Voluntary Sector Workforce Consortium led by Children England including the National Council for Voluntary Youth Services (NCVYS), the National Association for Voluntary and Community Action (NAVCA), and the Race Equality Foundation (REF). The scheme is aimed at front-line organisations in the voluntary and community sector located in England which deliver services to children, young people and families. It will support them to share their experience of supporting and developing their staff and volunteers and enable other front-line organisations (known as Learning Partners) to learn from their practice.

Learning Partners working with faith groups are one of the priority groups the scheme will support. The application deadline for Learning Partners is 14 January. ## NEW RESOURCES

Catholic Church in Scotland – inter faith resources

The Catholic Church in Scotland has recently produced a short leaflet about Nostra Aetate, the document on the Church's relationship to other religions which came out 45 years ago towards the end of the Second Vatican Council. This leaflet which went out to every parish in Scotland was published to celebrate the anniversary of Nostra Aetate and as a contribution to Scottish Inter Faith Week.

The Scottish Catholic Education Service produced a school pack on the Church's teaching on interreligious dialogue. This was for senior pupils in secondary schools and was sent to every catholic school.

South East England Faiths Forum – faith community impact assessment

The South East England Faiths Forum has carried out an economic impact assessment of the work of faith communities in the South East.

Faith groups carry out a broad range of different activities. Many of these activities make a contribution to the local economy, even when this is not the primary or stated intention of the activity. The aim of this research project, carried out for SEEFF by West Midlands Enterprise, was to identify those activities across different faith groups within the South East region and establish a consistent, robust and comparable way of measuring their contribution.

There are an estimated 3,800 faith groups across the South East of England, helping to target many issues in local areas. Their volunteers unknowingly save the economy large amounts of money, time and resources. The report on the assessment shows estimated time given by volunteers as equating to £95million each year.

The summary of the report Faith Communities – The Hidden Contribution can be downloaded from www.se-faithforum.net/files/economic-impact-project/Faith\_in\_Comm\_WEB\_STDMaster.pdf The full report Economic Impact Assessment of Faith in the South East is downloadable www.se-faithforum.net/EIA%20of%20Faith%20Organisations%20in%20the%20South%20East%20report.pdf.

Faith in Action in North Somerset

North Somerset, supported by Faithnetsouthwest, have just carried out a faith audit and survey of the community work of faith groups in North Somerset. 118 faith groups (a 63% response rate) responded to the questionnaire. A team of specially trained community researchers from Somerset Racial Equality Council (SREC) and members of the steering group made direct contact with faith groups.

The findings show that faith groups offer significant support to communities across the whole spectrum of social support activities. The audit showed that services are provided annually to the value of £4.22 million. 6,500 people in North Somerset currently use services provided by faith groups. This figure represents 3.4% of the total population of 209,100. Faith groups identified approximately 1,950 volunteers, giving approximately 5,460 hours a week. The audit shows there is further scope for developing partnership working between all sectors and service providers. In prioritising and delivering current and future services it is essential that the sectors work together, sharing information on good practice and resource. The formation of a Faith Network or Forum in North Somerset could be a starting point.

Somerset Faith and Beliefs forum – mobile exhibition and DVD

The Somerset Faiths and Beliefs Forum has produced a mobile exhibition and accompanying DVD. The exhibition is designed to show the contribution people of faith make to the community of Somerset and break down prejudice and misunderstanding. It has been inspired by the Somerset Anne Frank Exhibition held in Taunton in March 2006 which had over 10,000 visitors from across the county and beyond.

The exhibition will be taken to schools, colleges, community organisations, council offices, libraries, health centres, any location where the public might gather. There are five panels, four of which feature young people from a particular faith group. These include quotes about what faith means to them and how it can help create better relations between people in the community. Copies of the DVD are available to purchase. For more information see www.somersetfaithforum.org.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

Inter Faith Week 2010 event information and photographs

The IFN office is currently adding to the Inter Faith Week website, www.interfaithweek.org.uk, photographs of events held to mark the Week. If you have any good photographs of your event and would like to submit these for consideration with a short caption describing them and any photo credit that needs displaying, please could you send these to Ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk. We will assume, unless you indicate otherwise, that any photograph has been cleared for use for promotional purposes. (Photographs may also be used in other contexts, such as Flickr, to promote good inter faith relations. If you prefer to restrict the use of your photographs just to the Inter Faith Week website, please indicate this.) As last year, we will be putting together a list of events at all levels known to have been held to mark the Week. If you have not already sent details of your event and would like to ensure that it is included, please email details to Ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk.

Equality and Human Rights Commission research project

The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) is inviting tenders for a new research project entitled 'Understanding equality and human rights in relation to Religion or Belief'. This has been posted on the procurement page of the EHRC website at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/procurement-opportunities/tender-for-research-to-understand-equality-and-human-rights-in-relation-to-religion-and-belief/>

The overall aims of the programme of work are to:

- Understand the views and experience of a range of stakeholders, employers and/or employer organisations and service providers as to the key dilemmas and conflicting interests that they experience particularly around the right to manifest belief.
- Use the information acquired through this project and from a possible related project in 2011-12 to develop guidance/advice about the law, case studies demonstrating non-legal means of resolution and a toolkit of principles to help resolve existing practical dilemmas arising from religion and belief equality and human rights in the workplace, or in service delivery that link to the EHRC's statutory remit and role as a regulator.

The full tender pack is available from the Procurement Team at tenders@equalityhumanrights.com The deadline for receipt of tenders is 1.00pm on 12 January. Please contact the Procurement Team if you have any queries about this tender opportunity.

Call for papers – The Politics of Living Religion/Spirituality and Gender/Sexuality in Everyday Context

A conference jointly organised by Professor Peter Nynas of Abo Akademi University in Finland and Dr Andrew Kam-Tuck Yip of Nottingham University on 'The Politics of Living Religion/Spirituality and Gender/Sexuality in Everyday Context' is being held in London on Tuesday 24 May. This aims to bring together scholars who are doing research on the intersection of religion/spirituality and gender/sexuality in contemporary society. The conference will explore the multi-facetedness of this intersection with a particular focus on the everyday context. It will be a small-scale conference providing a platform for in-depth and productive dialogue. Those interested to participate are invited to submit an abstract of no more than 250 words, alongside a brief biographical note (max 150 words) to Prof Nyas (peter.nyas@abo.fi) and Dr Yip (andrew.yip@nottingham.ac.uk). All participants must submit a fairly developed paper to the organisers by 22 April, which will be distributed among participants in advance of the conference to facilitate in-depth discussion on the day. Following the conference fully developed papers must be submitted to the organisers by 15 July to facilitate the preparation of the edited volume.

The 'Big Society' Awards

Prime Minister David Cameron has launched a new award that will recognise some of the excellent examples of the 'Big Society' in action taking place all around the country. In a statement he said: "These awards are a chance to pay tribute to those making a valuable contribution to their community, the real champions of the Big Society...I hope they will motivate many others to take action, get involved and drive change in their area."

Individuals, businesses, charities, community groups and other organisations are all eligible if they illustrate the 'Big Society' in action. This might be by:

- bringing their community together, giving people more power to take decisions and shape their area
- transforming public services by setting up staff cooperatives, new providers or finding innovative ways of delivering better services to the public
- giving their time and money to help others, the unsung heroes changing lives in every neighbourhood of the country

Winners will be selected from among the nominees by a panel made up of previous winners, and representatives of civil society organisations, Government and the private sector.

To nominate an organisation that you think deserves the acclaim of a 'Big Society' award or for more information visit: [www.number10.gov.uk/big society awards](http://www.number10.gov.uk/big society awards). There is no deadline.

International Bremen Peace Award 2011

Invitations are invited for nominations for this award, which is administered by the Threshold Foundation and seeks to honour people and organisations which set an example through their work contributing to reconciliation, human rights, overcoming of racism, preservation of creation and intercultural and inter-religious understanding. There are three categories, each of which carries an award of 5,000 Euros.

- Award for the Unknown Peace Worker: honouring dedicated individuals working at grassroots level without much public attention or recognition: people who contribute to peace, justice and the integrity of creation through unconventional initiatives.
- Award for Exemplary Organisations: initiatives or organisations that contribute to the goals of the Threshold Foundation in an outstanding manner.
- Award for Public Engagement: honouring renowned public figures such as journalists, scientists, politicians and artists, who persistently and courageously contribute to peace, justice and the integrity of creation.

For further information please contact Petra.Titze@dieschwelle.de or telephone 0049.421.3032577 (a Bremen number). Award brochures are available at www.dieschwelle.de

The closing date for submission of proposals is 31 January.

JOBS AND VOLUNTEERING OPPORTUNITIES

Faiths Act Fellowships

The Faiths Act Fellowship is a year-long, paid international Fellowship that brings together exceptional future leaders inspired by faith to serve as interfaith ambassadors for the United Nation's Millennium Development Goals (MDGs). Faiths Act Fellows build partnerships across faith lines in their home countries to show the world how faith can be a positive global force in the 21st century. Faiths Act Fellows work in local NGOs to mobilise communities to take part in MDG-focused, multi-faith action. Fellows receive a stipend and health benefits throughout the Fellowship year. The Faiths Act Fellowship is a programme of the Tony Blair Faith Foundation in collaboration with Interfaith Youth Core. ### Kirklees Faiths Forum volunteers

Kirklees Faiths Forum provides visits to places of worship across Kirklees for adults, including community groups, parents, and teachers. This gives people the opportunity to experience a place of worship first hand, and learn about its spiritual significance and meaning.

Volunteers are needed to host these visits by delivering learning packages that provide an interactive experience for visitors to different faith centres across Kirklees, including Christian, Muslim, Hindu, Sikh and Buddhist. No formal qualifications are needed as full training is provided. Applicants will need to have passion and some basic knowledge about their faith and place of worship. Volunteering is open to everyone, timing is flexible and all expenses will be reimbursed. Please call 01924 324 836 or email info@kirkleesfaithsforum.org.uk for more information. ## SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

Holocaust Memorial Day 27 January 2011

Holocaust Memorial Day (HMD) takes place on 27 January each year. The theme for HMD 2011 is Untold Stories. The purpose of HMD is to honour and remember the victims and survivors of the Holocaust, Nazi persecution and subsequent genocides in Cambodia, Bosnia, Rwanda and the ongoing atrocities in Darfur. HMD gives us all a chance to look to our own lives and communities and celebrate the things which are sometimes used as reasons to separate us.

There is no type of commemoration or event to mark HMD 2011 that is right or wrong, nor is any event too big or too small and it is not too late to arrange to mark the Day in some way. The Holocaust Memorial Day Trust (HMDT) provide free resources and advice for event organisers on their website, www.hmd.org.uk. They also supply free Campaign Packs at www.hmd.org.uk/resources/campaignpack. You can also contact the HMDT office for further information and advice. Call 0845 838 1883 or email enquiries@hmd.org.uk.

World Interfaith Harmony Week

A resolution on an annual World Interfaith Harmony Week each February (in the first week) was adopted by the United Nations General Assembly in October. The resolution was put by Jordan and a website has been set up linked to this:

www.worldinterfaithharmonyweek.org. While this is clearly a worthwhile and positive one, it is not clear at this stage how widely the Week will in practice be observed in different countries. The Department for Communities and Local Government has indicated that Government has no plans to mark the UN Week in February.

While the decision has been taken to keep Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland in November (see above) for a range of practical reasons, the branches in this country of international inter faith bodies organisations might well choose to play a special role in marking this important World Week in February and to focus on the vital issue of global inter-religious harmony. It could be a very visible and positive opportunity for doing so.

Celebrating RE Month March 2011

March 2011 sees a month long celebration of RE in schools, colleges, universities, faith and belief communities and local communities throughout England and Wales. The purpose is to celebrate the contribution that high quality RE can make to the education of every child and young person. It also aims to raise public awareness and understanding of the nature of RE as a subject which is relevant, challenging, interesting and of educational value to all, whatever their religious or philosophical background.

A resource newly added to its site, www.celebratingre.org is a leaflet about the importance of inter faith issues and how inter faith groups can support and work with schools to promote dialogue. It also shows a range of ideas and activities which schools can use to explore the inter faith dimension. Examples include exploring scriptures and discussing what different faiths say about such concepts as greed or forgiveness, looking at similarities and differences within a faith or considering how words such as 'sabbath' or 'priest' are understood by different faiths. See:

<http://www.celebratingre.org/index.php/what-can-you-do/inter-faith-if-groups>

The Celebration is organised by the RE Council of England and Wales. Planning and organisation are co-ordinated by a sub-committee of the REC, supported by part-time project officers and by many teachers, advisers, faith and belief community members, SACREs and others all over the two countries taking part. For further information see www.celebratingre.org.

UK's first Climate Week 21 to 27 March 2011

Events and activities highlighting the positive steps being taken to help prevent climate change are being planned by organisations from every part of society for the UK's first Climate Week, taking place from 21 to 27 March. Among the national bodies supporting the Week are many faith and inter faith organisations. Organisers are encouraging faith communities to use Climate Week as an opportunity to focus during sermons and in study groups on the religious basis for environmental care and to use events, exhibitions and coffee mornings to highlight ways faiths are taking steps to help prevent climate change. During the Week itself, an online environmental 'challenge' will be set each day to which school and university teams will be encouraged to find a solution.

For more information on Climate Week or to register for the Climate Week Challenge, please contact Kate Shepherd, Head of Campaigns, at kate@climateweek.com or on 0203 397 2602. Further information on the week can be found at www.climateweek.com.

National Family Week 30 May to 5 June 2011

National Family Week aims to highlight the importance of families spending quality time together and aims to promote the benefits of a healthy, active lifestyle. Over the last two years, the Week has involved families in thousands of events, competitions, offers and promotions. Next year the Week will take place from Monday 30 May to Sunday 5 June and the organisers are keen to encourage faith-based and inter faith groups to get involved by:

- Promoting the Week (free posters, balloons, stickers etc. are available)
- Holding community events and registering these on line through the National Family Week Event finder
- Having a special family focus during the week, e.g. at meetings, worship, youth activities etc.

National Dementia Awareness Week

Dementia Awareness Week 2011 takes place in Northern Ireland from 12 to 18 June and in England and Wales from 3 to 9 July. The theme of the Week, 'Remember the person', encourages everyone to be a friend to people with dementia - to look beyond the diagnosis to engage with the person and their history and passions, and remember the simple things that can make their lives more manageable and enjoyable.

Good quality of life can be achieved after a diagnosis of dementia, and research shows that spirituality and staying engaged with faith communities can play a key role in helping someone stay well. Carers also get enormous benefit from being welcomed and supported by their local faith communities. The Alzheimer's Society, www.alzheimers.org.uk, is looking to faith communities to engage with the theme of "Remember the Person" during the Week. There are plans for a Day of Worship for People with dementia and their carers during the Week, and the Alzheimer's Society would like to hear from faith communities that would like to be involved. ### Mitzvah Day 20 November 2011

Mitzvah Day takes place on Sunday 20 November. It is a Jewish led day of social action – around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. The goal is to reduce hardship and poverty and to help the environment. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. Last year a number of projects had a multi faith dimension. See www.mitzvahday.org.uk for further information and to register an event.

DIARY DATES

The Multi-Faith Centre at the University of Derby is running six evening workshops on 'Diversity of Faiths: Meeting Challenge, Celebrating Difference'. The workshops will be held on 10, 17, 24 and 31 January, and on 14 and 21 February. The objectives for these workshops are to:

- increase your understanding of the issues related to religious diversity
- share experiences of religion and culture
- recognise stereotyping, prejudice and discrimination related to religion
- increase your skills to help create a more inclusive diverse environment
- gain personal and career development in today's multi-cultural society

Everyone will receive an attendance certificate. Workshops are open to all people - religious and non-religious. They will run from 6.30 to 8.30pm and cost £60 which includes a copy of Religions in the UK Directory worth £25.00. For more information contact the Multi-Faith Centre at the University of Derby on 01332 591285 or email e.fry@derby.ac.uk.

Bristol Inter Faith Group is continuing its series of Dig Deeper events and workshops. The next event is a 'Transformative Communication Workshop' with Clare Russell which will be held on Wednesday 12 January from 6.30pm to 9.30pm at Lawrence Hill Church, Lincoln Street, Barton Hill, Bristol, BS5 0BJ. All faiths place value on active caring for others. One of the first steps to enable that care is empathy – as Paul Tillich states, 'the first duty of love is to listen'. This is an experiential, fun and powerful workshop. Learn simple yet effective communication skills to create the relationships you want. To book a free place on this workshop contact Bernard Omar on 01454 775 454 or b.f.omar@btinternet.com.

St Philip's Centre, Leicester is holding a Muslim-Christian Dialogue Group meeting on Monday 17 January. The meeting will run from 7:30 pm to 9:00 pm and will be held at St Philip's Church, Evington Road, Leicester LE2 1HN. For more information, please see <http://stphilipscentre.dioceseofleicester.com>.

Hull and East Riding Interfaith is holding its next forum at 5pm on Tuesday 18 January in Committee Room 1, Ground floor, Guildhall, Hull. This is a double meeting. Refreshments will be available from 4.30pm. At 5.00pm there will be a discussion on the 'Spirituality in Contemporary Funerals' report of research done in Hull and the East Riding, published in August 2010, by Professor Margaret Holloway and Hull University's Centre for Spirituality Studies, with a Project Advisory Team including Professor John Friend and other HERI members from different religion and belief groups. Professors Holloway and Friend will open the discussion. All welcome to share views and experiences. At 6.00pm there will be discussion about a new community-based movement called 'Transition' spreading round the UK and USA now which aims to rethink the economy, employment, sustainability, and dependence on oil, in a long-term, basic, and radical way. All are welcome to both discussions. For more information, please contact Jackie Lukes, Secretary, on 01482 445728 or see www.heri.org.uk.

Bristol Inter Faith Group, as part of its continuing series of Dig Deeper events and workshops, will be hosting an event on 'How People of Faith Help the World's Poor' on Thursday 10 February from 7.00pm to 9.30pm at Progressive Synagogue, 43-45 Bannerman Road, Easton, Bristol, BS5 0RR. The talk will be led by Revd Dr Marcus Braybrooke, President of the World Congress of Faiths and prolific author. He is a retired priest in Dorchester-on-Thames Team Ministry near Oxford and has taken an active part in interfaith dialogue for over forty years. He is President of the World Congress of Faiths and was also a Co-Founder of the Three Faiths Forum. For more information contact Valerie Russell Emmott at valerie.emmott@bifg.org.uk or on 07507 563 289.

The Sion Centre for Dialogue and Encounter, London are continuing their Sunday afternoon series on respecting difference in interfaith dialogue, 'Engaging with the Other' with a discussion on 13 February, between 2.30pm – 4.15 pm, entitled 'Does Jesus unite us or divide us?'. Speakers are Sr Margaret Shepherd (Sisters of Our Lady of Zion) and Rabbi Mark Solomon (Interfaith adviser for Liberal Judaism). The event will be held at the Sion Centre for Dialogue & Encounter, 34 Chepstow Villas, London W11 2QZ. A suggested donation of £8.00 is requested. To book, or for further information, email sioncde@yahoo.co.uk or telephone 020 7313 8286 or 020 7727 3597.

St Ethelburga's Centre, London is the venue for an event hosted by Rosy Fairhurst and the Grubb Institute on the topic of 'Death and dying - A Matter of Faith'. The event will consider how society approaches death, dying and bereavement and how people of faith approach death and dying with integrity and connectedness in a multi-faith society where many are secular. The event begins at 6.30pm on Tuesday 15 February. For more information see <http://stethelburgas.org/civicrm/event/info?id=199&reset=1>.

The Multi-Faith Centre at the University of Derby in conjunction with Volunteering England and partners are hosting a regional Modernising Volunteering Conference entitled 'The Way to a Bigger Society'. The conference will be held on Tuesday 22 February from 10.30am to 5pm, with registration starting at 9.45am. This conference explores the findings from four cutting edge priority areas, including: faith-based volunteering, new forms of volunteering involvement, overcoming barriers to volunteering and skills-based employer supported volunteering. There is a delegate fee of £60, which includes lunch, refreshments and an electronic resource pack. Full conference details and booking information are available at www.volunteering.org.uk/VEevents.

Leo Baeck College is organising the 38th International Students' Conference for Dialogue between Jews, Christians and Muslims in Europe. The conference will be held in Wuppertal in Germany from 28 March to 3 April. The conference will be on the theme of 'Still of use? Do religious communities have something to offer to the wider society?'. There is a fee to attend the event and numbers are limited. For enquiries and information on registration please contact Irit Burkeman at Leo Baeck College on 020 8349 5605 or at irit.burkeman@lbc.ac.uk.

UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Inter Faith Network for the UK

The Inter Faith Network (www.interfaith.org.uk) held a joint meeting with the National Union of Students (NUS) at the offices of NUS on 31 January for inter faith organisations running programmes on university campuses. This provided a chance for participants to share information about current projects and discuss some of the opportunities and challenges in this important area of work.

At its meeting on 3 February, which fell during the UN endorsed World Interfaith Harmony Week, the Executive Committee of the Network, during its customary opening period of silent reflection, held in mind at this time the vital work of all around the world working for inter faith understanding and cooperation.

On 10 February, IFN's Director was part of an Inter Faith Council for Wales (IFCW) Roundtable which looked at how local inter faith initiatives in Wales had marked the 2010 Inter Faith Week and at aspects of the development of local inter faith work in Wales.

On 14 February, the Inter Faith Network held, in association with the North East Regional Faiths Network (www.nerfn.org), a regional link meeting for local inter faith organisers in the North East of England. This took place at the Newcastle Civic Centre and was attended by local inter faith councils and forums from Durham, Gateshead, Hartlepool, Newcastle, Sunderland and South Tyneside. Participants from People to People North East and the Iona Community Northumbria Interfaith Group were also present.

Consultations on community rights to challenge and buy

On 4 February, Decentralisation Minister Greg Clark opened a consultation on how new rights for communities should work in practice. The Community Right to Challenge and Community Right to Buy are two key elements of the Localism Bill, which was introduced to Parliament in December 2010.

Under the Community Right to Buy, local groups will have a legal right to nominate any vital community asset – including local shops, pubs, libraries and leisure centres – to be assessed for recording on a 'most wanted' list by the local council. The asset could then be listed for five years. In that time, the owner of a listed asset will have to tell the council if they intend to sell, which will trigger a window of opportunity or 'community countdown', giving people time to prepare their business plan and raise the funds they need to make a credible bid before it goes on the open market.

The Community Right to Challenge opens the door to a transformation in the way that local public services are run. It will give community or voluntary sector groups, as well as parish councils and council employees, new powers to challenge and take over a local service. This could include running children's centres, social care services and even improving local transport links. Under the new law, councils must respond to this challenge and consider the positive impact the proposal could have on the community. If the proposal is turned down the council must publish the reasons for this. This new right puts voluntary and charity groups on the front foot when it comes to running public services and has the potential to open up new revenue for them.

The consultation period will run for 12 weeks until 3 May and the documents and response forms can be found on the DCLG website at:

<http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/localgovernment/righttobuyconsultation>
(Community Right to Buy) and
(Community Right to Challenge).

Four consultation events are being held during the consultation period in Manchester (9 March), Bristol (22 March), Birmingham (31 March) and London (13 April). For further information please contact crtchallenge@communities.gsi.gov.uk or crtbuy@communities.gsi.gov.uk.

Reviews of counter-terrorism measures and of Prevent

An announcement was made by Home Secretary Teresa May on 26 January about the review of the Government's counter-terrorism strategy. The Review considered six key counter-terrorism and security powers: the detention of terrorist suspects before charge, including how the period of detention can be reduced to below 28 days; section 44 stop and search powers and the use of terrorism legislation in relation to photography; the use of the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 (RIPA) by local authorities and access to communications data more generally; measures to deal with organisations that promote hatred or violence; extending the use of 'Deportation with Assurances' in a manner that is consistent with our legal and human rights obligations; and control orders (including alternatives) .

The full report, Review Of Counter-Terrorism And Security Powers Review Findings And Recommendations, can be found at www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/counter-terrorism/review-of-ct-security-powers/review-findings-and-rec?view=Binary. The review proposed:

- A return to 14 days as the standard maximum period that a terrorist suspect can be detained before they are charged or released
- An end to the indiscriminate use of terrorism stop and search powers provided under Section 44 of the Terrorism Act 2000
- The end to the use of the most intrusive 'Regulation of Investigatory Powers' (RIPA) powers by local authorities to investigate low level offences and a requirement that applications by local authorities to use any RIPA techniques are approved by a magistrate
- A commitment to rationalise the legal bases by which communications data can be acquired and, as far as possible, to limit that to RIPA
- A stronger effort to deport foreign nationals involved in terrorist activities in this country fully respecting our human rights obligations
- The end of control orders and their replacement with a less intrusive and more focused regime. Additional resources will be provided to the police and security agencies to ensure the new measures are effective not only in protecting the public but in facilitating prosecution

A new version of the Government's counter terrorist strategy, CONTEST, will be published within a few months.

Charity Commission sets out initial conclusions on future strategy

On 16 February, the Charity Commission set out its key regulatory priorities for the next four years as it concluded the first stage of its strategic review and published the responses from the public consultation.

The key priorities agreed by the Commission are:

- Registering charities
- Providing guidance to trustees to enable them to manage their charity effectively
- Ensuring charities are accountable to the public by requiring and publishing information
- Giving permissions as required in law
- Taking action to deal with serious mismanagement or abuse of charity
- Organisational structure and culture

The next stage of the review will involve further work to develop and refine these priorities into a detailed strategy and activities, as well as developing a new organisational structure for the Charity Commission to enable it to deliver the new strategy. This will involve further external and internal consultation over the coming month. The Charity Commission aims to begin implementing these changes from May 2011 with a view to having the new strategy and structure fully in place from 1 October 2011.

Charitable Incorporated Organisations

The Charity Commission is currently preparing a new corporate structure designed specifically for charities: the Charitable Incorporated Organisation (CIO). It is planned that this will be introduced in late Spring. The Commission will soon be publishing detailed guidance for trustees that will explain how to set up a new CIO, how charitable companies or charitable industrial and provident societies can convert to CIOs and what unincorporated charities need to do to become CIOs. The introduction of the new model will be phased in to manage what the Commission expects will be high demand from charities.

National Citizen Service now recruiting

National Citizen Service (NCS) is a key part of the Government's efforts to build a bigger, stronger society. The two month programme will mix sixteen year olds from a variety of backgrounds, and will include a two week stay away from home. It will give 16 year olds a challenge – and help them to help their communities.

The first two weeks of the programme will take young people away from home and involve tough physical activities that will boost their confidence and build their teamwork and leadership skills. They will then return home and spend a further five weeks working in teams to develop a project that will help to change something they don't like about their communities.

Starting in July, after exams have finished, 12 NCS pilot programmes will take place across the country with a total of 11,000 spaces up for grabs. Some of the projects have already started accepting registrations. More than 8,000 people have so far expressed an interest, with 1,000 people already signed up.

All 12 pilots are now open to teenagers who have just turned or are about to turn 16 – and who would normally have completed year 11 at school.

Civil partnerships in religious buildings

The Government announced on 17 February that religious buildings will be allowed to host civil partnership registrations. The change will be entirely voluntary and will not force any religious group to host civil partnership registrations if they do not wish to do so. It will give same-sex couples, who are currently prevented from registering their civil partnership in a religious setting, the chance to do so.

The changes to the rules governing civil partnerships will come about by enacting section 202 of the Equality Act 2010 which lifts the explicit ban on holding civil partnership registrations in religious premises included in the Approved Premises (Marriage and Civil Partnership) Regulations 2005. Section 202 makes clear the voluntary nature of the provision by stating “For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this Act places an obligation on religious organisations to host civil partnerships if they do not wish to do so.” Making the necessary changes to the Approved Premises Regulations will require further legislation. The Government Equalities Office will launch a formal consultation on this later in the spring.

The Government's announcement also said that Ministers have identified a desire to move towards equal civil marriage and partnerships, and will be consulting further on how legislation can develop, working with those who have an interest in this issue.

Public Sector Equality Duty

In January the Government confirmed that the new public sector equality duty will be brought into force in April. Equalities Minister Lynne Featherstone said that public sector bodies should start preparing for the new duty, which will ensure that public bodies embed equality considerations into their day to day work. The duty extends beyond race, disability and gender to cover age, sexual orientation, religion or belief and gender reassignment in full. New draft regulations have been published following the consultation in autumn 2010, setting out new specific duties for England which focus on increasing transparency and democratic accountability. The press release covering the announcement can be found at www.equalities.gov.uk/media/press\_releases/public\_sector\_equality\_duty.aspx.

A public consultation on the specific duties occurred in Autumn 2010. A summary of the responses received and the Government response has been published and can be found at www.equalities.gov.uk/pdf/110114%20Promoting%20equality%20through%20transparency%20-%20Summary%20of%20responses.pdf.

Guidance is available from the Government Equalities Office (GEO) and the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) to help public bodies understand and prepare for the public sector equality duty. The GEO guidance can be found at www.equalities.gov.uk/pdf/110117%20Public%20sector%20Equality%20Duty%20Guide%20-%20FINAL%20ACCESSIBLE.pdf and the EHRC guidance at www.equalityhumanrights.com/advice-and-guidance/public-sector-duties/new-public-sector-equality-duty-guidance.

The Scottish and Welsh administrations are taking forward their own specific duties, governing relevant public bodies in Scotland and Wales.

In Scotland, these have been laid before the Scottish Parliament, along with a draft order setting out the Scottish public bodies to which these (and the general duty) will apply.

In Wales, the consultation on their specific duties closed just before Christmas, and the Welsh Assembly Government is hoping to finalise their regulations and the list of Welsh public bodies to which the duties will apply shortly.

The intention is for the general Equality Duty and the specific duties for each administration to commence across Great Britain on 6 April 2011.

Equality Act positive action provisions

In January the Government published guidance on how the Equality Act's positive action provisions will work. The Equalities Minister, Lynne Featherstone, has urged employers to look at this before the law changes on 6 April.

The 2010 Equality Act's positive action provisions give employers the option, when faced with two or more candidates of equal merit, to choose a candidate from a group that is under-represented in the workforce. This does not mean allowing 'quotas' or giving someone a job just because they are a woman, or from an ethnic minority – positive discrimination is not acceptable and remains unlawful. By choosing to have a workforce that reflects the community it serves, an employer can ensure it draws talent from the widest possible pool and fully understands the needs of all its customers.

Guidance for employers, entitled Equality Act 2010: What do I need to know? A quick start guide to using positive action in recruitment and promotion, is available at www.equalities.gov.uk/pdf/Positive%20Action%20in%20Recruitment%20and%20Promotion%20Guide%201.pdf.

Review of National Curriculum in England announced

On 20 January the Secretary of State for Education announced a Review of the National Curriculum in England. A copy of the press release can be found at www.education.gov.uk/schools/teachingandlearning/curriculum/nationalcurriculum/a0073149/national-curriculum-review-launched.

The review will look at the National Curriculum for both primary and secondary schools. Religious Education, while compulsory, is not part of the National Curriculum and so is not covered by the Review. Paragraph 11 of the document outlining the remit of the Review explains “..... it is essential to distinguish between the National Curriculum and the wider school curriculum. There are a number of important components of a broad and balanced school curriculum for which, as is currently the case, it would be inappropriate to prescribe national Programmes of Study. This applies, for example, in the case of religious education (RE), where what is taught needs to reflect local circumstances. Religious education will not, therefore, be considered as part of the review of the National Curriculum. The Government does not intend to make any changes to the statutory basis for religious education.”

In a release on 21 January, the RE Council for England and Wales welcomed the reference to the statutory position of RE, and sought reassurance that the statutory position of RE will be accompanied by actions which guarantee effective implementation in every school, college and academy. It drew attention to the current and long-standing statutory requirement that the school curriculum promotes the "spiritual, moral... and cultural development of pupils and of society" identified in the 1944 and 1988 Education Acts and said that these forms of development need to be remembered within the new national curriculum as well as the wider curriculum, and it is vital that they are directly addressed in the wording of the Education Bill as it is framed. It noted that the local basis of RE is reaffirmed. Ways therefore need to be found to ensure that the Standing Advisory Councils on Religious Education, which individually cover each area of the country, are strengthened rather than diminished.

Measuring national well-being

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) is developing new measures of national well-being. The aim is that these new measures will cover the quality of life of people in the UK, environmental and sustainability issues, as well as the economic performance of the country.

In order to develop better measures of the nation's well-being ONS is consulting with people across the UK to ask what matters most in people's lives. Respondents can fill in an online questionnaire at <http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/26PKQ9K> or can respond by email (nationalwell-being@ons.gsi.gov.uk) or by post (Measuring National Well-being Consultation, ONS, Room 1.024, Government Buildings, Cardiff Road, Newport NP10 8XG) to the questions on the ONS website at www.ons.gov.uk/about/consultations/measuring-national-well-being/index.html.

Government and voluntary sector agree new Compact

A renewed Compact - the agreement which governs relations between the Government and civil society organisations in England - was published in December by the Government and Compact Voice, the organisation which represents civil society organisations on the Compact.

The new, shorter, agreement aims to create the right environment for partnership working. It is backed by a set of accountability and transparency measures outlined in a new guide. The National Audit Office will carry out a one-off study into the operation of the Compact across government which will be reported to parliament.

A copy of the Compact, together with the accountability guide, can be found online at www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/resource-library/government-voluntary-and-community-sector-agree-new-compact-working-partnership.

For more information about the Compact renewal, the accountability measures or the work of Compact Voice, contact Dugald McNaughtan, Communications Officer, Compact Voice (National Council for Voluntary Organisations), on 020 7520 2486.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

European Year of Volunteering grants

The Cabinet Office has made available small scale contracts and grants for organisations to develop and implement activity within England, as part of the national work programme for European Year of Volunteering.

2011 has been designated as the European Year of Volunteering within the European Union (<http://europa.eu/volunteering/en/home2>). The purpose of the Year is to support the efforts of member states and civil society organisations to create conditions which are conducive to the development of volunteering across Europe. As part of the national work programme for the Year, the Office for Civil Society has identified national priorities which support the Big Society Vision, and is seeking partner organisations to support the development and implementation of activities within England which relate to these priorities. The national priorities include:

- Encouraging and enabling individuals to make a contribution within their communities and help solve social issues by volunteering.
- Promoting good practice within the private, public and voluntary and community sector in relation to the development of effective employer supported volunteering (ESV) programmes.
- Identifying and sharing good practice and resources relating to effective volunteer management; and
- Promoting good practice in opening the door to volunteering opportunities to those traditionally less likely to volunteer.

More information on the roles and grants available and how to apply can be found at <http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/content/european-year-volunteering-2011-funding-opportunities-develop-and-implement-activities>.

Inter faith chaplaincy course

The Chaplaincy at the University of Bolton is running a course during March and April exploring chaplaincy from an inter faith perspective. The course will: explore how Hindus, Muslims and Christians use their faith resources to support and understand chaplaincy work in a non-religious environment; and consider the common elements in chaplaincy work (hospital, hospice, prison, school, university, airport etc), learning from chaplains working in some of these institutions.

The course is designed for those who want to know more about chaplaincy work in a multi faith environment and for those already working in chaplaincy to enable them to reflect further upon their work. Speakers include Revd Dr Stephen Heap, Church of England National Higher Education Adviser, Moulana Rashid Ali Musa Seth, Imam of the Zakariyya Central Masjid, Bolton, and Rt Revd Chris Edmondson, Bishop of Bolton.

The Course runs from 9.30am until 4.00pm at the following times and venues:

- Saturday 26 March – University of Bolton
- Sunday 27 March – Zakariyya Central Masjid
- Friday 8 April – URC of St Andrew & St George
- Saturday 9 April – Veda Mandir

The Award Ceremony is on Saturday 16 April, 12noon -2.00pm followed by lunch. There is a fee of £110 for the four days including drinks and lunch each day, plus an arranged visit to a chaplaincy. ## Parliamentary Outreach training sessions

Faith based organisations are often central to local social action and advocacy on community issues. Local faith based community groups can bring valuable experience and expertise to the decisions made at Parliament. Topics as diverse as the desecration of graveyards, the legal status of weapons used in religious ceremonies, and local poverty issues have been raised by faith groups at Parliament, informing legislation and debate.

The Parliamentary Outreach team was established in 2007 with the purpose of building the knowledge and confidence of individuals and community groups so that they are best able to influence parliamentary decision making using their local community experience. The team is non-party political. There is a strong emphasis on supporting local people to be involved at different levels of decision making thus ensuring that local knowledge is recognised in parliamentary research and debate including informing select committees about very specific community related issues.

The team provides free training and activities to explore how Parliament works, how laws are made, what Select Committees do and how your voice can be heard in these processes. You can learn how to contribute to the creation of legislation, how to submit evidence to a Select Committee and how to work with your MP to raise an issue at Parliament. The sessions are tailored to your group, with a date, time and venue to suit you. These can last from an hour to a whole day. You can find out more information for your area at: www.parliament.uk/get-involved/outreach-and-training.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

Celebrating RE Month March

March sees a month long celebration of RE in schools, colleges, universities, faith and belief communities and local communities throughout England and Wales. The purpose is to celebrate the contribution that high quality RE can make to the education of every child and young person. It also aims to raise public awareness and understanding of the nature of RE as a subject which is relevant, challenging, interesting and of educational value to all, whatever their religious or philosophical background.

One of the resources on its site, www.celebratingre.org, is a leaflet about the importance of inter faith issues and how inter faith groups can support and work with schools to promote dialogue. It also shows a range of ideas and activities which schools can use to explore the inter faith dimension. Examples include exploring scriptures and discussing what different faiths say about such concepts as greed or forgiveness, looking at similarities and differences within a faith or considering how words such as 'sabbath' or 'priest' are understood by different faiths. See:

<http://www.celebratingre.org/index.php/what-can-you-do/inter-faith-if-groups>

The Celebration is organised by the RE Council of England and Wales. Planning and organisation are co-ordinated by a sub-committee of the REC, supported by part-time project officers and by many teachers, advisers, faith and belief community members, SACREs and others all over the two countries taking part. For further information see www.celebratingre.org.

UK's first Climate Week 21 to 27 March

Events and activities highlighting the positive steps being taken to help prevent climate change are being planned by organisations from every part of society for the UK's first Climate Week, taking place from 21 to 27 March. Among the national bodies supporting the Week are many faith and inter faith organisations. Organisers are encouraging faith communities to use Climate Week as an opportunity to focus during sermons and in study groups on the religious basis for environmental care and to use events, exhibitions and coffee mornings to highlight ways faiths are taking steps to help prevent climate change. During the Week itself, an online environmental 'challenge' will be set each day to which school and university teams will be encouraged to find a solution.

For more information on Climate Week or to register for the Climate Week Challenge, please contact Kate Shepherd, Head of Campaigns, at kate@climateweek.com or on 0203 397 2602. ## National Family Week 30 May to 5 June

National Family Week aims to highlight the importance of families spending quality time together and aims to promote the benefits of a healthy, active lifestyle. Over the last two years, the Week has involved families in thousands of events, competitions, offers and promotions. Next year the Week will take place from Monday 30 May to Sunday 5 June and the organisers are keen to encourage faith-based and inter faith groups to get involved by:

- Promoting the Week (free posters, balloons, stickers etc. are available)
- Holding community events and registering these on line through the National Family Week Event finder
- Having a special family focus during the week, e.g. at meetings, worship, youth activities etc.

National Dementia Awareness Week

Dementia Awareness Week 2011 takes place in Northern Ireland from 12 to 18 June and in England and Wales from 3 to 9 July. The theme of the Week, 'Remember the person', encourages everyone to be a friend to people with dementia - to look beyond the diagnosis to engage with the person and their history and passions, and remember the simple things that can make their lives more manageable and enjoyable.

Good quality of life can be achieved after a diagnosis of dementia, and research shows that spirituality and staying engaged with faith communities can play a key role in helping someone stay well. Carers also get enormous benefit from being welcomed and supported by their local faith communities. The Alzheimer's Society, www.alzheimers.org.uk, is looking to faith communities to engage with the theme of "Remember the Person" during the Week. There are plans for a Day of Worship for People with dementia and their carers during the Week, and the Alzheimer's Society would like to hear from faith communities that would like to be involved. For more information, please contact External Affairs Manager, Brigid Bowen, at brigid.bowen@alzheimers.org.uk or call her on 02920 480566.

National Sewa Day

National Sewa Day 2011 will take place on 25 September. The Sanskrit word 'Sewa' means 'selfless service'. National Sewa Day is a national day of service which seeks particularly, but not exclusively, to engage the support and talents of the Hindu, Sikh, Jain and Buddhist communities. It provides people a chance to give back to the community through volunteering on a single day to make a difference. For more information, or to get involved, please visit www.nationalsewaday.org.

Mitzvah Day 20 November

Mitzvah Day takes place this year on Sunday 20 November. It is a Jewish led day of social action – around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. The goal is to reduce hardship and poverty and to help the environment. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. Last year a number of projects had a multi faith dimension. See www.mitzvahday.org.uk for further information and to register an event.

DIARY DATES

The Multi-Faith Centre at the University of Derby in conjunction with Volunteering England and partners are hosting a regional Modernising Volunteering Conference entitled 'The Way to a Bigger Society'. The conference will be held on Tuesday 22 February from 10.30am to 5pm, with registration starting at 9.45am. This conference explores the findings from four cutting edge priority areas, including: faith-based volunteering, new forms of volunteering involvement, overcoming barriers to volunteering and skills-based employer supported volunteering. There is a delegate fee of £60, which includes lunch, refreshments and an electronic resource pack. Full conference details and booking information are available at www.volunteering.org.uk/VEvents.

Watford Interfaith Association is holding its AGM on Tuesday 22 February at 7.15pm for 7.30pm at Beechen Grove Baptist Church - on the corner of Clarendon Road and Beechen Grove in Watford, close to Watford Junction Station. The AGM business will be brief to allow time for the invited speaker, Simon Keyes, Director of St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace. He will be recounting the story of the bombing of this medieval church in 1993 in the Bishopsgate bombing and its resurrection from the ashes by the hands of volunteers over several years into the inter faith and reconciliation centre it has become today. Refreshments will be served, all are welcome and there is no charge to attend. For more information, contact Judith Bruni on 01923 774812, or Stephanie Grant on 01923 461834, or email wifasec@aol.com.

The MUJU Crew bring Muslims and Jews together through a shared passion for creating art. The next in their series of Thursday open workshops – Upstarts – will be held on Thursday 24 February at the Tricycle Theatre in Kilburn from 7.15pm to 9.00pm. Upstarts begins 2011 with a new director and the opportunity to perform work inspired by untold true stories of Muslim heroes during the Second World War and the Holocaust. With the stories as stimulus, the group will collaborate alongside director, Josh Azouz, to devise a show, and perform it at the Tricycle Theatre in May. No theatre experience is necessary, just an open mind. Expect drama, debate and lots of laughs. Potential actors, directors and writers are all welcome to attend. For more information, please contact info@muju.org.uk.

The Council of Christians and Jews is supporting a special event as part of Jewish Book Week entitled 'Jesus and the Jews'. The event will be held at 3.30pm on Sunday 27 February at the Royal National Hotel in London. The discussion will be led by Susannah Heschel, Professor of Jewish Studies at Dartmouth College, Miri Rubin, Professor of Early Modern History at Queen Mary's, London and David Cesarani, Research Professor of History at Royal Holloway, University of London. Tickets costs £8 and can be purchased at www.jewishbookweek.com/2011/susannah-heschel-miri-rubin.php.

The Scottish Inter Faith Council established a Women's Inter Faith Network in Scotland in June 2010. The network brings women together from across Scotland from all faith traditions to engage in inter faith dialogue and social action projects. The next meeting of the Women's Inter Faith Network will take place on Monday 28 February at 4.30pm at the Brahma Kumaris Centre in Edinburgh, 20 Polwarth Crescent, EH11 1HW. These meetings will be in part to discuss arrangements for the Scottish Inter Faith Council's Annual Women's Seminar which will take place on Sunday 27 March from 1pm to 5pm, venue tbc. The theme of the seminar is 'Spirituality, health and wellbeing'. For further information, please contact Frances Hume on fhume@scottishinterfaithcouncil.org or on 0141 420 6982.

Bristol Inter Faith Group, as part of its series of Dig Deeper events and workshops, will be hosting a Civic Inter Faith Celebration: 'Working together'. This event will be held on Wednesday 2 March 2011, 7pm for 7.15pm start at The Council House, College Green, Bristol BS1 5TR. This event is by kind invitation of The Lord Mayor of Bristol, Councillor Colin Smith. There will be readings, prayers, and music from the teachings of faith communities on cooperation, followed by an informal meeting over light refreshments. For further information Bernard Omar on 01454 775 454 or b.f.omar@btinternet.com.

The World Congress of Faiths, in conjunction with the International Association of Religious Freedom and the Brahma Kumaris World Spiritual University will be holding a time of reflection on the theme of 'Journey to Compassion' from 8 to 10 March 2011 at the Global Retreat Centre, Nuneham Park, Nuneham Courtney, Oxfordshire. The Global Retreat Centre generously offers hospitality but donations will be greatly appreciated. All meals will be vegetarian. For further information or to book please contact Maureen.goodman@uk.bkwsu.org.

The Scottish Inter Faith Council is working with Central Scotland Police and a variety of organisations running a one-day youth inter faith conference for young people aged 16 – 26. The conference will take place on Thursday 10 March from 10am to 3pm at Strathclyde Police Training Complex at Jackton near East Kilbride. Deadline for applications is Thursday 10 February. Please request an application form from Frances Hume at the Scottish Inter Faith Council at fhume@scottishinterfaithcouncil.org or on 0141 420 6982

The Sion Centre for Dialogue and Encounter's final Sunday afternoon session in the discussion series on respecting difference in interfaith dialogue, Engaging with the Other takes place from 2.30pm to 4.15pm on 13 March at the Centre at 34 Chepstow Villas, London W11 2QZ. The subject is 'Beyond the Spiritual: Religion and the Everyday' and the speakers are Dr Michael Barnes SJ and Anil Goonewardene. A donation of £8.00 is suggested. For further information or to book, please telephone 020 7313 8286/020 7727 3597 or email sioncde@yahoo.co.uk.

Leeds Concord Interfaith Fellowship's Peter Bell Memorial Lecture will take place on Wednesday 16 March at 7.30pm at the Leeds Civic Hall. The guest speaker is Dr Musharraf Hussain OBE, Director of the Karimia Institute at Nottingham University and his talk is entitled 'Seventy Ways to Enrich Interfaith Activity'. For further information, please email secretary@concord-leeds.org.uk.

As the latest in its series of 'Leaders' events, the Christian Muslim Forum is bringing together 20 pairs of Christian and Muslim leaders (religious, community, youth and others) on 16 and 17 March for an event entitled 'Mill Towns, Religion and Understanding'. Spread throughout the North of England there are many former mill towns that share not only a common industrial history, but also a common community demographic. They are home to Muslim communities of significant size that contribute to the distinctive character of the towns. The Christian Muslim Forum is working in partnership with Blackburn Cathedral eXchange Project, Building Bridges Pendle and Bradford Churches for Dialogue and Diversity and with the support of The Henry Smith Charity and the Church Urban Fund. The event will seek to strengthen local partnerships and initiatives, explore models of leadership, consult with young people and women on their expectations of leaders and celebrate the 400th anniversary of the King James Bible and 1400 years since the first revelation to the Prophet Muhammad. The key aim is to develop the capacity and ability of 20 Christian and 20 Muslim leaders and people of influence to engage with other faiths and be good role models for dialogue. This residential event is being hosted at Jamiatul-Ilm Wal-Huda College and Blackburn Cathedral and bookings can be made online at www.christianmuslimforum.org.

Dudley Borough Interfaith Network marks its 30th Anniversary this year. On 17 March it will celebrate 30 years of achievements in building a strong and peaceful borough, connecting communities and supporting faith communities in acting and interacting together. Look out for more details on celebration plans at www.dbinterfaith.org.uk.

Leo Baeck College is organising the 38th International Students' Conference for Dialogue between Jews, Christians and Muslims in Europe. The conference will be held in Wuppertal in Germany from 28 March to 3 April. The conference will be on the theme of 'Still of use? Do religious communities have something to offer to the wider society?'. There is a fee to attend the event and numbers are limited. For enquiries and information on registration please contact Irit Burkeman at Leo Baeck College on 020 8349 5605 or at irit.burkeman@lbc.ac.uk.

Hull and East Riding Interfaith are holding an Interfaith Symposium on Religious Education from 5pm to 7pm on Tuesday 29 March. The symposium will take place in Committee Room 1 at the Guildhall in Hull, with refreshments from 4.30pm. The event is being held as part of National RE Month and will consider five topics: Why should RE be compulsory in all schools in England & Wales, not just Faith Schools? Where should RE be taught? Who should teach RE and who should shape the syllabuses? What should schools teach? How should it be taught? All are welcome. For further information, including a map and parking, see www.heri.org.uk and www.CelebratingRE.org/what's on. You can contact Hull and East Riding Interfaith's Secretary, Jackie Lukes, on 01482 445728 or at jackie@lukes.heri.org.uk.

The Jain community will be celebrating the 2609th Birthday of Bhagwan Mahavir on Saturday 16 April at the Jain Centre, 64-68 Colindale Avenue, London NW9 5DR. The programme runs from 10.30am until 5.00pm and will contain dance and music as well as the launch of Heritage and Cultural Academy as part of the educational programme of the Jain Network. All are welcome to attend. For further information or invitations, please contact Dr Natubhai Shah at dr@natubhaishah.com.

Peterborough Inter Faith Council will be holding its annual Festival of Faiths and Foods from 12.30pm on Sunday 8 May. The theme of this year's event, which will be held at Peterborough Town Hall, is 'The Heart of My Faith'. The event begins with an inter faith lunch and there will be speakers from each of the main faiths, led by the Bishop of Peterborough, The Rt Revd Donald Allister. There is no charge to attend and all are welcome. For further information, please contact the Secretary, Brian Keegan on 01733 265769 or at brian@briankeegan.demon.co.uk.

The Christian Interfaith Practitioners' Association will be holding their Annual Consultation 2011 from 17 to 19 May at Luther King House, Brighton Grove, Manchester M14 5JP. This year's theme is 'Reflective approaches to dialogue' and the speaker will be Dermot Killingley, a former lecturer of the Department of Religious Studies at Newcastle University. There is a charge to attend. Details can be found online at www.cipa-uk.com. For more information please contact Any Lie on 07720 118603 or at asj\_lie@hotmail.com.

The International Council of Christians and Jews is holding its annual conference from 3 to 6 July in Cracow, Poland. This year's conference is being co-hosted with the Jagiellonian University of Cracow. The conference is part of an ongoing ICCJ project dealing with interreligious dialogue in Central and Eastern Europe and the theme will be 'Religions and Ideologies, Polish perspectives and beyond'. Cracow was chosen because of its historical associations for Christians and Jews and for the central role it has played in Polish history. The conference will include a trip to the memorial site of Auschwitz/Birkenau and visits to sites of historical and religious interest in Cracow. Further information can be found at www.iccj.org.

2011 Census

The 2011 Census takes place on Sunday March 27. The detailed personal information will not be released for 100 years and legal requirements are designed to ensure that information cannot be traced to a particular household or individual. ONS randomises the information, so information on individuals is not known.

Data collected in the Census can affect communities in important ways, particularly those where a significant number of their numbers lived in specific geographical clusters. It helps to shape the future pattern of funding of public services, for example in relation to housing, emergency services and care for the elderly, and provides the basis for decisions on this for at least the following ten years. A number of faith communities are encouraging members to complete their forms. See, for example: the news releases of the Muslim Council of Britain

http://cte.churchinsight.com/Groups/83341/Churches\_Together\_in/Working\_Together/Inter\_faith/Events\_Courses/Events\_Courses.aspx

The Network of Buddhist Organisations is running a campaign 'tick the box for Buddhism' <http://www.nbo.org.uk/get-involved/nbo-campaigns/tick-the-box> The British Humanist Association, meanwhile, is campaigning to encourage non-religious people to tick the 'No religion' box <http://census-campaign.org.uk/> and has criticised the nature of the question relating to religious identity. For the background to the reasons for inclusion of a question on religious identity and way this is framed, see www.ons.gov.uk/census/2011-census/2011-census-questionnaire.../recommended-questions---religion.pdf

Early day motion on Religious Education and the English Baccalaureate

A new 'English Baccalaureate' certificate is to be awarded to students who achieve A* - C grades in Maths, English, two Sciences, a foreign language and a humanity (defined as Geography or History). The first pupils to gain the certificate will do so in 2013. Schools will be judged in new league tables that will assess numbers of students achieving this new qualification. RE is not considered a humanities subject for the purposes of the E Bac. Last month, Stephen Lloyd, Liberal Democrat MP for Eastbourne and Willingdon, tabled an early-day motion calling on the Government to recognise RE in the EBac. www.parliament.uk/edm/2010-11/1375 A number of other bodies are encouraging members to write by the end of March to ask their MP to support this motion.

Near Neighbours programme

The Government has awarded the Church Urban Fund £5 million to promote interaction in communities through a new project called Near Neighbours. The three-year initiative aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community they live in.

Near Neighbours will be set up as a charity by the Church Urban Fund and Church of England to foster better understanding and relationships between people of different faiths. People of any faith will be able to bid for funding through the local parish church for grants of up to £5,000 for individual local interaction projects. A wide range of community, education, environmental, arts, and sports activities will be eligible, as long as they encourage involvement by local people from different faiths or none.

Near Neighbours will start operating later in 2011 in locations in the M62 'mill towns' corridor in Yorkshire and Lancashire; Leicester; East London; and Birmingham (north and east). It is the intention that the programme will complement and strengthen existing patterns of inter faith work in these areas. There will be consultation with the Inter Faith Network for the UK, through which the Churches work alongside all the major faiths for good inter faith relations. The resources of the Christian Muslim Forum, the Council of Christians and Jews and the Hindu Christian Forum will be drawn on to assist with particular local needs.

Further information can be found online at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours and a copy of the Church Urban Fund press release can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/press-release.

Training for community organisers

The Government announced on 23 February that Locality has been selected to deliver and train up to 5,000 Community Organisers. Locality is the new nationwide network of community led organisations, formed through the merger of the Development Trusts Association (DTA) and bassac (British Association of Settlements and Social Action Centres), which will come into being in April 2011. It has been chosen to carry out work including developing a training framework; a Code of Conduct for Community Organisers; and an Institute for Community Organising. Its partners in this work are: Re:generate; the Urban Forum; Faith-based Regeneration Network; Voice4Change England; Church Urban Fund; Manchester Metropolitan University; Goldsmiths University, South East London; Trafford Hall, Chester; St Katherine's Foundation, East London; and the Open College Network, Yorkshire and the Humber.

Community Organisers are envisaged as playing a major role in delivering the Big Society, working closely with communities to identify local leaders, projects and opportunities, and to empower the local community to improve their local area. Up to 500 senior Community Organisers will be trained and given bursaries of £20,000 for their first year, along with a further 4,500 part-time and voluntary organisers who will support them. In total, 5,000 Community Organisers will be trained between April 2011 and March 2015. Locality has ten areas 'ready to go' where community organisations have committed to recruiting organisers and to 'hosting' them. Further information can be found online at www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/news/government-names-new-partner-deliver-community-organisers.

Consultation on the Equality and Human Rights Commission

The Government published on 22 March its consultative document on the future of the Equality and Human Rights Commission.

The Home Office press release can be found at www.homeoffice.gov.uk/media-centre/news/ehrc-reform and the consultation document at www.equalities.gov.uk/what\_we\_do/ehrc\_reform.aspx.

The consultation closes on 15 June. To contact Government Equalities Office, or to request alternative formats of documents or send a response, email ehrc.reform@geo.gsi.gov.uk.

Public Sector Equality Duty

The public sector Equality Duty applies to public authorities and others carrying out public functions. It consists of a general duty, with three main aims (set out in Section 149 of the Equality Act 2010); and specific duties (set out in secondary legislation to accompany the Equality Act 2010). The specific duties are designed to help public bodies with the better performance of the general duty. The general Equality Duty will be commenced on 5 April 2011.

As reported in the last e-bulletin, the Government published draft specific duties regulations on 12 January following a public consultation. Since then, the Government has considered the draft regulations further in the light of the policy objective of ensuring that public bodies consider equality when carrying out their functions without imposing unnecessary burdens and bureaucracy, and thinks there is room to do more to strip out unnecessary process requirements. On 17 March, the Government announced the publication of a policy review paper seeking views on new draft specific duties regulations. Comments on the new draft regulations should be submitted to the Government Equalities Office by 21 April 2011. For the period from 5 April until the new specific duties are in place, public bodies will still need to comply with the general Equality Duty.

The policy review paper can be accessed at www.equalities.gov.uk/default.aspx?page=1788.

The Government has finalised the Draft Order amending Schedule 19 to the Equality Act, which sets out the list of public bodies to which the general Equality Duty will apply. The Draft Order was laid before Parliament on 14 February and will be considered by the Joint Committee on Statutory Instruments and debated in both Houses in the near future.

Bill of Rights

The Government announced on 18 March the setting up of an independent Commission to investigate the case for a UK Bill of Rights.

It is to be chaired by Sir Leigh Lewis, a retired civil servant, and includes eight human rights experts. An Advisory Panel will provide advice and expertise to the Commission on issues arising in relation to Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. The Commission will report jointly to the Deputy Prime Minister and Kenneth Clarke, Secretary of State for Justice. The Government has stipulated that the Commission's recommendations must ensure that the rights incorporated in the European Convention on Human Rights continue to be enshrined in UK law. The aim is for the Commission to report no later than the end of 2012.

Secretary of State speech on voluntary sector funding

Eric Pickles, MP, Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, gave a speech on 1 March at the Annual Conference of the National Council of Voluntary Organisations.

In his speech he set out three 'reasonable expectations of how Local Authorities will conduct themselves' in their relationships with the voluntary sector:

- First, it is reasonable to expect that councils will not pass on disproportionate cuts to local voluntary and community groups. That they will not inflict bigger reductions to your budgets than they take on themselves.
- Second, any sensible council has known for many months that we were facing tough times – so it is reasonable to expect that they will have been talking to voluntary and community groups at a very early stage about how services need to change.
- Third, it is reasonable to expect that they will have given three months' notice or more when they think they need to end or alter a grant, or other support.

The full text of his speech can be found online at www.ncvo-vol.org.uk/networking-discussions/blogs/20591/11/03/01/eric-pickles-mp-secretary-state-communities-local-govern.

'Multiculturalism' and integration

Issues of integration, values and perspectives on 'multiculturalism' were at the heart of two speeches made, respectively, by the Prime Minister in Munich on 5 February (www.number10.gov.uk/news/speeches-and-transcripts/2011/02/pms-speech-at-munich-security-conference-60293) and the Deputy Prime Minister in Luton on 3 March (www.dpm.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/news/deputy-prime-ministers-speech-open-confident-society). These have sparked considerable debate.

Responding on 17 March to a written question from Jim Cunningham (Labour, Coventry South) about what recent steps the Department for Communities and Local Government has taken to improve community relations between different populations, Andrew Stunell, Parliamentary Under Secretary of State, said, "Integration and positive relations between different populations are integral parts of the big society. As the Prime Minister set out in his recent speech in Munich, integration is fostered by meaningful and active participation in society, which is achieved by shifting the balance of power away from the state and towards the people, and by initiatives such as the National Citizen Service. DCLG also recently awarded the Church Urban Fund £5 million to promote interaction in local communities between people of different faiths, through a new programme called Near Neighbours. DCLG are considering what additional, specific activities are needed to improve integration and overcome divisions in communities. We are working to develop a cross-government approach by May 2011."

Universities and freedom of speech

On 18 February Universities UK published Freedom of Speech on Campus: Rights and Responsibilities. The report examines the meaning of academic freedom and freedom of speech. It then explores the contemporary context in which universities are operating, both in terms of the diversity of current student populations, and the wider national environment. It summarises the relevant law and describes the Government's security strategy and other security initiatives and structures. It then reviews the various ways in which universities from across the UK have addressed these challenges and sought to reconcile differing priorities, drawing on an on-line survey conducted by Universities UK of all its members in 2010. Inter faith engagement on campus is touched on at a number of points.

The report is the result of a Universities UK working group chaired by Professor Malcolm Grant, President and Provost of University College London (UCL). The working group was established in January 2010 following the arrest of Umar Farouk Abdulmutallab in the United States on Christmas Day 2009 for an attempted act of terrorism. Eighteen months previously he had graduated from UCL.

PROJECTS

Jubilee Debt Campaign Multifaith Project update

Jubilee Debt Campaign (JDC) now runs a Multifaith Project to build on past activities and engagement by the various faith communities. The national project, based in Birmingham, was launched in 2010 and focuses on building awareness and encouraging action to combat global poverty, with a particular focus on the issue of sovereign debt.

In the year since it was launched the JDC Multifaith Project has built links with local and national faith groups and university groups. People involved in the project have attended and organised campaign events such as 'Drop the Debt' (in Birmingham city centre) and held stalls at Islam Awareness Week and Inter Faith Week events across the West Midlands. In March 2011 the project organised a Multifaith Women's Conference.

For more information about the project and information about upcoming events and resources visit www.jdcmultifaith.org or email faith@jubileedebtcampaign.org with your name and contact details to receive updates about the project's work.

Campus inter faith relations

Across the last two years, the NUS Inter Faith Project, funded by the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills (DBIS), has been providing students' unions with information, advice and training on how better to engage with, and support, the diverse needs of students of faith with the aim of improving the experiences of students of faith in further and higher education. The project has also supported students and students' unions in organising inter faith activities on campus to increase dialogue and understanding of different faith groups. They will shortly be launching an inter faith toolkit for students' unions in further and higher education. For further information please contact Kat.Luckcock@nus.org.uk

Women of Faith

A second consultative meeting is being held in Birmingham on 30 March by Religions for Peace (Europe) to explore the development of a UK Women of Faith Network. This follows an initial meeting which took place in London last year to discuss the formation of such a network when those present, although very supportive of the idea, felt that a larger consultation meeting was required with more women from faith based and inter faith women's organisations being invited. There will be a linked launch of a new exhibition 'Words of Wisdom on Women' to celebrate the Centenary of International Women's Day. For further details, see under Diary Dates.

Knit for Peace

Knit for Peace is an initiative of the Charities Advisory Trust that encourages women and men from different communities to come together informally to knit (or sew or crochet). With a shared common goal, differences in background are irrelevant and individuals come together to knit peacefully. Knit for Peace holds events from time to time in the UK, for example a knitting and coffee morning earlier this month as part of an Artogether event hosted by the Three Faiths Forum with women from all faiths and backgrounds. For more information about Knit for Peace see www.charitiesadvisorytrust.co.uk/knitForPeace.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

Inter faith activity and young people

The Inter Faith Network is currently updating its information on inter faith projects of and for young people. This is part of developing new web-based resources highlighting this vital area of work and also working towards a new edition of the widely used youth inter faith action guide, Connect: Different Faiths, Shared Values. If your organisation is carrying out work to increase the involvement of young people in inter faith interaction, learning and cooperation, Augustine Booth-Clibborn would be very pleased to receive information about this at augustine.booth-clibborn@interfaith.org.uk.

The Big Survey: Faith-Based Youth and Community Work

Nigel Pimlott, who works for the Frontier Youth Trust and is a PhD student at Staffordshire University, is currently researching the relationship between faith-based work, community cohesion and the concept of the 'Big Society'. He would be interested to hear from any faith-based youth workers (paid or volunteer) who would be willing to give their views via a short questionnaire. The questionnaire can be found at http://www.kwiksurveys.com/online-survey.php?surveyID=IJJGK\_4ef1e494 and should take about 10 minutes to complete.

For further information please contact nigel@pimlott.org or telephone 07940 545469. If you wish to contact Staffordshire University about the research, please email P.L.Twilley@staffs.ac.uk or telephone 01782 294793.

National Family Week 30 May to 5 June

National Family Week aims to highlight the importance of families spending quality time together and aims to promote the benefits of a healthy, active lifestyle. Over the last two years, the Week has involved families in thousands of events, competitions, offers and promotions. Next year the Week will take place from Monday 30 May to Sunday 5 June and the organisers are keen to encourage faith-based and inter faith groups to get involved by:

- promoting the Week (free posters, balloons, stickers etc. are available)
- holding community events and registering these on line through the National Family Week Event finder; and
- having a special family focus during the week, eg at meetings, worship, youth activities.

For further information visit www.nationalfamilyweek.co.uk or contact bee@nationalfamilyweek.co.uk.

This builds on the conference and book on 'Creation in Crisis' which was part of the 'Hope for Creation' project run jointly with the Faraday Institute. The event will involve both secular and faith perspectives in the same conversation to encourage both sides to see how religions have a vital contribution to make in motivating their adherents to take action, both as individuals and communities. Further details and booking information can be found at www.sustainability-in-crisis.org or by emailing Colin Bell at crb11@cam.ac.uk.

Parliament of the World's Religions in 2014

Brussels has been chosen as the host city of the Parliament of the World's Religions in 2014. The selection of Brussels was made by the Board of Trustees of the governing organisation at its March 13 meeting in Chicago. More than 10,000 people from diverse religious, spiritual and convictional traditions are expected to participate in the Parliament, which will last for 7 days and will comprise more than 500 programs, workshops and dialogues, alongside music, dance, artistic exhibitions and related events hosted by religious communities and cultural institutions. Note: Since the historic 1893 World's Parliament of Religions was held in Chicago, modern Parliaments have been held in Chicago (1993), Cape Town (1999), Barcelona (2004) and Melbourne (2009). These periodic Parliament events are the world's oldest and largest interreligious gatherings.

English Regional Faith Forums

Across the last three years a funding and capacity building programme linked to the previous Government's Face to Face and Side by Side framework has helped English Regional Faith Forums (RFFs) carry out very valuable work to promote engagement of faith groups in public policy and social action within their regions and to support and stimulate local inter faith work. This funding came to an end on 31 March and, while Government has indicated its continuing appreciation for the Forums' work, central Government support for them in the coming period is no longer available. Forums are evaluating the position and responding in a range of ways.

Localism Bill – Consultation on ‘community rights’

The Government's Localism Bill completed its Committee stage in the House of Commons on 10 March. The Community Right to Challenge and the Community Right to Buy are two key elements of it. A consultation on these two ‘Community Rights’ is running until 3 May. They were described in the February e-bulletin which also gave details of the consultation documents and response forms to be found on the DCLG website at:

Under the Community Right to Buy, local groups will have a legal right to nominate any vital community asset – including local shops, pubs, libraries and leisure centres – to be assessed for recording on a ‘most wanted’ list by the local council. The asset could then be listed for five years. In that time, the owner of a listed asset will have to tell the council if they intend to sell, which will trigger a window of opportunity or ‘community countdown’, giving people time to prepare their business plan and raise the funds they need to make a credible bid before it goes on the open market.

The Community Right to Challenge will give community or voluntary sector groups, as well as parish councils and council employees, new powers to challenge and take over a local service. This could include running children's centres, social care services and even improving local transport links. Under the new law, councils must respond to this challenge and consider the positive impact the proposal could have on the community. If the proposal is turned down the council must publish the reasons for this. It is believed that this new right will put voluntary and charity groups on the front foot when it comes to running public services and has the potential to open up new revenue for them.

New Public Sector Equality Duty

The new integrated Public Sector Equality Duty contained in Section 149 of the Equality Act 2010 and covering the protected characteristics (including religion and belief) came into force on 6 April. It requires all public bodies – including central government departments, local authorities, key health, education, transport and criminal justice system bodies and any other body (for example, third-sector organisations) if it is carrying out public functions - to have 'due regard' to the need to: eliminate discrimination, harassment and victimisation; advance equality of opportunity; and foster good relations between different groups.

This general duty is to be supplemented by specific duties to be contained in secondary legislation which will be made under the 2010 Act. As noted in the March e-bulletin, the Government has been consulting on the content of these regulations.

Equality Act codes of practice

The Equality and Human Rights Commission's new codes of practice on employment, services and equal pay, reflecting the Equality Act 2010, as commenced on 1 October 2010, came into force on 6 April 2011. The codes are admissible in evidence in civil proceedings. Failure to comply with a code must be taken into account by a court or tribunal, where relevant.

Printed copies of the Codes can be purchased from The Stationery Office at www.tsoshop.co.uk/bookstore.asp. Free pdf copies can be downloaded from the EHRC website at www.equalityhumanrights.com/legal-and-policy/equality-act/equality-act-codes-of-practice.

Future of EHRC's 'good relations' role

As noted briefly in the March e-bulletin as this went to print, the Government is consulting on the future of the Equality and Human Rights Commission. Fuller details follow here.

The EHRC was envisaged at the time of its establishment as having a specific role in the promotion of 'Good Relations', alongside its work in the fields of equality and human rights, and this is currently part of its statutory remit. However, the future of the EHRC is being considered as part of the Government's broader review of 'quangos'. The Government has drawn up proposals on the basis that it sees a clear legal need for an independent equality regulator and National Human Rights Institution, but that it believes that overall the EHRC's performance to date has been 'weak' and that it has not been able to demonstrate that it is delivering value for taxpayers' money. Its consultative document on the future of the EHRC, published last month, seeks views, inter alia, on whether a separate 'good relations' remit is still necessary or appropriate (see: www.homeoffice.gov.uk/media-centre/news/ehrc-reform.)

The document proposes a number of changes to the EHRC's statutory framework contained in the Equality Act 2006 in order to set out more clearly its core functions. The Government also proposes to repeal the General Duty in Section 3 of the 2006 Act, which sets out the characteristics the development of which in British society EHRC should encourage and support. The Government believes that this creates unrealistic expectations about what the EHRC can achieve.

The Government also intends to stop non-core activities of EHRC and where appropriate make alternative provision for them. It is seeking views on whether the EHRC's power to make provision for conciliation services should be repealed. The Government has decided to stop funding EHRC's advice helpline and its grants programmes from 31 March 2012. In terms of information and advice for citizens the Government plans to commission a new service from the private sector or civil society. It intends to establish an alternative funding stream better to support the voluntary and community sector in a way that fits with the Government's wider support of the sector and its promotion of social action to build a more inclusive and cohesive society. The consultation document also sets out a number of proposals intended to clarify EHRC's relationship with Government and strengthen further its governance and systems with the aim of providing greater transparency, accountability and value for money.

At paragraph 9, the consultation document says: "...[W]e are seeking views on whether a separate 'good relations' remit is still necessary or appropriate in the light of the Commission's activities in the last three years and the strengthened requirements on public bodies to promote good relations, which EHRC will be subject to and have responsibility for regulating."

www.equalities.gov.uk/what\_we\_do/ehrc\_reform.aspx. The consultation closes on 15 June.

'Red Tape' challenge

In pursuit of the Government's aim "to leave office having reduced the overall burden of regulation", the Cabinet Office has launched a 'Red Tape' challenge website which is inviting comments on legislation affecting different sectors of industrial and commercial activity and inviting respondents to identify "which regulations are working and which are not; what should be scrapped, what should be saved and what should be simplified".

The website covers general legislation and regulations which respondents might wish to argue should be dropped or modified. In addition to all legislation on health and safety, environmental protection, pensions, company law and employment, this part of the website covers equalities, including the Equality Act 2010. More details can be found at www.redtapechallenge.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/home/index.

Ofqual single equality scheme

The Office of Qualifications and Examinations Regulations (Ofqual) is currently consulting on the draft of its single equality scheme. The scheme sets out Ofqual's commitment to promote equality and diversity in all that it does and the actions it intends to take to achieve this. The single equality scheme will provide a framework within which it will monitor and report on its success in promoting equality in its work.

The draft is currently open for public consultation and the scheme will be revised in the light of feedback received. Information on how to respond to the consultation can be found online at <http://comment.ofqual.gov.uk/single-equality-scheme>.

Comments can be submitted by email, post or using the online form. The deadline for receipt of responses is 5pm on 9 May 2011.

Strategic partnerships announced by Office for Civil Society

The Office for Civil Society announced on 22 March that it had chosen nine organisations to see out its strategic partner programme over the next three years. The Strategic Partners will receive a total of £8.2m across the three years.

The OCS Strategic Partners are:

- ACEVO in partnership with Euclid Network and New Philanthropy Capital
- Community Foundation Network in partnership with Association of Charitable Foundations
- Institute of Fundraising
- Locality (new name from April 2011 resulting from DTA and Bassac merger)
- NAVCA
- NCVO
- Social Entrepreneurship Partnership (School for Social Entrepreneurs, UnLtd, CAN, Plunkett Foundation and Social Firms UK)
- Social Enterprise Coalition in partnership with Cooperatives UK
- Volunteering England

The Minister for Civil Society, Mr Nick Hurd, said “We have had to reduce the number of strategic partners, not least to focus resources on front line services. However this is a good mix of partners who will represent the sector well. I look forward to working with them to help the sector manage change and maximise the opportunities that will flow from the Big Society agenda.”

Some other Government Departments continue to fund strategic partner programmes to support specific policy objectives which complement this programme.

Charity Commission updates

A Charities Bill 2011 was introduced to the House of Lords on 3 March. The Bill does not (and cannot) introduce or change policy but consolidates and simplifies existing legislation and was prepared by the Law Commission. A copy of the full Bill can be found at www.publications.parliament.uk/pa/ld201011/ldbills/050/11050.i-v.html.

The Charity Commission is currently preparing a new corporate structure designed specifically for charities: the Charitable Incorporated Organisation (CIO). It is planned that this will be introduced in late Spring. However, the regulations which complete the legal framework for CIOs have not yet been debated by Parliament, so the Commission does not know when the CIO will be available for charities to use. The Commission will soon be publishing detailed guidance for trustees that will explain how to set up a new CIO, how charitable companies or charitable industrial and provident societies can convert to CIOs and what unincorporated charities need to do to become CIOs. The introduction of the new model will be phased in to manage what the Commission expects will be high demand from charities. More details can be found online at www.charitycommission.gov.uk/Start\_up\_a\_charity/Do\_I\_need\_to\_register/CIOs/default.aspx.

PROJECTS

'Sister Cities' exchange programme

From 17 - 26 September, the Scottish Inter Faith Council will be hosting 16 delegates from the Interfaith centre of New York (ICNY) and the UNESCO Centre of Catalonia's Department for Interreligious Dialogue in Barcelona. The delegates will visit a number of voluntary and statutory agencies and places of worship across Scotland.

The ambitious three year 'Sister Cities' exchange programme was launched by the Interfaith Centre of New York in 2009. Glasgow was chosen from a number of European cities to participate in this programme in recognition of the extensive inter faith work being undertaken there. Glasgow delegates attended a programme in New York in 2009 and in Barcelona in 2010 and look forward to hosting delegates in September 2011. Further information is available from the Scottish Inter Faith Council at www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org or by emailing chenderson@scottishinterfaithcouncil.org

Women of Faith Network

A second consultative meeting was held in Birmingham on 30 March by Religions for Peace (Europe) to explore the development of a UK Women of Faith Network. This followed an initial meeting which took place in London last year to discuss the formation of such a network when those present, although very supportive of the idea, felt that a larger consultation meeting was required with more women from faith based and inter faith women's organisations being invited. There was also the launch of a new exhibition 'Words of Wisdom on Women' to celebrate the Centenary of International Women's Day. Further information about the development of the UK Women of Faith Network is available from Ravinder Kaur Nijjar at rknijjar@hotmail.com

NUS Inter Faith Toolkit

As part of its Interfaith Project, funded by the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills, the National Union of Students has produced a toolkit to help students' unions consider their role in building good relations on campus; assess the state of existing inter faith relations and resources; develop a plan for supporting good inter faith relations; and help them to organise student-led inter faith activities. The IFN office assisted on a number of aspects of this and IFN's Director, Harriet Crabtree, who is a member of the Advisory Group of the NUS Interfaith Project, spoke at its launch at King's College London on 30 March.

Good Inter Faith Relations on Campus: A Toolkit provides a series of case studies and activities to illustrate effective models of engagement and inspire students' unions to develop their own projects. Staff in supporting roles in a college or university may also find the toolkit helps them to support students and consider issues in a wider context. A copy of the press release, including a link to download the toolkit, is online at www.nusconnect.org.uk/news/article/faith/1834.

Calendar of Religious Festivals – email version

The Calendar of Religious Festivals produced by the Shap Working Party on World Religions in Education is switching to an email version. From this year printed copies will no longer be available.

The email version will provide: 3 A4 sheets which can be printed and laminated; a brief description of each religious festival; an overview of 18 months from July of one year to December of the next; details on 12 different faiths from Baha'i to Zoroastrian and including Buddhism, Christianity, Islam, Hinduism, Judaism and Sikhism; and 12 beautiful images from David Rose for you to print.

The cost of the email version, along with the booklet and 12 photos from David Rose will be £3.50. This will be available in July this year. To subscribe to the new email version you can either send a subscription request to calendar@shapworkingparty.org.uk or sign up online at www.shapworkingparty.org.uk/calendar.html.

Inter Religious Relations courses

The St Philip's Centre in Leicester is currently accepting applications for the Certificate, Diploma and MA courses in Inter Religious Relations, run in conjunction with De Montfort University in Leicester, which begin in September 2011.

The courses are intended for: members of faith communities who have a practical or theoretical interest in relations with people of different faiths; those working for secular or religious agencies, private or public, where faith issues are significant; specialist ministers in inter faith relations; and anyone interested in extending their grasp of a lively field of enquiry.

All modules will be taught in Leicester. Full details of tuition fees and entry requirements can be found online at http://stphilipscentre.dioceseofleicester.com/?page\_id=29. For further information and applications, please contact the Dean of Studies or the Administrator/Registrar, Maureen Hebblewhite, at admin@stphilipscentre.co.uk or on 0116 273 3459.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

Inter faith activity and sport

The Inter Faith Network for the UK is currently updating its information on programmes linking sport and inter faith activities. If you are currently working on any sport related projects, we would be grateful to have a brief update.

In the context of Inter Faith Week 2011 it would also be useful to know if you are planning to hold any inter faith activities which have a sporting dimension.

Please send any information on past or planned inter faith sport projects to Paresh Solanki at paresh.solanki@interfaith.org.uk.

JOBS AND VOLUNTEERING OPPORTUNITIES

Near Neighbours – Director

Near Neighbours is a £5m programme, funded by the Department for Communities and Local Government, that aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community they live in. The programme is a collaboration between the Church Urban Fund and the Church of England. This is a new role with the responsibility for the overall delivery of the programme under the direction of the Board of Directors of the Near Neighbours charity with day to day supervision though a member of the senior management team of the Church Urban Fund.

The project is seeking an outstanding manager with an understanding of the Not for Profit sector. Experience of inter faith engagement is essential, as is an ability to work flexibly, independently and proactively in a complex environment. Up to £50k plus benefits. An application pack can be downloaded from www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours. The closing date for applications is 5pm on 26 April and interviews will be held on 9 May in central Birmingham.

Tony Blair Faith Foundation – Faiths Act Trainer (maternity cover)

The Tony Blair Faith Foundation is looking for an exceptional individual to develop the training syllabus for its global multi-faith volunteer programme, Faiths Act. The post holder will design, deliver and co-ordinate training for Faiths Act, which has volunteers in over 100 countries. They will create syllabi with associated training materials and resources; design and implement a distance learning package including the use of interactive and online technologies; and design and deliver a train-the-trainer package. The post holder will also create and selectively deliver intensive training workshops and courses suitable for British and international audiences.

The ideal candidate will have training experience relevant to the role; experience of community mobilising or grassroots campaigns, ideally in a multi-faith, multi-cultural or international context; a background in interfaith or intercultural dialogue, conflict resolution, international development or related field; and experience of working with young adults. The post-holder will be extremely busy, will work hard and be expected to perform duties to the highest possible standard in what is a very responsible role.

This is a 6 month maternity cover post. The salary range is available on application. Please contact Catalina Gutierrez catalina.gutierrez@tonyblairfaithfoundation.org, for a complete job description and an application form if you are interested. Closing date for applications is 2 May. Interviews will be held during the week commencing 9 May in London.

Culham Educational Foundation - Director

Since the charity's foundation in 1980, the Culham Educational Foundation has supported training and development in Religious Education in England, developed a suite of websites including the very successful REOnline for teachers, and provided grants to many individuals both at home and abroad. A proposed merger with the St Gabriel's Trust to form Culham St Gabriel's will make the new charity a very significant contributor to the further development of Religious Education in England. The work of the Director in implementing the Trustees' policy for supporting and developing Religious Education nationally will be crucial to the formation and success of the new charity. The post of Director is currently based at Culham's offices in the Department of Education at the University of Oxford, and will carry remuneration commensurate with experience, from £60,000 per annum, plus an appropriate pension contribution. For further information and details on how to apply, please visit www.culham.ac.uk/newdirector.

Ofqual advisory group members

Ofqual regulates qualifications, (other than degrees), in England and vocational qualifications in Ireland. Ofqual has extended its deadline to recruit members to an advisory group on promoting equality and inclusion in qualifications and assessments through regulations.

They are particularly interested to recruit people with relevant knowledge of the protected characteristic of 'religion and belief'. The position is voluntary and will require attendance at meetings 3 times per year for about 2-3 hours.

The group will be invited to comment and advise on:

- the potential impact of Ofqual's proposed and existing regulatory policies and practices on people who have one or more of the protected characteristics
- research and other relevant ways of working from which Ofqual could learn
- Ofqual's progress in embedding equality and inclusion in its approach to regulation
- Ofqual's approach to equality and diversity impact assessment
- progress being made by Ofqual to fulfil the commitments set out in its Single Equality Scheme for England.

Full details on the role and how to apply can be found online at www.ofqual.gov.uk/news-and-announcements/83/540 or by emailing Shakina.Chinedu@Ofqual.gov.uk

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

National Family Week 30 May to 5 June

National Family Week aims to highlight the importance of families spending quality time together and aims to promote the benefits of a healthy, active lifestyle. Over the last two years, the Week has involved families in thousands of events, competitions, offers and promotions. Next year the Week will take place from Monday 30 May to Sunday 5 June and the organisers are keen to encourage faith-based and inter faith groups to get involved by:

- promoting the Week (free posters, balloons, stickers etc. are available)
- holding community events and registering these on line through the National Family Week Event finder
- having a special family focus during the week, eg at meetings, worship, youth activities

For further information visit www.nationalfamilyweek.co.uk or contact bee@nationalfamilyweek.co.uk.

The Big Lunch: Sunday 5 June

This year's Big Lunch takes place on Sunday 5 June. The Big Lunch is a programme of the Eden Project. Its aim is to get as many people as possible across the UK to have a community lunch once a year. The project was launched in 2009 and since its inception thousands of lunches have taken place across a wide range of communities. In 2009 and 2010 almost 1 million people (each year) took part in Big Lunches – ranging from a few neighbours meeting in a garden to large scale street parties with decorations and entertainment.

The Big Lunch organisers have been in discussion with the IFN office about the significance of faith communities in bringing people together for 'Big Lunch' events. Such events could be hosted by, for example, local inter faith organisations or local places of worship for people in their neighbourhoods. The event is an ideal opportunity for people of different faiths to come together in their local communities, meet each other and have conversations over food.

If you are interested in planning a faith based or inter faith Big Lunch, you can request a free Big Lunch Starter Pack by registering the planned event online at www.thebiglunch.com or by calling the Big Lunch on 0845 850 8181. The pack contains a step-by-step guide for running an event, publicity materials, 'crowd cooking' recipe ideas, stickers and much more.

The Big Lunch would like to let even more organisations and individuals know about the project. If you can help publicise the Big Lunch to your contacts and networks Kate Groves would be very pleased to hear from you: Tel 020 7255 6455 or kate.groves@thebiglunch.com

European Days of Jewish Culture and Heritage

This year's EDJCH runs from Sunday 4 to Sunday 11 September. The theme will be 'Facing the Future', which looks at the new era of communication that has opened up possibilities for presenting and highlighting Jewish culture and heritage. The National Heritage Open Days will also coincide with EDJCH, running from Thursday 8 September to Sunday 11 September. Events must be registered by Friday 1 April. For an official registration form, contact bbukjewishheritage@gmail.com.

Sewa Day

Sewa Day will this year take place on Sunday 25 September. The Sanskrit word 'Sewa' means 'selfless service'. The aim of Sewa Day is to provide people a chance to give back to the local community through volunteering on a single day to make a difference. Each event organised is based on at least one of the following guiding principles: to relieve hardship and poverty; to bring a little joy where none exists; to help the environment. For more information, or to get involved, please visit www.nationalsewaday.org. The report on the 2010 Sewa Day can be downloaded at www.nationalsewaday.org/images/nsd\_annual\_report\_A4\_lr.pdf.

One World Week

This year's One World Week takes place from 23 to 30 October. The focus is on 'Living for One World', which incorporates: Living for the Planet (valuing the environment and developing lifestyles and attitudes which work in co-operation with nature); Living for its People (sharing resources and respecting people everywhere, recognising that we are all linked); and Living and Acting for Change (to use collective power to influence change towards a fairer and more sustainable world).

A handbook explaining One World Week and exploring some of the concepts brought up by the Ubuntu project was launched on 7 April. For further information, visit www.oneworldweek.org. The guide can be downloaded from www.oneworldweek.org/v2/uploads/One%20World%20Week%20Handbook.pdf and is also available in hard copy.

Mitzvah Day 20 November

Mitzvah Day takes place this year on Sunday 20 November. It is a Jewish led day of social action – around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. The goal is to reduce hardship and poverty and to help the environment and “to bring a little joy - hands on – no fundraising”. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. Last year a number of projects had a multi faith dimension. See www.mitzvahday.org.uk for further information and to register an event.

Inter Faith Week 20 – 26 November

Inter Faith Week 2011 www.interfaithweek.org.uk will take place this year in England, Wales and Northern Ireland from Sunday 20 November until Saturday 26 November.

The Week aims to: strengthen good inter faith relations at all levels in our increasingly diverse society; encourage local faith groups and communities to reach out to each other and build stronger bonds of understanding and co-operation; increase awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, with a particular focus on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society; gain positive profile for inter faith initiatives, locally, regionally and nationally, as well as for the overall work of building good inter faith relations; increase understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs; and encourage the development of new partnerships within local communities and by faith communities with statutory and third sector partners.

If you would like to discuss your plans for the Week or to suggest additional resources which might be helpful to add to the Inter Faith Week website, Ashley Beck, Project Officer at IFN, will be glad to hear from you on 020 7931 7766 or at ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk.

The speaker will be the Rev Chris Hudson MBS, Minister of All Souls Belfast, and Chair of the Northern Ireland Chapter of IARF. There will be a bring and share lunch. (Tea, coffee and juice will be provided.) For further information, please see www.iarf.net/britishchapternotices.htm.

The Christian Interfaith Practitioners' Association will be holding their Annual Consultation 2011 from 17 to 19 May at Luther King House, Brighton Grove, Manchester M14 5JP. This year's theme is 'Reflective approaches to dialogue' and the speaker will be Dermot Killingley, a former lecturer of the Department of Religious Studies at Newcastle University. There is a charge to attend. Details can be found online at www.cipa-uk.com. For more information please contact Any Lie on 07720 118603 or at asj\_lie@hotmail.com.

Religions for Peace (UK) are holding a discussion meeting on 26 May from 10.00am to 4.30pm to further explore the role of faith in public life. Subjects under discussion will include the boundaries between faith and public life; whether it is ever legitimate for believers to engage in efforts to change laws so as to reflect their own fundamental beliefs and morals, or to try to change the morals of a state; how should the belief that there should be no coercion in religion be reflected in the political/social activities of believers, and is witness a more powerful tool than the use of law? The event will take place at St Ethelburga's Centre, 78 Bishopsgate, London EC2N 4AG. For further information please email jehangirsarosh@btconnect.com.

The World Congress of Faiths 75th Anniversary Meeting will be held on Wednesday, 1 June at 5.00pm at the London Interfaith Centre, 125 Salusbury Road, London NW6 6RG.

This will be followed by a workshop in three parts from 6.45pm – 8.00pm entitled ‘The Golden Rule? Compassion?’ For further information, please contact enquiries@worldfaiths.org.

Central Scotland Police has teamed up with a variety of organisations including the Scottish Inter Faith Council to run a one-day youth inter faith conference for young people aged 16 - 26 on 21 June at Strathclyde Police Training Centre, Jackton, East Kilbride. Further information is available at <http://www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org/resources/Covering+Letter.doc> For an application form please contact Anton Stephenson at Central Scotland Police on 01768 456 993 or email: anton.stephenson@centralscotland.pnn.police.uk.

The Alister Hardy Society and the World Congress of Faiths are hosting a joint conference on Saturday 11 June entitled ‘Spirituality: how might spiritual/religious experience help towards understanding and compassion?’. The conference will run from 10.00am to 4.30pm at the Essex Unitarian Church, 112 Palace Gardens Terrace, Kensington, London W8. The speakers are the Revd Dr Marcus Braybooke, Dr Gregory Barker and Eley McAinsh. To book or for further details please contact johnfranklin35@hotmail.com.

The London College of Fashion, University of the Arts London and the University of Amsterdam are jointly convening an academic symposium entitled ‘Mediating Modesty: Fashioning Faithful Bodies’ on Wednesday 15 June. The event takes place from 9.30am until 5.30pm at Rootstein Hopkins East Space, London College of Fashion, 20 John Princes Street, London, W1G 0BJ. The symposium will bring together speakers from cultural studies, anthropology, fashion studies and religious studies to think about women’s modest self presentation in the context of new forms of commerce, commentary, and community and explore how and to what extent women of different backgrounds are engaging in shared discourses about modest dressing and body management within and across faiths. Tickets cost £25 (£15 concessions). Further details and booking information can be found at: <http://newsevents.arts.ac.uk/event/mediating-modesty>.

The International Council of Christians and Jews is holding its annual conference from 3 to 6 July in Cracow, Poland. This year’s conference is being co-hosted with the Jagiellonian University of Cracow. The conference is part of an ongoing ICCJ project dealing with interreligious dialogue in Central and Eastern Europe and the theme will be ‘Religions and Ideologies, Polish perspectives and beyond’. Cracow was chosen because of its historical associations for Christians and Jews and for the central role it has played in Polish history. The conference will include a trip to the memorial site of Auschwitz/Birkenau and visits to sites of historical and religious interest in Cracow. Further information can be found at www.iccj.org.

The World Congress of Faiths will be holding a special informal service at 6.30pm on Sunday 24 July at St Martin-in-the-Field to mark its 75th anniversary. It was at St Martin’s in 1942 that the memorial service was held for Sir Francis Younghusband, the explorer and mystic and founder of the World Congress of Faiths. The theme of the service will be ‘Compassion’ with readings and music from many faith traditions. Rabbi Jackie Tabick, Chair of WCF, will give the address. All are welcome. For further information, please contact Tony Reese at enquiries@worldfaiths.org.

The Kirby Laing Institute for Christian Ethics is hosting a conference in Cambridge from 26 to 28 September on 'Sustainability in Crisis'. This builds on the conference and book on 'Creation in Crisis' which was part of the 'Hope for Creation' project run jointly with the Faraday Institute. The event will involve both secular and faith perspectives in the same conversation to encourage both sides to see how religions have a vital contribution to make in motivating their adherents to take action, both as individuals and communities. Further details and booking information can be found at www.sustainability-in-crisis.org or by emailing Colin Bell at crb11@cam.ac.uk.

Parliament of the World's Religions in 2014

Brussels has been chosen as the host city of the Parliament of the World's Religions in 2014. The selection of Brussels was made by the Board of Trustees of the governing organisation at its March 13 meeting in Chicago. More than 10,000 people from diverse religious, spiritual and convictional traditions are expected to participate in the Parliament, which will last for 7 days and will comprise more than 500 programs, workshops and dialogues, alongside music, dance, artistic exhibitions and related events hosted by religious communities and cultural institutions. Note: Since the historic 1893 World's Parliament of Religions was held in Chicago, modern Parliaments have been held in Chicago (1993), Cape Town (1999), Barcelona (2004) and Melbourne (2009). These periodic Parliament events are the world's oldest and largest interreligious gatherings.

Civil partnerships on religious premises: a consultation

As recorded in the February e-bulletin, on 17 February the Government announced its commitment to enabling civil partnerships to be registered on the religious premises of those faith groups who wished to host them. This will be done by implementing Section 202 of the Equality Act 2010. This provision removes the legal prohibition on civil partnerships being registered on religious premises, enables regulations to be made setting out the arrangements for these premises to be approved by the local authority and clarifies that there is no obligation on faith groups to have civil partnership registrations on their premises.

Civil partnerships on religious premises: a consultation, to be found at www.equalities.gov.uk/pdf/425156%20Civil%20partnerships%20tagged.pdf, sets out detailed proposals for this voluntary measure. The proposals are designed to enable faith groups to opt in, respect the different decision-making structures of different faith groups, minimise the risk of successful legal challenges and be straightforward for local authorities to operate. It would also be unlawful for a civil partnership to be registered on a religious premises that had not been approved for the purpose by the local authority. That approval will be given only with the approval of the faith group concerned.

The closing date for the consultation is 23 June. If you have any queries on this, please email civilpartnerships@geo.gsi.gov.uk.

Council of Dharmic Faiths

Following the formal public launch of the Council of Dharmic Faiths at the House of Commons on 16 May (details available from info@dharmicfaiths.org), CoDF will be continuing its work to "promote the quality of life for the Dharmic Faith communities in the UK by advancement of education and training, promotion of good health and social welfare, advocacy, recreational activities and create a mechanism to preserve their cultural and religious interests in the UK".

EHRC initial response to Government consultation

The March and April e-bulletins reported that the Government had launched a consultation on the future of the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC). The consultation document can be found at www.equalities.gov.uk/default.aspx?page=1789 and the consultation closes on 15 June. The EHRC has now published its own initial response which can be found at www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/vision-and-mission/government-consultation-on-our-future/#initial.

Red Tape Challenge - Equalities

The last e-bulletin referred to the launch by the Cabinet Office of a 'Red Tape Challenge' website which is inviting comments on legislation affecting different sectors of industrial and commercial activity and inviting respondents to identify "which regulations are working and which are not; what should be scrapped, what should be saved and what should be simplified". The website covers general legislation and regulations which respondents might wish to argue should be dropped or modified.

Its section on equalities, includes the Equality Act 2010, and still does so, although the Home Secretary, Theresa May, told the House of Commons on 5 May that the Government has no plans to repeal it. The 'Red Tape' website says that there will be a focus on equalities legislation on the 'Red Tape' website from 9 to 29 June. For further information, see www.redtapechallenge.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/home/index.

Strengthening Women's Voices in Government

The Government is currently seeking responses to its consultation entitled 'Strengthening Women's Voices in Government'.

The consultation document sets out the Government's proposals for a new approach for engaging and listening to women through:

- Direct engagement between ministers, women and organisations that represent women to ensure government understands the views of a wide range of women in the UK, and providing the opportunity for a genuine two way dialogue on policies that affect women.
- Bringing in expertise from the women's sector and beyond to support the new model and support independence from government where this is critical, particularly in the international arena.
- Looking Ahead to enable government to anticipate emerging and future issues, such as the impact of the changing demography of the UK, which will be important for women.
- A new IT platform, making the most of modern communication techniques to get the informed voice of women to Government when they need to be heard.

The consultation document can be found online at <http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/StrengtheningWomensVoicesConsultation> and runs until 10 June 2011.

Government publishes White Paper on 'Giving'

On 23 May the Government launched its White Paper on 'Giving' which outlines ways in which it hopes to make it easier and more attractive to give time and money to good causes.

The Cabinet Office press release says that : "Britons are already generous but evidence suggests levels of giving time and money have flat-lined in recent years. The Giving White Paper seeks to renew Britain's culture of philanthropy by working with charities and businesses to support new ways for people to contribute which fit into busy modern lives."

The White Paper announces a range of measures designed to encourage the giving of both time and money and includes:

- a £10m Social Action Fund and Challenge Prizes around volunteering
- a Giving Summit in late autumn 2011
- £30m for a Local Infrastructure Fund in order to encourage more effective support for frontline civil society organisations
- a year-long national payroll giving campaign.

The White Paper can be found online at www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/sites/default/files/resources/giving-white-paper.pdf.

The Government has also announced that, following a suggestion in its Green Paper on 'Giving', its member banks have unanimously agreed to enable giving through all their cash machines in 2012.

NCVO Task Force report launched

On 17 May NCVO President, Lord Hodgson, launched his Task Force report, Unshackling Good Neighbours, which considers how to cut red tape for small charities, voluntary organisations and social enterprises.

The report identifies some of the barriers that discourage people from giving time and money to civil society organisations and explores some of the ways in which public engagement can be increased by reducing bureaucracy and red tape. Some of the key recommendations include considering reforms to the law to clarify the liability of charity trustees and volunteers and displaying information prominently in all Jobcentres encouraging volunteering and emphasising that it does not affect benefits.

A copy of the report can be found online at www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/resource-library/unshackling-good-neighbours.

PROJECTS

Scriptural Reasoning Imams Council

In conjunction with Scriptural Reasoning, Children of Abraham and the Scriptures in Dialogue Academic Collaboration, a third consultative meeting was held on 10 May for the establishment of the new Scriptural Reasoning Imams Council, to provide Islamic guidance and education for Muslims in support of all varieties of scripture-based inter faith dialogue (for example, 'Scriptural Reasoning', 'Abrahamic Texts Reading', 'Bible and Quran Study'). The Council consists of distinguished international Islamic scholars from a breadth of Sunni and Shi'a communities, and works in partnership with the Rabbinic Council of Children of Abraham. The SR Imams Council's new guidance document, "Scriptural Reasoning and Interfaith Textual Reading: Guidance for Muslims" is to be launched on 27 June. The Imams Council is currently seeking consultative input from inter faith practitioners who use study of sacred texts in dialogue. For more information, please write to enquiries@scripturalreasoning.org.uk.

RESOURCES AND TRAINING

Guide to story-based methods in community building

What's your story? is St Ethelburga's new guide to the use of personal narrative and story-based methods in community building. It illustrates the richness and value of these techniques for building bridges across differences of faith, race and background, and presents over twenty tried and tested methods with case studies and pointers for best practice.

It is available both online and as a hardcopy booklet. Please see <http://stethelburgas.org/narrative-resource> for more details.

Discovering Through Death – Beliefs and Practices

The Muslim Burial Council of Leicester has produced a book entitled Discovering Through Death – Beliefs and Practices, which explores the customs and traditions surrounding death and burial. The book has been compiled by people from the Baha'i, Buddhist, Christian, Hindu, Humanist, Jain, Jewish, Muslim and Sikh communities.

It is hoped that it will be particularly useful to public workers such as police, health workers and faith communities themselves. The project has received the support of many organisations including Leicester City Council, Voluntary Action Leicestershire and faith communities throughout Leicestershire.

For more information and to obtain a copy of the book, please email admin@mbcol.org.uk.

NIFCON i-book on inter faith relations

The Anglican Communion Network for Inter Faith Concerns (NIFCON) has launched a new resource to assist Anglicans and other Christians in their engagement with people of other faiths. Generous Love: the truth of the Gospel and the call to dialogue – an Anglican theology of inter faith relations was produced in 2008 by NIFCON members. The report, which formed the basis for work at the 2008 Lambeth Conference in this field, has become increasingly well-known over the last three years, and is becoming a bench-mark for involvement by Anglicans in inter faith relations throughout the Communion. The i-book can be accessed at: www.aco.org/books. For further information or to offer material for inclusion please contact the Revd Rana Khan at the Anglican Communion Office: rana.khan@aco.org.

Dignity of Women – Scriptural reflections exhibition

The exhibition, 'The Dignity of Women - Scriptural Reflections', set up by the Religions for Peace European Women of Faith Network, in partnership with Guru Nanak Nishkam Sewak Jatha (GNNSJ) and the Nishkam Civic Association (Birmingham), is available for hire. The exhibition relates verses from the different Religious Scriptures regarding the status and honour of women. The exhibition aspires to educate religious and secular communities on the role and status of women and in turn help to overcome misrepresentation of and discrimination against women. There will be a small charge for hiring plus delivery costs. For more information, please contact Ravinder Kaur Nijjar at rknijjar@hotmail.com.

An Introduction to Jewish and Christian Scriptures for Muslims

Scriptural Reasoning in partnership with Al-Azhar Institute for Dialogue with the Monotheistic Religions and the Scriptures in Dialogue Academic Collaboration presents a training programme for Muslims, taught by Muslim scholars, in an Islamic environment. The course introduces Muslims to the sacred texts of Judaism and Christianity, with an opportunity to visit Christian and Jewish seminaries and places of worship, and hear presentations by scholars of these faiths. It is text-based and includes a course in Elementary Hebrew (for which some prior knowledge of Arabic is an advantage). This free programme is open to all Muslims and is "supervised and sanctioned according to Islamic shari'a by the Scriptural Reasoning Imams Council". The course commences on Saturday 4 June at 5.00pm at Al-Azhar College, 77 Greenfield Road, London E1 1EJ. To book a place, please email enquiries@scripturalreasoning.org.uk.

Woolf Institute e-Learning course: The Jewish Muslim Encounter

The Woolf Institute is running an e-Learning course, in co-operation with the American University Washington, entitled 'Bridging the Great Divide: The Jewish Muslim Encounter'. The course will explore the history, culture and theology of Muslims and Jews, reflecting both on similarities and differences as well as the major challenges, and will also offer strategies for building bridges between the communities. It will provide a space for the discussion of the entire range, in the broadest sense, of the Jewish-Muslim encounter and will not preclude exploration of the more controversial issues.

Faith Shorts: TBFF Global Film competition

Entries are open for the Tony Blair Faith Foundation's global film competition, Faith Shorts. Young people between 14-18 are asked to answer the brief, "Let me show you how my faith inspires me". Winners will have their films premiered at the British Academy of Film and Television Arts (BAFTA) in London. The deadline for film entries is 1 July. TBFF have just sent out 25 portable video cameras to young people who didn't have any access to film making equipment to countries including the Palestinian Territories, Sierra Leone, Nigeria the Philippines and Pakistan. Film ideas so far include a story of hope from a young boy in Egypt who witnessed Christians and Muslims uniting during the revolution and a Jordanian film which explores our obligations to help those in need from neighbouring countries. TBFF is keen for more UK entries. Go to www.faithshorts.org to find out more.

JOBS/VOLUNTEERING

Near Neighbours Project Worker (Muslim)

The Christian Muslim Forum is looking for a Project Worker for the Near Neighbours programme, an initiative of the Church of England and the Church Urban Fund to initiate and strengthen relationship and action across faiths and cultures. The Christian Muslim Forum is delivering Near Neighbours leadership training, in partnership with the Presence and Engagement Centres, in Birmingham, Bradford, Leicester and London.

The Project Worker will: lead on the delivery of leadership training; organise training events and commission training resources; build up the Forum's network of contacts with leaders, activists and volunteers; and work closely and liaise regularly with P&E Centres. The post will be a three-year contract, working 18 hours per week, and is advertised at £22,000 per annum (pro rata plus pension). The closing date for applications is midnight on 10 June and interviews will be held on 23 June. CMF indicate that "Due to the joint faith ethos of the Christian Muslim Forum, this appointment is only open to Muslims and has attached to it a genuine occupational requirement under paragraph 7(3) of the Employment Equality Regulations 2003."

Further details, including the job description and application form, can be found online at www.christianmuslimforum.org/index.php/working-together/news/project-worker-vacancy.

IFN AGM and National Meeting

IFN held its AGM and National Meeting in Birmingham on 13 July. The National Meeting was on the theme of 'The Big Picture: National and local faith communities working together for inter faith cooperation and understanding' with a wide range of speakers of different faiths from local, regional and national bodies. The meeting looked at:

- the roles national faith community bodies play in resourcing local inter faith cooperation and learning – including through resources, guidelines and 'modelling' particular forms of inter faith engagement such as dialogue and joint social action;
- some particular ways in which national faith community organisations are working to help increase involvement in work to promote inter faith understanding and cooperation;
- some examples of this in local contexts; and
- how learning from local members helps inform national reflection and guidance and what local inter faith practitioners find helpful from national faith communities in supporting their work.

A full report of the Meeting will be available from the IFN office in due course. To indicate an interest in receiving a copy of this, please email: ifnet@interfaith.org.uk

Discontinuation of Faith Communities Consultative Council

Following an earlier 'holding answer' on 13 May from Mr Andrew Stunell, Parliamentary Under Secretary of State at DCLG, to a Parliamentary Question about the composition of the FCCC saying that:

"The Government have decided to discontinue the Faith Communities Consultative Council. We believe that it did not add value to the effective arrangements that Departments already have in place for consulting faith communities on policy",

Mr Stunell provided the following further Written Answer on 24 June:

"Our preference is to work with faith communities in a manner that is strategic and appropriate for particular situations. My Department will continue to liaise individually with national faith communities that provided members of the Council, and to convene ad hoc groupings to discuss policy as necessary. Officials from various Departments will continue to attend meetings of the Faith Communities Forum of the Inter Faith Network for the United Kingdom, in order to engage with faith communities collectively. The Government recognises the vital contribution that faith communities make to civil society, and we are committed to facilitating linkages and tackling barriers that faith groups face. For instance my Department has invested £5 million in the Church Urban Fund's Near Neighbours programme, using the local infrastructure of the Church of England to build productive relationships between people from different faith backgrounds in four key geographical areas."

Faith Leaders write to Prime Minister about RE

A number of senior faith leaders have written to the Prime Minister expressing grave concern about the negative impact which they see a range of current Government policies as having on religious education (RE) in schools and colleges. The text of this letter will shortly be available on the website of the RE Council

<http://www.religiouseducationcouncil.org/> A similar, shorter, letter from the same individuals was printed in the Daily Telegraph on 9 July

Equality Challenge Unit launches report on religion and belief in HE

Over the past few decades, the religion and belief composition of the student and staff bodies in English, Welsh and Northern Irish higher education institutions has changed substantially. In addition to its growing diversity, the profile of religion and belief has also changed, becoming more visible and public than was previously the case in many institutions.

The Equality Challenge Unit commissioned research from the University of Derby to develop an evidence base for understanding the experience of staff and students in higher education with a religion or belief. The project was carried out by a team led by Professor Paul Weller of the University of Derby. The research is based on survey responses from 3077 HE staff and 3935 students, supplemented by in-depth case-study work, focus groups and interviews in a number of higher education institutions.

The final report of the project 'Religion and Belief in HE: researching the experiences of staff and students' was launched on 11 July and can be downloaded at:

<http://www.ecu.ac.uk/publications/files/religion-and-belief-staff-and-students-in-he-report.pdf/view>

The report identifies a number of areas where the sector needs to undertake further work to support staff and students in higher education with a religion or belief.

The ECU will be prioritising areas recommended within the report for future work, including good relations on campus and supporting other organisations including the National Union of Students and Universities UK. It plans to work with the sector to find effective methods to collect, interpret and learn from the variety of data sources available (for example, monitoring information, staff and student surveys, evidence of incidents of discrimination and harassment and evidence from engagement activities) to develop services and policies that support all staff and students, whatever their religion or belief background.

Government's new counter-terrorism strategy

The Government's revised counter-terrorism strategy (known as CONTEST) was published on 12 July.

It retains the previous four strand structure: Pursue – to stop terrorist attacks; Prevent – to stop people from becoming terrorists or supporting violent extremism; Protect – to strengthen protection against terrorist attack; and Prepare – where an attack cannot be stopped, to mitigate its impact.

The strategy has been revised to take account of the current assessment of the terrorist threats which the country now faces. It says that Al-Qai'da continues to pose a significant threat and other terrorist groups, some affiliated to Al-Qai'da have become stronger. The threat from Northern Ireland related terrorism has also increased. The strategy looks ahead to the UK's biggest peace-time security operation around the 2012 Olympic Games in London.

The Home Office press release can be found at www.homeoffice.gov.uk/media-centre/press-releases/contest-strategy and the strategy review document at www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/counter-terrorism/counter-terrorism-strategy.

Review of Prevent Strategy

As explained above, one of the four components of the Government's CONTEST strategy is 'Prevent' – designed to stop people from becoming terrorists or supporting violent extremism.

The launch on 9 November of the Government's review of the Prevent strategy was noted in the e-bulletin for December. The Government published its new Prevent strategy on 7 June. The document includes a detailed review and evaluation of past Prevent work and an assessment of the extent and causes of radicalisation in this country and overseas. This can be found at www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/counter-terrorism/prevent/prevent-strategy. It is accompanied by a summary of the consultation responses which it received which can be found at www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/counter-terrorism/prevent/prevent-strategy/prevent-summary-consultation?view=Binary.

The full strategy document is a lengthy one of nearly 120 pages, which cannot be readily summarised. There is, however, an Executive Summary before the main report, Paragraphs 10.114 to 10.133 (on pages 80 to 82) deal specifically with faith communities.

The new Prevent strategy makes it clear that “policy and programmes to deal with extremism and with extremist organisations more widely are not part of Prevent and will be coordinated from the Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG)”. The Government has already decided that responsibilities for Prevent will lie with the Home Office (in the Office for Security and Counter-Terrorism) and responsibility for integration with DCLG.

Specific duties required in relation to Public Sector Equality Duty laid before Parliament

On 5 April 2011 the Government brought into force the public sector Equality Duty, for public bodies in Great Britain. Following two consultations on earlier drafts, [see e-bulletins of March and April], on 27 June the Government laid before Parliament for approval The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) Regulations 2011. These new regulations will require public authorities in Great Britain to publish:

- Equality objectives, at least every four years, by April 2012; and
- Information to demonstrate their compliance with the Equality Duty, at least annually.

With the exception of schools, public authorities will be required to publish relevant information demonstrating their compliance by 31 January 2012, and their first equality objectives by 6 April 2012. Schools will be required to publish both their information and their equality objectives by 6 April 2012.

The Government and the Equality and Human Rights Commission will be producing some non-statutory guidance on complying with the regulations. The Government has also committed to reviewing the regulations in two years' time.

Although the Equality Duty is Great Britain- wide, Scotland and Wales are able to set their own specific duties. The specific duties in Wales came in to force on 6 April 2011 and specific duties that will apply to Scottish public bodies are still being decided.

Red Tape Challenge

The equality theme on the Government's Red Tape Challenge website, [see the May e-bulletin], closed on 30 June. Over 5,000 responses were made.

The Government has said that it will be reviewing all the comments it received and liaising with its key partners to discuss next steps. It has made it clear that any proposals for change to the existing legislation will receive careful consideration as to whether they are proportionate, practical, beneficial and in keeping with the Government's wider commitments and EU or domestic legal obligations. Any proposals that passed that test would then need to go through the normal consultation and Parliamentary process.

EHRC proposes 'reasonable accommodation' for religion or belief is needed

Judges have interpreted the law too narrowly in religion or belief discrimination claims, the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) has said in its application to intervene in four cases at the European Court of Human Rights, all involving religious discrimination in the workplace. If given leave to intervene, it will say that the courts have set the bar too high for someone to prove that they have been discriminated against because of their religion or belief; and that it is possible to accommodate expression of religion alongside the rights of people who are not religious, and the needs of businesses.

The Commission is concerned that rulings already made by UK and European courts have created a body of confusing and contradictory case law. As a result, it is difficult for employers or service providers to know what they should be doing to protect people from religion or belief base discrimination. They may be overly cautious in some cases and so are unnecessarily restricting people's rights. It is also difficult for employees who have no choice but to abide by their employer's decision.

The Commission thinks there is a need for clearer legal principles to help the courts consider what is and what is not justifiable in religion or belief cases, which will help to resolve differences without resorting to legal action. The Commission will propose the idea of 'reasonable accommodations' that will help employers and others manage how they allow people to manifest their religion or belief.

The Commission's press release on this subject can be found at:
<http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/news/2011/july/commission-proposes-reasonable-accommodation-for-religion-or-belief-is-needed/>

EHRC research report on Religious Discrimination in Britain

A review of research evidence commissioned by the Equality and Human Rights Commission indicates that there are different perceptions about the legal protections for religion or belief and about the level of discrimination towards different religions or beliefs. Evidence in the report shows that people's understanding of their rights around religion or belief is not always matched by recent changes to equality law.

The report, prepared by Professor Paul Weller at the University of Derby, is entitled 'Equality and Human Rights Commission on "Religious Discrimination in Britain - A Review of Research Evidence, 2000-10: Research Report 73" and can be downloaded in PDF or Word format from www.equalityhumanrights.com/publications/our-research/research-reports/research-reports-71/#73.

EHRC report on the impact of counter-terrorism measures on Muslim communities

In June the Equality and Human Rights Commission published an independent report entitled 'The impact of counter-terrorism measures on Muslim communities' (Research report 72). It examines the diverse experiences of Muslims on the street and in the community, at ports and airports, and in mosques, schools and universities, as a result of counter-terrorism measures. EHRC commissioned this research to provide a contribution to the evidence base on the impact of counter-terrorism measures in Britain, an area where few facts are known.

While the opinions in the report are those of the researchers and not necessarily the views of the EHRC, some of the findings have informed EHRC's response to the Government's counter-terrorism review and more recently the Terrorism Prevention and Investigation Measures Bill.

The report can be found online at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/publications/our-research/research-reports/research-reports-71/>.

Consultation on the future of the EHRC

Having already published on 20 May an initial response, the Equality and Human Rights Commission published on 15 June its more detailed response to proposals in the Government's consultation document on the Commission's future, 'Building a fairer Britain: Reform of the Equality and Human Rights Commission', launched on 22 March.

A copy of the full response can be found online at www.equalityhumanrights.com/uploaded\_files/aboutus/ehrc\_geo\_reponse.doc.

EHRC three-year strategic plan

The EHRC has launched the first of three phases of the consultation to develop its next three-year strategic plan, which will be laid before Parliament in April 2012.

Phase one looks at its Strategic Plan 2009-12 and how far it has delivered what it promised. This will be followed by phase two, a 60 day consultation seeking views on its emerging priorities for 2012-15, in early autumn. The third and final phase, a 30 day consultation seeking views on its draft strategic plan, will commence in early 2012.

The EHRC would like to involve actively as many people as possible in this process and sees it as an open conversation with stakeholders until the Strategic Plan 2012-15 is finalised.

Phase one of the consultation runs for 30 days and will close on 22 July 2011. To access the supporting information and complete the consultation questionnaire, please visit www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/vision-and-mission/our-strategic-plan/consultation-on-our-strategic-plan-2009-12.

Localism

The Government's Localism Bill has passed through all its stages in the House of Commons and received its First Reading in the House of Lords on 19 May. The Second Reading took place on 7 June.

On 9 June, the Parliamentary Select Committee on Communities and Local Government published its report on localism, including measures in the Localism Bill. The report says:

- The Government has not produced a compelling vision of what its imagined localist future will look like and the functions and responsibilities of the players within it. Greater clarity and certainty is needed.
- Localism should not be adopted purely as a way to achieve reductions in public sector costs, for it is unclear whether it will be able to deliver this in the short term.
- There is not universal support for the idea that central government should retreat entirely from local affairs, allowing accountability to local people to replace performance monitoring from the centre. In particular, organisations representing vulnerable, marginalised or minority groups argue that these sections of the community need protection that cannot be provided by the current mechanisms of local democratic accountability.

Further details can be found at www.parliament.uk/business/committees/committees-a-z/commons-select/communities-and-local-government-committee/news/localism-report-pn/.

BBC Diversity strategy

The BBC has published its Diversity Strategy, which sets out 5 strategic equality and diversity objectives which it has developed in consultation with its audiences and with staff:

- Advance equal opportunities to diversify and develop the workforce and senior leaders so that they better reflect audiences
- Deliver high quality programming which reflects modern Britain accurately and authentically
- Connect with audiences, including underserved audiences, using different methods to inform the quality and direction of programmes
- Build in accessibility from the start when developing new products and services, and ensuring their accessibility over time
- Achieve systematic and consistent consideration of equality and diversity within BBC planning and review processes, and meet public duties

The Diversity Strategy and Diversity Action Plans can be found online at <http://www.bbc.co.uk/diversity/documents.shtml>.

Blackburn-Cape Town inter faith school exchange

Blackburn College is playing host to a group of South African students as part of an inter faith exchange programme. The inter faith school exchange project is organised by the Cape Town Interfaith Initiative in partnership with the College. The South African students are getting the chance to take part in a whole host of activities, including an inter faith session at Blackburn Cathedral with Anjum Anwar MBE, believed to be the first Muslim in the world to be appointed to the staff of a Cathedral. They are also due to meet the Mayor and visit the Lambeth Street mosque and a Jewish Rabbi's house and synagogue to explore the diversity of the region. In July 2012 students from Blackburn will visit Cape Town and participate in a week-long follow-up programme. The project is being funded by Blackburn College and donors from the Cape Town Community.

Heritage Lottery Fund

The Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) distributes money from the National Lottery to heritage projects across the United Kingdom and is the UK's leading advocate for the value of heritage to modern life. HLF's funding supports all aspects of heritage from archives and nature conservation to oral history and cultural traditions; from community activities requesting £3,000 to multi-million pound capital projects. Their projects have conserved collections and historic buildings linked to individual faith groups and helped communities explore the heritage of faiths, languages, cultures and customs of people living within the UK. They do not fund the promotion of faith or religion. For more information on HLF's priorities and grant programmes or to find your local HLF office please contact their helpline on 020 7591 6042 or visit their website at www.hlf.org.uk.

RESOURCES AND TRAINING

Charity Commission guidance on risk for small charities

The Charity Commission has published guidance on risk designed specifically for small charities. It includes 10 useful questions that small charities should ask themselves to avoid problems covering areas such as making sure your charity is working in line with its governing document, ensuring that all trustees are properly appointed, how to assess risk and the importance of preparing accounts and trustee reports.

The guidance can be found online at www.charitycommission.gov.uk/Charity\_requirements\_guidance/Specialist\_guidance/Small\_charities/Avoiding\_problems\_in\_running\_your\_charity.aspx.

Working with SACREs: an introduction for local inter faith organisations

The East of England Faiths Council has developed a document to encourage interaction between local inter faith groups and Standing Advisory Councils on Religious Education (SACREs).

While, the document has been developed with the East of England in mind, it may be of interest to other local inter faith organisations around the country. It sets out the background to SACREs and their role and includes suggestions on how local inter faith groups and SACREs can work together.

Faithbook

The Lesbian and Gay Foundation have produced a resource called Faithbook, funded by the Faiths in Action programme of the Department for Communities and Local Government. It explores approaches to sexuality of different religions and possible ways of handling conflicts of view on the issues and is described by LGF as a resource to help "reassure lesbian, gay, bisexual and trans people that whatever your personal beliefs there will be others who can support you both within your faith and in your sexual orientation". The guide provides a range of contacts and bibliography and other sources, such as films. It can be downloaded at www.lgf.org.uk/faithbook.

Exhibition Islam at London Central Mosque

'The Islam Gallery' has now been opened to the public at the Islamic Cultural Centre and Central London Mosque (Regents Park Mosque) as a permanent exhibition. The exhibition is described as the first of its kind to be installed at any Muslim centre within the United Kingdom. It is seen by the exhibitors as an important contributor to inter faith understanding and the key note speech at the launch was given by HE Dr Abdullah bin Abdulmuhsin Al-Turki, Secretary General of the Muslim World League, with speakers also from the Christian and Jewish traditions.

Nottingham Inter Faith Council exhibition

Nottingham Inter Faith Council launched its new exhibition resource, the Faiths in Nottingham Exhibition, on 23 June. This new exhibition updates and replaces an older exhibition resource, produced around the turn of the Millennium. Along with accompanying leaflet and new website, the exhibition provides a resource for schools, community groups, places of worship, public spaces and businesses in the Nottingham area, and will be available for loan.

For further information, please visit the new accompanying website at: <http://www.interfaithnottm.org.uk>.

Introduction to Judaism for Imams

The Joseph Interfaith Foundation, in association with the Mosques and Imams National Advisory Board, has been holding a series of seminars on 'Introduction to Judaism for Imams'. The seminars were specifically written and delivered by senior rabbis of the Foundation's Council of Imams and Rabbis and were inclusive of Orthodox, Reform, Liberal and Masorti rabbis. The seminars were alternatively held at synagogues and mosques and included history, theology and life cycle.

The project is due to continue in the autumn. For further information contact info@josephinterfaithfoundation.org.

JAINpedia volunteers

JAINpedia volunteers are an important part of the JAINpedia project and are currently assisting in all areas. Volunteers can choose to guide exhibition visitors, go to venues where the travelling exhibition will be throughout the country to explain the display and run art, craft and other workshops related to the Jain faith or contribute to the website, particularly Jain Spirit. Volunteers can also take on practical tasks, such as organising events and publicity and transporting equipment.

At the moment they are particularly looking for volunteers to assist with various tasks related to the website, for example searching for images, external links and scanning books and magazines for an e-library.

To register as a volunteer, please fill in the volunteer form on the JAINpedia blog at <http://blog.jainpedia.org/volunteer-registration-form>.

Sewa Day 25 September

Sewa Day will this year take place on Sunday 25 September. The Sanskrit word 'Sewa' means 'selfless service'. The aim of Sewa Day is to provide people a chance to give back to the local community through volunteering on a single day to make a difference. Each event organised is based on at least one of the following guiding principles: to relieve hardship and poverty; to bring a little joy where none exists; to help the environment. For more information, or to get involved, please visit www.nationalsewaday.org. ### One World Week 23–30 October

One World Week is a Development Education Charity. Each year, the Week is an opportunity for people from diverse backgrounds to come together to learn about global justice, to spread that learning and to use it to take action for justice locally and globally. One World Week 2011 takes place from 23 to 30 October and takes the theme of 'Living for One World'. The Week will explore many aspects of the environment and what can be done to preserve and protect it under the headings of Living for the planet, Living for its people and Living and acting for change. For further information, including advice and guidance on events, please visit <http://www.oneworldweek.org/v2>.

Mitzvah Day 20 November

Mitzvah Day takes place this year on Sunday 20 November. It is a Jewish led day of social action – around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. The goal is to reduce hardship and poverty and to help the environment. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. Last year a number of projects had a multi faith dimension. See www.mitzvahday.org.uk for further information and to register an event.

Inter Faith Week 20–26 November

Inter Faith Week www.interfaithweek.org.uk will take place this year in England, Wales and Northern Ireland from Sunday 20 November until Saturday 26 November.

The aims of Inter Faith Week are:

- Strengthening good inter faith relations at all levels
- Increasing awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, in particular celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society
- Increasing understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs

If you would like to discuss your plans for the Week or to suggest additional resources which might be helpful to add to the Inter Faith Week website, Ashley Beck, Project Officer at IFN, will be glad to hear from you: 020 7931 7766, ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk.

DIARY DATES

The Humanist Philosophers' Group is organising a day conference on 'The Place of Religion in Public Life' which takes place from 10am to 4pm on Saturday 16 July at Conway Hall, 25 Red Lion Square, London WC1R 4RL. Professor Richard Norman, who is the Chair of the Humanist Philosophers' Group and who was one of the speakers at the joint IFN/BHA event held as part of Inter Faith Week 2009, is keen for this event to be an open discussion with contributions from different religious and non-religious perspectives, in a genuine dialogue. They have tried to reflect to some degree their aim for diversity in their list of speakers and they hope there will be a diverse audience at the event. There is an entrance fee of £5 and further details can be found at <http://www.humanism.org.uk/meet-up/events/view/147?page=1>, where intending participants can also register in advance.

Kirklees Faiths Forum will be holding its three day 'Treasures Revealed' festival from Friday 15 July to Sunday 17 July. The festival gives people the opportunity to experience what goes on in many local places of worship. A number of churches, (one of which is hosting an exhibition from the Baha'i community), a Sikh temple and a Hindu temple will open their doors and there will be guided tours, music, food and much more. For full details, please visit www.kirkleesfaithsforum.org.uk or www.treasuresrevealed.co.uk or call Kirklees Faiths Forum on 01924 326419.

Woking People of Faith are running a cricket tournament on Sunday 17 July. Woking residents are encouraged to participate, and all are welcome to watch. The day will be held at West Byfleet Recreation Ground, Camphill Road, West Byfleet, KT14 6EF. For further information, please email Muhammad Ali at

This event runs from 3pm – 5pm and will be held at New Oriel Hall, Larkhall, Bath BA1 6RA. Please bring a plate to share. For further information please telephone 01225 422252 or contact janefohara@blueyonder.co.uk.

Bristol Inter Faith Group will be holding a Dialogue Circle meeting on Monday 18 July from 7.30pm to 9.30pm to discuss “In what ways do people of faith respond to the ‘war on terror’?”. The meeting will be held at the University of Bristol Multifaith Chaplaincy, The Grange, 1 Woodland Road, Clifton, Bristol BS8 1AU. For further details please contact bernard.omar@bifg.org.uk or anula.beckett@bifg.org.uk.

Somerset Faiths and Beliefs Forum will be holding a conference to explore the issue of faith-based social action on Wednesday 20 July. The conference is free to attend (but booking is essential), and will be held at Bridgwater St John Ambulance HQ, Woodlands Court Business Park, Bristol Road, Bridgwater, Somerset TA6 4FJ. For further information please contact faithandbelief@hotmail.co.uk or telephone 01458 448517.

The Faith Communities’ Response in the Bristol and Somerset area, together with the Avon and Somerset Constabulary will be holding an introductory day for those interested in learning about the area’s provision for a multi-faith response to a major emergency. It will be held on Thursday 21 July at the Avon and Somerset Constabulary Headquarters in Portishead. For further information please contact Vena Prater at mep@ccisr.org.uk or telephone 01179 557430.

The World Congress of Faiths is this year celebrating its 75th anniversary. To commemorate the occasion an informal evening service, in which members of different faiths will take part, is being held at 6.30pm on Sunday 24 July at St Martin-in-the-Fields, Trafalgar Square, London WC2N 4JJ. It was at St Martin’s in 1942 that the memorial service for Sir Francis Younghusband was held, the explorer and mystic and founder of the World Congress of Faiths. During the service, WCF’s Chair, Rabbi Jackie Tabick, will be awarded the Interfaith Gold Medallion. All are welcome to attend and there is no need to register.

The Swindon Interfaith Group Cricket Team will be playing Rodbourne Green XI at Moredon playing fields in August. If you would like to play or offer support, please contact Barbara Aftelak at barbaraaftelak@ntlworld.com or telephone 01793 536815.

The Scottish Inter Faith Council 'Youth Away Day' is taking place on Sunday 14 August at Samye Ling Tibetan Buddhist Centre in Dumfriesshire, where people will join in the celebrations of the Centre’s Annual Tea Party and Open Day. Come and visit the centre, enjoy a buffet lunch and music and dance from East and West. Transport by car will be provided from Glasgow, leaving from outside Glasgow Queen Street Station at 12pm and those participating will be returned to Glasgow for

6.30pm. If you would like to attend our Away Day, please contact Frances Hume at fhume@scottishinterfaithcouncil.org to secure your place in the car or call the office on 0141 420 6982

The Christian Muslim Forum is holding an event entitled 'Cross, Crescent and Cool' on Wednesday 7 September to look at how Christians and Muslims can build bridges between young people of the two faiths. The day will run from 10am until 4pm at the Springfield Centre, Springfield Road, Moseley, Birmingham B13 9NY and will be led by Raheema Caratella and Dr Andrew Smith. There is a £20 cost to attend (£10 concessions) which includes handouts, refreshments and a light lunch. ## UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Faith and inter faith responses to the recent riots

The second week of August saw rioting in a number of England's cities. The causes of the riots are the subject of much debate; their impact is not. They have affected profoundly the lives of many communities – and in particular families in Birmingham and London who have lost family members to violence. Others have lost their homes and businesses.

The response of members of England's faith communities to the recent riots was on a remarkable scale. Faith communities across the country opened the doors of their places of worship, offering food, drink and facilities to recharge mobile phones to those who had lost their homes; providing cups of tea to the Police, other emergency workers and clean up teams; and encouraging prayers for peace.

Faith community leaders in many local areas issued statements appealing for calm, condemning acts of violence and vandalism, and encouraging members of their communities to get involved in community clean-up operations. They also drew on their knowledge of local communities to initiate discussion about the causes of the riots and ways forward. National faith communities and their leaders offered their reflections too.

The Circular about the riots sent to members on 11 August, together with an accompanying document linking to coverage of many of the responses can be found at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/riotsinuk.htm> An updated note will be posted in the near future.

Statement by IFN Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs on Norway attacks

Following the tragic loss of life in the attacks in Norway at the end of July, the Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs of IFN issued a statement which can be found on the IFN website at www.interfaith.org.uk/publications/IFN\_News\_Release\_250711.pdf

Urgent EHRC consultation on legal cases involving discrimination and religion or belief

Last month the Equality and Human Rights Commission announced that it had applied to intervene at the European Court of Human Rights in four legal cases involving discrimination and religion or belief. It has now announced that it has been granted permission to do so.

The EHRC is considering using the four cases already before this Court as a platform to advise on and clarify the interpretation of human rights laws. It is seeking views on its proposed submission on the human rights elements of the four cases claiming religious discrimination, and separately, whether the concept of reasonable accommodation has any useful practical application in cases concerning the manifestation of religion or belief.

It has produced an informal consultation document which sets out the general direction of the Commission's intervention and asks some specific questions. The closing date for response is Monday 5 September. This is a short deadline but, as expected, the Court has only given it a few weeks in which to prepare its submissions.

For more information, please download the consultation document from the EHRC website at www.equalityhumanrights.com/legal-and-policy/human-rights-legal-powers/legal-intervention-on-religion-or-belief-rights-seeking-your-views.

Select Committee comments on EBacc proposals

The House of Commons Select Committee on Education has said that the English Baccalaureate should not have been introduced before the current National Curriculum Review was completed. In its report published on 28 July (see <http://www.parliament.uk/business/committees/committees-a-z/commons-select/education-committee/news/ebac-report-substantive/>, which also provides a link to the full report), the Committee suggests that any new performance or curriculum measures affecting schools should only be implemented after proper consultation with key stakeholders and the wider public, which it says did not happen with the plans for the English Baccalaureate (EBacc).

The report notes that “certain academic subjects studied at A-level are more valued by Russell Group universities than others” but argues that a “focus on a fairly narrow range of subjects, demanding considerable curriculum time, is likely to have negative consequences on the uptake of other subjects.”

The Committee does not make recommendations on which subjects should or should not be included in the EBacc, including Religious Education, but rather encourages the Government to reconsider the EBacc's composition when the National Curriculum Review is concluded.

The Government's present position on the inclusion of RE in the EBacc, as set out on its website, is that: "We have not included religious studies because it is already a compulsory subject. One of the intentions of the English Baccalaureate is to encourage wider take up of geography and history in addition to, rather than instead of, compulsory religious education. However, we recognise, as many schools do, the benefits that religious education can bring to pupils. This is why the teaching of religious education remains compulsory throughout a pupil's schooling. Success in all subjects studied at GCSE will also continue to be recognised by other performance table measures, as it has in the past."

This position was restated by the Schools Minister, Nick Gibb, in a response on 16 August to a letter to the Prime Minister sent last month by a number of senior faith leaders (their letter can be seen at <http://www.religiouseducationcouncil.org/content/view/202/45/>).

UK Bill of Rights

In March this year the UK Government established a Commission on a Bill of Rights to investigate the creation of a UK Bill of Rights. On 5 August the Commission launched a discussion paper entitled 'Do we need a UK Bill of Rights?' The paper is available on the Commission's website at www.justice.gov.uk/about/cbr/index.htm.

The discussion paper is the first part of a wide-ranging work programme that will include public engagement and consultation. While the discussion paper is endorsed by all members of the Commission, one member, Dr Michael Pinto-Duschinsky, is intending to publish a note setting out his comment on the paper. A link to Dr Pinto-Duschinsky's note, once it is available, will be provided on the Commission's website. The deadline for responding to the discussion paper is 11 November.

Diamond Jubilee Beacons

It is planned to light 2,012 Beacons throughout the United Kingdom, Channel Islands, Isle of Man, the Commonwealth and UK Overseas Territories on Monday 4 June. Her Majesty The Queen will be lighting the National Beacon and a special book containing all the Diamond Jubilee Beacon locations will be given to The Queen after the event (in a similar way to the book produced for The Queen's Golden Jubilee Beacons in 2001, which now resides in The Royal Library at Windsor Castle).

The organisers of Diamond Jubilee Beacons hope that all faith communities in the UK will wish to take part in the project. I am attaching a copy of the 'Guide to taking part' which contains information about the different types of beacons and how to become involved. Further information can be found online at www.diamondjubileebeacons.com.

The Big Jubilee Lunch

Next year's Big Lunch takes place on Sunday 3 June and will form part of the official Diamond Jubilee celebrations. The Inter Faith Network has been invited to become a Key Supporting Organisation and, following discussion at the last meeting of its Executive Committee, has agreed to do so.

The Big Lunch is an Eden Project initiative that aims to get as many people as possible across the UK to have a community lunch once a year. The project was launched in 2009 and since its inception thousands of lunches have taken place across a wide range of communities. Nearly 2 million people took part in The Big Lunch this year and faith communities played a significant role – ranging from a local inter faith organisation meeting in a garden to events in places of worship and large scale street parties with decorations and entertainment. The event is an ideal opportunity for people of different faiths to come together in their local communities, meet each other and have conversations over food.

For help and information with planning a faith based or inter faith Big Jubilee Lunch, you can email info@thebiglunch.com and request a free Big Jubilee Lunch Starter Pack. Packs will be despatched from December 2011 and contain a step-by-step guide for running an event, publicity materials, recipe ideas and all the things you need to get the event off the ground. You can find out more about The Big Jubilee Lunch and sign up to the newsletter at www.thebiglunch.com or call 0845 850 8181 to speak to one of The Big Lunch team.

Research project on Liberal Theology and the Jews

Dr Lars Fischer, Academic Director of the Centre for the Study of Jewish-Christian Relations, has just received a British Academy grant to begin to pursue a research project entitled 'Liberal Theology and the Jews'. This will explore to what extent, if any, liberal theology (or liberal theologies) from the 17th century onwards are predisposed towards anti-Judaism. Grounded in a strong interest in historiographical issues and intellectual history, Lars' work focuses predominantly on the history of anti-Semitism and Jewish/non-Jewish relations in the later modern period.

Home Office funding

As part of the Government's ambition to drive up community activism and build safer neighbourhoods, organisations from the voluntary sector across England and Wales are being invited to apply for a share of a new £5 million fund to support local areas in tackling the issues that matter most to them. The 'Community Action Against Crime: Innovation Fund', administered by the Home Office, aims to bring together active citizens and encourage new and creative ways of working within communities to tackle crime, with a further £5 million set aside for 2012-13. Full details of the application process for 2011-12 will be made available on the Home Office website shortly – enquiries can be addressed to CAACFunding@homeoffice.gsi.gov.uk.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

Papers for International conference on Multi-Faith Spaces

21st – 22nd March 2012, University of Manchester, UK

A conference is being held from 21 to 22 March at the University of Manchester to bring together key outputs from the three year research project Multi-Faith Spaces: Symptoms & Agents of Religious and Social Change, funded by the AHRC/ESRC under the Religion and Society Programme. The project considers how individuals from different religious and cultural backgrounds might be brought together, concretely, within new types of 'faith space' that are often simultaneously religious, spiritual and secular. The conference will coincide with the launch of a touring photographic exhibition. Further details can be found at: www.manchester.ac.uk/mfs

In addition to presenting their findings, they hope to encourage contributions from stakeholders within the extended project, alongside a number of individuals working in the area of multi-faith provision (from academic, professional or practitioner backgrounds). To facilitate conversations across disciplinary boundaries, they envisage a range of attendees and contributors from academia, architectural practice, chaplaincy, interior design, public policy, and a host of other fields.

They are currently preparing their programme, and would welcome expressions of interest within the following areas (note: this list is not exhaustive, and other contributions are encouraged):

- Multi-faith theologies and spatial practice
- Theorising multi-faith space
- The architecture of multi-faith space
- Design and 'best practice' issues in multi-faith space
- Public policy around multi-faith space
- Multi-faith space as sacred space
- The management of multi-faith space

If you are interested, please contact chris.hewson@manchester.ac.uk. Please indicate whether you would be interested in:

- Contributing a long paper (20 min. presentation)
- Contributing a short paper (10 min. presentation)

- Taking part in a panel
- Contributing to a workshop
- Attendance only

RESOURCES AND TRAINING

Bridges and Barriers to Hindu Christian Relations

The Oxford Centre for Hindu Studies (OCHS) has published a report commissioned by the Hindu Christian Forum entitled 'Bridges and Barriers to Hindu Christian Relations'.

The report was commissioned by the Hindu-Christian Forum (HCF) as a "listening exercise" attending to the voices of Hindus and Christians throughout the community, to lay the foundations for a new and revived HCF. The HCF received a grant from the Department for Communities and Local Government with which to undertake the research, and researchers at De Montfort University helped to shape the first proposal for the research. The project was then passed to the Oxford Centre for Hindu Studies which, in consultation with the Oxford Centre for Christianity and Culture, completed the proposal and carried out the research. The report encapsulates the result of that process of listening to the experiences, concerns and suggestions of 24 Christians and 29 Hindus from three cities across the UK.

A copy of the report can be downloaded from www.presenceandengagement.org.uk/pdf\_lib/73\_resource.pdf.

Christian Witness in a Multi-Religious World: Recommendations for Conduct

Following a five-year series of consultations carried out by the World Council of Churches, the Pontifical Council for Inter-religious Dialogue and the World Evangelical Alliance have published a document entitled 'Christian Witness in a Multi-Religious World: Recommendations for Conduct'. The joint document on Christian witness calls for careful study of the issues of mission and inter-religious dialogue, the building of trust and co-operation among people of all religions, and the promotion of religious freedom everywhere.

Classes in Biblical Hebrew

Two courses on learning Biblical Hebrew for beginners are being run in London next year. One course is daytime (Thursdays from 10am to 12noon) and one is evening (Sundays from 7pm to 9pm) and both are taught by Rabbi Rachel Montagu. The courses will teach the subtleties and beauty of biblical language which are not evident from translations. Over the year students will gain a good knowledge of Biblical Hebrew grammar and learn how to read simple Biblical texts.

For information on the daytime course please contact the Benedictine Study and Arts Centre at enquiries@bsac.ac.uk or on 020 8862 2156. For information on the evening course please contact Rabbi Montagu at Rachel@gn.apc.org or on 0208 452 3725.

An intermediate class is also available for students who have completed an introductory course and wish to deepen their knowledge. For further information contact Rachel@gn.apc.org.

International Peace Day 21 September

International Peace Day was established by a United Nations resolution in 1981 to coincide with the opening of the General Assembly. The first Peace Day was celebrated in September 1982 and has been held on 21 September each year since then. Further information can be found online at www.internationaldayofpeace.org.

Anyone, anywhere can celebrate Peace Day. It can be as simple as lighting a candle at noon, or just sitting in silent meditation. Or, it can involve getting your co-workers, community or organisation involved in a large event.

Uniting for Peace, an independent international NGO, is encouraging faith and inter faith organisations to arrange events demonstrating the positive role that religions can play in improving relations between different ethnicities and cultures, defusing conflict and building peace. They also have Inter Faith Resource packs available, cost £5 (cheques payable to UfP Peace Services). For further enquiries or to give them information about any events you have planned please telephone 0131 446 9545 or write to Uniting for Peace, PO Box 28209, Edinburgh EH9 1ZR.

House of Lords debate on multiculturalism and inter faith dialogue

On 8 September a short debate on the subject of inter faith dialogue took place in the House of Lords prompted by a question tabled by Lord Mitchell, a trustee of the Coexistence Trust.. The debate featured contributions from Lord Young of Graffham, Lord Hussain, the Chief Rabbi Lord Sacks, the Bishop of London, Lord Ahmed of Wimbledon, Lord Judd, Lord Sheikh, Lord Stone of Blackheath, Lord Harries of Pentregarth, Lord Popat, Lord Noon, Lord Rees of Ludlow and Baroness Royall of Blaisdon.

Referring to the call for unity between communities by Tariq Jahan following the death of his son Haroon and brothers Shazad Ali and Abdul Musavir during rioting in Birmingham in August, Lord Mitchell explained why he had tabled the debate: "In the shadow of the tragic death of a young Muslim man in Birmingham, and with the tenth anniversary of 9/11 just days away, I think we need to ask ourselves if there is more that we could be doing to improve interfaith dialogue in the UK."

All speakers underlined the need for inter faith engagement, dialogue and activity. The work of a number of bodies of whose work they were aware was mentioned. Responding to the debate on behalf of the Government, Baroness Warsi said: "Interfaith dialogue helps raise the standard of all faith-based debate in our country...I profoundly believe that there is far more that unites faith communities than divides them: common bonds that should be the basis for better understanding."

The full transcript of the debate can be found on Hansard at www.publications.parliament.uk/pa/ld201011/ldhansrd/text/110908-0002.htm#11090855000830 (column 469) and the debate can be viewed at: www.parliamentlive.tv/Main/Player.aspx?meetingId=8942&player=silverlight&st=16:43:55.

Riots Communities and Victims Panel

The Riots Communities and Victims Panel has been set up by the Government to examine and understand why the August 2011 riots in England took place. Darra Singh, Chief Executive of Job Centre Plus and former Chief Executive of Ealing and Luton Councils, chairs the independent panel announced by the Deputy Prime Minister on 16 August. The other panel members are Simon Marcus, Heather Rabbatts and Baroness Sherlock.

Working at the grass-roots, the Panel aims to listen to the experiences of those affected by the riots, as well as wider debates around potential casual factors. The Panel will examine potential motives for, effects of and responses to the riots, and will submit their findings to Government in March, and make these available on the Panel website soon after.

For further information about the Panel, or to submit evidence to it, visit <http://riotspanel.independent.gov.uk/> or email riotspanel@communities.gsi.gov.uk. Details of public meetings to be arranged by the Panel can also be found on the website.

Faith community responses to the riots

IFN's August e-bulletin noted that a Circular about the riots sent by IFN to member bodies in August, together with an accompanying document linking to coverage of many of the responses, could be found at www.interfaith.org.uk. A supplementary note with further information has now been posted alongside this on the IFN website at www.interfaith.org.uk.

Best Value Guidance on funding decisions for the voluntary and community sector

On 2 September, Communities Secretary Eric Pickles published guidance to local authorities on how to protect voluntary and community groups from disproportionate cuts to their funding. This followed warnings from Mr Pickles earlier this year that councils should not "pull up the drawbridge" in the tough economic climate, but should instead look to give greater support for local groups which help some of the most vulnerable in their communities.

As part of assisting local councils, the Government has replaced detailed prescriptive statutory guidance on local priorities introduced by the previous Government, with one page of guidance on how best to achieve Best Value in their areas - not just in terms of cost, but also the wider social and environmental benefits above and beyond the services they provide. In deciding how best to fulfil their Best Value Duty, councils are required to consult those using, or likely to use, a local service. This should include community and voluntary organisations.

The guidance includes the following:

- those councils looking to reduce or end funding, or any other support to one of these organisations should give at least three months' notice of the actual reduction to both the organisation involved and the users of the service they provide;
- councils should involve and discuss their plans with the organisation and local service users as early as possible before making any final decisions on the future of the service; and
- councils should give organisations, local service users and the wider community the opportunity to offer options for reshaping and reducing the costs of the services provided.

There will no longer be a requirement for councils to undertake lifestyle or diversity questionnaires of their residents or their suppliers.

Central Government departments have already signed up to these same principles.

The new Best Value guidance applies to all 'best value' authorities, which are councils plus a range of other authorities including Police, Fire, the Broads Authority and Waste and Transport authorities. It is available at www.communities.gov.uk/publications/localgovernment/bestvaluestatguidance.

Updated guidance from the Charities Commission on the Equality Act

The Charity Commission has published updated guidance on the Equality Act, replacing earlier guidance published last September. The new guidance contains more illustrative examples and information about how exceptions under the Act, including the positive action provisions, can be used by some charities, with particular guidance for grant makers and charities with restricted funds. The guidance can be downloaded from www.charitycommission.gov.uk/Charity\_requirements\_guidance/Charity\_governance/Good\_governance/equality\_act\_guidance.aspx.

EHRC consultation on legal cases involving discrimination and religion or belief

As reported in the August E-Bulletin, the EHRC announced in July that it had been granted permission by the European Court of Human Rights to intervene in four UK cases before the Court which involved alleged discrimination on the grounds of religion or belief. At the same time the EHRC published a consultation document, the closing date for responses to which was 5 September.

This consultation document reflected a change of mind on the part of the Commission about putting to the Court the possibility that the concept of 'reasonable accommodation' had any useful application in cases concerning the manifestation of religion or belief.

Enforcement of Equality Act Specific Duties Regulations

The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) Regulations 2011 came into force on 10 September 2011. These regulations set out the specific duties imposed on listed public bodies to enable them to carry out the public sector Equality Duty more effectively and with greater transparency.

To achieve this public bodies are required to publish:

- information to demonstrate their compliance with the Equality Duty, by 31 January 2012 (6 April 2012 for schools) and then at least annually; and
- equality objectives, by 6 April 2012 and then at least every four years.

Voluntary and community sector organisations will have a significant role to play in aiding public bodies to achieve accountability and transparency in their equality performance. The Government Equalities Office is developing a toolkit to help them in doing this.

For more information on the regulations, an explanatory memorandum about the regulations and further information on the public sector Equality Duty visit:

10th anniversary of the 11 September 2001 bombings in the USA

11 September 2011 marked ten years since the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Centre and other sites in the USA.

In the UK the anniversary was marked in services at St Paul's and Westminster Abbey and in a number of towns and cities. For example, a service of remembrance and commitment, open to people of all faiths and none, was held at Leicester Cathedral. In Edinburgh a 9/11 Walk for Peace took place and in Reading a Friendship Walk. In London the Mosques and Imams National Advisory Board held a special conference on the subject of 'Building a better integrated and resilient society' which looked at the ways in which good inter faith and community relations can continue to be built. In Glasgow, an inter faith service of remembrance was held at Cathcart Old Parish Church, and the first minister attended a service at St Nicholas Kirk in Aberdeen. In Birmingham members of the Faith Leaders Group, which began in the wake of the attacks ten years ago, came together to mark both the anniversary of the attacks and of their own founding. The day included a lecture from Archbishop Vincent Nicholls on future goals for inter faith relations.

Westminster Faith Exchange, another group which began its life in the wake of the attacks, held a reflection event, '10 years on from 9/11 and the Founding of the Faith Exchange: An Interfaith Remembrance'. In Southall over 100 local people joined with Southall faith leaders to mark the tenth anniversary of 9/11 and together affirm their commitment to peace and harmony in Southall and beyond.

The service at St Paul's also marked Awareness Sunday, part of a campaign by the Awareness Foundation, an international charity founded in 2003 in response to the rise in religious conflict and violence across the world. The Foundation can be contacted at communications@awareness-foundation.com.

PROJECTS

Three Faiths Forum Interfaith Connectors programme

The Three Faiths Forum (3FF) and US-based Interfaith Youth Core (IFYC) are now accepting applications for their new Interfaith Connectors education and leadership training programme.

The programme will give students the opportunity and training to organise inter faith activities on their own campuses and to facilitate inter faith workshops in London schools. It is open to undergraduates currently studying at a London university and will run from October to December 2011. Application forms are available to download from www.threefaithsforum.org.uk and the deadline for applications is 10am on Wednesday 28 September. Applicants must be free for training in central London on Wednesday 5 (1pm to 7pm) and Thursday 6 October (6pm to 9pm).

For more information please contact Sean at sean@threefaithsforum.org.uk or call 020 7482 9539 or see www.threefaithsforum.org.uk/connectors.

Scottish Inter Faith Council 'Sister Cities' exchange programme

SIFC is currently hosting 16 delegates from the Interfaith centre of New York (ICNY) and the UNESCO Centre of Catalonia's Department for Interreligious Dialogue in Barcelona. The delegates are visiting a number of voluntary and statutory agencies and places of worship across Scotland.

The three year 'Sister Cities' exchange programme was launched by the Interfaith Centre of New York in 2009. Glasgow was chosen from a number of European cities to participate in this programme in recognition of the extensive inter faith work being undertaken there. Glasgow delegates attended a programme in New York in 2009 and in Barcelona in 2010 and are hosting delegates this September. More about the Barcelona leg of the exchange can be found at www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org/45.html.

Faith in harmony

A seven person music group called All Faiths, with practising clergy from many different religions, has been formed. It was drawn together by Jeff Chegwin who said that the idea came to him after seeing how in the music industry people from all classes, ethnic backgrounds and religions get on well together and work alongside each other in harmony. Also among its members is Times religious correspondent Ruth Gledhill. Further information can be found at www.allfaiths.org.uk/contact.html and www.ruthgledhill.com/All\_Faiths.html.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Inter Faith Youth Trust IFW Grant Programme - deadline extended

The deadline for applications to the Inter Faith Youth Trust's grant programme for Inter Faith Week projects has been extended to 5pm on Wednesday 28 September.

Grants of up to £500 are available for inter faith events/activities organised by and for young people focussed around Inter Faith Week (20-26 November 2011) and Scottish Inter Faith Week (27 November - 4 December 2011). Priority will be given to projects which actively involve young people (11-25 years of age) in planning, running, and evaluating of the projects.

Application forms are available at: www.ifyouthtrust.org.uk.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

Coexist Prize

The Coexist Foundation has launched a global search for an unsung hero who has made an exceptional contribution to building bridges between people of different faiths. The Coexist Prize, worth $100,000, aims to celebrate the positive social role religion plays for so many people in the world.

The prize will honour an individual who has shown inspirational courage, imagination and commitment, and been nominated by the public, or by Coexist's global network of nominating partners. The Prize is open to people of all faiths, and those of no religious persuasion. There are also two runner up awards worth $10,000.

The winners' stories will be featured in short documentaries which Coexist will showcase at the Prize ceremony next March at New York University. They will also be made available online, so that they can be an inspiration and example for others. Coexist will work closely with the Prize winners to carry on their work and ensure its lasting impact in their society and beyond.

An international panel of judges, including Her Excellency Mary Robinson, His Excellency The Grand Mufti of Egypt Sheikh Ali Gomaa, Rabbi David Rosen (American Jewish Committee's International Director of Interreligious Affairs), and Professor David Ford of the Cambridge University Inter-Faith Programme, will choose the winner and the two runners up.

Members of the public can nominate people through the online nomination form which can be found, together with further information about the criteria and guidelines, at www.coexistfoundation.net/en-gb/prize/20/coexist-prize.htm. The deadline for nominations is 14 October. Candidates can also promote their project on Twitter as part of the competition, by using the hashtag #coexistprize.

Conversations for the Soul

The St Ethelburga's Centre and the National Union of Students are offering a one-day training programme with follow up support to chaplains, staff and students who would like to deliver 'Conversations for the Soul', an inter faith 'tandem dialogue' programme, to their universities.

The programme is designed to bring people of different faiths together to meet in pairs and discuss beliefs and practice in depth, allowing for a different quality of conversation that can be deeper and more satisfying than group dialogue. The training will take place on Tuesday 8 November at the National Union of Students

HQ, 4th floor, 184 – 192 Drummond Street, London NW1 3HP and costs £50, which includes all training materials, lunch and refreshments on the day.

For more information about the programme please contact Kat.Luckcock@nus.org.uk, or for information about the training day itself visit <http://stethelburgas.org/multifaith/projects> (this also gives a link to book a place).

Media Trust – Community Newswire

Community Newswire is a free news distribution service offered by the Media Trust. It aims to help to make it as easy as possible for community groups and charities to gain access to the media and get their voices heard.

The service lets charities and community groups upload their press releases and news stories, which are then picked up by journalists from the Press Association news agency, rewritten, fact checked and distributed to newsrooms nationwide.

Following receipt of funding from the Big Lottery Fund, this service is now available again. Further information can be found online at www.mediatrust.org/get-support/community-newswire-1.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

International Peace Day 21 September

International Peace Day was established by a United Nations resolution in 1981 to coincide with the opening of the General Assembly. The first Peace Day was celebrated in September 1982 and has been held on 21 September each year since then. Further information can be found online at www.internationaldayofpeace.org.

Anyone, anywhere can celebrate Peace Day. It can be as simple as lighting a candle at noon, or just sitting in silent meditation. Or, it can involve getting your co-workers, community or organisation involved in a large event.

Uniting for Peace, an independent international NGO, is encouraging faith and inter faith organisations to arrange events demonstrating the positive role that religions can play in improving relations between different ethnicities and cultures, defusing conflict and building peace. They also have Inter Faith Resource packs available, cost £5 (cheques payable to UfP Peace Services). For further enquiries or to give them information about any events you have planned please telephone 0131 446 9545 or write to Uniting for Peace, PO Box 28209, Edinburgh EH9 1ZR.

Sewa Day 25 September

Sewa Day will this year take place on Sunday 25 September. The Sanskrit word 'Sewa' means 'selfless service'. The aim of Sewa Day is to provide people a chance to give back to the local community through volunteering on a single day to make a difference. Each event organised is based on at least one of the following guiding principles: to relieve hardship and poverty; to bring a little joy where none exists; to help the environment. For more information, or to get involved, please visit www.nationalsewaday.org. ## One World Week 23–30 October

One World Week is an opportunity for people from diverse backgrounds to come together to learn about global justice, to spread that learning and to use it to take action for justice locally and globally. This year it takes place from 23 to 30 October and takes the theme of 'Living for One World'. The Week will be a chance to explore many aspects of the environment and what can be done to preserve and protect it under the headings of Living for the planet, Living for its people and Living and acting for change. For further information, including advice and guidance on events, please visit www.oneworldweek.org/v2.

Mitzvah Day 20 November

Mitzvah Day takes place this year on Sunday 20 November. It is a Jewish led day of social action. Around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. The goal is to reduce hardship and poverty and to help the environment. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. Last year a number of projects had a multi faith dimension. See www.mitzvahday.org.uk for further information and to register an event.

Inter Faith Week 20–26 November

Inter Faith Week (see www.interfaithweek.org.uk) will take place this year in England, Wales and Northern Ireland from Sunday 20 November until Saturday 26 November. This is the third such Week in these nations.

The aims of Inter Faith Week are:

- Strengthening good inter faith relations at all levels
- Increasing awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, in particular celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society
- Increasing understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs

An information pack will shortly be available to download from the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org.uk. If you would like to discuss your plans for the Week or to suggest additional resources which might be helpful to add to the Inter Faith Week website, Ashley Beck, Project Officer at IFN, will be glad to hear from you: 020 7931 7766, ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk.

If you are planning to run an event to mark Inter Faith Week, please send IFN the details of your event by visiting the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org.uk. This website will be carrying listings for all types of event this year, including local events.

The illustrated report on Inter Faith Week 2010 in England is available to download from www.interfaithweek.org.uk. Hard copies can be ordered from the Inter Faith Network office.

UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Inter Faith Week 20–26 November – register your event!

Inter Faith Week (see www.interfaithweek.org.uk) takes place in England, Wales and Northern Ireland from Sunday 20 November until Saturday 26 November. Its aims are:

- strengthening good inter faith relations at all levels
- increasing awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, in particular celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society
- increasing understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs

More information and resources are available at www.interfaithweek.org.uk. The website now carries listings for national, regional and local events in England, Northern Ireland and Wales.

Just a few examples of events already registered are: a multi faith exhibition at Central Manchester University Hospitals Foundation Trust; a Shared Values GCSE ethics conference in South Bromsgrove; a multi faith celebration of the Week in Guildford; Living Library events in Birmingham; a panel discussion at the Parliament Buildings with members of the Northern Ireland Assembly on issues relating to faith diversity in Northern Ireland; an arts event, 'Hands together for Inter Faith Week' in Cheltenham; a celebration event in Wisbech; an inter faith fair in Leicester; a networking opportunity for local inter faith groups in the East of England; a Cheshire-wide event: 'Bridging the Gap - public services and faith communities working together'; an inter faith arts exhibition in London; and a special 'mock tribunal' arranged by the Employers' Forum on Belief which will be a unique opportunity to hear from a lawyer, tribunal judge and barrister in a simulated hearing focussed on discrimination on grounds of religion or belief where, guided by legal experts Lewis Silkin, participants will learn the proceedings, the evidence required, the possible objective justifications and potential questions, who might be called and what they may be asked and have a chance to cast their verdict.

If you are running a local, regional or national event in England, Northern Ireland or Wales to mark Inter Faith Week, please register it as soon as possible online at www.interfaithweek.org.uk to let the media, the general public and the IFN office know what is happening and raise the profile of the Week.

If you do not have an event planned and might like to create one, visit the Inter Faith Week website www.interfaithweek.org.uk for ideas. Some are specially designed to take from planning to execution within three weeks.

For details on Scottish Inter Faith Week, see the Special Days and Weeks Section on page 18.

IFN Faith Communities Forum

The Faith Communities Forum, which brings together for discussion the national faith community bodies in membership of the Inter Faith Network, met on 27 September. It discussed: the review of the Equality and Human Rights Commission; preparations for Inter Faith Week 2011; the Government's integration policy; faith and dietary practice; and other public policy issues.

Meeting of national and regional inter faith bodies

On 17 October, there was an IFN meeting of national and regional inter faith bodies (other than umbrella/linking bodies). As well as sharing news of current projects they discussed Inter Faith Week; aspects of the Government's policy which touch on their work; use of multi media; and issues of how to monitor and evaluate inter faith work.

Equality and Human Rights Commission consultation

On 12 October the Equality and Human Rights Commission launched a 60 day consultation to help it develop its next three-year strategic plan, which is due to be laid before Parliament in April 2012. The consultation provides an opportunity to comment on the Commission's proposed mission and roles and the key equality and human rights issues for 2012-15 and the final phase of consultation will take place for 30 days in early 2012.

Information on the consultation can be found online at www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/vision-and-mission/our-strategic-plan/consultation-on-our-strategic-plan-2009-12 and responses are requested by 12 December.

Equality and Human Rights Commission submission to European Court of Human Rights

On 28 September the EHRC published its submission to the European Court of Human Rights on four cases related to alleged religious discrimination in the workplace. A summary of the more than 500 responses which it had received to its consultation was also published.

The submission and the consultation response summary can be found at www.equalityhumanrights.com/legal-and-policy/human-rights-legal-powers/legal-intervention-on-religion-or-belief-rights.

Expansion of National Citizen Service programme

Prime Minister David Cameron announced on 5 October that National Citizen Service (NCS) for 16-year-olds will be tripled in size to offer 90,000 places by 2014. NCS is a voluntary programme that gives 16-year-olds the opportunity to take on new challenges, learn new skills and make a difference in their communities. Young people from very different backgrounds are brought together into a team, with a common objective, to achieve something of which they can all be proud. Activities include outdoor team-based challenges; structured tasks to develop personal skills; visiting and helping groups in the local neighbourhood; and designing and delivering a social action project in consultation with local communities. Following the first pilot this summer, up to 30,000 places will be offered in 2012 and 90,000 by 2014.

Riots Communities and Victims Panel open meetings

The Riots Communities and Victims Panel set up by the Deputy Prime Minister, Nick Clegg, in September to examine the causes of London riots in August is holding a series of consultation meetings. While many are closed, a series of public meetings is providing members of affected communities with the opportunity to talk to the Panel about their experiences of the riots. The first of these meetings took place on 17 and 18 October in Ealing and Croydon. The next two meetings will be taking place on Wednesday 2 November at Enfield Dugdale Centre and Thursday 3 November in Tottenham (venue tbc). For more information, visit <http://riotspanel.independent.gov.uk/meetings-and-visits/>.

150th Anniversary of the Zoroastrian Trust Funds of Europe

This year is the 150th anniversary of Zoroastrian Trust Funds of Europe (ZTFE). A series of celebratory events are taking place through the year. This month, His Royal Highness The Duke of Edinburgh visited the Zoroastrian Centre in London as part of the celebrations. He was welcomed by leading members of the community and presented with a range of gifts. He presented special commemorative medallions, on behalf of ZTFE, to a number of community members for their work in its service. Medallions were also presented to a small number of other figures, including the Inter Faith Network's former Director, Mr Brian Pearce, to honour him for his long and dedicated service to inter faith work in the UK. Dr Harriet Crabtree also received a medallion on behalf of the Inter Faith Network.

Consultation launched on ‘Principles of Good Impact Reporting’

A universal set of principles for impact reporting in charities and social enterprises has been released for consultation. The initiative, led by New Philanthropy Capital, the Charity Finance Directors Group (CFDG) and the Association of Chief Executives of Voluntary Organisations (ACEVO), is now in a consultation phase, seeking feedback from key groups involved in developing impact reporting including chief executives, finance directors, fundraisers and grant-makers.

The document looks at how charities should communicate their impact and what charities should communicate. The six general principles identified are clarity, accessibility, transparency, accountability, proportionality and verifiability and the document considers how these should be applied.

A copy of the document can be downloaded from www.acevo.org.uk/document.doc?id=1731. The organisations involved are keen to hear whether the principles are constructive in helping the voluntary and community sector in communicating their impact. Any feedback can be sent to tlumley@philanthropycapital.org.

PROJECTS

JAINpedia

The JAINpedia project has reached a milestone with a demonstration and launch of the ‘beta’ version of its multimedia site in India on 14 October. A further launch in the UK will be held in November. The website brings the physical into the virtual with over 5,000 folios of rare and ancient manuscripts and much contextual information. Further updates will appear on the JAINpedia blog, at <http://blog.jainpedia.org> or on the JAINpedia Facebook and Twitter pages.

Luton Faith Woodlands Communities

The Faith Woodlands Communities project, centred on Maulden Woods in Bedfordshire, runs until 30 April 2013. The project is a joint venture between Luton Council of Faiths, Bedford Council of Faiths, the Forestry Commission, the Greensand Trust, Luton Borough Council and Grassroots and is funded through Natural England’s ‘Access to Nature’. The project aims to help people from all backgrounds to enjoy and learn more about nature and the countryside, and make particular use of the diverse faith networks in Luton and Bedford to show how all faiths and none share an appreciation of nature and care for the environment. For more details on the project and its partners, including a video of some of the guided walks and events, see www.faithwoodlands.org.uk.

Religions for Peace – Reconciliation and peace building work

Religions for Peace (UK) is considering calling a meeting of secular and faith-led organisations that are involved in reconciliation or peace building, to discuss the future of this work and to answer some of the questions, such as:

- How much of our work is being duplicated?
- Is there potential for co-operation/collaboration?
- The possibility of considering a joint secretariat (as most of our organisations are dependent on total voluntary work which could be greatly assisted if we had some sort of joint secretariat)
- Is there need and possibility of linking with the local interfaith groups to advocate this agenda?
- What role can we play on the European and the international stage together?

If you feel there is some validity in calling such a meeting please contact David Horner, Religions for Peace (UK), at dvd.horner@googlemail.com or on 07768 105387.

Peace Pathway for St Pancras

The Week of Prayer for World Peace (WPWP) is creating a circular Peace Pathway in the historic St Pancras Old Church Gardens in London. The Pathway is designed to celebrate diversity and for different communities to work on a peace project together.

In its centre will be a map of the world. It will be surrounded by the word for 'Peace' in each of the 232 plus languages spoken domestically in London. Around the circle the names of the continents and the days of the week will be displayed. A solar-powered World Peace Flame is featured in the centre of the globe. This is interactive and by turning a handle, one can make the light shine even more brightly onto the world showing how each individual can make a difference.

WPWP welcomes any help with the project. For further information please contact wpwpeace@aol.com.

3FF Undergraduate ParliaMentors

Senior politicians such as Iain Duncan Smith, Hazel Blears and Jo Swinson have all been mentors on 3FF's Undergraduate ParliaMentors (UP) initiative, which will run throughout the academic year and involve 45 students from 15 universities across the UK. Over a dozen MPs will take part in the UN award-winning programme this year, acting as mentors to university students who are keen to gain the skills, experiences and networks to become the next generation of politicians and community leaders in the UK.

UP was created by 3FF to build understanding and better relations between people of different faiths and beliefs at university, while giving undergraduates valuable leadership training. Together, the students will use their new skills to work on social action and community empowerment projects addressing local and national issues. The programme was previously only for Muslim, Christian and Jewish students, but has this year expanded to include people of all faiths and beliefs – including non-religious beliefs.

In addition to this, 3FF's mentoring model is expanding into Europe. 3FF has partnered with Belief in Dialogue, a British Council initiative, to give eight students from Denmark, Finland, Germany, Sweden and the UK the opportunity to be mentored by two MEPs. They will travel to Brussels over the course of their academic year to meet their MEP mentors and attend parliamentary committee meetings and debates.

'Visible' project - Quality assurance for faith based organisations

'Visible' is a quality assurance programme for faith based organisations led by the Faith Based Regeneration Network (FBRN) working in partnership with Community Matters, the Church Urban Fund and the Faiths and Civil Society Unit, Goldsmiths, University of London. FBRN is running an 18 month pilot project to assess the value of 'Visible' faith-based organisations. The project is investigating how the 'Visible' programme can assist faith groups to: be confident of their faith values and ethos when promoting their work to potential funders and partners; promote the contribution they make to community development and cohesion in a way that is recognised by the wider voluntary and community sector, local government and other agencies; and engage as equals with other community service providers.

The pilot project focuses on seven faith based projects selected from across the country. Each project is supported by a faith based mentor with an understanding of the particular opportunities and needs faced by faith organisations serving the local community through social action and community engagement. The pilot is assessing how 'Visible' can contribute to improving the reach of faith based organisations by raising their profile and credence within the voluntary community sector.

Further information on the 'Visible' programme can be found at www.fbrn.org.uk/fbrn-visible-quality-assurance-programme-faith-based-organisations.

Malaria No More – film, faith and fundraising

To mark Inter Faith Week on 20-26 November, Malaria No More UK is encouraging faith groups throughout the country to come together for an evening of film, faith and fundraising. Malaria No More UK is committed to ending suffering and death caused by malaria. During Inter Faith Week it would like people to hold a film related event that would help to highlight the plight of people suffering from malaria and help raise funds for the organisation. The money raised during Inter Faith Week will go towards specific work in Ghana where large sections of the population are at risk.

The project is being coordinated by Charlotte Dando and Usman Nawaz who are Faith Act Fellows from the Tony Blair Faith Foundation currently working with Malaria No More UK. They have produced a resource on a step by step guide to help event organisers. This will be going online shortly at <http://malaria nomore.org.uk/themes/faith>.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. This is a rolling programme with no deadlines but it is due to end in March 2013. Award amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund will invest in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Social Action Fund

The Office for Civil Society has opened a social action fund worth over £20million. The fund will offer grants of £100,000 and more to projects across England that plan to expand volunteering and giving of time, money, knowledge and assets. The fund will be managed by the Social Investment Business.

The Fund is open to proposals relevant to its three main themes:

- Social action in the community – projects that will encourage people to come together to support each other and improve their communities.
- Social action inspired by the Olympics and Paralympics legacy – projects that build on the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympics Games, creating a legacy of social action.
- Social action for all ages – projects that motivate people across all generations to get involved in volunteering and charitable giving.

The first window for applications closes at noon on Wednesday 2 November, 2011. A second application window is due to open in early 2012.

The Social Action Fund is open to applications to fund social action projects in England from civil society organisations, public sector bodies and businesses with a track record of delivering social action programmes. Organisations must have operated for more than 2 years and have a minimum turnover of £100,000 to be eligible. For more information and to apply, visit www.thesocialinvestmentbusiness.org/saf/.

Community First Fund and Community Organisers

An £80 million Community First fund, which will provide small grants to community groups and local social action projects, was opened on 6 October by Nick Hurd Minister for Civil Society. This comes as the first of 5,000 people to be trained as Community Organisers took up post. The Government describes these as ‘two flagship Big Society initiatives which together will encourage people to do more to help each other out and give them the tools they need to make a difference’

.A Community First website has been opened which invites people to sign their community up to receive support. Funding will be handed out by panels of local people. The fund is divided into two strands. £30 million will be used to provide small grants. The remaining £50 million will be used to match private donations invested in community endowment funds which will pay out money for small grants well into the future. The Community Development Foundation (CDF) will work with several organisations to deliver the Community First programme, including supermarket chain Asda.

The first Community Organisers took up post this week. They have begun a twelve month training programme based in local community groups in eleven places in England supported by Locality, the Government's national partner. They are learning the skills they need to identify local leaders and bring people together to act on what matters to them, including using new powers devolved from government to citizens. They will play an important role organising communities to take advantage of Community First funding. A total of 5,000 Community Organisers will be trained from now to 2015.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

British Association for the Study of Spirituality – call for abstracts

The deadline for papers for the 2nd International Conference of the British Association for the Study of Spirituality has been extended to 30 November.

The theme of the Conference, which will take place from 15 May to 17 May at Highgate House in Northampton, is 'Spirituality in a Fragmented World'. Abstracts were initially invited only for oral paper presentation which address the theme of the conference through one or more of its sub-themes: spirituality and health; spirituality and religion; spirituality and humanity and social justice; spirituality and ecology; and spirituality and politics. Abstracts are now also invited for Workshops and Roundtables. Abstracts are invited from people working in academic institutions, health, social care and religious practice, policy makers, business environments and general public life. They are particularly keen to encourage PhD students to present their work and plan to use the conference to launch an interdisciplinary PhD network for all students looking at spirituality.

Conference information and booking and abstract submission forms can be viewed and downloaded from www.basspirituality.org.uk. Abstracts should be sent by email attachment to Margaret Holloway, Chair of the Conference Scientific Committee at m.l.holloway@hull.ac.uk and also to Claire Gregory, conference administrator, at c.gregory@hull.ac.uk.

Coordinating Committee of Religions for Peace (UK) Women of Faith Network

Applications are invited from women of faith to serve on the Religions for Peace (UK) Women of Faith Network Co-ordinating Committee on a voluntary basis.

Religions for Peace sees women of faith around the world as having enormous capacities for leadership and effective action to build peace and promote just and harmonious societies. It believes that their experiences and resources, when mobilised, can strengthen community-based effective responses for peace and human development.

Currently in Europe there are women of faith networks in Belgium, Finland and France with discussions also taking place in the United Kingdom, Romania, Morocco, Bosnia Herzegovina and Italy to form National Women of Faith Networks.

Membership of the Women's Co-ordinating Committee will be drawn from the following religions Baha'i, Buddhist, Christian, Jain, Jewish, Hindu, Muslim, Sikh and Zoroastrian. Women who are interested in serving on the committee should send a CV to Mrs Ravinder Kaur Nijjar, Co-Chair RfP European Women of Faith Network, PO Box 7611, Glasgow, G42 2FT, giving details of any contribution to their own faith communities and inter faith dialogue/activities. An understanding of issues concerning women in general and women of faith in particular is important.

Mitzvah Day 20 November

Mitzvah Day takes place this year on Sunday 20 November. It is a Jewish led day of social action. Around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. The goal is to reduce hardship and poverty and to help the environment. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. Last year a number of projects had a multi faith dimension. See www.mitzvahday.org.uk for further information and to register an event.

Scottish Inter Faith Week 27 November - 4 December

Scottish Inter Faith Week will take place from Sunday 27 November to Saturday 4 December. The theme for Scottish Inter Faith Week is 'Belief in Dialogue' in line with the Belief in Dialogue Good Practice Guide produced by APS Group Scotland and prepared by The Scottish Working Group on Religion and Belief Relations www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org/resources/Belief+in+Dialogue.pdf (reported on in the April 2011 e-bulletin). For further information please contact Frances Hume at the Scottish Inter Faith Council at fhume@scottishinterfaithcouncil.org.

Established by the Scottish Inter Faith Council in 2004, the Week provides a chance for individuals, local inter faith groups and faith communities across the country to plan events that bring local people together to promote dialogue, understanding and co-operation between Scotland's diverse religious communities.

Inter faith week is supported by local inter faith groups, the Scottish Government and Scotland's religious leaders.

Holocaust Memorial Day 27 January 2012

The theme for Holocaust Memorial Day 2012 is 'Speak Up, Speak Out'. The theme challenges everyone to speak out against racism and discrimination so that the lessons from the past are learned to create a safer, better future. The Holocaust Memorial Day Trust is running a series of free workshops across the UK between September and November for anyone who is planning to mark Holocaust Memorial Day. To find a workshop near you, visit hmd.org.uk/about/our-work/hmd-workshops. To find out more information about Holocaust Memorial Day 2012 and order a free Campaign Pack, you can visit www.hmd.org.uk.

UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland 20–26 November

The third Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland, took place between 20 and 26 November. Nearly 500 events are already known to have taken place - a significant increase over previous years. News on yet others is still coming in. The range of events held for the Week has been very wide, as was that of the types of bodies holding them. National faith community organisations and inter faith bodies, local places of worship, inter faith groups, schools and colleges, universities, hospitals, police forces, NGOs and many others were involved. Information about events can be found on the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org.uk.

The Week received a wide range of press coverage, both locally and nationally, including an article by Bess Twiston Davies in The Times on Saturday 19 November. Her article was entitled 'Seven days to strengthen ties between religions: Interfaith Week starts tomorrow and it is bigger than ever' and appeared in the main section on the 'Faith' page. The Times also had follow up material in two later articles. The Church Times and the Jewish Chronicle online were among the faith press which covered the Week. BBC coverage included the Sunday programme as well as a number of regional reports. See www.interfaithweek.org/media/2011-media-coverage for links to articles.

A video featuring Andrew Stunell MP, Minister for Cohesion at the Department for Communities and Local Government, was added to the Inter Faith Week website during the Week following an interview with him at an Inter Faith Week event on Thursday, www.interfaithweek.org/index.php/media/videos/andrew-stunell-mp, and we will be continuing to update the website as further news and coverage comes in.

Inter Faith Week survey

Inter Faith Week highlights the contribution of faith communities to society and helps more people recognise the importance of dialogue and cooperation and get involved. We hope that any readers whose organisations held events for the Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland will let us have their stories and reflections so that we can develop the Week even more effectively.

A short survey has been produced to help us gather in more information about events and to learn how well respondents feel the Week is meeting its aims. The survey also gives space to report on events held and offer reflections on how the Week might be further developed. It can be answered by event holders and also those who attended rather than held events. The final comment box on the survey can be used to tell us your Inter Faith Week story. The survey takes on average between 5 and 10 minutes to complete and can be found at www.smart-survey.co.uk/v.asp?i=44110tbqpm.

National faith communities Inter Faith Week event

On 21 November 50 senior religious figures, including national leaders, met for an inter faith conversation in London (Central Hall Westminster) to mark the first working day of Inter Faith Week. The meeting was organised by the Inter Faith Network for the UK and was chaired by its Co-Chairs, Bishop Alastair Redfern and Dr Manazir Ahsan.

The opening speakers were the Chief Rabbi of the United Hebrew Congregations of the Commonwealth, Lord Sacks, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Revd and Rt Hon Dr Rowan Williams. Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, the Rt Hon Eric Pickles also offered his reflections from a Government perspective. These three opening reflections were followed by contributions to the conversation from a wide range of other participants.

The discussion explored aspects of how faith communities contribute to society; continue to develop strong patterns of inter faith understanding and practical cooperation; and engage with wider society for the common good.

Videos of the three opening presentations can be found on the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org/media/national-event-2111. The videos are also on Youtube, and can be reached via this page. There is further information about the Archbishop's presentation at www.lambethpalace.org and a DCLG news story about the event can be found at www.communities.gov.uk/newsstories/communities/2035473. The Jewish Chronicle has a piece on the story online at www.thejc.com/news/uk-news/58836/chief-rabbi-opens-week-interfaith-activity.

As background to the discussion, some questions about 'Living Well Together in Britain Today' were developed in consultation with the Officers and Executive Committee of IFN. They reflect many of the issues which have been coming to the fore at local and national levels (including within discussion at the IFN Executive Committee and within the Faith Communities Forum). These were sent to IFN members at the end of October and are also available on the Inter Faith Week website in the 'Resources' section at www.interfaithweek.org.uk/index.php/resources/living-well-together.

If your organisation used the questions during Inter Faith Week or is planning to do so at an event in the next few months, do keep us in touch with the reflections or conclusions which emerge from these. Similarly, if you are already engaged in programmes of work which touch on these themes, please do let us know. The person to contact is augustine.booth-clibborn@interfaith.org.uk.

Scottish Inter Faith Week

Scottish Inter Faith Week took place from 27 November until 4 December. A list of events which took place across Scotland for the Week can be found at: www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org/resources/SIFW+FINAL4.doc

Established by the Scottish Inter Faith Council in 2004, the Week provides a chance for individuals, local inter faith groups and faith communities across the country to plan events that bring local people together to promote dialogue, understanding and co-operation between Scotland's diverse religious communities. The theme of Scottish Inter Faith Week this year was 'Belief in Dialogue'. Earlier this year, the Scottish Government produced the 'Belief in Dialogue: Religion and Belief Relations in Scotland Good Practice Guide', which provides guidance on building good relations among and between religious and belief communities and individuals.

The launch of the week took place on Sunday 27 November at St Mungo Museum of Religious Life and Art in Glasgow. Deputy First Minister Nicola Sturgeon MSP and Humza Yousaf MSP gave key note addresses and there were readings and performances on the Week's theme from the major faith communities in Scotland, including the Tashi Lhunpo Tibetan Buddhist monks who created an intricate sand mandala at the museum during the week.

Mitzvah Day

Mitzvah Day, a Jewish led day of social action, took place on 20 November. Around the world thousands of people took part in 'hands on' projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. Many events that were held involved people from a range of different faith communities. Further information can be found online at www.mitzvahday.org.uk.

IFN Faith Communities Forum

The Faith Communities Forum, which brings together for discussion the national faith community bodies in membership of the Inter Faith Network, met on 14 December. It discussed: Inter Faith Week; a forthcoming survey of the inter faith work of national faith communities; next steps on IFN's 'Soundings' programme of exploring issues in the inter faith field; and a range of public policy developments.

Near Neighbours launch

The Near Neighbours programme, an initiative of the Church Urban Fund, was officially launched on 14 November at an event attended by the Rt Hon Eric Pickles, Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, and the Rt Revd Richard Chartres, Bishop of London. The event was attended by over 100 people, including senior faith leaders and clergy and community workers from the four areas covered by the Near Neighbours programme.

In his speech, a copy of which can be found at www.communities.gov.uk/speeches/corporate/nearneighbourslaunch, the Rt Hon Eric Pickles spoke about the long history of people of different faiths working alongside each other in East London, and the role of compassion, in all faiths, for the welfare of others. Speaking about the contribution that faith groups make to social welfare, he said: "We see the value of the work that faith groups do - and recognise that a little support now can make a big difference not just in this financial year, but for many years to come. So I see the five million pounds we are putting in the Near Neighbours programme over the next three years as an investment in the future."

Other speakers at the event were Baroness Margaret Eaton, the Chairman of Near Neighbours; Ramesh Pattni, Co-Chair of the Hindu Christian Forum, and the Revd Alan Green, Vicar of St John on Bethnal Green.

The Revd Tim Clapton, the Near Neighbours coordinator in London, interviewed Fulma Begum from the DIVA women's group in Bethnal Green, one of the first projects to receive a Near Neighbours grant this year. The interview is available online at <http://soundcloud.com/andywalton/near-neighbours-launch>, and there is also a Church of England podcast at www.churchofengland.org/media-centre/follow-us-online/podcasts.aspx which features the event. ### Council of Christians and Jews 70th anniversary

This November marked the start of the 70th Anniversary Year of the Council of Christians and Jews (CCJ). CCJ was the first national inter faith organisation in Britain. The idea for it was conceived in Manchester in November 1941, and the inaugural meeting took place under the auspices of Chief Rabbi Hertz and Archbishop William Temple – the Council's co-founders – in March 1942. A message from CCJ Chairman, the Rt Revd Nigel McCulloch, which gives more of the past history and present work and also looks to the future of CCJ can be found at: www.ccj.org.uk/Articles/284146/Council\_of\_Christians/About\_Us/Latest\_News/Mess\_age\_from\_the.aspx. A copy of BBC Radio 4's Thought for the Day by the Chief Rabbi that was broadcast on 14 November to mark the start of the anniversary can be found online at www.bbc.co.uk/programmes/p00lvc3t. The anniversary was also featured on the BBC's Sunday Programme on 12 November. Further information from cjrelations@ccj.org.uk.

25th Anniversary of the World Day of Prayer for Peace

Leaders from faith communities around the world were invited by His Holiness Pope Benedict XVI to mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the World Day of Prayer for Peace in Assisi on 27 October. The day, based on the theme Pilgrims of Truth, Pilgrims of Peace, started with a spiritual pilgrimage by train from Rome to Assisi with the Pope, after which he and other delegates presented their speeches at the Basilica of Santa Maria degli Angeli. Preceding the addresses, the delegates attended a screening of a short video recalling the 1986 meeting.

In the afternoon, a lunch shared by the delegates was followed by a period of silence for individual reflection and prayer, then all those present processed towards the Basilica of St Francis. The day concluded with a solemn renewal of the joint commitment to peace.

Happy Christmas 4All

A campaign called Happy Christmas 4All has been initiated by Phoenix, which describes itself as a broad coalition of people of different faiths, atheists and agnostics and people from the left and right of the political spectrum. Responding to annual stories in the media about some local authorities 'banning Christmas', the campaign aims to demonstrate the diversity of non-Christian support and respect for Christmas as an important part of the cultural landscape of the nation; and to "surprise the wider public by debunking myths and assumptions that are widely held regarding some religious and ethnic minority groups".

This year, the campaign is mainly social media led, but is also promoting work on the ground – encouraging people to engage in charitable work such as helping out at soup kitchens, or visiting neighbours who may be lonely during the festive period.

Jain declaration with Catholic Church

The Trustees of the Institute of Jainology went to the Vatican City on 6 December to sign a Joint Declaration with the Roman Catholic Church. The declaration focuses on how the principle of Ahimsa, non-violence, provides the way to resolve most of the world's problems. The Declaration not only refers to Ahimsa as a way of preventing wars and visible physical acts of violence, but also to violence in the hearts and minds of humans and to the natural world.

West Midlands Faiths Forum statement on disturbances

The West Midlands Faiths Forum (WMFF) issued a statement on 14 November reflecting on the series of disturbances across the country this summer. In it WMFF "encourages all faith communities to be more vocal about the values they hold and the relevance of these values for society as a whole." The statement also offers a five point strategy to address underlying issues behind the crisis. The strategy calls for coordinated steps to be taken by the community, police, national and local authorities. A copy of the press statement will be available shortly on the West Midlands Faiths Forum website at www.wmfaithsforum.org.uk. ## National Curriculum Review Update

On 20 January last year Mr Michael Gove, the Secretary of State for Education, announced a review of the National Curriculum in England. The review is looking at the National Curriculum for both primary and secondary schools. The new National Curriculum will set out only the essential knowledge that all children should acquire, and give schools and teachers more freedom to decide how to teach this most effectively and to design a wider school curriculum that best meets the needs of their pupils. A suite of documents - setting out the evidence gathered to date by the National Curriculum review - was published on 19 December 2011. These can be found at www.education.gov.uk/publications. They comprise:

- the report of the review's expert panel - setting out their recommendations in relation to the framework for the new National Curriculum;
- a summary of the evidence gathered about curricula for English, mathematics and science in high performing jurisdictions;
- a research report looking at subject breadth in the curricula used in other education jurisdictions; and
- a summary report of the responses to the review's call for evidence.

The Secretary of State also announced that in light of the far-reaching, and complex nature of the expert panel recommendations, and to allow for more radical reform of both curriculum and qualifications, he has decided to change the planned timetable for the introduction of the new National Curriculum. Instead of new curricula for English, mathematics, science and PE being introduced from 2013 - and any other subjects in 2014 - the new curriculum for all subjects will be introduced in 2014. A detailed timetable for the conduct of the remainder of the review - including a refreshed remit - will be published early in 2012.

The Ministerial statement can be found at: www.education.gov.uk/a00201092/written-ministerial-statement-on-the-national-curriculum-review. Those wishing to be in touch with the Department regarding the documents or other aspects of the Review can email NationalCurriculumReview.Feedback@education.gsi.gov.uk.

Whilst the review is called the National Curriculum Review, much of what it covers relates to the whole curriculum. Religious Education is a statutory subject but not part of the National Curriculum; it does, however, make a significant contribution to the whole curriculum. On this basis, the Religious Education Council for England and Wales has met with, and written to, Schools Minister Mr Nick Gibb to ask that Religious Education's contribution be taken into account and is awaiting a decision on whether RE can now become a part of the Review process.

Civil Partnerships on Religious Premises

As reported in IFN's May e-bulletin, the Government ran a consultation earlier this year on Civil partnerships on religious premises. The proposals were designed to enable faith groups to opt in, to respect the different decision-making structures of different faith groups, to minimise the risk of successful legal challenges and to be straightforward for local authorities to operate. It would also be unlawful for a civil partnership to be registered on religious premises that had not been approved for this purpose by the local authority. That approval would be given only with the approval of the faith group concerned.

The Government response to this consultation was published on 2 November. It contains a summary of responses to it, together with a copy of the draft regulations. The regulations have now been laid in both Houses. A copy of the Government response is available at www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/equalities/lgbt-equality-publications/civilpartnership-response.

Government Equalities Office ‘quick start’ guide to specific duties

The Government Equalities Office has published a ‘quick start’ guide intended to help public sector organisations understand the specific duties that support the public sector Equality Duty in the Equality Act.

The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) Regulations 2011 came into force on 10 September 2011. They require public bodies to publish relevant, proportionate information demonstrating their compliance with the Equality Duty; and to set themselves specific, measurable equality objectives.

Review of charity law

Parliament built in to the Charities Act 2006 a requirement that the effectiveness of the Act should be reviewed after five years. Last month, the Government appointed Lord Hodgson to carry out the review and he is due to report to Parliament by June 2012.

Lord Hodgson’s review is wide-ranging and, at a high level, will look at what charities need to have/be able to do in order to carry out their roles. On a more detailed level, he will look specifically at:

- fundraising, including regulation of public charitable collections, self regulation, fundraising statements and willingness of volunteers to fundraise;
- the role of the Charity Commission and challenging the Commission in the Charity Tribunal;
- reducing bureaucracy, including dual regulation of cross-border charities;
- the transparency and accountability of the sector, including accounting, reporting and audit procedures;
- thresholds for registration;
- facilitating social investment;
- the charity merger provisions of the 2006 Act; and
- methods of supporting and encouraging individuals to volunteer as trustees.

Faith representation in a reformed House of Lords

A Joint Select Committee of both Houses of Parliament is currently scrutinising the Government's draft White Paper and draft House of Lords Reform Bill.

The membership of the House of Lords currently includes 26 Church of England Bishops and Archbishops on an ex officio basis, their right to sit and vote in the House being established by ancient usage and by statute. The Government has proposed that 12 Church of England Bishops should remain in an 80% elected Second Chamber, in line with the proposed reduction to 300 seats overall.

The Committee has received submissions of evidence from, among others, the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, Chief Rabbi Lord Sacks, the Muslim Council of Britain and the Zoroastrian Trust Fund of Europe. The submission by the Archbishops does not oppose the proposed reduction in the number of bishops in a revised Second Chamber, but underlines some of the practical difficulties which would arise in consequence. It says that there is "a strong case for placing the Appointments Commission under a duty to ensure, among other things, the presence of those from across the United Kingdom who have or have had senior responsibility in Churches and faiths other than the established Church". The other three submissions also all strongly urge that there should be faith community representation in a revised Second Chamber. The submissions from the British Humanist Association and the National Secular Society both argue that there should be no reserved places for Church of England bishops or for any other religious representatives. Evidence submitted to the Joint Committee can be found online at www.parliament.uk/business/committees/committees-a-z/joint-select/draft-house-of-lords-reform-bill/publications/.

A House of Lords Library Note on religious representation in the House of Lords was produced at the end of November, which provides background information on the role of Bishops in the Second Chamber and in the context of the Government's proposals for reform of the House, it examines arguments both in favour and against their continued membership. It goes on to consider further issues arising from the Government's proposals, as well as arguments made regarding the formal representation of other denominations or faiths in Parliament. The document can be found at www.parliament.uk/briefing-papers/LLN-2011-036.

Public Consultation by the Office for National Statistics on ‘Beyond 2011’

The 2011 Census may be the last one of its kind. The ‘Beyond 2011’ Programme of the Office for National Statistics was formally established in April “to investigate and assess alternative options for producing the population and socio-demographic data required by users in England and Wales”. Collaboration is taking place with the devolved administrations in Scotland and Northern Ireland to ensure that the obligation to produce consistent UK statistics is met. The outcome will have implications for all population-based statistics in England and Wales and potentially in the longer term for the statistical system as a whole.

The Programme will be carrying out a full assessment of all alternative approaches in order to allow the UK Statistics Authority to make recommendations to Parliament in 2014 on the best way forward. Its recommendations will be informed not only by an assessment of the statistical viability of the potential solutions but also by a consideration of user requirements, public burden and public acceptability. A range of statistical options will be considered under the following three ‘high level’ categories: Census-type solutions; Administrative data solutions; and Survey solutions.

The Office for National Statistics has launched an initial public consultation, which closes on 20 January 2012. The consultation document can be downloaded from the ONS website at www.ons.gov.uk/ons/about-ons/consultations/open-consultations/beyond-2011---public-consultation/index.html. It includes a brief discussion of the issues involved and guidance on the questions included in the brief questionnaire. The questionnaire itself can be accessed online via the same webpage and can be completed online or returned to beyond2011@ons.gov.uk by 20 January 2012.

Independent Riots, Communities and Victims Panel

The Independent Riots, Communities and Victims Panel set up by the Deputy Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition in September to examine the causes of the riots in August and to study how communities responded to the violence and looting, has held consultation meetings in riot hit areas including Tottenham, Croydon, Ealing, Birmingham and Salford, as well as areas which did not experience disorder, such as Bradford and Sheffield. These visits enabled Panel members to speak to shopkeepers, local residents, voluntary organisations, young people, police forces and local councils to hear about the impact the riots had on their areas. Further visits are due to be organised to gather more evidence for the Panel’s final report which is expected in March.

The Panel released an interim report on 28 November, which can be found at www.5daysinaugust.co.uk.

On 5 December data was released from a study by the London School of Economics and The Guardian based on interviews with 270 rioters. Material from the study has been published in The Guardian and is available on The Guardian's website at www.guardian.co.uk/uk/2011/dec/05/anger-police-fuelled-riots-study.

Expansion of National Citizen Service programme

It was announced on 5 October that the National Citizen Service (NCS) for 16-year-olds will be tripled in size to offer 90,000 places by 2014. NCS is a voluntary programme that gives 16-year-olds the opportunity to take on new challenges, learn new skills and make a difference in their communities. Young people from very different backgrounds are brought together into a team, with a common objective, to achieve something of which they can all be proud. Activities include outdoor team-based challenges; structured tasks to develop personal skills; visiting and helping groups in the local neighbourhood; and designing and delivering a social action project in consultation with local communities. Following the first pilot this summer, up to 30,000 places will be offered in 2012 and 90,000 by 2014.

UK Chairmanship of the Council of Europe

The UK assumed the Chairmanship of the Committee of Ministers of the Council of Europe from 7 November. The Government has said that, as a founder member of the organisation and the first country to ratify the European Convention on Human Rights, the UK takes the responsibility of the Chairmanship, which it last held in 1993, very seriously. It sees it as an opportunity for the UK to play a leading role in the vital work of the Council of Europe in promoting rights, democracy and the rule of law across the continent and has said that the overarching theme of its Chairmanship will be “the promotion and protection of human rights”. This will have a particular focus on developing practical measures in the following areas:

- a. reforming the European Court of Human Rights and strengthening implementation of the European Convention on Human Rights;
- b. supporting Secretary General Thorbjørn Jagland’s programme of reform of the Council of Europe as an organisation;
- c. strengthening the rule of law;
- d. internet governance, including freedom of expression on the internet;
- e. combating discrimination on the grounds of sexual orientation and gender identity; and

- f. streamlining the Council of Europe's activities in support of local and regional democracy.

In addition to these priorities, the UK Chairmanship will work to progress other areas of important Council of Europe business.

UN Periodic Review of Universal Human Rights

The Universal Periodic Review was established by the UN Human Rights Council, to improve the human rights situation on the ground in each of the 192 UN Member States. Every four and a half years, the human rights situation in all UN Member States is examined by other states. The UK is scheduled to be reviewed in May 2012. The UPR was established when the Human Rights Council was created on 15 March 2006, with 48 States reviewed each year.

The UN Human Rights Council now holds a public examination every four years to examine where governments are doing well and how they can improve. All UN Member States will be reviewed every four years. More detail on the process can be found at www.ohchr.org/EN/HRBodies/UPR/Pages/BasicFacts.aspx. A helpful briefing note on the website of the Equality and Human Rights Commission explains the UPR process at www.equalityhumanrights.com/human-rights/universal-periodic-review/how-the-upr-works.

The Review is being overseen for the UK Government by the Ministry of Justice. The date for formal submissions has passed but it is anticipated that there will be engagement with NGOs, including faith communities, over recommendations resulting from the Review process.

PROJECTS

Museum of World Religions

Discussions are in progress to establish a Museum of World Religions in Birmingham. The Museum is intended to be a shared space for dialogue and understanding between people from different faith communities as well as for people of no religious or faith affiliations. It will serve as an educational resource for learners of all ages, and provide an opportunity for individuals to explore the part that religion plays in contemporary life. The idea originated with the International Programme Director of the Museum of World Religions in Taiwan, but this UK project is independent of that institution.

The Big Jubilee Lunch

The Big Lunch next year takes place on Sunday 3 June and will form part of the official Diamond Jubilee celebrations as The Big Jubilee Lunch.

The Big Lunch aims to get as many people as possible across the UK to have a community lunch once a year. The project was launched in 2009 and since its inception thousands of lunches have taken place across a wide range of communities. Nearly 2 million people took part in The Big Lunch in 2011 and faith communities played a significant role.

For help and information with planning a faith based or inter faith Big Jubilee Lunch, you can email info@thebiglunch.com and request a free Big Jubilee Lunch Starter Pack, containing event guides, publicity materials and recipe ideas available from early 2012. ## Olympic Bell Ringing

As part of the London 2012 Festival, which is the finale of the four-year Cultural Olympiad, a project is taking place called Work No. 1197: All the bells in a country rung as quickly and as loudly as possible for three minutes.

The project is an opportunity for everyone in the UK to take part in the festivities for the first day of the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games and the producers are particularly keen for faith communities, places of worship and multi faith groups to get involved.

The idea behind the project is that at 8.00am on Friday 27 July, thousands of people across the UK will simultaneously perform the three minute piece by Turner Prize-winning artist Martin Creed. The organisers hope that people from all walks of life will volunteer and will ring everything they can including hand bells, door bells, bicycle bells, church bells, town hall bells, sleigh bells, cow bells, school bells, last orders bells and dinner bells.

Diamond Jubilee Beacons

As part of the celebrations to mark Her Majesty The Queen's Diamond Jubilee in 2012, it is planned to light 2,012 Beacons throughout the United Kingdom, Channel Islands, Isle of Man, the Commonwealth and UK Overseas Territories on Monday 4 June. Her Majesty The Queen will be lighting the National Beacon and a special book containing all the Diamond Jubilee Beacon locations will be given to The Queen after the event (in a similar way to the book produced for The Queen's Golden Jubilee Beacons in 2001, which now resides in The Royal Library at Windsor Castle).

The organisers of Diamond Jubilee Beacons hope that all faith communities in the UK will wish to take part in the project. Further information can be found online at www.diamondjubileebeacons.co.uk.

Big Local Trust

In July it was announced that the Community Development Foundation (CDF) and its partners had been selected by the Big Lottery Fund to set up a new charitable organisation to manage the Big Local Trust and to start to develop and deliver the Big Local programme. Together the Trust and programme will provide support and at least £1m funding per area to 150 local areas in England over the next ten years, through a £200m endowment from the Big Lottery Fund.

Since the summer announcement, CDF has been working to set up the new organisation and has also started to work with the first 50 Big Local areas. CDF is supporting them to get people in their areas involved and to develop their thinking about how they would like to make their areas better places to live.

To find out the location of the Big Local areas, or for more information about the programme, visit www.cdf.org.uk/web/guest/biglocal. The latest Big Local newsletter, www.cdf.msgfocus.com/cdf/02122011.htm, outlines what Big Local areas have been doing so far. ### Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities (in particular areas), helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. It is a rolling programme with no deadlines but it is due to end in March 2013. Award amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

The fund is divided into two strands: £30 million is being used to provide small grants and the remaining £50 million is being used to match private donations invested in community endowment funds which will pay out money for small grants well into the future. The Community Development Foundation (CDF) is working with several organisations to deliver the Community First programme, including supermarket chain Asda.

A Community First website has been opened which invites people to sign their community up to receive support. Funding will be handed out by panels of local people. ### New version of 'Good Governance Code' for smaller voluntary organisations

Good Governance: a Code for the Voluntary and Community Sector ('the Code') has been written by the voluntary sector, for the sector. It is a practical and easy-to-use guide to help charities develop good practice. The Charity Commission supports the Code and encourages all charities – from large to small – to use it.

An independent Steering Group including representatives from the Association of Chief Executives of Voluntary Organisations, the Institute of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators, the National Council for Voluntary Organisations and the Small Charities Coalition is responsible for developing the Code, with support from the Charity Commission. A second edition of it was published in October 2010, and a version for smaller organisations was published this month.

The Code is based on six key principles describing how an effective board provides good governance and leadership: understanding their role; ensuring delivery of organisational purpose; working effectively both as individuals and a team; exercising effective control; behaving with integrity; and being open and accountable. The Code explains why each principle is important, and gives examples of how to apply them in practice.

The Code Steering Group currently has no funding for a print-run of the Code, but it is hoping to obtain further funding in future. For the time being the Code is only available as a download, which can be found online at www.charity-commission.gov.uk/Charity\_requirements\_guidance/Charity\_governance/Good\_governance/governancecode.aspx.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

Church of Scotland Moderator's Medal

The Moderator's Medal is a competition to encourage young people to think about spirituality, faith and belief. For the 2012 award the theme is the Olympics so entries could, for example, be on the themes of competition, co-operation, peace, celebration, determination, hard-work, fair play or achievement.

The competition, run by the Church of Scotland, is open to young people from all faith communities, aged 10 to 18, living in Scotland. Entries can be from individuals or groups of up to four people. Entries can come in any format including artwork, writing, short films, music and other media. There are three age categories: 10 to 13; 14 to 15; and 16 to 18.

Entries must be made by 31 March 2012 either by e-mail to churchandsociety@cofscotland.org.uk or by post to Moderator's Medal Competition, Church and Society Council, Church of Scotland, 121 George Street, Edinburgh EH2 4YN. Entries must include: the name(s) of the author(s); contact information; which age category; and which school, youth club, or organisation is involved. Prizes include book tokens, cash and the Moderator's Medal. Winners and runners up will be invited to a prize giving ceremony at the General Assembly in May in Edinburgh.

Information can be found online at www.churchofscotland.org.uk/speak\_out/education/articles/moderators\_medal.

Religious Difference and Conflict Conference – call for papers

Papers are currently being accepted for a conference at Stranmillis University, Belfast, from 5 to 7 September 2012, on 'Religious Difference and Conflict'. September 2012 marks the centenary of the signing of the Ulster Covenant, a dramatic political gesture rooted in the distinctive religious culture of the province. This conference is the culminating event in a research project 'Protestant-Catholic Conflict: Historical Perspectives and Contemporary Realities', funded under the Research Councils UK 'Global Uncertainties' programme. It will include the presentation of research from the project, and contributions from practitioners in conflict resolution as well as from academics are warmly welcomed.

Papers should address one or more of the following themes:

- the history and/or contemporary experience of religious difference in Ireland;
- Protestant-Catholic conflict in historical and international perspective;
- understanding and addressing religious tensions in the contemporary UK, continental Europe or North America (papers can be concerned with any significant religious group(s)); and
- case studies of religion, conflict and conflict resolution around the world (for example in Israel/Palestine, sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia).

Enquiries and proposals for papers (up to 300 words) should be submitted by email to Arts-Prot-RC-Project@open.ac.uk by 19 March 2012. Decisions on proposals will be communicated during April and the deadline for registration will be 31 May 2012. Thanks to the generosity of the AHRC and ESRC, who are funding the project, the conference fee (inclusive of meals and accommodation for the nights of 5 and 6 September) will be waived for participants with papers accepted for presentation.

JOBS AND VOLUNTEERING OPPORTUNITIES

St Ethelburga's Centre – Interns

The St Ethelburga's Centre is seeking to recruit two voluntary interns to help with specific projects. One is an evaluation project, for which they are seeking a self-motivated person with good language skills and an organised mind to work alongside another intern conducting and writing up telephone interviews, carrying out basic analysis of the data and writing a report. This would be a 4 or 5 day working week for approximately 6 to 8 weeks. The other is a marketing role, for which they are seeking a self-starter with a marketing background who can help them with essential research, collect and organise marketing data, help with producing written materials and updating their website and organise publicity. This would be a 3 to 5 day working week for a minimum of 2 months.

For further information, please contact Justine Huxley at justine@stethelburgas.org.

Holocaust Memorial Day Trust – Faith Intern

Holocaust Memorial Day provides an opportunity for everyone to learn lessons from the Holocaust, Nazi persecution and subsequent genocides and apply them to the present day to create a safer, better future. As part of its strategic vision to 2015, the Holocaust Memorial Day Trust (HMDT) is expanding its outreach work to engage new audiences. HMDT is currently recruiting for a faith intern to support this expansion, who will join its team for five months for one day per week. The successful candidate will be responsible for auditing and assessing its faith and inter faith resources, advising on possible new resources or partnerships, and analysing current trends in faith dialogue in social media and other forms of communication. They will advise on a faith strategy for HMDT, extending until 2015.

For more information on the role, visit <http://hmd.org.uk/about/vacancies/faith-internship>.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

Holocaust Memorial Day 27 January 2012

Holocaust Memorial Day provides an opportunity for everyone to learn lessons from the Holocaust, Nazi persecution and subsequent genocides and apply them to the present day to create a safer, better future. The theme for Holocaust Memorial Day 2012 is 'Speak Up, Speak Out'. The theme challenges everyone to speak out against racism and discrimination so that the lessons from the past are learned to create a safer, better future. To find out more information about Holocaust Memorial Day 2012 and order a free Campaign Pack, visit www.hmd.org.uk.

A Year of Service

All faith communities have within their ethical teaching the values of compassion, care and social justice. One of the ways that their members put these values into everyday practice is through volunteering. In 2012 a special project called 'A Year of Service' will be taking place. In each month, for A Year of Service, faith communities will be hosting a day or days of volunteering and inviting people of other faiths and non-religious beliefs to join in. There will also be workplace volunteering opportunities. The Year provides an opportunity for marking in a practical way the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty The Queen – of whose reign service has been a key theme.

The Year, which recognises and celebrates the role of faith in inspiring charitable and social action work, is supported by the Department for Communities and Local Government and has been developed with the assistance of a multi faith Reference

Group and a Steering Group. IFN is represented on the Steering Group advising on aspects of the Year. Its role is focused on helping to bring the Year to the attention of local, regional and national inter faith bodies and advising on, and helping enable, their participation.

The days around which the programme is built have been chosen through discussion within its Reference Group and reflect both religious festivals and dedicated faith-based special volunteering 'Days'. Other faith groups around the country can choose to hold their own volunteering events linked to other days.

A press release about the project was issued on 13 January by the Government and this can be found at www.communities.gov.uk/news/newsroom/2065499. In this, Eric Pickles said: "Faith is a great motivator, and throughout the year people from different faiths regularly give something back, volunteering for projects that benefit individuals in need or their local neighbourhood... We want to help them do what they do best, recognising that just a little support can make a big difference. The Year of Service is a chance to link these great efforts together throughout the year... [projects will be] led by individual faith communities but involving people of all faiths and none."

Further information about the project can be found at www.ayearofservice.org.uk. The site, which is owned and managed by Mitzvah Day for A Year of Service, will include ideas for activities, case studies of existing projects and background information on why volunteering is important to each featured faith community.

Event Photos

The IFN office would be pleased to receive photographs of Inter Faith Week 2011 events. These may be drawn on for use on the Inter Faith Week website or in reporting on or promoting the Week. If readers would like to send pictures, these can be emailed to enquiries@interfaithweek.org.

Survey

The survey for Inter Faith Week 2011 will continue to be available online at www.smart-survey.co.uk/v.asp?i=44110tbqpm until Tuesday 31 January. The survey has been produced to help gather information about events and to learn how well respondents feel the Week is meeting its aims. It also gives space to report on events held and offer reflections on how the Week might be further developed. It can be answered by event holders and also those who attended rather than held events. The IFN office hopes that the final comment box on the survey will be used for respondents to tell their Inter Faith Week story. The survey takes on average between 5 and 10 minutes to complete.

2012 dates

Dates for Inter Faith Week 2012 will be announced shortly.

Draft Charter for the Coroner's Service – response to consultation

From May to December 2011 the Government ran a consultation on the draft charter for the Coroner's service aimed at coroners, local authorities and all those with an interest in the processes and practice of the Coroner's Service. The original draft of the charter is available for download at www.justice.gov.uk/downloads/consultations/draft-charter-coroner-service.pdf.

The Government has now published the 135 responses received to this consultation in the form of a report. Relevant to faith and inter faith organisations was the request from a number of faith-based organisations that family members might request less invasive post-mortem examinations instead of conventional ones. The report outlines the limited availability of the technology required to perform such operations to the Coroner's service and the lack of protocol and guidelines on the use of non-invasive techniques as reasons to not include guidance to this effect in the Charter. More detailed information on this point is available at paragraphs 28 to 30 of the report on the consultation, which is available to download at www.justice.gov.uk/downloads/consultations/coroner-draft-charter-response.pdf.

The 'Role of Faith Groups' in the Big Society

In December the House of Commons Public Administration Select Committee published its 17th report entitled The Big Society to examine 'what the Big Society project means for Whitehall and whether the implementation of this policy is on track to succeed.' The report considers in great depth the ways in which government, both national and local, engages with the 'Big Society' and tackles the rolling out of policies that fall under this term. It goes on to 'propose a number of steps to change the way the Civil Service and local authorities commission and manage contracts for public services.'

Of particular relevance is the section entitled 'The Role of Faith Groups' (paragraphs 137 – 143), which notes a breadth of views on the participation of faith groups in the delivering of local public services including those of the Chief Rabbi, Lord Sacks, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of Leicester, Charles Wookey (on behalf of Archbishop Vincent Nicholls) and Andrew Copson, Chief Executive of the British Humanist Association. The report recognises the potential benefits of faith groups helping to deliver public services but cautions against the exclusion of those who work in multi-faith contexts or those of non-religious beliefs who can also help in this way.

The full report can be downloaded at www.parliament.uk/business/committees/committees-a-z/commons-select/public-administration-select-committee/publications.

EHRC Human Rights Measurements Framework

The Equality and Human Rights Commission has published the Human Rights Measurement Framework (HRMF), a new set of indicators that brings together information and evidence for analysing and assessing human rights in Britain. The framework is a set of indicators, based on those developed by the office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, that will help the Commission, the Government, public bodies, NGOs and others with an interest in human rights, to evaluate their compliance with, and progress towards, the implementation of human rights in Britain.

The HRMF is made up of a broad range of information including the statutory, regulatory and public policy framework for protecting human rights; case law outcomes; concerns highlighted by domestic and international human rights monitoring bodies; allegations raised by NGOs and media reports; and a wide range of statistical sources. It covers both the requirements of the UK Human Rights Act and rights that are drawn from international conventions the UK government has signed up to, such as the International Covenant on Social, Economic and Cultural Rights.

For more information and to download a copy of the HRMF, visit www.equalityhumanrights.com/human-rights/policy-and-research/human-rights-measurement-framework.

New arrangements for information, advice and support on discrimination and human rights

The Government is commissioning a new Equality Advisory and Support Service to help individuals in England, Scotland and Wales who have problems with discrimination. The new service will be open to all members of the public, regardless of their situation. It will be a source of expert advice and support, with a particular focus on supporting vulnerable and disadvantaged individuals to help find quick and informal solutions to their problems wherever possible.

It will consist of a telephone advice service for advice on discrimination and a lay independent advocacy service that will provide support for people who need face to face help. If individuals do not have access to legal counsel and are in need to support this advocacy service will help them in preparing to issue a claim. This service is designed to run alongside existing legal aid available under the Equalities Act 2010. The Government will no longer be solely funding legal aid to help those who are discriminated against.

For more information and to download more detailed information on the new arrangements, visit www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/equalities/government-equality/New-service-further-info.

Convention for the Protection of National Minorities – Opinion on the UK and Comments

On 4 January 2012 the UK Government released their comments on the Council of Europe's Advisory Committee on the Convention for the Protection of National Minorities' third opinion on the United Kingdom's implementation of the Convention in December 2011.

In comments on Article 6 of the Convention (Fighting Racism and Intolerance) the UK Government commented on the issue of Islamophobia (as many British Muslims belong to minority communities) saying: 'The Government is determined that events involving the Muslim community should not be exploited by anyone as an excuse to start blaming, persecuting, or preaching inflammatory messages about any particular group.' The broader issue was underlined at the end of the section: 'The Government is fully committed to engaging with faith and non-faith communities to help build a more inclusive, tolerant and cohesive society.'

In comments on Article 8 of the Convention (Religion) the UK Government emphasised that UK Religious Education was based in the needs and traditions of the local community with Agreed Syllabi being determined with input from SACREs. On the central prescription of the teaching of Religious Education the Government commented: 'that central prescription and the uniformity it implies do not necessarily produce the best outcomes. We are therefore reducing central prescription on schools - including guidance on what and how they should teach.'

Equality and Human Rights Commission update guidance

In December the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) published revised versions of their public sector equality duty guides on: Equality information and the equality duty; Equality objectives and the equality duty; and Engagement and the equality duty. These revised editions reflect the final public sector specific equality duty regulations that came into force in September 2011 (and were noted in IFN's September e-bulletin), and they replace the first edition of the guides published in January 2011. These guides are for England and non-devolved bodies in Scotland and Wales, (the guides for Wales have been updated in January and the guides for Scotland being updated currently).

The guides are available to download from the EHRC website at: www.equalityhumanrights.com/advice-and-guidance/public-sector-equality-duty/guidance-on-the-equality-duty.

Charity Commission Strategic Plan

In December the Charity Commission, the regulator for charities in England and Wales, published its Strategic Plan for 2012-2015.

The Plan sets out the Commission's two key strategic priorities for the period, which are: Developing the compliance and accountability of the charity sector; and Developing the self-reliance of the charity sector.

It also sets out the regulator's new Vision, Mission and Values, with the Vision being 'Charities you can support with confidence'.

The publication of the Strategic Plan follows the Commission's Strategic Review consultation which began in October 2010 and involved numerous charities, professional advisors, umbrella bodies and members of the public.

A copy of the Plan can be found online at www.charitycommission.gov.uk/About\_us/About\_the\_Commission/strategic\_plan\_2012.aspx.

Voluntary Sector Compact – National Audit Office findings

The National Audit Office (NAO) has published the findings from its inquiry into how Government departments are implementing the Compact with the voluntary sector in their work.

The inquiry - announced as part of the accountability and transparency measures which accompanied the renewed Compact in 2010 - highlights some key issues and makes a number of recommendations to improve departmental activities. The report's findings include that:

- the Compact is supported by Government departments and there are good examples of it being applied
- leadership is not always visible in Government departments, with recommendations that more needs to be done to increase "visible promotion and oversight ... by senior department officials"
- 40% of consultations issued since the renewed Compact was launched had shorter than 12 week time periods
- there are concerns with the lack of clarity about the Office for Civil Society's role regarding the Compact, with the lack of a full time staff member dedicated to it.

The report, www.nao.org.uk/publications/1012/national\_compact.aspx, sets out a number of recommendations to address these concerns.

PROJECTS

Women's Interfaith Media Network

The Women's Interfaith Media Network (WIMN) is a project which aims to provide information and resources to help women from different faith communities to share their views and concerns, and interact with the media more effectively.

WIMN currently has members from several different faith backgrounds and locations and provides a platform for women of all faiths and none to share information and experiences, as well as an opportunity to learn new skills. Further information about WIMN, including how to join, can be found online at www.wimn.org.uk/Introduction.html.

INFAC

The Tony Blair Faith Foundation and Tzedek are launching a new Interfaith Action Campaigns Programme called INFAC on 5 February. The programme aims to recognise and celebrate the key role of women in society to end poverty and offers the opportunity for people to be trained by some of the leading experts in international development, community engagement and advocacy to produce their own campaign.

The programme is free and takes place over 8 weeks, with meetings every Wednesday from 7pm to 9pm.

Places on the programme are limited. To sign up or get more information, contact charlotte@tzedek.org.uk or call 020 7443 5167 by 27 January.

Reading at St Ethelburga's

'Reading Matters' is a weekly multi-faith reading group run by the St Ethelburga's Centre in London.

Each week, a poem, tract, short story or prose piece will be at the centre of a 90-minute discussion. The group is led by professional writer Marina Benjamin and seeks to nurture understanding between people from different faith backgrounds.

There is no extra reading required either before or after the sessions, which take place every Wednesday at the St Ethelburga's Centre from 4pm to 5.30pm. Group members will be expected to make a donation of £4. For further information and to register, email Marina Benjamin at marinab52@yahoo.com.

Art 4 Action

Art 4 Action is a project being run in Birmingham by the Birmingham Council of Faiths and Birmingham Faiths Act Fellows. The project is to encourage young people under the age of 25 to create a work of art to express concerns about malaria from a faith perspective. The project includes a number of workshops.

Art 4 Action runs from now until 30 March. For further information and details of particular events, contact i.kaur@springfieldproject.org.uk (Faiths Act Birmingham) or pjrookes@gmail.com (Birmingham Council of Faiths).

Inter faith youth theatre group

The Tony Blair Faith Foundation, Tzedek and the Central School of Speech and Drama are launching an Inter Faith Youth Theatre Group for anyone aged 18-25. The aim of the group is to make a difference, to use theatre as a medium to share experiences with others and to show that relations between different faiths are not all negative.

No experience of theatre is necessary to be involved. Becoming a member of the group will involve weekly workshops; rehearsals of the play created and a performance in week commencing 16 April.

The project is free to all participants but places are limited. For further information or to register an interest in joining, contact Maryam Duale at Tzedek on 0207 443 5167 or at maryam@tzedek.org.uk.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Social Action Fund – Second round open

The Social Action Fund is a grant fund of over £20 million managed by the Social Investment Business on behalf of the Office for Civil Society. The Fund aims to inspire organisations to create new social action opportunities; encouraging people to give what they have, be it time, money, assets, knowledge or specific skills.

The second application window opened on 9 January and all applications have to be received by noon on 3 February.

The Social Investment Business website notes that successful applications will address the following themes:

- Encourage people to come together in their locality to support each other. Projects that scale proven models to regional or national levels, or replicate them in other localities. Some priority will be given to models that encourage those who do not traditionally get involved as volunteers. They are also particularly interested in models that offer people the opportunity to give time and/or money to activities that deliver a public benefit and complement the public sector.
- Focus on the different life stages of volunteering. Programmes that target the following will be favoured:
  - building a culture of participation among school children and university graduates
  - encouraging professionals who have retired or are on point of retirement to use their experience and skills for community/public benefit
  - inspiring and supporting National Citizen Service graduates who want to continue contributing to their communities through social action projects.

In order to download the Social Action Fund application pack, interested groups first need to complete the online eligibility checklist. This can be found on the Social Investment Business website at www.thesocialinvestmentbusiness.org/our-funds/social-action-fund.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities (in particular areas), helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in a limited number of geographical areas: East and South East London, North Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham.

It is a rolling programme with no deadlines but it is due to end in March 2013. Award amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Big Local Trust

The Community Development Foundation (CDF) is leading a consortium of organisations as the Big Local Trust to manage and deliver the Big Local funding programme. The Trust and programme will provide support and at least £1m funding per area to 150 local areas in England over the next ten years, through a £200m endowment from the Big Lottery Fund.

Since the announcement in July 2011, CDF has started to work with the first 50 Big Local areas, which all received 'round 1' funding in response to applications from community organisations or groups of community organisations on behalf of their 'local area' to the Big Lottery Fund. Those 'local areas' that received 'round 1' funding applied for 'round 2: getting people involved' funding from the Big Local Trust in late summer 2011. This funding can be used to engage their local area with the Big Local project, including developing 'local partnerships' of eight or more local organisations to deliver the Big Local project to their local area, and to run Big Local projects. There has been no further information as yet on 'round 3' or other funding made available to those 50 Big Local areas, nor is there any information on when applications will open for any new 'local areas'.

To find out the location of the Big Local areas, or for more information about the programme, visit www.cdf.org.uk/web/guest/biglocal. The latest Big Local newsletter (December 2011) is available for download from here: www.cdf.msgfocus.com/cdf/02122011.htm. A Big Local Partnership Guide, press releases and other documents are also available on the site.

Community First Fund and Community Organisers

The Community First fund provides small grants to community groups and local social action projects.

The fund is divided into two strands: £30 million is being used to provide small grants and the remaining £50 million is being used to match private donations invested in community endowment funds which will pay out money for small grants well into the future. The Community Development Foundation (CDF) is working with several organisations to deliver the Community First programme, including supermarket chain Asda.

A Community First website has been opened which invites people to sign their community up to receive support. Funding will be handed out by panels of local people. Further information can be found online at www.cdf.org.uk/web/guest/community-first.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

Sacred Practices of Everyday Life – Call for papers

The Religion and Society Programme of the Arts and Humanities Research Council and the Economic and Social Research Council is holding a conference in May on 'Sacred Practices of Everyday Life' at Edinburgh University.

The purpose of the conference is to explore new evidence, analysis and theory concerning the sacred practices of everyday life, such as roadside shrines, divorce parties, prayer cairns, naming ceremonies and healing rituals. The conference will showcase thirty or so projects funded by the Religion and Society Programme which have new findings in this area and papers are also being sought. There is a particular focus on the varied ways in which the life course is being re-enchanted in the 21st century, but papers looking at other eras and/or larger forms of sacred practice (such as civic rituals) are also welcome. The scope is global.

The conference streams are: Formation and Cultivation; Life-styles and (After)Death-styles; Sex, Life and Love; Gods, Spirits and the Sacred; Fate, Destiny and the Future; Identity, Solidarity and Conflict; Suffering, Healing and Well Being; and Objects, Language, Rituals and Consumption.

Individual paper proposals (max. 200 words) should be submitted to Peta Ainsworth, p.ainsworth@lancaster.ac.uk, by 29 February.

Further details on the conference can be found online at www.religionandsociety.org.uk/events/programme\_events/show/sacred\_practices\_of\_everyday\_life.

Inter Faith Week 2012

In this Diamond Jubilee year, there will be a special extended Inter Faith Week in England, Northern Ireland and Wales running from 18 - 27 November. This reflects the fact that there will be additional activities taking place, including some linked both to the Week and to the A Year of Service programme which is described above. The opening Sunday of the Week will again coincide with Mitzvah Day. Further information can be found at www.interfaithweek.org

Scottish Inter Faith Week has to date, since its establishment in 2004, fallen at the turn of November and December because it is linked to St Andrew's Day which is on 30 November. This year the Week will begin on Sunday 25 November. Further information is available from the Scottish Inter Faith Council www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org

A Year of Service

All faith communities have within their ethical teachings the values of compassion, care and social justice. One of the ways that their members put these values into everyday practice is through volunteering. In 2012 a special project called 'A Year of Service' will be taking place. In each month, for A Year of Service, faith communities will be hosting a day or days of volunteering and inviting people of other faiths and non-religious beliefs to join in. There will also be workplace volunteering opportunities. The Year provides an opportunity for marking in a practical way the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty The Queen – of whose reign service has been a key theme.

Monday 28 February will see the formal launch of the project in London at the first faith community volunteering day of A Year of Service, led by the Baha'i community.

Further information about the project and how to get involved can be found at www.ayearofservice.org.uk

Government's integration approach

The Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) published on 21 February its paper Creating the Conditions for Integration. The document can be found at <http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications /communities/integration> and the press release announcing it at <http://www.communities.gov.uk/news/newsroom/2092169>

The approach is described by the Government as a new 'localist' one to achieving a more integrated society, focusing on creating the conditions for everyone to live and work successfully alongside each other. Its primary focus is England although key issues are noted as having a wider relevance across the UK.

Core values and shared experience and commitments are seen in the paper as of key importance to integration. ‘British values’, which the document describes as “democracy, the rule of law, equality of opportunity and treatment, freedom of speech and the rights of all men and women to live free from persecution” and tolerance, are highlighted.

The approach sets out five key factors which the Government sees as contributing to integration: 1) Common ground - a clear sense of shared aspirations and values, which celebrates what we have in common rather than our differences; 2) Responsibility - a strong sense of our mutual commitments and obligations, which brings personal and social responsibility; 3) Social mobility - people able to realise their potential to get on in life; 4) Participation and empowerment - people of all backgrounds have the opportunities to take part, be heard and take decisions in local and national life; and 5) Tackling intolerance and extremism - a robust response to threats, whether discrimination, extremism or disorder, that deepen division and increase tensions.

The document contains material about a wide range of issues such as education, programmes to engage young people, equality, social mobility, hate crime, community organisers, entrepreneurship, migration, immigration, and English language speaking skills. Faith has a very significant place in the approach. Faith communities are described as being “involved in a huge range of activities and projects to improve communities” and a number of projects that involve faith communities that are receiving support as part of this approach are mentioned. The document says “We will encourage links and dialogue between people from different faith and cultural backgrounds, defend the valuable role of faith in public life, and will tackle cultural isolation and segregation”.

Lambeth Palace multi-faith reception marking Diamond Jubilee

On Wednesday 15 February, Her Majesty The Queen and Prince Phillip attended a multi-faith reception at Lambeth Palace, hosted by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr Rowan Williams, at the outset of the Diamond Jubilee Year. They met with Christian representatives as well as those of the Baha’i, Buddhist, Hindu, Jain, Jewish, Muslim, Sikh and Zoroastrian faiths. Each group of faith leaders was gathered around a sacred object of particular significance to the faith or practice of their community, or their life in the UK and The Queen and Prince Phillip spoke to each group about their particular faith and significant object. More information on the objects presented at the reception is available here:

<http://www.archbishopofcanterbury.org/articles.php/2355/sacred-objects-displayed-by-faith-communities-to-hm-the-queen>

Speaking at the reception the Queen paid tribute to the value of faith communities in the UK, and to the role of the established Church of England in creating an environment where all faith communities can live freely together and its duty to protect the free practice of all faiths in this country. The full text of the speech, and that of the Archbishop of Canterbury are available here:

Official Ministerial visit to the Holy See

On 14 February an official delegation of ministers visited the Vatican to mark the 30th anniversary of the re-establishment of full diplomatic relations between the United Kingdom and Holy See in 1982. The delegation included Baroness Warsi, Minister without Portfolio and Co-Chair of the Conservative Party; Mr Jeremy Hunt, Secretary of State for Culture, the Olympics, Media and Sport; Mr Michael Moore, Secretary of State for Scotland; and Mr Alan Duncan, Minister for International Development.

Baroness Warsi gave a speech to the students of the Pontifical Ecclesiastical Academy on the role of faith in modern society in which she emphasised the beneficial role of faith communities in public life; the importance of dialogue between faiths; the need to recognise Europe's Christian heritage; and the dangers of marginalising faith in the name of secularism. ## Prayers at council meetings

On 10 February the High Court ruled on the case of the National Secular Society and Mr Clive Bone v Bideford Town Council on the matter of whether Bideford council had the authority to include prayers as a formal part of full council meetings. The National Secular Society and Mr Clive Bone argued that the practice was discriminatory under the Equalities Act 2010, contravened Mr Bone's rights under Sections 9 and 14 of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR) and contravened Section 111 of the Local Government Act 1972.

Mr Justice Ouseley ruled that the practice of including prayers on the formal agenda was not discriminatory towards Mr Bone under the Equalities Act 2010 nor did it contravene Articles 9 and 14 of the ECHR. He ruled that, under Section 111 of the Local Government Act 1972, the Council did not have the authority to summon any councillors to a meeting at which prayers were part of the formal agenda. He also made it clear that the saying of prayers in a local authority chamber before a meeting of such a body was lawful, provided councillors were not formally summoned to attend. The full ruling is available for download here:

Responding to this ruling, Mr Eric Pickles, Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government announced on 18 February that he had 'fast tracked' a commencement order for the Localism Act 2011 to give local councils a 'power of general competence' that would allow them to hold prayers as part of the formal agenda of meetings. In his statement the Secretary of State said that the high court ruling reflected the fact that "for too long, faith has been marginalised in public life." ## Charities Act (2006) Review – a consultation

The Government has commissioned a review of the Charities Act 2006. This is being undertaken by Lord Hodgson and has now entered its 'consultation phase' which involves:

- a survey for members of the public
- a survey for charities
- a 'call for evidence' on a variety of topics, listed here: <https://update.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/resource-library/charities-act-review-calls-evidence> (further topics of 'calls for evidence' will be published in the coming weeks and are also listed on the webpage above)

The deadline for responses to the public survey, charities survey, and 'calls for evidence' is 16 April.

A series of events are being held across England and Wales for charities to discuss some of the issues in more detail with Lord Hodgson. Places are still available for events in Taunton (5 March); Newcastle (7 March); Cardiff (15 March); and London (29 March). All events run from 4 pm – 6pm.

All Party Parliamentary Group on RE

The Religious Education Council for England and Wales (REC) announced on 17 February that a new All Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) is being set up which will 'focus on safeguarding the provision of RE in our schools and explore how the subject can continue to deliver a valuable dimension to the education of all children and young people.' The REC will be providing the secretariat of the APPG.

The APPG, which will be chaired by Mr Stephen Lloyd, MP for Eastbourne and Willingdon, will draw on earlier cross-party support for the inclusion of RE in the English Baccalaureate.

Religious donors give more than twice as much as those of no faith

People who are religious donate over twice as much money to charity as those without a faith, according to figures from the Charities Aid Foundation (CAF)'s 2011 Market Tracker Report. The average amount given to charity by those who are religious was £576 over the previous twelve months, compared to the £235 contributed by those of no faith. Only 31% of religious donors had given money to a religious activity. The split across the other causes tended to be more in line with the rest of the population, 68% donating to medical charities and 48% to overseas aid, which were also the two most popular choices for those of no faith. CAF Director of Research Richard Harrison commented: "These results not only show that those of faith are more generous to charity in general, but that their giving is not uniquely focused on their own religious activities. If anything, people of faith broadly give in line with the rest of the general public, to a variety of different appeals. The culture of giving within religious circles that is demonstrated by our survey is an admirable one, and a phenomenon that clearly enriches our society".

PROJECTS

Faith Matters 'Measuring anti-Muslim attacks' programme: Tell MAMA

Faith Matters has launched a programme called 'Tell MAMA'. The programme will look to provide support to victims of anti-Muslim attacks in England. It will also collate, map and work with support partners to analyse areas where anti-Muslim attacks are clustered and will work with Victim Support and Neighbourhood Watch UK through which victims of these attacks can be further supported. Funding towards the project is being provided by the Department for Communities and Local Government. ## FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, North Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, due to end in March 2013, which at present operates on a rolling basis with no deadlines. Grant amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects>

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Big Local Trust

A Community Development Foundation (CDF) led consortium is managing the new independent Big Local Trust. The Trust and programme will provide support and at least £1m funding per area to 150 local areas in England over the next ten years, through a £200m endowment from the Big Lottery Fund.

Since the announcement in July 2011, CDF has started to work with the first fifty Big Local areas, which all received 'round 1' funding in response to applications from community organisations or groups of community organisations on behalf of their 'local area' to the Big Lottery Fund. Those 'local areas' that received 'round 1' funding applied for 'round 2: getting people involved' funding from the Big Local Trust in late summer 2011. This funding can be used to engage their local area with the Big Local project, including developing 'local partnerships' of eight or more local organisations to deliver the Big Local project to their local area, and to run Big Local projects. There has been no further information as yet on 'round 3' or other funding made available to those 50 Big Local areas, nor is there any information on when applications will open for any new 'local areas'.

To find out the location of the Big Local areas, or for more information about the programme, visit www.cdf.org.uk/web/quest/biglocal. The latest Big Local newsletter (December 2011) is available for download from here: www.cdf.msgfocus.com/cdf/02122011.htm. A Big Local Partnership Guide, press releases and other documents are also available on the site.

Community First Fund and Community Organisers

The Community First fund provides small grants to community groups and local social action projects. The fund is divided into two strands: £30 million is being used to provide small grants and the remaining £50 million is being used to match private donations invested in community endowment funds which will pay out money for small grants well into the future. The Community Development Foundation (CDF) is working with several organisations, including supermarket chain Asda, to deliver the Community First programme,

A Community First website has been opened which invites people to sign their community up to receive support. Funding will be distributed by panels of local people. ## RESOURCES AND TRAINING

Cambridge Inter-faith Programme Summer School

In July the Cambridge Inter-faith Programme will bring students from Islamic, Christian and Jewish backgrounds to Cambridge University's Madingley Hall, for a three-week programme of immersion in inter faith education and encounter. Students will benefit from a series of lectures delivered by specialist academics and peacemakers from around the world. They will be given training in the practice of inter faith Scriptural Reasoning and be facilitated through a process of teaching one another about aspects of their traditions. The Summer School also includes visits to religious communities around the UK. Most importantly, participants benefit from opportunities to get to know and learn from their fellow participants, who come from a wide variety of countries; relationships which last well beyond the Summer School itself.

The deadline for applications has been extended to 5pm on Monday 27 February. For more information, visit: www.interfaith.cam.ac.uk/en/education/summerschool and watch the Summer School film at www.youtube.com/watch?v=x8NFP0biRQs.

NUS Faith and Sexual Orientation Dialogue project within FE Colleges

The National Union of Students (NUS) has recently launched a six-month pilot initiative to support staff and students to tackle real and perceived tensions between lesbian, gay and bisexual equalities and religion and belief equalities in FE colleges. The overall aims of the project are:

- to tackle tensions (real and imagined) between lesbian, gay and bisexual equalities and religion and belief equalities in the learner community
- to promote inclusive and cohesive communities – with a particular focus on inter faith relations and the interaction between students in relation to sexuality and religion/belief
- to improve the experiences of students in FE – in particular LG B students and students with a religion or belief.

A toolkit of materials will be produced and made available in July in print and online at www.njusconnect.org.uk for public use and ILearnings from the project will be disseminated across the sector at conferences and events.

NUS welcomes contact from individuals and organisations who feel they could offer insight into how this pilot project can be best developed and would like to share learning. They are particularly interested in examples of activities or initiatives colleges or other institutions have developed to encourage discussion and education about these issues. For further information or to share any learning, please contact lucy.hawthorne@nus.org.uk.

Sacred Practices of Everyday Life – Call for papers

The Religion and Society Programme of the Arts and Humanities Research Council and the Economic and Social Research Council is holding a conference in May on 'Sacred Practices of Everyday Life' at Edinburgh University. The purpose of the conference is to explore new evidence, analysis and theory concerning the sacred practices of everyday life. The conference will showcase thirty or so projects funded by the Religion and Society Programme which have new findings in this area and papers are also being sought. There is a particular focus on the varied ways in which the life course is being re-enanted in the 21st century, but papers looking at other eras and/or larger forms of sacred practice (such as civic rituals) are also welcome. The scope is global. The conference streams are: Formation and Cultivation; Life-styles and (After)Death-styles; Sex, Life and Love; Gods, Spirits and the Sacred; Fate, Destiny and the Future; Identity, Solidarity and Conflict; Suffering, Healing and Well Being; and Objects, Language, Rituals and Consumption.

Individual paper proposals (max. 200 words) should be submitted to Peta Ainsworth at p.ainsworth@lancaster.ac.uk by 29 February.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

The Big Jubilee Lunch 3 June

The Big Lunch next year takes place on Sunday 3 June and will form part of the official Diamond Jubilee celebrations as The Big Jubilee Lunch.

The Big Lunch aims to get as many people as possible across the UK to have a community lunch once a year. The project was launched in 2009 and since its inception thousands of lunches have taken place across a wide range of communities. Nearly 2 million people took part in The Big Lunch in 2011 and faith communities played a significant role.

For help and information with planning a faith based or inter faith Big Jubilee Lunch, you can email info@thebiglunch.com and request a free Big Jubilee Lunch Starter Pack, containing event guides, publicity materials and recipe ideas available from early 2012. You can find out more about The Big Jubilee Lunch and sign up to the newsletter at www.thebiglunch.com or call 0845 850 8181 to speak to one of The Big Lunch team.

Inter Faith Week 2012

As noted in the February issue of the e-bulletin, in this Diamond Jubilee year there will be a special extended Inter Faith Week in England, Northern Ireland and Wales running from 18 - 27 November. This reflects the fact that there will be additional activities taking place, including some linked both to the Week and to the 'A Year of Service' programme. The opening Sunday of the Week will again coincide with Mitzvah Day.

Further information and resources will be added in the coming weeks to the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org.

Scottish Inter Faith Week runs from 25 November until 1 December. Further information is available from the Scottish Inter Faith Council at www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org.

IFN Faith Communities Forum

IFN's Faith Communities Forum, which brings together for discussion the national faith community bodies in membership of IFN, met on 6 March. It discussed the 'A Year of Service' programme, the Government's recently published document, 'Creating the Conditions for Integration', faith communities and active citizenship; and a range of other public policy issues.

A Year of Service

As noted in the January and February issues of the IFN e-bulletin, a special programme called 'A Year of Service' is taking place during 2012. All faith communities have within their ethical teachings the values of compassion, care and social justice. One of the ways that their members put these values into everyday practice is through volunteering. In each month, for A Year of Service, faith communities will be hosting a day or days of volunteering and inviting people of other faiths and non-religious beliefs to join in. There will also be workplace volunteering opportunities. The Year provides an opportunity for marking in a practical way the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty The Queen – of whose reign service has been a key theme.

The formal launch of the project took place on 28 February at the first faith community volunteering day of A Year of Service, led by the Baha'i community. Mr Eric Pickles, Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, attended the event and a copy of the press release issued can be found at www.communities.gov.uk/news/newsroom/2096316. Several events to mark No

Ruz, led by the Zoroastrian community, took place last week, including visits to a senior citizens home.

A calendar of volunteering days taking place throughout A Year of Service based upon information provided by faith communities for the website can be found at <http://ayearofservice.org.uk/days-of-volunteering>.

Further information about the project and how to get involved can be found at www.ayearofservice.org.uk.

Riots, Communities and Victims Panel – final report

On 28 March the Riots, Communities and Victims Panel published its final report. A copy of the full report and an executive summary can be downloaded from <http://riotspanel.independent.gov.uk/>.

The report makes wide-ranging public policy recommendations which the cross party Panel argues must be enacted together, to ensure the risk of future riots seen on the scale of last August can be significantly reduced. The findings are based on research in communities, and consultation with third sector organisations and social enterprises, local authorities, and private sector employers. According to the Panel's press release "Many people the Panel spoke to shared a concern about a lack of opportunities for young people, poor parenting, a lack of shared values and sense of responsibility among some, an inability of the justice system to prevent re-offending, concerns about brands and materialism and issues relating to confidence in the police."

Inter faith response to murders in Toulouse

The murder of a rabbi and three children in Toulouse by Mohamed Merah on 19 March led to inter faith statements at European level and inter faith actions in Toulouse and Paris to remember the dead and underline solidarity between people of different faiths in France. The European Council of Religious Leaders and a number of organisations in the UK put out statements deploring the attacks or offered condolences to the Jewish community <http://disarmeurope.wordpress.com/>

The Government's 'Equal civil marriage' consultation

The Government published Equal civil marriage: a consultation on 15 March. The key points in the Government's proposals on which it is consulting are:

- It is considering how best to enable same-sex couples to have a civil marriage;
- The consultation is about civil marriage only, ie only civil marriage ceremonies in a register office or other approved premises (like a hotel);
- No changes are proposed to religious marriages. These will continue to be legally possible only between a man and a woman;
- The Government is proposing to retain civil partnerships for same-sex couples only;
- Individuals would, for the first time, be able legally to change their gender without having to end their marriage.

The consultation, concerning policy in England and Wales only, will run for twelve weeks ending on 14 June. Responses can be submitted both on an organisational or individual basis. The website for the consultation is www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/about-us/consultations/equal-civil-marriage/ and the consultation document can be downloaded from www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/about-us/consultations/equal-civil-marriage/consultation-document?view=Binary.

Church of England schools

The Church of England published a report on church schools, The Church School of the Future Review, on 23 March. It seeks to clarify the position of the Church of England as a major provider of schools at all levels and to consider ways in which church schools will meet future education needs.

The section of the document that focuses on Religious Education speaks of it being subject to multiple challenges across the school system. The document says that “..exclusion of religious education from the new English Baccalaureate is having a more than symbolic effect on its provision within GCSE options, and thereby on numbers of students taking the full-course GCSE; exclusion of any consideration of religious education from the current revision of the National Curriculum is likely to have a damaging effect on the status of the subject despite the retention of the statutory requirement; the reduction in the number of Post-Graduate Certificate in Education places for religious education will continue to affect the ability to meet the need for specialist teachers; cuts in local authority funding will lead to a complete stop on any previously agreed syllabus revisions, even if a commitment to fund Standing Advisory Councils for Religious Education is retained for the time being, and the local mechanism for producing religious education syllabuses will break down completely; and existing anxieties about standards in religious education will not be addressed, thus leaving children vulnerable to inadequate provision in this most sensitive and important subject, which is vital for their understanding of themselves and the world in which they are growing up.” The document says that the Church of England “..will continue to press for recognition of the damage being done to religious education”.

2011 Census ‘roadshows’ on outputs and web-based dissemination

The Office of National Statistics (ONS) is holding a series of ‘roadshows’ during the course of April to inform stakeholders of progress in delivering the 2011 Census data outputs. The ‘roadshows’ will also cover the planned web-based dissemination tools designed to help users access and understand the Census data. All events will run between 10:00 and 16:00.

The planned list of locations is as follows:

- 17 April – Manchester City Hall, Manchester
- 18 April – St William’s College, York
- 19 April – Royal Statistical Society, London
- 25 April – Thistle Hotel, Birmingham
- 26 April – Office for National Statistics, Newport
- 27 April – Civil Service Club, London

EHRC Human Rights Review 2012

The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) published its Human Rights Review 2012 on 5 March. The review assesses how well Britain is meeting its human rights obligations under the European Convention of Human Rights (ECHR) and the Human Rights Act 1998.

In the review the EHRC sets out the rights and freedoms protected in the ECHR, and assesses to what extent each is enjoyed by people living in Britain today; looks at how British laws, institutions and institutional processes support and protect each right; highlights the ways in which the protection of human rights in Britain has been strengthened in recent years by law, policy and practice; and indicates some key areas where the EHRC believes serious human rights problems could be better tackled and protections ensured.

For more information, visit www.equalityhumanrights.com/human-rights/human-rights-review. The full text of the review can be found online at www.equalityhumanrights.com/human-rights/human-rights-review/the-review.

Government hate crime blueprint

The Government launched on 14 March its new plan to tackle hate crime with the publication of the document Challenge it, Report it, Stop it: The Government's Plan to Tackle Hate Crime.

The plan is for Government to work across departments and with local agencies, voluntary organisations and an independent advisory group to tackle hate crime concerning race, faith, sexual orientation, gender identity, perceived disability or any other issue.

The plan focuses on three key objectives:

- a. Preventing hate crime
- b. Increasing the reporting of hate crimes
- c. Improving the operational response to hate crime.

The document can be downloaded from www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/crime/hate-crime-action-plan/action-plan?view=Binary. ## EHRC cancels further Public Sector Equality Duty statutory codes of practice

On 8 March the EHRC announced the cancellation of any further statutory codes of practice relating to the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED) and the Further and Higher Education (FEHE) sector and schools. It explained that the Government is keen to reduce bureaucracy around the Equality Act 2010, and feels that further statutory guidance may place too much of a burden on public bodies. In this context, the EHRC will be issuing non-statutory codes which it says will still give “a formal, authoritative and comprehensive legal interpretation of the PSED and education sectors of the Act.”

For the full text of the statement, visit www.equalityhumanrights.com/legal-and-policy/equality-act/equality-act-codes-of-practice/ (it is at the bottom of the page).

PROJECTS

Heritage Open Days: An opportunity for places of worship

Heritage Open Days is an annual event during which owners or managers of buildings outside of London can open their doors to the public and share with visitors what makes them special. The project encourages buildings of architectural, social and cultural significance to open their doors. This year's event will take place from Thursday 6 to Sunday 9 September.

The Open Days are a good opportunity for places of worship to open to the public and to tell the wider community about what happens inside and to convey something of the life of their community. It can also be a chance to talk about how they are working with other faith groups for the benefit of their neighbourhoods.

Many places of worship are already open to the public at certain times. The advantage of registering with Heritage Open Days is that the national coordinators provide advice, public liability cover, promotional support and access to a network of local organisers to help places of worship make the most of their participation. Places of worship that register by 1 May will also get the maximum amount of publicity via the Heritage Open Days website, but the final deadline for registering is 1 August.

There are a few criteria that all participating buildings, including places of worship, have to meet. To find out more get in touch with the Heritage Open Days team on 020 7553 9290 or via info@heritageopendays.org.uk. Alternatively, further information and registration material can be accessed at www.heritageopendays.org.uk.

Communitybuilders Fund

The Communitybuilders Fund, previously owned by the Department for Communities and Local Government, is now an endowed fund, owned and administered by the Adventure Capital Fund.

The Fund is designed to support neighbourhood-based, community-led organisations to become more sustainable through a mixture of loans, grants and business support.

The Fund is open to applications from:

- independent and community led organisations which are not controlled by the private or public sector
- organisations operating for the benefit of a defined neighbourhood in England
- locally controlled organisations with local people or local representatives making priority decisions
- multipurpose organisations providing or hosting a number of different activities
- organisations unable to secure funding from a commercial funder or unable to fund the proposal from unrestricted reserves
- organisations with a sensible business and financial plan that is well developed and tested and is achievable
- organisations with proposals for which funds can be drawn down and spent within 6 months of approval, for the long term benefit of the organisations

Application criteria and guidance can be found online at www.communitybuildersfund.org.uk. The application deadline is 13 April.

Community Games Fund

On 19 March, the Cabinet Office announced a £2 million grant from its £20 million Social Action Fund to support a Community Games programme, which will provide support and resources for communities to organise their own local sporting and cultural events in celebration of the London 2012 Olympic Games. The events can be anything from a triathlon or a sponsored walk to a live concert, and will reflect the interests and needs of the local community.

Community Games will be delivered by County Sports Partnership Network (CSPN) and the YMCA. The programme has been running in the West Midlands since 2010, where over 200 Community Games have already taken place, and the aim is now, with this new funding, to bring Community Games to people all over England.

For further information, visit <http://www.cspnetwork.org>, and for information on the kind of projects which have so far been run in the West Midlands, visit www.communitygames.org.uk.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, North Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, due to end in March 2013, which at present operates on a rolling basis with no deadlines. Grant amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects>

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Big Local Trust

A consortium led by the Community Development Foundation (CDF) is managing the new independent 'Big Local Trust'. The Trust programme will provide support and at least £1m funding per area to 150 local areas in England over the next ten years, through a £200m endowment from the Big Lottery Fund.

On 29 February it was announced that a further fifty areas had now received access to their funding. They will join the fifty organisations who gained access to this initial funding in 2011 which are now in the process of setting up their 'local trusts' (as part of round 2 of the programme) and putting together their ten year 'big local plan' which will detail how they plan to use the funds in their local area. There is currently no information about when applications for and selection of the next 50 areas is due to begin.

To find out the location of the current Big Local areas, or for more information about the programme, including how to get involved, visit www.localtrust.org.uk.

Community First Fund and Community Organisers

The Community First fund provides small grants to community groups and local social action projects. The fund is divided into two strands: £30 million is being used to provide small grants and the remaining £50 million is being used to match private donations invested in community endowment funds which will pay out money for small grants well into the future. The Community Development Foundation (CDF) is working with several organisations, including supermarket chain Asda, to deliver the Community First programme,

A Community First website has been opened which invites people to sign their community up to receive support. Funding will be distributed by panels of local people. ## RESOURCES AND TRAINING

Conflict coaching and group facilitation at St Ethelburga's

St Ethelburga's is launching a new conflict coaching service to provide one to one support for anyone experiencing conflict who wants to be able to respond in a more skilful way. St Ethelburga's has been developing and testing its own structured approach to this tool. The Centre is offering conflict coaching for the workplace (<http://stethelburgas.org/conflict-coaching-workplace>); conflict coaching training (<http://stethelburgas.org/training-conflict-coaching>); and personal conflict coaching (<http://stethelburgas.org/personal-conflict-coaching>).

St Ethelburga's has also created a free downloadable resource on the principles of group facilitation, which was produced in collaboration with Corrymeela in Northern Ireland and the Interreligious Coordinating Council in Israel. A copy of the document can be found online at

Places are also still available on the Centre's week-long dialogue and facilitation skills week that was listed in the February issue of the IFN e-bulletin. The course will run from Monday 16 to Friday 20 April. For bookings and more information, email Angela West at angela@stethelburgas.org or phone 020 7496 1610 or visit <http://stethelburgas.org/civicrm/event/info?id=385&reset=1>.

Faith, Diversity and Youth Work Training Day

The Feast is running a training day for youth workers on Tuesday 17 April. The training is aimed at both Christian and Muslim youth workers who would like to think through and learn how to run events that bring together young people from the two faiths.

Presenters include Dr Andrew Smith, Founder and Chair of Trustees for The Feast and Director of Interfaith Relations for the Diocese of Birmingham, and Natasha Griffith, Jenni Creasy and Nahim Khan, The Feast's youth workers. The day will conclude with a youth forum to hear from the young people themselves.

The day runs from 10am until 5pm at Riverside House, 21 Alcester Road, Birmingham B13 8AR. Tickets cost £25 pre-pay or £35 on the day (some concessions available) and lunch is included.

For further information, contact Tim Fawssett, The Feast Project Manager, at tim@thefeast.org.uk or on 07540 925290.

Art 4 Action competition

Faiths Act Birmingham is inviting entries to an art competition and exhibition, Art 4 Action, to raise awareness and funds for malaria prevention.

Competition entries should be pieces inspired by an Art 4 Action Presentation or Workshop and should be based on one or all of these themes:

- Faith communities working together 'force 4 good'
- Malaria
- Health as a human right/Injustice of poverty

Age categories for the competition are: 3 – 5; 6 – 8; 8 – 11; 12 – 15; 16 – 18; and 18+/Independent Artist. (Group entries are accepted if all members of the group are from the same age category.)

One of the judges, Iminder Singh of Iminder Arts, has produced a piece entitled 'Saving Souls' inspired by his Sikh faith, which will be auctioned to raise funds for multi faith initiatives in Sierra Leone, to help save lives from Malaria (<http://iminderarts.com/saving-souls/>).

Winning entries will be exhibited at the Midlands Art Centre at the Art 4 Action Exhibition around World Malaria Day from Monday 23 April to Saturday 28 April. The exhibition will feature a variety of events and opportunities for people of all faiths, cultures, and backgrounds across Birmingham and further afield. It will be free and open to all members of the general public.

Official Faiths Act Birmingham Entry Forms are available from the assigned Art 4 Action teacher or leader at your organisation. For independent entries, forms will be available at Art 4 Action workshops or by email, for more information please contact i.kaur@springfieldproject.org.uk.

The entry deadline has been extended to Monday 2 April.

Hosts wanted for 'Multi-faith Spaces' exhibition

Multi-Faith Spaces: Symptoms and Agents of Religious and Social Change is a research project based at the University of Manchester that has been developed to highlight the material, spatial and architectural dimensions of faith related practice, funded by the AHRC/ESRC Religion & Society Research Programme. The project examined over two hundred multi faith spaces (MFS), mainly in the UK but also in 10 other countries. Data collected included 14,000 photographs and 200 interviews which have been developed into an exhibition on MFS.

The MFS project team are looking for individuals or organisations who would like to host this exhibition. The exhibition has 32 key themes that emerged from the study, and incorporates over 300 photographs. It is designed to appeal to those with little prior knowledge of MFS and those with an interest in issues such as design, diversity and faith.

The full exhibition consists of a decagon with eight double sided panels, held by a self-supporting wooden frame. It includes an entrance, exit and stand-alone threshold. Exhibitors can personalise the exhibition, utilising their own materials and faith specific objects within the inside of the decagon.

A basic set-up could see the separate panels hung or displayed against a vertical surface.

For more information about the research of the MFS project and to enquire about booking the exhibition contact Dr Chris Hewson at mfs@manchester.ac.uk or visit www.manchester.ac.uk/mfs.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

The Big Jubilee Lunch 3 June

The Big Lunch this year takes place on Sunday 3 June and will form part of the official Diamond Jubilee weekend celebrations as The Big Jubilee Lunch: <http://www.thebiglunch.com/join-in/jubilee-2012.php> The Inter Faith Network is a Key Supporting Organisation for the Big Lunch.

The Big Lunch aims to get as many people as possible across the UK to have a community lunch once a year. Since the project was launched in 2009 thousands of lunches have taken place across a wide range of communities. The Big Lunch is hoping that faith communities and inter faith groups will again play a significant role this year – hosting and participating in lunches.

For those wishing to take part, help and information with planning a faith based or inter faith Big Jubilee Lunch, can be obtained by emailing info@thebiglunch.com and requesting a free Big Jubilee Lunch Starter Pack, containing event guides, publicity materials and recipe ideas.

Further information about The Big Jubilee Lunch and how to sign up to their newsletter can be found at www.thebiglunch.com. It is also possible to call 0845 850 8181 to speak to one of The Big Lunch team.

European Days of Jewish Culture and Heritage 2 – 9 September

The theme of this year's EDJCH, organised by B'nai B'rith UK, will be 'The Joys of Jewish Humour', which can be expressed in many ways and across a myriad of platforms, from comic books, cartoons, jokes and comedians to cinema, theatre and comedy writers. The week will also coincide with the National Heritage Open Days, which runs from 6 to 9 September (See the Projects section above).

Organisations wishing to register and have their events appear in the publicity leaflets need to complete a registration form, obtainable from bbukjewishheritage@gmail.com. Completed forms need to be returned by 30 March. For further information, visit www.jewishheritage.org.

B'nai B'rith also welcome synagogues holding events marking the Olympics, and particularly the Paralympics, which fall during Heritage Days. Sir Ludwig Guttmann, who founded the Paralympics, was a Jewish refugee neurologist who pioneered the rehabilitation of patients with spinal injuries at Stoke Mandeville Hospital.

Inter Faith Network 25th anniversary

Since 1987, the Inter Faith Network for the UK has worked with its member bodies and others to build bridges of inter faith understanding and cooperation and to contribute to the continued development of a shared society, rooted in values held in common and with an appreciation of the positive aspects of diversity which strengthen this.

2012 marks the 25th anniversary of the Inter Faith Network. Its work of helping to foster inter faith understanding, respect and cooperation continues to be of vital importance – yet ever harder to resource in a climate of economic austerity.

In this context, a 25th anniversary appeal has been launched to enable IFN to secure a sound operational footing for the future and to help its work to continue. Anyone who appreciates the importance of IFN's work and would like to make a gift to support its continuing work can do so online at: www.interfaith.org.uk/donations.htm or by sending a cheque to: The Inter Faith Network for the UK, Donations, Freepost, RSXC-XCGG-AJLL, 2 Grosvenor Gardens, LONDON, SW1W 0DH.

Inter Faith Week

Inter Faith Week 2011

The report on Inter Faith Week 2011 has been published by IFN. It draws on a survey conducted by the IFN office and on information and images supplied by event holders. It can be downloaded from the Inter Faith Week website at: www.interfaithweek.org

Inter Faith Week 2012

As noted in earlier issues of the e-bulletin, in this Diamond Jubilee year there will be a special extended Inter Faith Week in England, Northern Ireland and Wales running from 18 - 27 November. This reflects the fact that there will be additional activities taking place, including some linked both to the Week and to the 'A Year of Service' programme. The opening Sunday of the Week will again coincide with Mitzvah Day.

Further information and resources will be added in the coming weeks to the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org.

Scottish Inter Faith Week runs from 25 November until 1 December. Further information is available from the Scottish Inter Faith Council at www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org.

A Year of Service

As noted in earlier issues of the IFN e-bulletin, a special programme called 'A Year of Service' is taking place during 2012. All faith communities have within their ethical teachings the values of compassion, care and social justice. One of the ways that their members put these values into everyday practice is through volunteering. In each month, for A Year of Service, faith communities will be hosting a day or days of volunteering and inviting people of other faiths and non-religious beliefs to join in. There will also be workplace volunteering opportunities. The Year provides an opportunity for marking in a practical way the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty The Queen – of whose reign service has been a key theme.

A calendar of volunteering days taking place throughout A Year of Service based upon information provided by faith communities for the website can be found at <http://ayearofservice.org.uk/days-of-volunteering>. The most recent events to have taken place were those arranged during April by the Jain community, linked to Mahavira Jayanti. The theme was 'visiting the sick' and visits took place to Great Ormond Street hospital, Leicester Royal Infirmary and a number of other locations. Further information can be found at <http://ayearofservice.org.uk/days-of-volunteering/jain/jain-resources>. Further information about the project and how to get involved can be found at www.ayearofservice.org.uk.

Release plans for 2011 Census statistics

The Office of National Statistics (ONS) has published the dates on which it will release the statistics from the 2011 Census. Due to the breadth of the statistics there will be four releases from July 2012 to October 2013:

- the first release in July 2012 will consist of age, sex, and occupied household estimates for England and Wales;
- the second release over the period of November 2012 to February 2013 will consist of 'key and quick statistics'
- the third release over the period of March 2013 – June 2013 will consist of 'local characteristics;' and
- the fourth release from July to October 2013 will consist of 'detailed characteristics, detailed themes and armed forces information.

It is the second release of statistics that will include those on such subjects as ethnic group and religion.

For more information, visit <http://www.ons.gov.uk/ons/guide-method/census/2011/census-data/2011-census-prospectus/release-plans-for-2011-census-statistics/index.html>.

Faith representation in a reformed House of Lords

The Joint Select Committee of both Houses of Parliament that has been scrutinising the Government's draft White Paper and draft House of Lords Reform Bill published its recommendations in the form of a report on 26 March.

The report recommended a reformed House of Lords consisting of 80% elected and 20% appointed peers numbering 450 in total; and that, on this basis, it should contain "up to 12 Lords Spiritual" who would not lose their ex officio basis for sitting. This number would include the five 'named Archbishops and Bishops' (the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, and Bishops of Durham, London and Winchester) and seven other diocesan bishops. However, the report recommended that if the Government were to opt for a fully elected chamber the Lords Spiritual should lose their seats in the upper chamber.

Regarding faith representation more generally, the report noted that there were a number of submissions to the Joint Select Committee which called for greater faith representation in the upper house. The report recommended that faith be part of the 'diversity criterion' that the Appointments Commission should take into account when appointing peers.

This information is covered in more detail in section 17 of the report, which is available to view online at www.publications.parliament.uk/pa/jt201012/jtselect/jtdraftref/284/28402.htm.

A minority of the Joint Select Committee, while signing the overall report, offered an 'alternative' report highlighting their concerns that the Government's proposed legislation would cause an "unbridgeable gap between the election of the House of Lords and the primacy of the House of Commons." This report urged that the Government reconsider its draft legislation on House of Lords reform and suggested the convening of a 'Constitutional Convention' composed of members of both Houses, representatives of civil society groups and others, including faith communities, to re-examine the issue.

The 'alternative' report can be viewed online at www.houseoflordsreform.com/wordpress/wp-content/uploads/2012/04/FinalPrint19042012-3.pdf.

The EHRC Strategic Plan

The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) published its strategic plan for 2012-2015 on 27 March. The plan, the result of its strategic review carried out in late 2011 and early 2012, outlines its proposed work plan for the 2012-2015 period. In this, three strategic priorities are outlined:

1. to promote fairness and equality of opportunity in Britain's future economy;
2. to promote fair access to public services, and autonomy and dignity in service delivery; and
3. to promote dignity and respect, and safeguard people's safety.

The plan does not make any mention of the EHRC's 'good relations' remit and makes only one explicit mention of religion or belief when committing to resolve issues between different equality strands.

The plan can be downloaded from:

New RE teaching framework

It was announced on 30 March that Nick Gibb MP, Minister of State for Schools, has offered his support to help shape a revised RE teaching framework that would promote academic rigour and put the teaching of RE in line, in terms of design and style, with a National Curriculum. The Minister has asked the Religious Education Council for England and Wales (REC) to investigate best practice in RE and to compile a report, taking into account the views of teachers, academics and faith and belief organisations, based on the results of this investigation. John Keast, Chairman of the REC, responded to the announcement saying: "We're pleased the minister has asked the REC to work collaboratively on how RE can change in line with a refreshed national curriculum." The Minister was subsequently the invited speaker at the AGM of the REC in London on 3 May.

The REC press release can be read online at

PROJECTS

Scriptural Reasoning online – a new opportunity from Cambridge Inter-faith Programme

Scriptural Reasoning is a practice in which Jews, Christians and Muslims gather in small groups to read their sacred scriptures together, often around a common theme. The practice is one fostered by the Cambridge Inter-faith Programme (CIP) to enable participants to engage in in-depth conversations, to discover more about their own scriptures and those of other faiths, and to build lasting friendships. CIP is developing a new website for inter faith conversations and is looking for volunteers to be part of one of its newly formed Scriptural Reasoning online groups. It is free and no previous experience is needed. To find out more about Scriptural Reasoning online, contact CIP at SRonline@interfaith.cam.ac.uk or visit www.interfaith.cam.ac.uk.

Interfaith Explorers

The Maimonides Foundation is launching a new project for young people called 'Interfaith Explorers'. The project includes: a six week programme of cross-curricular activities; faith and cultural resources for pupils to explore online; a national competition providing opportunities for pupils to showcase their learning; prizes for winning schools; free teaching resources for primary schools; and support for pupils to develop skills, attitudes and values that build respect and understanding. The project is funded by the D Khalili Charitable Settlement and produced in partnership with EdisonLearning Ltd. ## Occupy Faith 'Pilgrimage for Justice'

Occupy Faith UK is planning a 'Pilgrimage for Justice'. Described as "a highly visible statement of people's determination to see a better, fairer society" and "a focus for exploring what that kind of society might look like, and the policy changes to propose for getting there", the Pilgrimage will take place over a period of two weeks from 7 June, wending its way from St Paul's Cathedral in London to Canterbury Cathedral.

The route will be set out in a sequence of discrete legs, with potential participants invited to join either for the full walk, or at whichever point they prefer, or simply for a particular leg of the journey. There will be overnight stops in which there will be opportunities for interaction with local communities: "Events held along the route will explore how local communities, faith communities, cooperatives, social organisations and individuals can identify common concerns and work together, reinventing the idea of civil society – the commons – as a potent force for social change".

The Pilgrimage will culminate in a conference organised by the University of Kent entitled 'Building a Just Society.' This will take place over three days, with sessions for discussion being partly fed in through the Pilgrimage, but also with set sessions with academics, experts, social and economic policy makers and possibly politicians.

Further information about the route, the conference, supporting bodies and funding needs can be found at www.occupyfaith.org.uk or from Lead Organiser, Tanya Paton Tel: 07813870783 tanyakd23@gmail.com.

Jain Community 'Love of Faith' Walk

On Saturday 30 June, the Jain Community will be doing a special charity faith walk through central London. The 'Love of Faith' walk will start with prayers at a Jain temple early in the morning and encompass visits to places of worship of other faiths between St John's Wood and Westminster – Judaism, Islam, Buddhism, Hinduism and Christianity – culminating at Westminster Abbey. The initiative is organised by the Jain organisation Shrimad Rajchandra Mission Dharampur (UK), and the founder of the Mission, Pujya Gurudevshri Rakeshbhai, will be leading the Walk. The visits highlight the Jain community's commitment to developing good inter faith relations, reflecting the Jain tenet of anekantvada which points to the many-sidedness of truth with a message of love and harmony and 'Love of Faith'. Funds raised by walkers will go towards children's health and welfare projects in the developing world. This reflects the Jain commitment – shared with other faiths – of helping those in need and to service.

The walk is one of the ways that the Jain community is marking the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty The Queen and has a link to the A Year of Service programme, www.ayearofservice.org.uk The organisers will be pleased to welcome as honoured guests, walkers of other faiths. If you would like details of the walk and to express an interest in taking part, please contact Ashwin Mehta, Shrimad Rajchandra Mission Dharampur (UK) on 07766 852950 or at ashwin933@yahoo.co.uk.

Inter Faith Walks in London

The South London Inter Faith Group (SLIFG) has helped local groups organise inter faith walks for many years as a good way for local people from different religious and other traditions to meet each other, visit local communities and learn from their neighbours.

This year's walks will be part of the Olympic Truce. SLIFG is inviting all the London boroughs to walk on the same weekend – 14 and 15 July. Anyone interested in finding out more is invited to attend a meeting at City Hall at 6.30pm on Tuesday 15 May at 6.30 pm. For further information, email SLIFG at secretary@southlondoninterfaith.org.uk.

Westminster Interfaith will also be holding its annual Multi-Faith Pilgrimage for Peace. This takes place on 26 May in the East End of London (see Diary Dates).

Welsh schools support Gower pilgrimage – Walking for World Peace

A number of Swansea schools are actively supporting a Gower Pilgrimage taking place in July 2012 and entitled "In the Steps of the Saints, Walking for World Peace with the Celtic Saints of Gower." This pilgrimage is in celebration of the 10th anniversary of the award winning multi faith Peace Mala project. The five day journey will follow the sacred sites of Gower including holy wells, springs and churches, starting on 18 July from St Teilo's Church in Bishopston and ending on 22 July at St Rhidian & St Illtyd's Church in Llanrhidian. The pilgrimage hopes to re-ignite awareness of the spiritual power of pilgrimage and knowledge of the Celtic Saints. A small book on the Celtic Saints of Gower, the holy wells and springs and other relevant historical information is being written to accompany the pilgrimage. This will be illustrated by children from local schools who have been researching the Celtic Saints in preparation for the pilgrimage. For further information contact the Revd Alan Bayes at revalanbayes@aol.com.

Jubilee Debt Campaign Multifaith Project

The Jubilee Debt campaign is keen to extend its support to all people of all faith communities. The Multifaith Project is based in Birmingham and a number of successful events have been held there over the last two years, including a conference of Dharmic Faiths in February. Faith Leaders are being invited to sign a letter which calls for an end to unjust lending, cancellation of the unpayable debts of the poorest countries and a reform of taxation as an alternative to excessive borrowing. There is also a national petition.

If your faith community or inter faith organisation would like to know more, pairs of speakers – people of two different faiths together- are available to come and make a presentation, on the theme, ‘Jubilee Debt – a campaign for all faiths.’ For further information, contact Ruth Tetlow on ruthetlow@btinternet.com.

Inter Faith Water Project, Diocese of Wakefield

The Diocese of Wakefield has been involved in a week-long peace mission, called ‘New Horizons’, as part of which they invited imams, priests, lawyers and police officers to Britain from the town of Goyra in Pakistan, which was struggling with inter faith tensions. The project aimed to build relations between the participants and invited them to experience a number of inter faith projects in the UK and learn from some of the issues experienced through these.

At the end of the visit an Inter Faith Water Project was launched, to bring fresh drinking water to Goyra through collaboration between the faith communities. ## FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Communitybuilders Fund

The Communitybuilders Fund, previously owned by the Department for Communities and Local Government, is now an endowed fund, owned and administered by the Adventure Capital Fund. The Fund is designed to support neighbourhood-based, community-led organisations to become more sustainable through a mixture of loans, grants and business support. Applications for Communitybuilders Feasibility Grants closed on 13 April 2012. Successful applicants will be announced in early summer. A new round of grants and loans will be on offer from June. More information on eligibility will be available soon at www.communitybuildersfund.org.uk.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, North Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, due to end in March 2013, which at present operates on a rolling basis with no deadlines. Grant amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects>

DCMS grants for places of worship

The Department for Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS) is providing a one-off grant in 2012-13 for capital works in listed places of worship. The National Churches Trust is administering a share of money in the form of open grants programme for listed places of worship outside the care of the Church of England. Another share is being administered by the Church of England through its dioceses. Places of worship for from all faith communities are eligible for grants, as long as the building was built for worship originally.

Details of the programme are now available on the NCT website at <http://nationalchurchestrust.org/supporting-you/grants/community-grants-new.php>. Grants are available for new capital works (for example, extensions and facilities such as kitchens, toilets and heating) so repairs and maintenance of existing fabric are not eligible.

There are limited funds available and due to the need for all grants under the scheme to have been claimed and paid by 31 March 2013, the programme is open for application from now until 30 August 2012. There will be opportunities for decisions in May, October and December of this year. For further information, contact Alison Pollard, NCT Grants Manager at alisonp@nationalchurchestrust.org or on 020 7776 1043.

All Our Stories, a new Heritage Lottery Fund £1m Programme

The Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) has launched a new £1m small grant programme, entitled 'All Our Stories', designed to help local communities explore their heritage. This will make available grants ranging from £3,000 to £10,000. Projects could range from researching local historic landmarks, learning more about local customs and traditions, delving into archives or investigating the origins of street and place names. HLF has developed All Our Stories in support of the BBC's The Great British Story – A People's History. Presented by Michael Wood, the new series will be broadcast on BBC Two. All Our Stories will also feature in five BBC Learning events at flagship heritage locations, which will be run in tandem with the TV series, to get people involved with their local heritage.

Applications will be accepted from a wide range of organisations including community groups, heritage organisations and charities. To find out more or to apply, visit www.hlf.org.uk/HowToApply/programmes/Pages/Allourstories.aspx. Applications need to be submitted online by 31 July 2012 and applicants will receive a decision by October.

Community Games

The Community Games programme, which received a £2 million social action grant from the Cabinet Office in March, is an initiative to get communities to organise their own local sporting and cultural events, and this year they are in celebration of the London 2012 Olympic Games. The events can be anything from a triathlon or a sponsored walk to a live concert, and will reflect the interests and needs of the local community.

Community Games will be delivered by County Sports Partnership Network (CSPN) and the YMCA, but the scheme also encourages individual schools and other local bodies to organise games. The programme has been running in the West Midlands since 2010, where over 200 Community Games have already taken place, and the aim is now, with this new funding, to bring Community Games to people all over England.

For further information, to see what games are taking place near you visit, or to register interest in organising a games, visit www.communitygames.org.uk

Big Local Trust – Wave 2 'Getting Started' funding

A consortium led by the Community Development Foundation (CDF) is managing the new independent 'Big Local Trust'. The Trust programme will provide support and at least £1m funding per area to 150 local areas in England over the next ten years, through a £200m endowment from the Big Lottery Fund.

In March it was announced that the fifty 'Wave 2' areas that received funding in February would have access to their 'Getting started' funding. This funding, up to £20,000, is for getting initiatives started and form the first steps on the 'Big Local pathway.' Wave 2 areas will be consulting with their local community about the best ways to use this and their initial £1 million funding for the scheme.

For more information on the 'Getting started' funding, visit <http://www.localtrust.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2012/02/Getting-Started-brief-details.pdf>

Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund

The Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund provides small grants to community groups and local social action projects at the ward level. The £30 million Fund is being used to provide small grants for community projects in some of the most deprived areas in the country

The Community Development Foundation (CDF), which is administering the fund, released a list of wards eligible to receive the funding earlier in October 2011. Community First panels of local people will administer the funding in these areas, applications to form Community first panels in are still open and the deadline for registering is 31 May. For more information, <http://www.cdf.org.uk/content/funding-programmes/community-first/neighbourhood-matched-fund>

The Fund has a sister project the 'Endowment Match Challenge' which seeks to match £50 million in Government funding by raising a further £100 million through corporate and individual philanthropic giving. This is being administered by the CDF and delivered via Community Foundation Network. ### Three Faiths Summer School and Understanding Islam

The Ammerdown Centre near Bath is running a Three Faiths Summer School on the subject of 'Pilgrimage' from 3 to 9 July. The course, led by Rabbi Dr Michael Hilton, the Revd Dr Liz Carmichael and Sheikh Bashir Ahmad Dultz, is described as offering an opportunity to mix and relax with people of other faiths, to share and discuss, to learn and grow, to laugh and cry and to worship together. The full residential cost is £485, but there are bursaries available for people on low income which reduce the cost to £323, and a limited number of free places are available for young people and students (maximum age 25).

The Centre is also offering an intensive three day course from 10 to 12 May (and from 15 to 17 November) on the subject of 'Understanding Islam'. The course is intended for anyone who interacts with Muslims in their daily life, whether at a personal or professional level – for example, community workers, clergy, chaplains, teachers, social workers, members of the police force or the NHS. The course content aims to provide understanding of Muslims' world view, beliefs and practices, as well as an overview of the history of relations through the centuries. Course leader is Dr Chris Hewer. Course fees are: Residential, £220 (all inclusive); non-residential, £145.

Faith Shorts 2012

Run by the Tony Blair Faith Foundation, Faith Shorts is a short film competition, open to young film makers aged between 14 to 27, who are invited to submit a short film showing how faith impacts their life and the lives of those around them. Through sharing personal stories and providing insights to their world, Faith Shorts gives young people the chance to correct some of the presumptions that exist around religion and religious views, and show that faith means different things to different people.

Entries will be judged by a high profile panel including Hollywood stars Hugh Jackman and Jet Li; Bollywood star Anil Kapoor; producer Lord Puttnam; the Grand Mufti of Bosnia and British actress Dawn French. The competition is designed to be as accessible as possible and those who don't have access to film making equipment can apply to win a portable video camera, by outlining their thoughts for a film to enter into the main competition. Applications to win a camera need to be received by 7 May and entries to the Faith Shorts competition itself need to be received by 9 July. Winning entries will be premiered at BAFTA in London later this year. ## SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

The Big Jubilee Lunch 3 June

The Big Lunch this year takes place on Sunday 3 June and will form part of the official Diamond Jubilee weekend celebrations as The Big Jubilee Lunch: <http://www.thebiglunch.com/join-in/jubilee-2012.php> The Inter Faith Network is a Key Supporting Organisation for the Big Lunch.

The Big Lunch aims to get as many people as possible across the UK to have a community lunch once a year. Since the project was launched in 2009 thousands of lunches have taken place across a wide range of communities. The Big Lunch is hoping that faith communities and inter faith groups will again play a significant role this year – hosting and participating in lunches. On 5 April, a press release was put out by the Big Lunch about support from faith community leaders: Faith Leaders back The Big Jubilee Lunch

For those wishing to take part, help and information with planning a faith based or inter faith Big Jubilee Lunch, can be obtained by emailing info@thebiglunch.com and requesting a free Big Jubilee Lunch Starter Pack, containing event guides, publicity materials and recipe ideas.

Inter Faith Network 25th anniversary

Since 1987, the Inter Faith Network for the UK has worked with its member bodies and others to build bridges of inter faith understanding and cooperation and to contribute to the continued development of a shared society, rooted in values held in common and with an appreciation of the positive aspects of diversity which strengthen this.

2012 marks the 25th anniversary of the Inter Faith Network. Its work of helping to foster inter faith understanding, respect and cooperation continues to be of vital importance – yet ever harder to resource in a climate of economic austerity. In this context, a 25th anniversary appeal has been launched to enable IFN to secure a sound operational footing for the future and to help its work to continue. Anyone who appreciates the importance of IFN's work and would like to make a gift to support its continuing work can do so online at: www.interfaith.org.uk/donations.htm or by sending a cheque to: The Inter Faith Network for the UK, Donations, Freepost, RSXC-XCGG-AJL, 2 Grosvenor Gardens, LONDON, SW1W 0DH.

Inter Faith Network 2012 National Meeting and AGM

IFN held its National Meeting and AGM in London on 12 July.

The National Meeting, which marked the 25th anniversary of IFN's establishment, was on the theme of 'Working together for inter faith understanding and co-operation: the changing face of inter faith engagement'. The meeting explored how the face of inter faith dialogue and co-operation in the UK has changed across the last 25 years, together with the present challenges and opportunities. There were workshops on Inter faith engagement in a changing world; Resources for inter faith understanding and co-operation; Tackling suspicion, prejudice and harassment; 'Networking' – what is it?; Educating for inter faith understanding; Inclusion in inter faith contexts – aspirations and actualities; and Religious/non-religious dialogue. A report will be available from the IFN office in due course. To indicate an interest in receiving a copy of this, please email: ifnet@interfaith.org.uk.

Both the National Meeting and the AGM discussed issues relating to IFN's membership policies and processes and reached decisions on a number of membership applications. The AGM endorsed plans for a strategic review which will begin in October. One of the topics which it will be examining is IFN's membership policy. Other issues are likely to include: the place of IFN in the wider context of inter faith engagement and UK society; the work of IFN; Inter Faith Week; the sustainability of IFN; short, medium, and long term views on the future work of IFN; and governance, internal processes and operations of IFN.

Faith and the Olympic and Paralympic Games

The Olympic Games is drawing to a close, with the Paralympic Games on the near horizon. Faith has played a pivotal role prior to and during the games as the UK's faith communities welcome competitors and visitors from all over the world.

Ahead of the Games, services were held and prayers said as Olympics torch bearers made the journey from Land's End to London, welcomed in many places by people of different faiths.

The London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games (LOCOG) has worked with faith communities to provide a Multi-faith Centre and Chaplaincy. The Centre is being run by 50 chaplains working on shift around the clock and catering to the needs of 17,000 athletes and officials, up to 200,000 staff and volunteers, and 20,000 members of the press.

Just a few of the many faith and inter faith markings of the Olympics:

The South London Inter Faith Group co-ordinated a series of multi-faith walks within south London boroughs during the weekend of 14 and 15 July. The aim was to celebrate the multi faith character of London and to demonstrate the inter faith collaboration that is taking place, while the world is watching. Mayor of London Boris Johnson said "The Olympic and Paralympic Games offer the most wonderful demonstration of togetherness, and it will be a joy to see athletes and visitors from all over the world, of all faiths and none, coming together in our capital where we are almost unique in being able to offer them all a home from home. That is something to celebrate and for which we can all give thanks, and I can think of no better way to do so than by joining one of these Inter Faith walks in that same spirit of togetherness and sporting endeavour."

On 22 July, the World Congress of Faiths helped St Martin in the Fields London arrange an inter faith service "Go for the Golden Rule" and Churches Together in England produced a special 'Golden Rule' card for the Olympics. In Coventry, Coventry Inter Faith Network worked with faith leaders to arrange "Coventry Welcomes The World", also on 22 July, which started with an opening ceremony with leaders and representatives of faith groups reciting welcome messages from their own faiths and lighting candles as a symbol of unity.

The Olympics are taking place during Ramadan and a project called Iftar 2012 is working with various Olympic authorities to invite Olympic teams and individual Olympians to experience a British Iftar.

Over 40 churches are participating in a series of 'Faith Walks organised by the Diocese of London. Entrance to all the buildings on the routes is free, with illustrated booklets of the walks available at participating churches. For more details and free downloads visit <http://www.london.anglican.org/walking-routes>

Inter faith response to Oak Creek Sikh Temple shootings

The shooting at the Sikh Temple in Oak Creek Wisconsin on 5 August that left six worshippers dead has prompted inter faith response across the US, including vigils to remember the victims of the massacre and to urge greater religious tolerance, and call for gun control.

In the UK a number of faith communities and leaders have released statements of support and condolence to the Sikh community in Oak Creek and globally.

The atrocity appears to have, like the actions in Norway last summer of Anders Behring Breivik, links with ultra extremist views as well as profound misunderstanding of the beliefs and practices of a community.

The Inter Faith Network for the UK works to promote inter faith understanding and cooperation. While IFN's work focuses on the UK and formal statements are rarely issued on overseas events, the Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs of IFN have expressed in a Circular to member bodies their concern about the underlying issues of extremism and prejudice which, sadly, cross all national boundaries and their sympathy to the Sikh community. The incident, like the murders in Toulouse last year – and others in different countries – are, together with examples from time to time of prejudice, hatred and even violence in our own country, a reminder of the need to work tirelessly for greater understanding about and between different faiths.

Inter Faith Week

10 August marks 100 days until the start of national Inter Faith Week 2012 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales.

In this Diamond Jubilee year the Week has been especially extended, running from Sunday 18 November to Tuesday 27 November, reflecting the fact that there are additional activities taking place, including some linked both to the Week and to the 'A Year of Service' programme.

The Inter Faith Week website listings section will open in early September for listing of events happening in England, Northern Ireland and Wales.

The range of events held for every Week to date has been very wide, as has the types of bodies holding them. National faith community organisations and inter faith bodies, local places of worship, inter faith groups, schools and colleges, universities, hospitals, prisons, police forces, NGOs and many others were involved last year. This year it is hoped that even more bodies will take this opportunity to build bridges of understanding and cooperation.

Further information from: ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk, Tel: 020 7730 0410

National celebration of faith-based local action

On Tuesday 27 November, as its contribution to Inter Faith Week, the Department for Communities and Local Government is organising, in consultation with a range of bodies of bodies involved in A Year of Service and Near Neighbours, a celebration of faith and social action and faith-based volunteering. This will take place in central London and further details will be available in due course. If your faith community or inter faith organisation has run a social action event or project during 2012, whether linked to A Year of Service, the Near Neighbours programme or totally separate, and would like to contribute stories or images or be otherwise involved, please contact Harriet Ackunson at DCLG (harriet.ackunson@communities.gsi.gov.uk).

A Year of Service

As noted in earlier issues of the IFN e-bulletin, a special programme called 'A Year of Service' is taking place during 2012. All faith communities have within their ethical teachings the values of compassion, care and social justice. One of the ways that their members put these values into everyday practice is through volunteering.

In each month, for A Year of Service, faith communities will be hosting a day or days of volunteering and inviting people of other faiths and non-religious beliefs to join in. There are also be workplace volunteering opportunities. The Year provides an opportunity for marking in a practical way the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty The Queen – of whose reign service has been a key theme.

A calendar of volunteering days taking place throughout A Year of Service based upon information provided by faith communities for the website can be found at <http://ayearofservice.org.uk/days-of-volunteering>.

The most recent events to have taken place were those arranged in August by the Muslim community linked to Ramadan. The theme was 'A Taste of Faith', encouraging mosques and community centres to open their doors and welcome in guests from their local communities to come and share Iftar with them as well as encouraging people from all parts of the community to give their time to the needy.

The next events to take place will be linked to the marking of the Harvest Festival by the Christian community on 5 October.

If you would like to be involved or to find out more, please visit the Year of Service website, www.ayearofservice.org.uk.

Court of Appeal ruling on adjudicating on tenets of religious belief

The Court of Appeal unanimously ruled on 17 July that the courts should not adjudicate on matters of doctrine and the substance of religious belief. The judgement came in the context of a court case involving a dispute over the governance of two gurdwaras which started in 2008 and hinged on a doctrinal issue. The Court of Appeal upheld the defence's argument that the claim should be struck out since it inevitably involved a judgement on a matter of religious belief.

Lords Justice Mummery, Hooper and Pitchford agreed that while the issue of the place of religion in public life was important the courts did not have sufficient knowledge or authority to make a judgement on the substance of religious belief. Subjective matters of religious belief and faith were not matters on which secular courts could reach a decision. They emphasised that voluntary procedures involving mediators and specialists in the resolution of religious disputes were an alternative way of settling such disputes.

Release plans for 2011 Census statistics

The Office of National Statistics (ONS) has published the dates on which it will release the statistics from the 2011 Census. There are four releases from July 2012 to October 2013:

- the first release on 16 July consisted of age, sex, and occupied household estimates for England and Wales;
- the second release over the period of November 2012 to February 2013 will consist of 'key and quick statistics';
- the third release over the period of March 2012 – June 2013 will consist of 'local characteristics;' and
- the fourth release from July to October 2013 will consist of 'detailed characteristics, detailed themes and armed forces information.'

It is the second release of statistics that will include, among a range of other data, such as ethnic group, the data obtained from the question on religious identity.

House of Lords Reform Bill withdrawn

On 6 August, the Government has abandoned its House of Lords Reform Bill. The changes came after a programme motion to set a timetable for the bill to move through Parliament in this Parliamentary term was withdrawn after opposition from Conservative back bench MPs on 10 July and, following this, Conservative back bench MP's also threatened to vote against the Second Reading of the House of Lords Reform Bill itself. These developments led to the Government announcing its plans to abandon the bill on 6 August.

Use of faith community centres for civil marriages

The Home Office released new guidance on the use of faith community centres for civil marriages on its website on 23 May. The new guidance states that Schedule 23 of the Equality Act could be applied to Faith Community Centres that do not wish to be compelled to hold civil partnership ceremonies. It states that 'if the conditions set out in Schedule 23 are met, then organisations relating to religion or belief (as defined), whose sole or main purpose is not commercial and where it is not acting under contract on behalf of a public authority, can rely on the exception to refuse to host civil partnership registrations on the premises which they own or control, without the risk of a successful legal action against them for unlawful sexual orientation discrimination.' Importantly, the guidance makes it clear that 'in these instances, local authorities should not revoke an approved premises grant of approval if the religious organisation lawfully refuses to host civil partnership registrations.'

The revised guidance can be found online at:

Government responses on the Equalities Red Tape Challenge and reform of the EHRC

On 15 May the Home Secretary published a statement on the outcome of the recent Equalities Red Tape Challenge consultation and on the Government's response to the consultation (which closed on 30 October 2011) on reform of the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC), including "a strong package of legislative and non-legislative reforms to clarify the Commission's remit, focussing it on those areas where it can add value because of its unique role and functions, and improve its financial and operational performance".

The statement confirmed that, following the Red Tape Challenge consultation, the Government's review of the Public Sector Equality Duty (a legal obligation on public bodies to consider the impact of their decisions on different groups) will be brought forward and extended to include both the general and specific duties to establish whether the Duty is operating as intended.

A further consultation undertaken on the removal of provisions relating to: employer liability for the harassment of an employee by a third party, eg a customer; and the power of Tribunals to make wider recommendations in a successful discrimination case; and the statutory mechanism by which individuals can obtain information where they think an employer, or service provider, has acted unlawfully towards them closed on 7 August. The Government's response is expected to be published in the Autumn

The Government's measures for reforming the Equality and Human Rights Commission include:

- recruiting a new Chairman to succeed Mr Trevor Phillips, who is to stand down in September, and establishing a new and smaller Board;
- conducting a comprehensive review of the EHRC's budget;
- implementing tighter performance and financial controls set out in a new Framework Document; and
- amending the statutory provisions relating to the EHRC in the Equality Act 2006, including the repeal of its duty in relation to 'good relations'."

The Government describes its vision as being that the EHRC should become "a valued and respected national institution focusing on its core roles as:

- a national expert on equality and human rights issues – as an 'A-rated' National Human Rights Institution monitoring the effectiveness of equality and human rights law, undertaking research, conducting inquiries, making recommendations, and monitoring progress in reducing persistent inequalities; and
- a strategic enforcer of the law and guardian of legal rights – promoting awareness and understanding of rights, supporting victims of discrimination, and using its strategic enforcement powers to ensure the law is working as intended."

The Government proposes to use the earliest suitable legislative vehicle to amend the Equality Act 2006 to:

- repeal the EHRC's general duty at Section 3– which it says has no specific legal purpose and does not help to clarify the precise functions that the EHRC is required to carry out;
- amend the EHRC's Section 12 duty to monitor progress – to align the outcomes against which the EHRC is required to monitor progress to its core equality and human rights duties, and change the requirement for it to report from every three years to every five years. This will not prevent the EHRC publishing reports at more frequent intervals, should it choose to do so, but does allow a longer timescale between reports, enabling meaningful change over time to be captured; and
- repeal the EHRC's good relations duty at Section 10 and its associated power at Section 19 – on the basis that a separate good relations mandate is not necessary and that the EHRC's most valuable work in this area, for example its inquiries into disability harassment or the home care of older people, can be carried out under its existing equality and human rights duties. This is intended to support the EHRC to develop a more integrated and coherent work programme overall.

The statement noted that the Government announced in March 2011 that it would commission a new, improved Equality Advisory and Support Service from the private sector or civil society. This is due to launch this autumn.

The Government has decided not to replace the EHRC's strategic grants programme with a single grants-based programme to the voluntary and community sector, but instead to target Government funding at initiatives that provide practical help and support direct to, for example, victims of sexual and domestic violence.

The Government has also decided to repeal the EHRC's power to make arrangements for the provision of conciliation in non-workplace disputes.

Review of Public Sector Equality Duty

One of the measures included in the Government's Red Tape Challenge announcement on 15 May was to bring forward and extend, in order to include both the general and specific duties, the already planned review of the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED) "in order to establish whether the Duty is operating as intended." It is proposed that the review will be completed by April next year.

The Government is currently refining the terms of reference of the review, and considering how it might best be carried out and what evidence needs to be collected. There is likely to be a PSED Review Steering Group, but the make-up of this has yet to be determined. It will be open to both organisations and individuals to submit material and evidence to the review. Concern has been expressed that because of the bringing forward of the timing of this review, there will in practice be very little evidence of the impact which the PSED is in practice having, given that it only came into effect in April of last year.

The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) (Scotland) Regulations 2012

Revised Draft Regulations on the Equality Duty in Scotland were approved by the Scottish Parliament and came into force on 27 May.

A consultation was carried out by the Scottish Government last autumn on the Public Sector Equality Duty Revised Draft Regulations. In March the Scottish Government published the 'Equality Duty Revised Draft Regulations Analysis of Consultation Findings' report and its response. The report presents an analysis of the consultation findings. The Scottish Government's response to the issues raised in the consultation report includes a copy of the revised regulations it proposed.

Government's Equality Strategy Progress Report

On 22 May the Government published a progress report highlighting its achievements since the first cross-Government equality strategy was launched in 2010. The Government statement said that its new strategy "marked a fundamental change in focus, moving away from regulation, legislation and coercion' and that 'instead the Government is concentrating its efforts on developing intelligent, light-touch, common sense policies that have a demonstrable impact on people's lives".

The progress report can be found online at <http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/equalities/equality-strategy-publications/progress-report>.

Commission on a Bill of Rights second consultation

The Commission on a Bill of Rights, established by the Government in March 2011 to look into the creation of a UK Bill of Rights, opened its second consultation on the issue on 11 July. The consultation is open to anyone, individuals or organisations, and will run until September 2012.

The second consultation follows on from issues raised in response to the ‘discussion paper’ that was circulated to the public in 2011. It continues to address in broad terms the questions of whether or not the UK needs a separate Bill of Rights and, if so, what form it might take. The consultation document also asks questions on how a Bill of Rights might sit alongside the European Convention on Human Rights and the Human Rights Act (1998), and questions on the individual rights themselves (such as rights of children).

It also has a section looking at how a UK Bill of Rights could be formulated to take account of the human right positions in the devolved nations’

Report on Review of Charities Act 2006

The report of the review of the Charities Act 2006 undertaken by Lord Hodgson of Astley Abbot was published in July entitled ‘Trusted and independent: giving charity back to charities.’ The review procedure was built into the original 2006 Act, with the aim of examining its effects and implementation and improving on it over time.

The review made a large number of recommendations affecting charities and the charity commission. Among these were recommendations: that charities defined as ‘large’ (with an income over £1million a year) should be allowed to pay their trustees; that trustees should have a legal ‘right to know’ to access information held by their charity; that there should be no statutory definition of public benefit; the Charity Commission should remain the principal regulator of charities in England and Wales; the Commission should focus more tightly on the regulation of the sector in particular the abuse of charitable status; the Commission should increase its partnerships with relevant umbrella bodies recognising that its primary competence is in charities law; and the Commission's name should be changed to the Charity Authority; and it should be the 'co-regulator' rather than the 'primary regulator.'

Alongside the review Ipsos Mori conducted a survey of the public perceptions of charity that fed into the final report. The text of this can be found here:

Re-Imagining the Church of England: Social Action and Civic Role

The 'think tank' ResPublica has announced the commencement of a new project as part of its 'British Civic Life' workstream. This explores the civic role of the Church of England. The project is entitled 'Re-Imagining the Church of England: Social Action and Civic Role' and has the support of thirteen Church of England bishops, including the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr Rowan Williams. A press release of 16 April from ResPublica said that the project arises out of the context where: "Over the past decade the Church of England has grown in confidence and self-understanding, asserting more than ever the importance of its role in public political life and responsibility for social action." It also states that the project "will seek to unearth the actual value of the Church, and critically assess its importance for British civic life, both amidst and beyond specific policy agendas and passing governmental trends."

The first phase of the research will involve consultation with "faith leaders, community groups, churches, members of parliament and civil servants" in order to assess the current impact of the established church. ResPublica are actively seeking opportunities for partnership on this project and urge all interested parties to get in touch.

PROJECTS

City of Sanctuary

City of Sanctuary is a project which aims to emphasise the positive values of hospitality and friendship to people seeking sanctuary, such as asylum seekers and refugees, and seeks to encourage and celebrate mutual relationships of support, learning and friendship between them and local people.

A 'City of Sanctuary' is a place where:

- the skills and cultures of people seeking sanctuary are valued, where they are included in local communities and able to contribute to the life of the city.
- community groups, local government, media, business, schools and colleges have a shared commitment to offering sanctuary, so that it is seen as part of the city's identity by local people.
- people seeking sanctuary can easily build relationships with local people as neighbours, friends and colleagues. Through these relationships, local people come to understand the injustices refugees face, and become motivated to support and defend them.

The movement began in Sheffield in 2005 and since then 14 other cities have become 'Cities of Sanctuary'. To find out more, visit www.cityofsanctuary.org.

Muslim Jewish London Roots

Muslim Jewish London Roots is a project of the Faith Regen Foundation intended to help young Muslims and Jews aged 17 to 25 to connect to East London's history and heritage. Participants will have the opportunity to train with the British Library, the Jewish Museum and experts on the history of Muslim communities in the UK. They will also conduct interviews with members of Jewish and Muslim communities, get involved in inter faith presentations in mosques and synagogues, and attend an Achievement Evening at the House of Commons. Participants will also leave with practical skills by learning how to produce a documentary and e-magazine. For further information, visit www.faihrefgenuk.org or email Faaria Ahmad on faaria@faihrefgenuk.org.

Jubilee Debt Campaign Multifaith Project

The Jubilee Debt Campaign is inviting all faith leaders to sign a letter to be delivered to the Prime Minister calling for him to seize the moment and proclaim a new Jubilee, rooted in the idea that people around the world should not be permanently shackled with burdens of unjust or unpayable debts, some accumulated before they were born.

The Jubilee Debt Campaign Multifaith project can also offer presentations and workshops to faith groups, schools and all those wanting to take action in this particular field of global poverty.

Inter Faith Youth Trust Small Grants Programme for Inter Faith Week 2012

This programme is specifically for events organised by and for young people focussed around Inter Faith Week 18-27 November 2012. Grants are awarded for proposals for inter-faith activities by children and young people from Christian, Jewish, Muslim, Hindu, Sikh and other faiths and those of no formal faith in understanding and co-operation. The age range for young people is 11-25 years.

Priority will be given to projects which:

- Actively involve young people in planning, running, and evaluation of the project.
- Promote positive action i.e. young people from different backgrounds coming together to address shared problems like improving green spaces.
- Are run by non-statutory organisations, such as youth clubs, scout/guide groups, local voluntary and community organisations.

Grants can provide part-funding. Grants are not available for converting young people to a different faith.

Grants are given only to UK based organisations and are given for the agreed purposes set out in the completed grant application form.

Grants are for use in accordance with the Trust's charitable objectives. The Inter Faith Youth Trust as funder takes no responsibility for carrying out the work.

The deadline for applications is 12 September. For more information and an application form please visit http://www.ifyouthtrust.org.uk/?page\_id=8

Deadline for applications: 14 September 2012

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London,

North Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham. The scheme has also recently been undertaking some capacity building work in Luton.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, due to end in March 2013, which at present operates on a rolling basis with no deadlines. Grant amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects> Inter Faith Week projects are among those which can be considered.

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Community Games

The Community Games programme, which received a £2 million social action grant from the Cabinet Office in March, is an initiative to get communities to organise their own local sporting and cultural events, and this year they are in celebration of the London 2012 Olympic Games and Paralympic Games. The events can be anything from a triathlon or a sponsored walk to a live concert, and will reflect the interests and needs of the local community.

Community Games will be delivered by the County Sports Partnership Network (CSPN) and the YMCA, but the scheme also encourages individual schools and other local bodies to organise games. The programme has been running in the West Midlands since 2010, where over 200 Community Games have already taken place, and the aim is now, with this new funding, to bring Community Games to people all over England.

Big Local Trust – Wave 2 ‘Getting Started’ funding

A consortium led by the Community Development Foundation (CDF) is managing the new independent ‘Big Local Trust’. The Trust programme will provide support and at least £1m funding per area to 150 local areas in England over the next ten years, through a £200m endowment from the Big Lottery Fund.

In March it was announced that the fifty ‘Wave 2’ areas that received funding in February would have access to their ‘Getting started’ funding. This funding, up to £20,000, is for getting initiatives started and form the first steps on the ‘Big Local pathway.’ Wave 2 areas will be consulting with their local community about the best ways to use this and their initial £1 million funding for the scheme.

For more information on the 'Getting started' funding, visit <http://www.localtrust.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2012/02/Getting-Started-brief-details.pdf>

Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund

The Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund provides small grants to community groups and local social action projects at the ward level. The £30 million Fund is being used to provide small grants for community projects in some of the most deprived areas in the country. The Community Development Foundation (CDF), which is administering the fund, released a list of wards eligible to receive the funding earlier in October 2011. Community First panels of local people will administer the funding in these areas. The first round of grant applications in eligible areas has now closed, but the second grants round has opened and applications may be made up until the end of the financial year (31 March 2013). For information on the Fund and how to apply visit <http://www.cdf.org.uk/content/funding-programmes/community-first/neighbourhood-matched-fund>

The Fund has a sister project the 'Endowment Match Challenge' which seeks to match £50 million in Government funding by raising a further £100 million through corporate and individual philanthropic giving. This is being administered by the CDF and delivered via Community Foundation Network. ## CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

University of Derby research project

During the past three years the University of Derby has been researching how people's views and reported experiences of unfair treatment on the basis of religion or belief may have changed in the last decade in England and Wales, in the hope that their findings will ultimately influence policies, practices and laws. They would now like to engage with an even wider range of practitioners from religion or belief, voluntary and community, public, private and legal sectors. They are therefore holding a workshop which will share their research findings and provide participants with the opportunity to contribute to them in the light of the experience of their own organisations or groups.

Workshops take place across the country:

- Wednesday, 19 September in Derby
- Friday, 5 October in Oxford
- Thursday, 11 October in Manchester
- Thursday, 25 October in Cardiff
- Wednesday 7 November in London

They last from 10 am – 5 pm and are free to join, but by invitation and application only. To apply, visit www.derby.ac.uk/knowledge-exchange-workshops or call Lesley Sawley on 01332 591730 by 15 August 2012.

UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Inter Faith Week – listings section goes live

29 September marks 50 days until the start of national Inter Faith Week 2012 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales.

The listings section of the Inter Faith Week website (www.interfaithweek.org.uk) is now open for organisers to list events happening in England, Northern Ireland and Wales.

The range of events held for every Week to date has been very wide, as has the types of bodies holding them. National faith community organisations and inter faith bodies, local places of worship and inter faith groups, schools and colleges, universities, hospitals, prisons, police forces, NGOs and many others were involved last year. This year it is hoped that even more bodies will take this opportunity to build bridges of understanding and cooperation.

A number of events are already planned to mark Inter Faith Week, including a faith leaders' conference, organised by Thurrock Faith Matters; a 'celebrating our faiths' event, organised by South Lakeland Interfaith Forum; an event 'Meet the Imams and Ask Questions', organised by the Joseph Interfaith Foundation; an 'inter faith tour' in South Cardiff, organised by the Cardiff Third Sector Council; an inter faith netball tournament, organised by Thames Valley Police; an event 'Mohiniyattam', organised by Manasamitra and York Minster; and 'A Celebration of Faiths', organised by Eastbourne's Faiths Forum.

Schools in many areas are gearing up to take part. Education Secretary Michael Gove has said "Without doubt the constructive working and mutual understanding between faiths in this country is one of our greatest strengths. Educating children about different faiths is of immense importance in leading children to understand the history that has helped shape the values and traditions of this country, and of other countries and cultures. The extended Inter Faith Week that will take place in November this year gives even more opportunity for schools and young people to participate, and I hope they will take advantage of this to build new partnerships and celebrate the diversity that exists across the UK."

If you are planning to mark the Week by running an event, please register your event on the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org. We will shortly be adding a printable paper registration form, and a new facility enabling you to add multiple events at the same time.

For further information, contact Ashley Beck at ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk or on 020 7730 0410.

Scottish Inter Faith Week runs from 25 November until 1 December. Further information is available from Interfaith Scotland at www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org.

A Year of Service

As noted in earlier issues of the IFN e-bulletin, a special programme called 'A Year of Service' is taking place during 2012. All faith communities have within their ethical teachings the values of compassion, care and social justice. One of the ways that their members put these values into everyday practice is through volunteering.

In each month, for A Year of Service, faith communities are hosting a day or days of volunteering and inviting people of other faiths and non-religious beliefs to join in. The Year provides an opportunity for marking in a practical way the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty The Queen – of whose reign service has been a key theme.

A calendar of volunteering days taking place throughout A Year of Service based upon information provided by faith communities for the website can be found at <http://ayearofservice.org.uk/days-of-volunteering>.

The next events to take place will be linked to the marking of the Harvest Festival by the Christian community on 5 October.

If you would like to be involved or to find out more, please visit the Year of Service website, www.ayearofservice.org.uk.

Scottish Inter Faith Council becomes Interfaith Scotland

An update from the Scottish Inter Faith Council.

On 14 August the Office of the Scottish Charities Regulator approved the transfer of the Scottish Inter Faith Council from a charitable company to a Scottish Charitable Incorporated Organisation. It keeps its charity number but will now be known as 'Interfaith Scotland'. The focus of its work will be to promote dialogue between the Baha'i, Buddhist, Christian, Hindu, Jewish, Muslim and Sikh communities on matters of religious, civic and national importance. It will also encourage dialogue between these faith communities (which will have responsibility for its governance) and other religious, faith and belief communities. The approval of the Scottish Charities Regulator came at the end of a long consultation process which had the support and agreement of SIFC's members. Further information about the work and structure of Interfaith Scotland can be found online at www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org.

Responses to the film 'The Innocence of Muslims'

A Youtube clip entitled The Innocence of Muslims has been linked to demonstrations, violence and attacks in a number of countries. The clip depicts a fictionalised version of the life of the Prophet Muhammad and his early followers, portraying them as a band of savage tribesmen who regularly kill women and children. In the UK, on 14 and 23 September, there were protests near the US embassy in London and a demonstration in Cardiff on 22 September. The film has been universally condemned by world leaders, including religious leaders. The Christian Muslim Forum issued a statement on 13 September 'A call for calm' <http://www.christianmuslimforum.org/index.php/news/91-call-for-calm>.

Christian Voice blog post and Diwali publication

On 6 September a controversial group called Christian Voice run by Stephen Green published a blog post called 'Back to School & welcome to Diwali term.' This comments critically on the inclusion of Diwali in schools, urging parents, children and teachers to refuse to participate in Diwali celebrations. It announces "A new Christian Voice resource for parents, school governors, pastors and leaders strips away the mask to reveal the darkness behind the Diwali lights” and comments in negative and sensationalist terms about aspects of Hindu belief and practice as it understands them. It is also critical of multi-faith celebrations in schools more generally. The group is not backed by the mainstream British Churches and the Revd Joel Edwards, when Director of the Evangelical Alliance, some years ago termed its leader an extremist.

A statement, which has been agreed by the Directors of the Hindu Christian Forum, is being sent to SACREs and RE Advisers and Inspectors through the RE Council of England and Wales and is also being distributed through Churches Together in Britain and Ireland Networks.

A link to the CV statement is at <http://www.christianvoice.org.uk/?p=4102>.

Ministerial appointments

Following the recent Ministerial reshuffle, Rt Hon Baroness Warsi moves from being Chair of the Conservative Party to take up two new positions: Minister of State for Faith and Communities in the Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) and Senior Minister of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs at the Foreign Office. She will continue to attend Cabinet meetings.

Andrew Stunell who was the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State at DCLG with the community cohesion brief has stepped down and has been replaced by Rt Hon Don Foster whose portfolio includes 'Integration and race equality' and 'Localism, decentralisation and community rights'.

Lynne Featherstone has stepped down as Minister for Women and Equalities and Rt Hon Theresa May, who continues in her role as Home Secretary, has also relinquished her Equalities role. Taking on Equalities roles are Maria Miller, the new Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS), who is also Minister for Women and Equalities, Helen Grant, who is a Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State in both DCMS and the Ministry of Justice, and Jo Swinson who is a Parliamentary Under Secretary of State in both DCMS and the Department of Business Innovation and Skills. It is anticipated that the Government Equalities Office will move from the Home Office to DCMS.

Nick Gibb has stepped down as Minister of State for Schools He has been replaced by David Laws. The role's portfolio had included curriculum reform and Mr Gibb had dealt with issues relating to Religious Education. This role has now been passed on to a new Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Education and Childcare, Ms Elizabeth Truss.

Release plans for 2011 Census statistics

The Office of National Statistics (ONS) has published the dates on which it will release the statistics from the 2011 Census. There are four releases from July 2012 to October 2013:

- the first release on 16 July consisted of age, sex, and occupied household estimates for England and Wales;
- the second release over the period of November 2012 to February 2013 will consist of 'key and quick statistics';
- the third release over the period of March 2013 – June 2013 will consist of 'local characteristics;' and
- the fourth release from July to October 2013 will consist of 'detailed characteristics, detailed themes and armed forces information.'

It is the second release of statistics that will include, among a range of other data, such as ethnic group, the data obtained from the question on religious identity.

EHRC religion or belief and equalities report

The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) published a report on 23 August entitled 'Research Report 84: Religion or belief, equality and human rights in England and Wales.' The report is the result of the research undertaken by the Human Rights and Social Justice Research Institute at London Metropolitan University which was commissioned by the EHRC in January 2011.

Pages 27 – 32 of the report deal with 'Government engagement with religion and belief groups' and 'Authority and representativeness within religion or belief groups.' The report draws out the complexities of engaging with religion and belief groups, especially in the finding of and engaging with 'representative' and 'authoritative' voices or leaders within faith communities and belief groups.

The report draws out a number of conclusions addressed to bodies across the religion or belief and equalities sector. It identifies areas where there is a potential for broad consensus which are described as:

- a) a non-privileged voice for religion and belief groups in the formation of policy;
- b) reasonable accommodation for religion or belief in the workplace;
- c) the undesirability of pursuing litigation and the benefit of resolving disputes outside the courtroom; and
- d) the value of proactive approaches to equality and human rights.

The report also urges public debate on religion or belief and equalities to be conducted in a constructive manner and suggests that:

- a) participants follow ethical 'rules of engagement';
- b) safe spaces are created for the discussion of sensitive issues;
- c) debates not be drawn up in 'secular' versus 'religious' terms; and
- d) allegations of discrimination against particular religious communities should always be carefully contextualised.

The Executive Summary and the Conclusions of the report are to be found at pages iii – xviii and 183 – 193 respectively.

The report is available to download from the EHRC website here: http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/uploaded\_files/research/rr84\_final\_opt.pdf

It is not available in hard copy.

EHRC religion or belief seminars

The EHRC has announced that it will be holding a series of seminars this Autumn on religion or belief and the application of the UK's equality and human rights laws. The discussions are planned to build upon the work of Research Report 84 summarised above

They will be inviting leading figures from a range of religious and non-religious belief groups, and employment and education leaders to share their views on the topic.

The EHRC tendered for an independent partner to run the seminars with some involvement from the EHRC and the Government Equalities Office and further information will be released in due course.

Freedom of religion cases at the ECtHR

On 4 September the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR) in Strasbourg met to rule on the admissibility and merits of four cases relating to freedom of religion in the UK. The cases of Chaplin v. the UK and Edeiwia v the UK relate to the wearing of the cross in the workplace as being essential to the Christian faith. The cases of Ladele v. the UK and McFarlane v. the UK relate to the right not to engage in actions condoning homosexuality again on grounds of Christian faith. All four applicants claim that UK law does not adequately protect their freedom of religion and are appealing against rulings made in the UK.

The cases of Chapin and Edeiwa and the cases of Ladele and McFarlane were presented as two pairs of cases, reflecting the similar nature of the claims made. During the hearings lawyers for the UK Government and the plaintiffs presented arguments to the Court. After the hearing the court entered into deliberations on each of these four cases which will include examinations of written interventions from a number of Christian figures including former Archbishop of Canterbury Lord Carey and submissions from Equality and Human Rights Commission and human rights charity Liberty.

A judgement on whether or not the cases are admissible is not expected for several months.

For more information on the cases and ECtHR process visit: [http://hudoc.echr.coe.int/sites/eng-press/pages/search.aspx?i=003-4057687-4743672#{\"itemid\":\[\"003-4057687-4743672\"\]}](http://hudoc.echr.coe.int/sites/eng-press/pages/search.aspx?i=003-4057687-4743672#{\) and download the pdf of the press release.

Religious Education updates

The Religious Education Council (REC) is currently undertaking a National RE Subject Review, to run alongside the Government's National Curriculum Review. This comprehensive Review will explore a range of issues, including the strengths and weaknesses of RE, approaches to assessment, examples of excellence and the impact of Government policy on the subject. Further information can be found at <http://www.religiouseducationcouncil.org/content/view/254/100/>.

It was announced on Tuesday 18 September by the Education Minister and Deputy Prime Minister that the Government plans to replace GCSEs – the standard qualification examinations taken by 16 year olds in England – with the newly established English Baccalaureate (EBC). The press release can be found at <http://www.education.gov.uk/inthenews/inthenews/a00213908/oral-statement-ks4-exam-reform>.

There are some concerns in the RE community about the EBC as RE is not included as a qualifying subject at present. Whilst it has been indicated that schools will still retain a statutory obligation to teach RE, research carried out by NATRE suggests that a number of schools have already downsized their provision of the subject in response to the emergence of the EBC. It is not yet known what the new EBC, as a replacement of the GCSE, will look like, and how subjects currently excluded from the EBC might be examined in future. The RE Council is continuing to lobby Government about this, and part of its Subject Review includes a stream of work to 'make the case for RE'.

New Chair of the Charity Commission appointed

Minister for the Cabinet Office, Rt Hon Francis Maude, has appointed a new chair of the Charity Commission. Mr William Shawcross CVO, a writer and broadcaster who has significant experience working on human rights and international aid issues will take up his post as Chair on 31 October. He replaces Mr John Wood who has been Interim Chair since August following Dame Suzi Leather who stepped down on 31 July after the completion of her second and final period of appointment.

Charity Commission research on Public Benefit

In June the Charity Commission published a report entitled 'The impact of the public benefit requirement in the Charities Act 2006: perceptions, knowledge and experience.' This reports on a study conducted for the Charity Commission by the Institute for Voluntary Action Research in partnership with Sheffield Hallam University. The study explored: the impact of the renewed emphasis on public benefit required by the 2006 Act; ways in which the charity sector had changed as a result of this emphasis; and views on the level of support and guidance offered by the Charity Commission.

Among the key findings were that three kinds of charity were seen to be especially affected by the new emphasis on public benefit:

- religious and faith organisations that were seen as often having "insufficient knowledge and resources to engage with the complex public benefit requirement in relation to faith and spiritual issues" due to the large number of small charities in this category;
- fee charging charities and in particular fee charging schools; and
- membership organisations who were perceived to benefit their member bodies more than the general public.

The full report is available to download from the Charity Commission website at:

Home Office releases hate crime data

On 13 September the Home Office for the first time released data on hate crime in England and Wales covering the 2011/2012 period. The data showed that in total 43,748 hate crimes took were recorded by the police of which 1261 (4%) were religious hate crimes.

Hate crime data has previously been released only by the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO). The two data sets are not comparable as the ACPO statistics are on a calendar year basis and the Home Office statistics are on a financial year basis. ACPO published their statistics for the 2011 period also on 13 September. The show a total of 39,311 hate crimes recorded on which 1,773 (5%) were religious hate crimes.

The duty to monitor hate crime passed from ACPO to the Home office in 2011 and this dual release marks the end of ACPO's publication of the data and the beginning of it being done by the Home Office who will continue publishing the data annually.

PROJECTS

'Faith in Dudley'

Dudley Borough Interfaith Network has launched a new newspaper called 'Faith in Dudley'. Produced with Big Lottery money, it contains contributions from all the faiths involved in the DBIN and from some community organisations. The whole of the back page was written and designed by a cross-faith group of young people. It can be viewed at <http://www.dbinterfaith.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2012/09/Faith-in-Dudley-Newspaper-published-version.pdf>.

Wellingborough Inter Faith Group 'Faith Bags'

Wellingborough Inter Faith Group has been involved in putting together resource bags for loan to schools and interested community groups under the headings of Sacred Texts, Water, Light, Worship, Creation and Celebration.

The bags were designed and decorated by school children in two local schools and filled with appropriate resources funded by CDF Faiths in Action programme. A DVD was then produced the following year using the local Infuse Youth Café (a Methodist project) of local faith leaders/representatives being interviewed by the young people on the resource subjects. This part of the project was funded through an application to the Northamptonshire Community Foundation with funding from the Constance Travis Charitable Trust.

The bags are an ongoing project with resources and information being added when possible.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, North Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham. The scheme has also recently been undertaking some capacity building work in Luton.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, due to end in March 2013, which at present operates on a rolling basis with no deadlines. Grant amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects> Inter Faith Week projects are among those which can be considered.

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Funding Central website extended

Minister for Civil Society, Mr Nick Hurd, announced on 5 September that the Cabinet Office would commit £500,000 of funding to extend the NCVO's Funding Central website for a further 18 months.

The free website offers charities, voluntary organisations and social enterprises access to approximately 4000 sources of funding and finance opportunities. It also offers tools and resources to support organisations to develop sustainable income strategies appropriate to their needs.

The funding central website is www.fundingcentral.org.uk and the press release announcing the extended funding can be found at <http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/news/funding-central-boost-delivers-continued-support-civil-society>.

Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund

The Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund provides small grants to community groups and local social action projects at the ward level. The £30 million Fund is being used to provide small grants for community projects in some of the most deprived areas in the country. The Community Development Foundation (CDF), which is administering the fund, released a list of wards eligible to receive the funding earlier in October 2011. Community First panels of local people will administer the funding in these areas. The first round of grant applications in eligible areas has now closed, but the second grants round has opened and applications may be made up until the end of the financial year (31 March 2013). For information on the Fund and how to apply visit <http://www.cdf.org.uk/content/funding-programmes/community-first/neighbourhood-matched-fund>

The Fund has a sister project the 'Endowment Match Challenge' which seeks to match £50 million in Government funding by raising a further £100 million through corporate and individual philanthropic giving. This is being administered by the CDF and delivered via Community Foundation Network. For more information, visit <http://www.cdf.org.uk/content/funding-programmes/community-first/endowment-match-challenge>

Religious Literacy Leadership workshops

The Religious Literacy Leadership Programme is a partnership between the Faiths and Civil Society Unit at Goldsmiths, University of London and the Cambridge Inter-Faith Programme at the University of Cambridge. It is funded by the Higher Education Funding Council for England. The Programme aims to assist Higher Education leaders to develop outlooks and strategies that engage positively with faith, promoting universities as places that can lead and shape informed responses to faith in wider society.

Free workshops will take place to explore the processes, impacts and experiences of developing strategy in relation to religion in higher education settings. There will also be opportunities to meet with counterparts in other institutions and in faith-related settings to exchange skills and learning and consider potential for partnership and networking around these issues.

The workshops will take place from 9.30am to 4.30pm on 7 November in London (Haldane Room, University College London, Gower Street) and from 9.30am to 4.30pm on 8 November in Birmingham (Michael Tippett Room, Staff House, University of Birmingham, Ring Road South).

For further information and to register for the workshops, visit <http://religiousliteracyhe.org/about/>.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

University of Derby research project

During the past three years the University of Derby has been researching how people's views and reported experiences of unfair treatment on the basis of religion or belief may have changed in the last decade in England and Wales, in the hope that their findings will ultimately influence policies, practices and laws. They would now like to engage with an even wider range of practitioners from religion or belief, voluntary and community, public, private and legal sectors. They are therefore holding a workshop which will share their research findings and provide participants with the opportunity to contribute to them in the light of the experience of their own organisations or groups.

Workshops are taking place across the country and spaces are still available for

- Friday 5 October in Oxford
- Thursday 11 October in Manchester
- Thursday 25 October in Cardiff

The workshops last from 10 am – 5 pm and are free to join, but by invitation and application only. To apply, visit www.derby.ac.uk/knowledge-exchange-workshops or call Lesley Sawley on 01332 591730.

Week of Prayer for World Peace 14 – 21 October

Although it was a Christian initiative that led to the founding of the Week of Prayer for World Peace in 1974, it soon became an inter faith activity, and now welcomes everyone, of all faith traditions or none, to take part. Its first Chairman, the late Dr Edward Carpenter, former Dean of Westminster, established the guiding principle of the Week in the words "The peace of the world must be prayed for by the faiths of the world”, and this is still the basis of its work today. Further information can be found online at <http://www.weekofprayerforworldpeace.com/events.html>.

Inter Faith Network for the UK Strategic Review

The Inter Faith Network is commencing a strategic review which will run across the 2012/2013 operating year. This was agreed at the 2012 AGM, following a recommendation from IFN's Executive Committee. The Review will be looking at issues such as: the place of IFN in the wider context of inter faith engagement and UK society; IFN's membership and patterns of engagement and consultation; programmes of work undertaken by IFN; the place and continued relevance of Inter Faith Week; the sustainability of IFN; short, medium and long term views on the future work of IFN; and governance and operational issues.

A Strategic Review Working Group was announced at the end of October. Its recommendations are expected in summer 2013. Established by IFN's Executive Committee, it will develop its own independent report and recommendations in the light of its engagement in the process of conducting the Review. Members include: Sughra Ahmed, the Revd Alan Bayes, Mohinder Singh Chana; the Revd Peter Colwell, Acharya Modgala Duguid; Kathryn Luckock; Rabbi Maurice Michaels; Ramesh Pattni and Patricia Stoa. Members come from a number of different nations of the UK and regions of England and from a range of backgrounds and bring with them a wide range of experience and expertise in a diverse range of fields such as work with young people, work with women, and work in chaplaincy contexts.

The Strategic Review Working Group will be chaired by a respected senior figure from a local inter faith context who is well grounded in work at grassroots level, with experience of the broader inter faith landscape: Patricia Stoa. Ms Stoa has for a number years played an active role in the Nottingham Council of Faiths. She also brings rootedness in her own faith community; an informed interest in other faith traditions (including academic background in these); awareness of the importance of bilateral as well as multilateral dialogue and understanding; experience of working at a management level in the area of social responsibility and, most recently, management responsibility as CEO of the Faiths Forum for the East Midlands. She is actively involved at local level in the inter faith work of her own faith community through the Catholic Diocese of Nottingham and is currently Vice-President of the National Board of Catholic Women.

The Strategic Review Working Group is a small, task-focused, working group; it is envisaged that the broader range of relevant constituencies will be heard by way of the overall Review process and one of the Strategic Review Group's most important tasks will be to ensure a broad pattern of engagement with the Review issues. It will be meeting for the first time later this month and details about the Review process and how to feed into this will be developed and made known across the following weeks.

Inter Faith Week

Inter Faith Week 2012 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales is less than two weeks away, beginning on Sunday 18 November.

Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government Eric Pickles has said “Once again Inter Faith Week is upon us, and people of different faiths in neighbourhoods around the country are coming together to celebrate, to learn about each other, to work together on joint projects – and above all to have fun. Our society functions so much better when there are no barriers of ignorance and suspicion to keep us apart; and the realisation that different faiths have so much in common, and so much to contribute, is a vital part of removing those barriers. That is where Inter Faith Week and the work of the Inter Faith Network in general are so important, and I warmly congratulate all participants in the Week.”

If you are planning to mark the Week by running an event, please do take a few minutes to register your event on the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org. There is also a printable paper registration form, and a new facility enabling you to add multiple events at the same time. Registering your event is very helpful to other people who would like to find an event to attend and also helps strengthen the effectiveness of the Week overall through conveying the wide range of activities.

Just a few examples of events planned are: a faith leaders’ conference, organised by Thurrock Faith Matters; a ‘celebrating our faiths’ event, organised by South Lakeland Interfaith Forum; an ‘inter faith tour’ in South Cardiff, organised by the Cardiff Third Sector Council; an inter faith netball tournament, organised by Thames Valley Police; an event ‘Mohiniyattam’, organised by Manasamitra and York Minster; and ‘A Celebration of Faiths’, organised by Eastbourne’s Faiths Forum. Some local inter faith bodies such as Kirklees Faiths Forum and Suffolk Inter-Faith Resource are helping enable programmes of events running through the Week.

Schools in many areas are gearing up to take part. Education Secretary Michael Gove has said “Without doubt the constructive working and mutual understanding between faiths in this country is one of our greatest strengths. Educating children about different faiths is of immense importance in leading children to understand the history that has helped shape the values and traditions of this country, and of other countries and cultures. The extended Inter Faith Week that will take place in November this year gives even more opportunity for schools and young people to participate, and I hope they will take advantage of this to build new partnerships and celebrate the diversity that exists across the UK.”

For further information, contact Ashley Beck at ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk or on 020 7730 0410.

Scottish Inter Faith Week runs from 25 November until 1 December. Further information is available from Interfaith Scotland at www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org.

A Year of Service

As noted in earlier issues of the IFN e-bulletin, a special programme called 'A Year of Service' is taking place during 2012. All faith communities have within their ethical teachings the values of compassion, care and social justice. One of the ways that their members put these values into everyday practice is through volunteering. In each month, for A Year of Service, faith communities have been hosting a day or days of volunteering and inviting people of other faiths and non-religious beliefs to join in. The Year provides an opportunity for marking in a practical way the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty The Queen – of whose reign service has been a key theme.

A calendar of volunteering days taking place throughout A Year of Service based upon information provided by faith communities for the website can be found at <http://ayearofservice.org.uk/days-of-volunteering>.

The next events to take place will be linked to Mitzvah Day, which is a project from the Jewish Community, on Sunday 18 November.

A Year of Service and Near Neighbours are holding an event celebrating faith based social action on 27 November during National Inter Faith Week.

If you would like to be involved or to find out more, please visit the A Year of Service website, www.ayearofservice.org.uk.

New Chair of the EHRC appointed

On 18 October it was announced that Baroness Onora O'Neill has been appointed as the new Chair of the Equality and Human Rights Commission. Baroness O'Neill is a cross-bench peer in the House of Lords and a former Principal of Newnham College, Cambridge. An emeritus Professor of Philosophy at the University of Cambridge, she has written extensively on equality and freedom throughout her academic career and is a specialist on human rights. For more information, visit <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/news/2012/october/commission-welcomes-appointment-of-new-chair/>.

New Equality Advisory and Support Service

The new Equality Advisory and Support Service (EASS), funded by the Government Equality Office, began operating on 1 October. The new service replaces the helpline run by the Equality and Human Rights Commission, which had operated in Scotland, Wales and England for some time and ceased to function from 1 October 2012. It is directed towards people who think they may have experienced discrimination and will not be available to employers, service providers or educators. The service aims to support individuals referred from local organisations, advisory groups, faith based organisations and other groups working within the community that support people experiencing discrimination.

Local groups and organisations are encouraged to refer in cases of discrimination to the EASS. The service will provide advice and information on discrimination and human rights issues, specifically it will:

- explain what the law says and how this applies to individuals in the country they live in;
- explain how a situation could be resolved by individuals and, in particular, how situations can be resolved informally;
- refer individuals to conciliation services if informal resolution is not an option;
- help individuals work out whether or not they are eligible for legal aid if a legal situation is sought; and
- assist those who are ineligible for legal aid in finding an accessible legal service.

The EASS will not:

- provide legal advice;
- represent individuals when providing pre-claim support;
- advise on the strength of individual cases, or on evidence needed to prove cases; and
- offer any advice on court proceedings once a claim has been issued.

The service will work with both the Equality and Human Rights Commission and devolved institutions to identify cases with a strategic interest and refer them to these bodies for consideration. It is intended as a resource for organisations that assist people who may have experienced discrimination. It will not be advertised to the general public.

The EASS will be run by SITEL in partnership with Disability Rights UK. The Law Centres Federation, the British Institute for Human Rights, Voiceability, and the RAD Deaf Law Centre are providing support services to this new venture.

Round table discussions on religion or belief

In October, the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) commissioned the Religious Literacy Leadership Programme at Goldsmiths, University of London, working in partnership with the Coexist Foundation, to explore a number of key religion or belief themes. The Government Equalities Office is partnering the EHRC on this project.

Six half-day dialogue events are planned for early 2013 with invited participants drawn from employment and public service stakeholders and religion or belief organisations. While the topics are still being finalised, each event is expected to include input from an expert followed by facilitated discussion. It is envisaged that summary reports of each event will be published on the EHRC website, with further discussion and debate being encouraged through a blog on the Goldsmiths' website. The overall aim of the project is to seek to increase mutual understanding and consensus between groups as a way of reducing divisive litigation in this area.

Further information can be found on the Goldsmiths' website at <http://www.gold.ac.uk/news/pressrelease/?releaseID=971>.

National RE Subject Review

The Religious Education Council (REC) is currently undertaking a National RE Subject Review, running alongside the Government's National Curriculum Review. A Scoping Report, commissioned to outline the scope of the Subject Review, identified four main areas of focus for the Review: Aims and Purposes; Curriculum; Exemplifications of Good Practice; Assessment and Qualifications.

Phase 1 of the Review, in which an expert panel were commissioned to draw together a report on the current state of RE, along with recommendations around the four areas of focus, is nearing completion, with the final consultative stage now in process. Subsequent Phases of the Review process will take the Review forward, and it is intended that the Review will be completed during 2013. Further background to the Subject Review can be found on the REC's website at <http://www.religiouseducationcouncil.org/content/view/254/100/>.

Concerns about the position on RE

As noted in the September e-Bulletin, it was announced by the Education Minister and Deputy Prime Minister that the Government plans to replace GCSEs – the standard qualification examinations taken by 16 year olds in England – with the newly established English Baccalaureate (EBC). The press release can be found at <http://www.education.gov.uk/inthenews/inthenews/a00213908/oral-statement-ks4-exam-reform>. Under this system, pupils who undertake courses from a particular pool of subjects would qualify for an English Baccalaureate award.

Religious Education is not among the qualifying subjects, and this has led to concerns that a weakening of RE provision in schools may occur as a result, with schools diverting resources to those subjects which enable pupils to attain this new award. Research carried out by the National Association of Teachers of RE (NATRE) suggests that a number of schools have already downsized RE provision in response to the emergence of the EBC. Provision of RE is still a statutory requirement in the majority of maintained schools.

The Religious Education Council (REC) has been leading a campaign, along with other bodies including the National Association of Standing Advisory Councils on Religious Education (NASACRE) and NATRE, to encourage Government to rethink its position on the exclusion of RE from the English Baccalaureate. In recent weeks, the REC has written to Deputy Prime Minister Nick Clegg and to the Education Minister Michael Gove, noting the importance of RE for building good inter faith relations and reducing prejudice. These letters – the latter of which notes Michael Gove’s support for Inter Faith Week and its relevance to the position on RE – can be viewed on the REC website at <http://www.religiouseducationcouncil.org/>.

Jubilee for Justice Faith leaders letter

The Jubilee Debt Campaign (JDC), which campaigns for the writing off of third world debt globally, has circulated a letter for faith leaders to sign in the Diamond Jubilee year. The letter says that “In this year of the Queen’s Diamond Jubilee, we recall the ancient custom of the Jubilee Year, in which debts would be cancelled.” The letter explains that the jubilee tradition exists across both Abrahamic and Dharmic faiths, and calls for “finance to be put in its place as a means to human well-being.”

The letter is part of the Jubilee for Justice in 2012 campaign which calls for the cancellation of “unjust debts of the most indebted nations;” the promotion of “just and progressive taxation, rather than excessive borrowing;” and the stopping of “harmful lending which forces countries into debt.” So far 253 signatures have been gathered and the JDC plans to present the letter to the Prime Minister later in 2012 along with a similar petition which has attracted thousands of signatures globally.

Home Office consultation on review of Schedule 7 powers

On 19 September the Home Office announced a consultation on a review of the operation of Schedule 7 to the Terrorism Act 2000. Schedule 7 permits an examination officer to ‘stop, search, question and detain a person travelling through a port/airport or the border area.’ The consultation document states that the review of the operation of Schedule 7 has arisen amid concerns raised during the review of Counter-terrorism legislation in 2010 by Mr David Anderson QC that Schedule 7 can operate unfairly. Mr Anderson acknowledged that ‘Schedule 7 has made a negative impact on some Muslim communities.’

The consultation runs until 13 December. For more information, the consultation document and access to online and downloadable copies of the consultation questionnaire, visit www.homeoffice.gov.uk/publications/aboutus/consultation/schedule-7-review.

DCLG consultation on Local Government transparency

The Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) opened a consultation on 25 October closing on 20 December on improving Local Government transparency. The consultation aims to ensure consistency in the data and information published by local authorities across England to enable them to be accountable to the local people. DCLG has said that it wishes to hear from local authorities, relevant bodies, local community groups, open data experts, developers, citizen activists and other interested parties.

Support Group for Charity Chairs launched

A new support group for charity chairs was launched on 12 October at a meeting hosted by the Charity Commission. It is being provisionally referred to as an independent 'Institute of Chairs', and is the idea of governance expert Ruth Lesirge and Rosalind Oakley, Chair of Charities Evaluation Services. The institute will find new ways of strengthening the support that is available to trustees and in particular chairs by providing peer-to-peer support and training to improving the skill-set of chairs. It is also planned for the new Institute to be a source of research on subjects such as the links between good chairing and the effective delivery of social change.

PROJECTS

3FF Urban Dialogues workshops

3FF is running its arts programme Urban Dialogues for a fourth year. The programme aims to use the work of contemporary artists from a wide range of backgrounds and perspectives to appeal to broader audiences. The work takes the form of three commissioned artistic collaborations and pieces by individual artists exploring issues around belief, identity or faith. The work is shown in an exhibition which, this year, takes place at the Red Gallery in London from Tuesday 20 November to Saturday 1 December.

In previous years the Urban Dialogues programme has run artist-led workshops for young people and schools. In 2012 3FF are extending the Urban Dialogues programme beyond the festival and plan to develop a programme of artist-led workshops that take place in schools.

3FF are building a pool of freelance artists who are interested in working on the Urban Dialogues programme. To register an interest in becoming part of the Urban Dialogues programme, email a CV along with an explanation of your interest in the project to eli@3ff.org.uk.

For more information about the Urban Dialogues programme and the upcoming exhibition, visit <http://www.3ff.org.uk/arts/>.

‘Come to the Edge’ launch and roadshows

The Christian Muslim Forum is launching its ‘Come to the Edge’ report with a series of roadshows across the UK. The report examines the conversations held between Christian and Muslim women in the UK in the Autumn of 2011. The events will be an opportunity for Christian and Muslim women to come together and share food and entertainment, and celebrate their lives in the UK’s cities. These events are supported by the Christian Muslim Forum and Near Neighbours and some are also being held to mark Inter Faith Week.

The roadshows will be held in:

- Leicester on 15 November, 7pm;
- Burnley on 20 November, 6.30pm;
- Birmingham on 21 November, time TBC;
- Bradford on 22 November, 6.30pm; and
- London on 27 November; 6.30pm.

Campus Lokahi launched

The Lokahi Foundation has announced that its flagship project, Campusalam, which has been running as a resource for Muslim students and encouraging good relations between different faiths and beliefs on campuses since April 2010, will be renamed and relaunched as Campus Lokahi.

Campus Lokahi will explore the idea of ‘lokahi’ (harmony through diversity) on campuses through a programme of research and action. It aims to equip students and staff to flourish in situations of diversity and to work for positive social change with people of different faiths and beliefs.

In the 2012/2013 academic year, the Campus Lokahi team will be working closely with the students' unions and student societies at six different campuses: Birkbeck College, University of London; University of Birmingham; Heythrop College, University of London; King's College London; Queen Mary, University of London; and University College London.

The Campusalam website (www.campusalam.org) will continue to be active hosting resources and advice for Muslim students and staff.

For more information about Campus Lokahi, visit http://www.lokahi.org.uk/impact/projects/campus\_lokahi.

Holocaust Memorial Day Youth Champion Programme

Holocaust Memorial Day (HMD) is launching a new Youth Championship Programme. HMD takes place on 27 January each year in remembrance of the millions who lost their lives during the Holocaust and in subsequent genocides.

The Youth Championship Programme will launch with a workshop held in London on 18 November. During the workshop young people will be encouraged to respond to the theme of HMD 2013 'Communities Together: Building a Bridge' in ways that are relevant to them. The aim is to train young people to become youth ambassadors for HMD, spreading the importance of its message to a younger generation.

There will be two workshops for those from 13 to 17 and 18 to 24 held from 1.30pm to 3.30pm and 4.00pm to 6.00pm respectively. The deadline for registering for the workshop is 9 November.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, North Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham. The scheme has also recently been undertaking some capacity building work in Luton.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, due to end in March 2013, which at present operates on a rolling basis with no deadlines. Grant amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects> Inter Faith Week projects are among those which can be considered.

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund

The Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund provides small grants to community groups and local social action projects at the ward level. The £30 million Fund is being used to provide small grants for community projects in some of the most deprived areas in the country. The Community Development Foundation (CDF), which is administering the fund, released a list of wards eligible to receive the funding earlier in October 2011. Community First panels of local people are administering the funding in these areas. The second grants round has opened and applications may be made up until the end of the financial year (31 March 2013). For information on the Fund and how to apply, visit <http://www.cdf.org.uk/content/funding-programmes/community-first/neighbourhood-matched-fund>.

The Fund has a sister project the 'Endowment Match Challenge' which seeks to match £50 million in Government funding by raising a further £100 million through corporate and individual philanthropic giving. This is being administered by the CDF and delivered via Community Foundation Network. For more information, visit

Listed Places of Worship Grant Scheme extended

The Listed Places of Worship Grant Scheme (LPWGS) has now been extended to reflect the new arrangements that came into effect on 1 October.

As part of the 2012 Budget the Government announced the withdrawal of the zero rate of VAT for approved alterations to listed buildings, effective from 1 October. As a result the LPWGS has been extended to offset the financial impact of the VAT change on listed places of worship undertaking alteration works. The extended scheme will incorporate repairs, maintenance and alterations to listed places of worship.

Other minor changes to the scheme include the return to a system of monthly payments; and some of the restrictions on eligibility criteria on certain repair and maintenance works have been lifted.

Inter Faith Network for the UK Strategic Review

The Inter Faith Network for the UK has begun a strategic review which is looking at issues such as: the place of IFN in the wider context of inter faith engagement and UK society; IFN's membership and patterns of engagement and consultation; programmes of work undertaken by IFN; the place and continued relevance of Inter Faith Week; the sustainability of IFN; views on the future work of IFN; and governance and operational issues. For more detail about the Review and the Working Group taking this forward see the November 2012 issue of the e-bulletin at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/ebulletin.htm>

The Strategic Review Working Group, chaired by Patricia Stoa, has met in November, December and January for opening discussion of some of the issues and to consider how best to draw in views of the range of relevant constituencies and to develop one of the Review's key tools, which is a questionnaire on the topics and questions which the Review Group is keen to hear views. There will be a link to this from the IFN website, www.interfaith.org.uk when it goes live, which is planned for the beginning of February.

New IFN Co-Chair from the Christian Community

At the beginning of the year, the Revd Bob Fyffe, General Secretary of Churches Together in Britain and Ireland, took over from the Rt Revd Dr Alastair Redfern, Bishop of Derby, as IFN's Co-Chair from the Christian community. He brings a wide knowledge of inter faith issues and ecumenical engagement with these by the Churches. Bishop Alastair was thanked for his much appreciated service to IFN at the 2012 AGM and by the Executive Committee at their meeting in September.

A Year of Service

All faith communities have within their ethical teachings the values of compassion, care and social justice. One of the ways that their members put these values into everyday practice is through volunteering. To highlight this, a special programme called 'A Year of Service' took place throughout 2012. Each month faith communities hosted days of volunteering, in which people of other faiths and non-religious beliefs were invited to join. One of the highlights of the project was showcasing faith based social action and a national event with this focus was held on 27 November during Inter Faith Week. This was supported by the Department for Communities and Local Government and the Coexist Foundation and arranged with the assistance of the Faith based Regeneration Network. The event also had a link to the Near Neighbours programme. At the event, there were stalls showing examples of social action by different faith communities. Integration Minister, Don Foster MP, paid tribute to the work of faith communities, the Senior Minister for Faith and Communities, Baroness Warsi, gave a speech on 'Inter Faith Action and Identity' and there were contributions from a range of faith community and inter faith practitioners including from FbRN and the Inter Faith Network.

A short report about A Year of Service will be published soon. The Government has indicated a keenness to see a continuation of faith and social action work of this kind and DCLG, which supported A Year of Service, is expected to make an announcement relating to this shortly.

Inter Faith Week

Inter Faith Week 2012 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales ran from Sunday 18 to Tuesday 27 November. This was a special, extended Week, with a number of events taking place linked to both the Diamond Jubilee and A Year of Service (see above). A wide range of events took place across the country, and those which were registered on the national website can be viewed at <http://www.interfaithweek.org/events/events/main-events-calendar>. The Week received some enthusiastic media coverage, including a piece in The Times and coverage in many local papers. The popular resources for schools, in addition to being available on the main Week website, were also hosted at the TES website for 2012.

If you have any photographs from the 2012 Week which you would like to submit for IFN to draw upon for the IFW website, please email these to Interfaithweek@interfaith.org.uk along with brief details of what the photograph is about and a photo credit.

Scottish Inter Faith Week ran from 25 November until 1 December, with a special event held at the Scottish Parliament. Further information is available from Interfaith Scotland at www.scottishinterfaithcouncil.org.

National RE Subject Review

As noted in the November issue of the E-bulletin, the Religious Education Council for England and Wales (REC) is currently carrying out a National RE Subject Review. The Subject Review relates to England. Phase One of the Review, which included wide consultation with RE stakeholders and drew together a report and recommendations, is now complete. Phase Two is about to commence.

Work in Phase Two will be led by two Task Groups. Recruitment for the first of those groups has just been completed. Task Group One will develop non statutory guidance material on RE and its curriculum, with particular concern for its aims, its distinctive knowledge, understanding and skills and its assessment. Task Group Two will develop strategies designed to structure and sustain the future of RE. Following the recommendations identified by the Phase One report, this group will work to build influential links with different RE stakeholders to promote RE in schools as well as key external bodies, including the DfE and examination boards. In liaising with different stakeholders and policy makers, they will explore ways in which the collective efforts and wisdom of the whole RE community can be optimised for the benefit of the subject and young people studying it.

Further information about the Review is available at <http://www.religiouseducationcouncil.org/content/view/292/100/>.

Eric Pickles speech on integration and launch of English language service competition

On 13 January the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, Rt Hon Eric Pickles, spoke on integration policy at an event co-hosted by think-tanks British Future and Policy Exchange. He outlined key areas of importance for the Government's integration approach over the coming year.

In the speech, Mr Pickles emphasised the localist nature of the Government's approach and the importance of English language learning. He said that what made people British was not their ethnic or religious background but their adoption of "great British liberties" and their ambition. Faith was another key emphasis. Referencing 'participation' as a crucial part of integration policy, Mr Pickles said "Our faith communities are past masters of bringing people together...we definitely do 'God.' Faith provides a clear moral compass and a call to action that benefits society as a whole." He attacked "intolerance and aggressive secularism" which he said had undermined the freedom of religion and said "We're committed to the right of Christians and all people of all beliefs to follow their faith openly, wear religious symbols and pray in public." He used the examples of 'A Year of Service' and the 'Near Neighbours' programme to illustrate 'why faith still counts', saying that plans would soon be announced to build on the success of A Year of Service and that his Department would be supporting a further 190 Near Neighbours projects.

A final part of the speech attacked extremism, racism and intolerance, Mr Pickles said that the Government would "continue work to isolate extremism...there can be no hiding place for racists in our society." He attacked the EDL, the 'poppy burners' and anti-Muslim racism and said that "In 2012 we won the argument" against those groups.

2011 Census data on religion and belief

On 11 December the Office of National Statistics (ONS) released the second of five sets of data from the 2011 Census, including data on religion in England and Wales. The data was gathered by a voluntary question "What is your religion" in the same format as the 2001 question. This means that the two sets of data (2001 and 2011) are directly comparable, although there are many circumstantial factors affecting the statistics, such as an increased rate of self-identifying with various groups.

Key points in the data on religion include a decrease in the number of people identifying as 'Christian' from 37.3 million to 33.2 million, this represents a 12.3 drop in real terms and a drop from 72% to 59% of Census respondents. All other groups in this category have registered a growth in numbers of people identifying with them. The Muslim population increased from 1.5 million to 2.7 million, an increase of 42.85%, making up 5% of census respondents increasing from 3% in 2001. Those who identify as non-religious increased from 7.7 million to 14 million - an increase of 45.25% in real terms and an increase from 15% to 25% of Census respondents.

Baha'i	5,021	0.0090%	7.49%
Buddhist	247,743	0.442%	41.69%
Christian	33,243,175	59.28%	-12.32%
Hindu	816,633	1.46%	32.38%
Jain	20,288	0.036%	25.41%
Jewish	263,346	0.470%	1.30%
Muslim (Islam)	2,706,066	4.83%	42.85%
No religion	14,097,229	25.14%	45.25%
Sikh	423,158	0.755%	22.17%
Zoroastrian	4,105	0.0073%	8.94%

The data on religion are set out in the table below. The figures given are for England and Wales and have next to them the percentage of total respondents in those countries. The 2001 figures and respondent percentages have been included for comparison as well as the numerical and percentage increase/decrease between the two sets of figures.

New EHRC Commissioners appointed

On 14 January the Government announced the new members of the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC), who will, alongside its Chair, Baroness Onora O'Neill, make up the EHRC board. They are:

- Ms Caroline Waters OBE (Deputy Chair)
- Ms Sarah Anderson
- Ms Ann Beynon OBE (Wales Commissioner)
- Ms Kaliani Lyle (Scotland Commissioner)
- Mr Chris Holmes MBE (Disability Commissioner)
- Mr Evelyn Asante-Mensah OBE
- Mr Laura Carstensen
- Mr Professor Swaran Singh
- Ms Sarah Veale CBE

The new Commissioners come from a range of backgrounds with ties to particular equality strands. None have a background in working specifically with people of different faiths and beliefs.

Update on Equal Civil Marriage legislation

On 11 December the Government published its response to its consultation document on equal marriage issued in March 2012. The Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport, and Minister for Women and Equalities, Ms Maria Miller, spoke on the Government's plans for equal civil marriage legislation on that day to the House of Commons. She said that "the response I am publishing today makes it clear that we will enable same-sex couples to get married through a civil ceremony. We will also enable religious organisations that wish to conduct same-sex marriages to do so....I am also clear that there should be complete respect for religious organisations and individual religious leaders who do not wish to marry same-sex couples. The Government must balance the importance of treating all couples equally and fairly with respect for religious organisations' rights to their beliefs."

The Government's response to the consultation outlines the proposed arrangements for granting civil marriage to same sex couples and both civil and religious marriage to same sex couple in religious organisations that 'opt-in' to this system. To ensure that religious organisations are not forced into marrying same sex couples the response outlines a 'quadruple lock' of protections for faith communities against this:

- The legislation will state explicitly that no religious organisation, or individual minister, can be compelled to marry same-sex couples or to permit this to happen on their premises.
- It will be unlawful for religious organisations, or their ministers, to marry same-sex couples unless they have expressly opted in to do so and the legislation will make it clear that no law requires any religious organisation to 'opt-in'.
- The Equality Act 2010 will be amended to provide that no discrimination claims can be brought against religious organisation or individual ministers for refusing to marry a same-sex couple or allowing their premises to be used for this purpose.
- The legislation will not apply to the Church of England (or the Church of Wales), or to their Canon Law. This means that it will continue to be illegal for these Churches to marry same-sex couples or to 'opt-in' to do so.

The consultation on civil marriage received a record 228,000 responses along with 19 related petitions. On the question on whether the Government should open up religious same sex marriage the majority of respondents answered that it should. Currently there is no information on when a Bill is likely to be introduced into Parliament.

Scottish Government Marriage and Civil Partnership (Scotland) Bill Consultation

On 12 December the Scottish Government opened a consultation on a Bill to bring into law same sex marriage and religion and belief registration of civil partnerships. The decision to move forward on this was a result of a previous consultation held on the subject in Scotland in 2011. The present consultation explores the detail of how the legislation might be implemented.

The proposed Bill would allow religion and belief groups which wished to perform same sex marriages and same-sex civil partnerships to do so if they 'opted in' to the scheme. Religion and belief organisations would be under no obligation to do so and it would not be legal for celebrants to perform same sex marriages in places of worship owned by these organisations unless the organisation has opted in. In order to ensure that there is no compulsion of religion and belief celebrants to perform same sex marriage the Scottish Government has asked the UK Government to amend the Equalities Act (2010) to afford them further protections.

The Bill also includes changes to existing marriage legislation including the ability to hold a civil marriage ceremony in any location and a 'belief ceremony' as a third type of marriage ceremony designed so that groups such as Humanists can have distinctive and legally binding ceremonies.

The consultation will run until 20 March 2013.

European Court of Human Rights judgements

On 15 January the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR) ruled on the cases brought against the UK by Ms Eweida, Ms Chaplin, Ms Ladele, and Mr McFarlane submitted to the court in 2010 (Ms Eweida and others vs UK). All stipulated that the UK had failed to take into account their fundamental liberty to manifest their religion as enshrined in the European Convention on Human Rights. In the case of Ms Eweida and Ms Chaplin this referred to the wearing of a cross in their places of work as a BA check-in clerk and nurse respectively. In the case of Ms Ladele and Mr McFarlane the cases related to sanctions taken against them by their employers after they objected to carrying out services which they considered to condone homosexual unions in their positions as, respectively, a registrar and a counsellor. Ms Eweida, Ms Chaplin and Mr McFarlane all argued their cases under Article 9 of the Convention taken in conjunction with Article 14 and Ms Ladele argued under Article 14 of the Convention taken in conjunction with Article 9.

The ECtHR ruled in favour of Ms Eweida, stating that "a fair balance had not been struck between, on the one side of the scales, her desire to manifest her religious belief and be able to communicate that belief to others, and, on the other side of the scales, her employer's wish to project a certain corporate image", finding that the UK authorities had failed to protect her right to manifest her religion in breach of Article 9. However the court ruled against Ms Ladele, Ms Chaplin, and Mr McFarlane stating that they found no evidence that either Articles 9 or 14 had been breached in these cases and that the UK authorities had struck the right balance in these cases.

The cases of Ms Chaplin and Mr McFarlane were voted on unanimously by the seven judge bench, but in the cases of Ms Eweida and of Ms Ladele dissenting opinions were issued by two judges in each case, which were annexed to the judgement.

The judgement can be downloaded from: <http://hudoc.echr.coe.int>.

Commission on a Bill of Rights report

On 18 December the Commission on a Bill of Rights presented to Parliament its report 'A UK Bill of Rights? The Choice Before Us'.

On the issue of whether or not there should be a UK Bill of Rights, seven of the Commission's nine members considered there to be a strong argument in favour of it. This was because such a Bill would incorporate and build on the UK's obligations under the European Convention on Human Rights, and would not lessen the protections offered under current Human Rights Act and the devolution settlements – although a new Bill could usefully define more clearly the scope of some rights and adjust the balance between different rights. The most persuasive arguments that the members of the commission found for a new Bill were the lack of ownership by the public of the existing Human Rights Act and the European Convention on Human Rights, and the opportunity which a UK Bill of Rights would offer to provide greater protection against possible abuses of power.

The two members who opposed this conclusion, Baroness Helena Kennedy and Mr Philippe Sands, concluded that it was not the right time to dedicate time and resources to a new UK Bill of Rights. They said that the majority of Commission members failed to identify any shortcomings in the Human Rights Act or its application by the courts. While remaining open to the idea of a UK Bill of Rights, they feared that concerns over the issue of public ownership of rights could be used to promote other aims, including the diminution of rights available to all people, and a de-coupling of the UK from the European Convention on Human Rights.

All the members of the Commission agreed that any future debate on a UK Bill of Rights must be acutely sensitive to issues of devolution and, in the case of Scotland, to possible independence and that it must involve the devolved administrations in Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales. In respect of Northern Ireland, the Commission made it clear that it does not wish its conclusions to be interpreted or used in such a way as to interfere in, or delay, the separate Northern Ireland Bill of Rights process.

Charitable Incorporated Organisations (CIOs) now available in England

The first applications to set up Charitable Incorporated Organisations (CIOs) are now being submitted (with the first registrations expected in January 2013). A CIO is created on registration with the Charity Commission and is subject to the sole regulation of the Commission. It has the advantage of limited liability without the dual regulation of charity and company law. Initially, CIOs will only be available for new charities, and then for existing unincorporated charities. Existing charitable companies will not be able to convert until 2014 at the earliest (an exact date is yet to be confirmed). According to the Charity Commission, CIOs will be most suitable for small to medium sized organisations which employ staff and/or enter into contracts. If a charity is likely to want to issue debentures, a company limited by guarantee will be a better option.

For further information, visit http://www.charity-commission.gov.uk/Start\_up\_a\_charity/Do\_I\_need\_to\_register/CIOs/default.aspx.

Note: The option to register as a CIO is available in England and Wales. In Scotland organisations have been able to register as a Scottish Charitable Incorporated Organisation (SCIO) since April 2011. In Northern Ireland organisations have been able to register as a CIO since 2008.

INTERNATIONAL UPDATES

World Interfaith Harmony Week

A World Interfaith Harmony Week was proposed at the UN General Assembly on September 23, 2010 by HM King Abdullah II of Jordan and adopted by the UN the following month. It takes place in the first week of February. The Week was based on the work of the Common Word initiative which started in 2007 and called for Muslim and Christian leaders to engage in a dialogue based on two common fundamental religious Commandments - Love of God, and Love of the Neighbour - without compromising any of their own religious tenets. Events can be registered on the site www.worldinterfaithharmonyweek.com

While the decision has been taken to keep Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland in November for a range of practical reasons and Scotland also continues to mark its Inter Faith Week in November/December, the World Week is marked by a number of organisations in the UK, including the branches in this country of international inter faith bodies organisations which help raise awareness of, and encourage involvement with, the vital issue of global inter-religious harmony.

PROJECTS

REC Young Ambassadors Programme

The Religious Education Council for England and Wales (REC) is launching a new Young Ambassadors for RE scheme. The scheme will give students in England and Wales aged 11-18 opportunities to:

- share their enthusiasm and interest for RE and gain leadership experience;
- give their perspective to adults who work to support RE at the highest levels, such as the RE Council and MPs in parliament;
- develop skills in communicating successfully to a wide range of audiences;
- build up relevant experience for college, UCAS or job applications; and
- meet and debate with other young people about why RE matters.

Further information, and application forms, are available at <http://www.religiouseducationcouncil.org/content/view/293/100/>.

The closing date for applications is 1 March 2013.

RE Council 40th anniversary sponsored walk

The Religious Education Council for England and Wales (RE Council) is organising a sponsored walk to mark its 40th anniversary. Each walk will take in a number of places of religious significance. The walk will be held in cities, towns and villages across England and Wales during May 2013. The walk is for anyone aged over 18 wishing to support RE in schools and aims to raise the profile of the RE Council. The aim is for 20 different walks to take place, each with fifty participants, with each participant raising at least £100 in sponsorship. The money raised will be divided 50/50 between the RE Council and another charity chosen by each local team.

People can take part by: volunteering as a member of the national organising team; volunteering as a member of a local organising team; volunteering to take part as a walker; or committing to sponsor someone else. For further information, contact sarah@religiouseducationcouncil.org.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, the City of Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham. The scheme has also recently been undertaking some capacity building work in Luton.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, which at present operates on a rolling basis with no deadlines, but is due to end in March 2014. Grant amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects> Inter Faith Week projects are among those which can be considered.

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Heritage Lottery Fund Places of Worship grants

In December the Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) launched its new grant programmes for places of worship in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland. As previously, the priority remains structural repairs urgently required within the next two years that have been clearly identified and defined in a condition survey such as a Quinquennial Inspection. The new programme is also designed to encourage a wider range of people to take an interest in their local places of worship and to help care for them in the future. They hope to achieve this by finding new ways in which places of worship can be used by the wider community beyond the primary function of worship and/or by providing new opportunities for people to find out about the heritage of places of worship. They will also fund new capital works, such as toilets or kitchens, improvements to heating or electrical systems, other works to improve energy efficiency, and works to assist with the on-going maintenance of the place of worship.

Decisions are made four times a year by local Committees. The first deadlines for submission are at the end of February 2013 for the first Committee meeting being held in June. Full guidelines can be found online at http://www.hlf.org.uk/HowToApply/programmes/Pages/Grants\_Places\_Worship\_Engl\_and.aspx.

Report on inter faith activity at grassroots in Wales

A report, "Assessment of the Extent to which Inter-faith Activity is Practiced amongst Grassroots Faith Communities in Wales" presents the findings of research in 2012 looking at levels of regular inter faith contact at the grassroots level between different faith communities in Wales. The overall objectives of the work were to:

- Assess the extent to which grassroots faith communities within Wales are engaged in sustained positive contact with each other (eg types of activity, level of community support, participants, geographical spread) and why.
- Provide evidence of good practice to the Faith Communities Forum, to support the promotion of appropriate inter faith activity.
- Increase the Welsh Government's knowledge of inter faith activity, to enable it to make more informed decisions on how it can engage with faith groups, and how forums such as the Faith Communities Forum should be constituted.

The report was commissioned by the Welsh Government from Resources for Change in partnership with the Community Development Foundation. It can be downloaded from:

Birmingham Faith Guiding course

The Faith Encounter Programme seeks to train people of all faiths in Birmingham as 'Faith Guides' so that places of worship are better equipped to offer high quality educational visits. The course is designed to provide participants with the knowledge, understanding and skills required for successful guiding around a particular place of worship.

The course is running on Wednesday evenings from 2 January to 27 March at the Faithful Neighbourhoods Centre in Sparkhill, Birmingham. Applicants must be over 18 and have the ability to communicate well in English. The course is offered at the discounted rate of £33 which is the registration fee to the Institute of Tourist Guiding. This may be subsidised by the place of worship and concessions may be available.

Historic Religious Buildings Alliance training event

The Historic Religious Buildings Alliance, in partnership with PurcellUK, is hosting a training event for those who are involved with building projects in churches and other places of worship on Thursday 21 February at All Saints Church, Daresbury, Cheshire <http://www.daresburycofe.org.uk/>.

The day will help with managing all stages of a building project in a place of worship, from start up through to making sure benefits are achieved over the long term. The day is open to people of any denomination or faith group, whatever the size, type or location of their place of worship. It will be relevant to new builds, alterations and repairs and to both single building and multiple building projects. Although focusing on projects of a significant size, many of the principles apply in simplified form to smaller projects, and the day should be useful for all sizes of project.

Everyone is welcome, and especially those in the North West. If this day is successful, training events will be run in other regions. Further details about the day and how to book can be found at http://www.hrballiance.org.uk/?page\_id=5 and/or <http://www.purcelluk.com/news-events/news#/>. ## The Cambridge Inter-faith Programme Summer School 2013

In August 2013 the Cambridge Inter-faith Programme will bring together an international group from Islamic, Christian and Jewish backgrounds, for three-weeks of immersion in inter faith education and encounter. Students benefit from a series of lectures delivered by specialist academics and peacemakers from around the world; they are given training in the practice of inter faith Scriptural Reasoning, and are facilitated through a process of teaching one another about aspects of their traditions. The Summer School also includes visits to religious communities around the UK. Most importantly, participants benefit from opportunities to get to know and learn from their fellow participants, who come from a wide variety of countries; relationships which last well beyond the Summer School itself.

Applications are due by Friday 1 February 2013. For more information, visit <http://www.interfaith.cam.ac.uk/en/education/summerschool>. The Summer School film can be seen at <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=x6P5iwWICkU>.

Re-evaluating Chaplaincy course

The St Christopher's Hospice in London will be holding a one day course on 4 February 2013 on 'Re-evaluating chaplaincy'. The day will reconsider what the chaplain does within hospice and palliative care settings and how as member of a multi-professional team the chaplain can continue to play an important role in the holistic care of patients and their families.

This day will examine: models for community engagement with clergy and faith leaders; how the chaplain can educate clergy, ministers and other pastoral workers in end of life care; the Chaplain as a “Hopeful Presence” – an evaluation of the chaplain’s presence with others; and Community Chaplaincy Listening.

The day is aimed at chaplains, clergy, faith leaders, spiritual carers, bereavement workers, social workers and those who have an interest in the ways in which meaning and creating meaning help the processes of dying and bereavement. There is a charge to attend. For more information on this course and booking details, visit <http://www.stchristophers.org.uk/education/course/re-evaluating-chaplaincy>.

INFORM - Director

INFORM is a registered charity that collects, evaluates and disseminates information about minority religions which is as reliable and objective as possible. It is seeking a new Director. The Director is responsible to INFORM’s Board of Governors for ensuring that its aims are achieved. The job is described as requiring ‘vision’ in the sense of setting the directions in which research needs to be steered in order to investigate the constantly changing landscape of minority religions and the reactions to them. The Director also needs to be a 'self-starter' and 'doer' who not only initiates new areas of research but also sees them through to completion, including the dissemination of findings for the benefit of stakeholders and the public.

Further particulars and the application form can be downloaded from www.inform.ac. Applications and any questions should be sent to informdirector@yahoo.co.uk. The closing date for applications is 1 March.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

Holocaust Memorial Day 27 January 2013

Holocaust Memorial Day provides an opportunity for everyone to learn lessons from the Holocaust, Nazi persecution and subsequent genocides and apply them to the present day to create a safer, better future. The theme for Holocaust Memorial Day 2013 is 'Communities Together: Build a Bridge'.

This year's theme is one which has prompted wide local inter faith involvement. Some examples of events which are being held can be found under diary dates.

Interfaith Scotland, in partnership with Glasgow City Council, Education Scotland and the Scottish Government, is organising an 8-day programme of events to mark Holocaust Memorial Day with invited guests Jean Paul Samputu and Sello Hatang. They will be speaking at schools in Glasgow and Edinburgh, refugee organisations, faith communities, film showings at the GFT and a main event which will take place at Glasgow City Chambers.

To find out more, visit www.hmd.org.uk.

Inter Faith Network for the UK Strategic Review

The Inter Faith Network for the UK (IFN) has initiated a Strategic Review which is looking at issues such as: the place of IFN in the wider context of inter faith engagement and UK society; its membership and patterns of engagement and consultation; programmes of work undertaken by it; the place and continued relevance of Inter Faith Week; the sustainability of IFN; views on its future work; and governance and operational issues. For more detail about the Review and the Working Group taking this forward see the November 2012 issue of the e-bulletin at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/ebulletin.htm>

As part of its process of developing recommendations, the Strategic Review Working Group, chaired by Patricia Stoot, has put out a questionnaire on the topics and questions on which it is keen to hear views. Organisations which would like to respond can download an interactive pdf from www.interfaith.org.uk. The response deadline is Monday 18 March. Hard copy of the questionnaire is available on request from strategicreview@interfaith.org.uk.

Inter Faith Week 2013

Dates for Inter Faith Week 2013 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales have been confirmed as 17 to 23 November.

Writing on the 'Liberal Democrat Voice' website, Rt Hon Don Foster, Minister for Communities and Local Government praised the Government's 'Integration approach' for: "supporting projects that pioneer innovative ideas and encourage integration, such as National Inter faith Week."

Scottish Inter Faith Week runs from 24 November until 1 December, including, as usual, St Andrew's Day.

EHRC guidance on religion and belief in the workplace

In February the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) published guidance on religion and belief in the workplace based on the judgements in January of the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR) on the four combined cases (Ladele, McFarlane, Eweida, and Chaplin) on religious freedom.

The judgements affect the responsibilities of employers to put in place policies to protect religion or belief rights in the workplace both for the rights of employees and the rights of customers. While the cases were brought exclusively by Christians the implications of the judgement apply to employees of any religion or belief, including those of non-religious beliefs.

The EHRC has produced two guidance documents in response to this. The first is a short guide for employers on how to accommodate needs of people of religions or beliefs in the workplace, including best practice examples of how to deal with employee requests regarding their religion or belief. The second is a legal explanation of the ECtHR judgements which goes into detail on their implications for UK legislation.

Red tape cut for community events

In January the Government today announced plans to cut unnecessary regulations around neighbourhood events. The change will mean that community venues – including community centres, schools, village halls and hospitals - will be exempt from licensing restrictions. People will be able to put on cultural events like dance displays and concerts without having to apply to the local council for a licence. More information can be found on the website of the Department for Culture, Media and Sport at http://www.culture.gov.uk/news/media\_releases/9652.aspx.

'Together in Service'

On 14 February the Government launched a faith based social action initiative called 'Together in Service' (TiS), which follows on from the 'A Year of Service' programme held during 2012. Speaking at the launch of the Jubilee+ organisation's National Church and Social Action Survey, Baroness Warsi said: "Our faith groups make a huge contribution to society with an army of dedicated volunteers who commit their time and enthusiasm throughout the year. I'm thrilled to announce Together in Service today to build on this excellent work."

TiS is a 3 year programme, designed to motivate new social action work, especially multi-faith volunteering projects, and to celebrate all the social action that faith communities already undertake. It will be based around an on-going monthly calendar of faith-based volunteering, supported by a 'fellowship' of active volunteers and A Together in Service small-grants fund to encourage new multi faith social action projects in areas where there may be a lack of confidence or knowledge in undertaking volunteering work in a multi-faith way. The fund will be financed by contributions from faith communities with DCLG match-funding on a 1:1 basis, up to a maximum of £100,000 per annum.

In addition to the match-funding for grants DCLG will offer £50,000 per annum in total grant to the organisation or partnership of organisations at national level that is selected to develop the programme, in consultation with the faith communities, following a tendering process. It is expected that this will be opened shortly and that the programme will be operational by late Spring.

Update on equal marriage legislation

The January edition of the e-bulletin reported that the Government had drawn up a bill to implement same sex marriage. The Marriage (same-sex couples) Bill (2013) had its First Reading in the House of Commons on 24 January. The House of Commons gave the Bill a Second Reading on 4 February by 400 to 175 votes, on a free vote.

The Bill is now being debated by a Select Committee which met on 14 February and is expected meet again on 28 February. The Committee is due to report on 12 March. The Bill will then have a Third Reading in the House of Commons before proceeding to the House of Lords.

For further information about the process of the Bill and for transcripts of the Second Reading and Committee debates, visit <http://services.parliament.uk/bills/2012-13/marriagesamesexcouplesbill.html>

Girlguiding and its 'Promise'

Girlguiding is carrying out a consultation about its 'Promise'. Individuals can take part in this consultation through an online survey until 3 March by visiting Girlguiding.org.uk and following the link from the home page. Organisational responses can also be made through the online survey or by e-mailing guiding.development@girlguiding.org.uk by 11 March. A pdf of the questionnaire is available from this same email address for those who would like this in preparing an emailed organisational response.

Girlguiding explains that it provides girls and young women with a framework to support the development of their personal values. This framework is set out in the Promise and the Guide Law. The Promise has evolved over the years in order better to reflect the needs of girls and changes in society, changing 11 times over the past 100 years.

The Promise and the reason for the consultation are described by Girlguiding thus: "The Promise is guiding's beating heart – it's the core expression of our values and the common standard that brings us all together. But over the past few years we have heard from more and more girls and volunteers who struggle with the wording, particularly in interpreting what it really means to girls today. Girlguiding is committed to retaining a Promise that is in line with its original principles, but we know it's crucial that girls and young women understand and believe in the words they say. That's why, in the 2012-14 Strategic Plan agreed by our Board of Trustees, it was decided to invite all current members of Girlguiding UK as well as the wider public to discuss the wording of the Promise. We know feelings are strong and wide-ranging. This is why everyone's opinion matters." Girlguiding are keen to hear from a wide range of individuals and organisations as part of their consultation.

National Curriculum update – implications for RE

On 7 February Michael Gove, Secretary of State for Education, made a statement in the Commons regarding changes to the proposed new arrangements for the National Curriculum. In his statement he unveiled the new draft National Curriculum for England and Wales, announced major new changes to the GCSE system, and new measures of school accountability.

Responding to the announcement, the RE Council said that it saw the implications for Religious Education (RE) arising from this statement as mixed. Mr Gove had announced that it was no longer planned to introduce 'EBacc Certificates' as a replacement to the GCSE qualification in EBacc subjects. However, the EBacc as a performance indicator will retain the same subject make-up as now in the new curriculum, with RE still not included as a Humanities subject.

The new school accountability measures which formed part of the announcement (Performance8) allow for three further GCSEs to be taken alongside EBacc 'core subjects' in measuring schools' success, and these include the full course in GCSE Religious Studies (though not the GCSE short course). The REC commented that the EBacc subjects still appeared to be the 'headline measure', and saw this as implying that non-EBacc subjects still have 'second class academic status'. The announcement does, however, underline that: "all state schools ... must teach RE to pupils at every key stage."

PROJECTS

Interfaith Glasgow

Interfaith Glasgow is a new project fostering understanding, respect, and cooperation between Glasgow's faith communities. Glasgow is a religiously diverse city with a long history of inter faith engagement, beginning with the establishment of the first inter faith group in Scotland in the 1970s. Building on this legacy, the project is aiming to create a sustainable structure for inter faith engagement in the city; establish effective communication networks; and increase participation through new initiatives. The project is hosted by Interfaith Scotland and funded by the Scottish Government. Its website is www.interfaithglasgow.org.

Groundwork for the initiative was laid by research commissioned by Interfaith Scotland last year and published last month: Inter Faith Engagement in the City of Glasgow conducted by Dr Suzanne Bunniss of Firecloud Research. It can be found at <http://glasgowforumoffaiths.files.wordpress.com/2013/02/interfaith-engagement-in-glasgow.pdf>.

Dr Rose Drew was appointed as Glasgow Interfaith Officer in October and is exploring different models of inter faith structures as part of the development process. A part-time Project Worker and part-time Youth Worker are shortly to be appointed and will work, respectively, on developing inter faith events in Glasgow and involving young people of different faiths. Further information is available from Dr Rose Drew at rose.drew@interfaithglasgow.org.

Faith Matters Ambassadors

Faith Matters is looking for young people aged between 16 and 25 who live, work, worship or study in the London borough of Westminster to be part of their Faith Ambassador project.

The project will include 40 young people from all different faith and ethnic backgrounds, who will undertake inter faith workshops and training to become faith cohesion ambassadors for their faith community. The training will take place across three days in March. (Dates are to be confirmed with participants.) For more information, contact Sally on 020 79355573 or at sally@faith-matters.org.

Three Faiths Forum Undergraduate ParliaMentors programme

Applications are now open for the 2013-14 Undergraduate ParliaMentors programme of the Three Faiths Forum.

The programme is open to undergraduates who identify with a faith or belief (religious or non-religious), are keen to work with others of different backgrounds and aspire to be political or community leaders. The Three Faiths Forum is looking for participants who have an interest in making a positive impact on society beyond university, and who take an interest in British politics.

For further information, visit <http://www.3ff.org.uk/mentoring/apply/>.

Bursaries to study PGCE Religious Education

Candidates can train to teach Religious Education (RE) through a PGCE course in 28 universities in England, 2 in Wales and 2 in Scotland. Although the government no longer provides a bursary for RE, there are other sources of support. For 2013-14, trainees in secondary RE could be eligible to apply to one of the Church College Trusts for a grant towards course expenses or living expenses. Candidates can check www.cstg.org.uk/acct for details of the trusts and foundations to which they can apply.

Heritage Lottery Fund 'Sharing Heritage' programme

The Heritage Lottery fund has announced the opening of its new programme, entitled 'Sharing Heritage', which is a small grants programme for people to explore their community's heritage. The programme includes grants from £3,000 to £10,000 and is for any not-for-profit group wanting explore, share and celebrate their community's heritage. Activities which can be supported include events, exhibitions, festivals and celebrations, producing local history publications, conserving individual heritage items, site and places and volunteer training and support. Further information can be found online at

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, the City of Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham. The scheme has also recently been undertaking some capacity building work in Luton.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, which at present operates on a rolling basis with no deadlines, but is due to end in March 2014. Grant amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects> Inter Faith Week projects are among those which can be considered.

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund

The Community First Neighbourhood Matched Fund provides small grants to community groups and local social action projects at the ward level. The £30 million Fund, administered by the Community Development Foundation, is being used to provide small grants for community projects in some of the most deprived areas in the country. Applications for the second grants round may be made up until the end of the financial year (31 March). For information on the Fund and how to apply, visit <http://www.cdf.org.uk/content/funding-programmes/community-first/neighbourhood-matched-fund>.

Listed Places of Worship Grant Scheme

The Listed Places of Worship Grant Scheme makes grants towards the VAT incurred in making repairs and carrying out necessary alterations to listed buildings mainly used for public worship. For more information, visit <http://www.lpwscheme.org.uk>.

Heritage Lottery Fund Places of Worship grants

In December the Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) launched its new grant programmes for places of worship in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland. As previously, the priority remains structural repairs urgently required within the next two years that have been clearly identified and defined in a condition survey such as a Quinquennial Inspection. The new programme is also designed to encourage a wider range of people to take an interest in their local places of worship and to help care for them in the future. They hope to achieve this by finding new ways in which places of worship can be used by the wider community beyond the primary function of worship and/or by providing new opportunities for people to find out about the heritage of places of worship. They will also fund new capital works, such as toilets or kitchens, improvements to heating or electrical systems, other works to improve energy efficiency, and works to assist with the on-going maintenance of the place of worship.

Decisions are made four times a year by local Committees. The first deadline for submissions was the end of February for the Committee meetings being held in June. For the next Committee meetings, being held in September, the deadline is 31 May. Full guidelines can be found online at http://www.hlf.org.uk/HowToApply/programmes/Pages/Grants\_Places\_Worship\_Engl\_and.aspx.

RESOURCES AND TRAINING

Faithful Providers* report

Demos has published a report entitled Faithful Providers, in response to the Government's White Paper on Open Public Services. The report, which investigates 20 faith-motivated organisations across a variety of policy areas, argues that local authorities stand to benefit both financially and through improved community relations if religious groups are brought into service delivery. It also argues that, if religious groups in receipt of public money were to be required to work with organisations of other faiths when delivering services, the result could be improved integration, a greater sense of community and stronger local institutions. It suggests that local authorities should cease to view commissioning as purely an economic decision, and instead consider the added social value that charitable and faith providers bring.

The report is available to download free or can be purchased in hard copy for £10.00. For further information, visit <http://www.demos.co.uk/publications/faithfulproviders>.

Inter Faith Journeys and Engagements

Following on from the launch of its postcards on the 'Myths of Inter Faith Engagement' during Inter Faith Week last year, the Baptist Union of Great Britain has two further downloadable resources available free of charge designed for Christians who would like to explore this area in more depth. Copies of both documents can be downloaded from <http://www.baptist.org.uk/crossingplaces/inter-faith.html>.

Inter Faith Journeys shares the stories of 13 people who have been engaging in inter faith encounters, with each person being asked to reflect on questions about their involvement in inter faith matters, what excites and concerns them about it, and how it has affected their own faith. The Baptist Union would also be glad to hear from anyone who has a story that they feel is worth telling and to consider including it in a future update. For further information, contact faithandsociety@baptist.org.uk.

Inter Faith Engagements is for those who wish to explore the subject in more detail. It is a theological exploration of some of the frequently asked questions of inter faith issues, in six sections, with questions for discussion in a group setting.

Jewish-Christian Relations in the English Novel

The Woolf Institute (Cambridge) has announced the introduction of its first online short course, Jewish-Christian Relations in the English Novel.

This course is the launch pad for a series of online short courses planned for the next few years. The Institute is developing three streams of online short courses:

introductory, advanced and/or specialised, and practice-based. Further courses will include Interfaith Dialogue: Past, Present, and Future; Women and Religion; Breaking down Barriers: Engaging with Other Religions; and a course on Shakespeare.

These courses will be available 365 days of the year and open to all who are interested in engaging in topics related to interfaith relations. Designed as five-week courses, students will be able to view their chosen course for two months. No specific academic qualifications are required. Students who participate fully in their chosen course will receive a Woolf Institute Certificate of Completion. For further information, including the application form, visit <http://www.woolf.cam.ac.uk/courses/short-courses.asp> or contact Emma Harris at eth22@cam.ac.uk.

Journal of Dialogue Studies – Call for papers

The Dialogue Society is making a preliminary call for papers for 'The Journal of Dialogue Studies' which is an academic journal that will be published twice a year. Its aim is to study the theory and practice of dialogue between individuals and/or people of different groups in relation to social, political, religious and cultural issues.

The journal will publish conceptual, research and/or case-based works on both theory and practice which relate to the evaluation of dialogue. The editors invite contributors from a variety of disciplines. The first issue will be published in July 2013 and focus on 'dialogue studies' as a concept; specifically its boundaries, viability and usefulness as an academic field. The submission deadline is 20 April 2013.

For more information visit <http://www.dialoguesociety.org/publications/academia/829-journal-of-dialogue-studies.html> and for submission of papers, e-mail journal@dialoguesociety.org.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

Climate Week

This year's Climate Week takes place from 4 to 11 March.

Among the national bodies supporting the Week are many faith and inter faith organisations. Organisers are encouraging faith communities to use Climate Week as an opportunity to focus during sermons and in study groups on the religious basis for environmental care and to use events, exhibitions and coffee mornings to highlight ways faiths are taking steps to help prevent climate change. To sign the Climate Week Declaration calling on Government to take urgent action on climate change, especially in the Energy Bill now going through Parliament, visit <http://www.climateweek.com/climate-week-declaration>. For more information on Climate Week or to register for the Climate Week Challenge, visit www.climateweek.com.

Islam Awareness Week

Islam Awareness Week (IAW) will take place from 11-17 March. This is IAW's 20th year and the theme is "The Things we have in Common".

"The Things We Have In Common seeks to continue to convey and share one of the core messages of IAW: Britain's Muslims inherently share an essential commonality with their fellow citizens along all of life's avenues, and in all that we value and hold dear. The theme will share and celebrate this through the lived experience of life - its objects, moments and memories." A number of events, such as that being held in Sheffield (see diary dates, 13 March) have an inter faith dimension. Further information at: <http://www.iaw.org.uk/pages/page.php?id=home>

Inter Faith Week

Inter Faith Week 2013 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales will take place from Sunday 17 to Saturday 23 November.

The aims of the Week are: strengthening good inter faith relations at all levels; increasing awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, in particular celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society; and increasing understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs.

Building good relationships and working partnerships between people of different faiths and beliefs is part of the year-round work of many people and organisations across the UK. Having a special Week provides a focal point, helping to open inter faith activity up to a wider audience so that more and more people are made aware of the importance of this vital work and are able to participate in it.

An online event registration form will be available at www.interfaithweek.org later in 2013.

Scottish Inter Faith Week runs from 24 November until 1 December, including, as usual, St Andrew's Day. More information can be found online at <http://www.interfaithscotland.org/22.html>.

Catering and Faith Based Dietary Practice – new IFN publication

Following discussion at meetings of the Inter Faith Network for the UK (IFN) Faith Communities Forum and Executive Committee about halal and non-halal provision in catering contexts, a multi faith Working Group was tasked with developing guidance on faith and dietary practice. This guidance note has recently been published by IFN.

The guidance has four sections:

- a) 'Some key principles' concerning faith based dietary practice – which explains both the importance and provenance of the document.
- b) Part 1 'Some general points on catering for a religiously diverse clientele' – which offers points for those catering for or managing the catering of people of different faiths and sets out good practice points on provision and procurement.
- c) Part 2 'Some more detailed points about particular issues' – which goes into more depth about some of the more complex aspects of the dietary practices of different religions including the separate storage and preparation of different types of food and the changes that can occur in faith based diet during religious festivals.
- d) A chart which contains information on faith based dietary practices – which is intended to give caterers a reasonably comprehensive idea of what certain groups are, or are not, likely to consume but is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the dietary requirements of different faiths.

A pdf of the document can be downloaded from

<http://www.interfaith.org.uk/publications/Catering-and-Faith-Based-Dietary-Practice.pdf> For further information, contact ifnet@interfaith.org.uk

Meeting of national inter faith linking bodies

On 11 April an Inter Faith Network for the UK (IFN), Inter-faith Council for Wales, Interfaith Scotland and Northern Ireland Inter-Faith Forum meeting took place, arranged by IFN . This year's meeting was hosted in Cardiff by the Inter-faith Council for Wales. The meeting offered an opportunity to share updates and discuss issues of common concern as well as to contribute to a consultative session for IFN's Strategic Review. Information about the work of these bodies can be found at: www.interfaith.org.uk; www.interfaithscotland.org; www.interfaithwales.org; and www.niinterfaithforum.org

Update on the Government Review of the Public Sector Equality Duty: new closing date

In March the Government issued a call for evidence to inform the Review of the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED). The closing date for evidence to be submitted was extended to 19 April. The Review is expected to be completed by June 2013, rather than the previous announced date of the end of April.

The Review, which was announced by the Home Secretary in May 2012 as part of the outcome of the Red Tape Challenge spotlight on equalities, sets out to establish whether the duty is operating as intended. The review is particularly focusing on the following key themes:

- how well understood is the PSED and guidance;
- what are the costs and benefits of the PSED;
- how organisations are managing legal risk and ensuring compliance with the PSED; and
- what changes, if any, would ensure better equality outcomes (legislative, administrative and/or enforcement changes, for example).

Further details of the Review including the call for evidence, terms of reference, members of the independent steering group appointed to oversee the Review and synopses of their meetings so far can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/policy-advisory-groups/123>.

Evidence about how the PSED works that relate to any or all of the above points, should be submitted to PsedReviewEvidence@geo.gsi.gov.uk.

Ministerial statement on caste discrimination

On 1 March the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Women and Equalities, Helen Grant MP, announced that the Government has no current plans to add caste to the definition of race in the Equality Act 2010 and is instead to run an educational programme to raise awareness of caste discrimination among affected groups, including employers. The statement was made in response to an amendment tabled to the 'Enterprise and Regulatory Reform Bill' in the House of Lords in March by Lord Harries of Pentregarth that suggested adding 'and caste' after 'race' in the descriptions of the protected characteristics in the Equalities Act 2010.

The Government Equalities Office and the Department for Communities and Local Government have appointed Talk for a Change “to engage with the affected communities to run an educational programme to help tackle this complex and sensitive issue”.

The full ministerial statement can be found online at <http://www.parliament.uk/documents/commons-vote-office/March-2013/1st-March/1.DCMS-Caste.pdf>.

The Equality and Human Rights Commission has issued a statement about the decision which can be found at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/news/2013/march/news-tackling-caste-discrimination/>.

Consultation on equality and human rights in Wales

The Communities, Equality and Local Government Committee of the National Assembly for Wales is undertaking a short inquiry into the future of equality and human rights in Wales. The Committee is considering:

- how well the specific public sector equality duties are functioning in Wales;
- the Equality and Human Rights Commission in Wales;
- the link between poverty and equality and the socio-economic duty; and
- accountability for equality and human rights legislation in Wales.

PROJECTS

Interfaith Scotland refugee story gathering project

Interfaith Scotland is working on a project that aims to identify the 'journey' to Scotland of people from around the world who have been persecuted because of their faith. An information booklet/resource will be produced based on the personal experiences of participants. The booklet will highlight the negative consequences of prejudice and the positive impact of establishing good religion and belief relations.

Two volunteers have been trained by Interfaith Scotland to carry out interviews with people from different faiths who have personal experience of religious persecution. The stories in the booklet will be completely anonymous and all information collected will be treated in the strictest confidence. Interviews are being conducted between March and May 2013 with the aim of launching the booklet during Scottish Refugee Week in June 2013. Please contact Interfaith Scotland if you are interested in sharing your story or know of someone who would be. frances@interfaithscotland.org

RE Council 40th anniversary sponsored walks

The Religious Education Council for England and Wales (RE Council) is holding 20 sponsored walks around the country in May to celebrate and raise funds to mark its 40th anniversary.

The aim is that fifty participants will take part in each walk, with each participant raising at least £100 in sponsorship. The money raised will be divided 50/50 between the RE Council and another charity chosen by each local team.

People can take part by: volunteering as a member of the national organising team; volunteering as a member of a local organising team; volunteering to take part as a walker; or committing to sponsor someone else. For further information, contact sarah@religiouseducationcouncil.org or visit <http://www.religiouseducationcouncil.org/content/blogsection/19/106/>.

Three Faiths Forum Undergraduate ParliaMentors programme

Applications are now open for the 2013-14 Undergraduate ParliaMentors programme of the Three Faiths Forum.

The programme is open to undergraduates who identify with a faith or belief (religious or non-religious), are keen to work with others of different backgrounds and aspire to be political or community leaders. The Three Faiths Forum is looking for participants who have an interest in making a positive impact on society beyond university, and who take an interest in British politics.

The deadline for applications is 30 April. For further information, visit <http://www.3ff.org.uk/mentoring/apply/>.

Jubilee Debt Campaign – Faith leaders’ letter

More than 400 faith community leaders signed the Jubilee for Justice letter, that was presented to the Prime Minister at a Parliamentary reception in February as part of the Jubilee Debt Campaign (JDC). The Jubilee for Justice campaign is calling for the cancellation of “unjust debts of the most indebted nations;” the promotion of “just and progressive taxation, rather than excessive borrowing;” and the stopping of “harmful lending which forces countries into debt.”

Further signatures to the faith leaders’ letter are still being accepted. The letter can be found online at <http://www.jubileedebtcampaign.org.uk/Signatories3720to3720the3720Faith3720Leaders3720Letter+7709.twl>.

Woodland Trust tree packs

The Woodland Trust is offering community groups, youth groups and schools the chance to apply for packs of free trees for delivery in November 2013. The Trust says that whether groups are interested in helping wildlife; creating a faith, or inter faith, green space; a community garden or allotment; or just want to enhance their local area they all are very welcome to apply for the free trees.

There are 4,000 trees to give away and the tree packs come in three sizes – 30 saplings, 105 saplings and 420 saplings in various themes (wildlife, wild harvest, year-round colour, future firewood and wetland). Applications will be accepted until September but the Trust advises groups to apply sooner rather than later as they are usually oversubscribed and may have to close early. Further information can be found online at www.woodlandtrust.org.uk/communitytrees. Any queries can be addressed to Beverley Gormley at beverleygormley@woodlandtrust.org.uk.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, the City of Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham. The scheme has also recently been undertaking some capacity building work in Luton.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, which at present operates on a rolling basis with no deadlines. It is due to end in March 2014. Grant amounts range from £250-£5000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects>

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

Heritage Lottery Fund Places of Worship grants

The Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) has a new grant programme for places of worship in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland. As previously, the priority remains structural repairs urgently required within the next two years that have been clearly identified and defined in a condition survey such as a Quinquennial Inspection.

The new programme is also designed to encourage a wider range of people to take an interest in their local places of worship and to help care for them in the future. They hope to achieve this by finding new ways in which places of worship can be used by the wider community beyond the primary function of worship and/or by providing new opportunities for people to find out about the heritage of places of worship. They will also fund new capital works, such as toilets or kitchens, improvements to heating or electrical systems, other works to improve energy efficiency, and works to assist with the on-going maintenance of the place of worship.

Decisions are made four times a year by local Committees. The first deadline for submissions was the end of February for the Committee meetings being held in June. For the next Committee meetings, being held in September, the deadline is 31 May. Full guidelines can be found online at http://www.hlf.org.uk/HowToApply/programmes/Pages/Grants\_Places\_Worship\_Engl\_and.aspx.

VAF grants for Scottish third sector organisations

The Voluntary Action Fund (VAF) is an independent grant-making body which invests in voluntary organisations and community groups across Scotland. Its Volunteering Support Fund is open to support third sector organisations working in Scotland to create new volunteering projects; increase the diversity of their volunteers (especially those experiencing disadvantage); and improve opportunities, skills and personal development through volunteering. The Fund will also help organisations enhance their services and improve their capacity to deploy, support and train volunteers. Organisations with an annual income of under £250,000 can apply, although priority will be given to those with an income under £100,000. The following two grant programmes are available through the Fund for up to 12 months of activity:

Volunteering Support Grant

- A grant of up to £10,000 for an individual organisation.
- Application deadlines: Friday 10 May 2013 and Friday 28 February 2014.

Volunteering Support Cluster

- A grant of up to £30,000 for a Cluster of four to five organisations.
- Application deadlines: Friday 19 July 2013 and Friday 31 January 2014.

RESOURCES AND TRAINING

A Year of Service report

As noted in previous issues of the e-bulletin, a special programme called 'A Year of Service' took place during 2012. All faith communities have within their ethical teachings the values of compassion, care and social justice. One of the ways that their members put these values into everyday practice is through volunteering. In each month of 2012, for A Year of Service, faith communities hosted a day or days of volunteering and invited people of other faiths and non-religious beliefs to join in. A Year of Service was an opportunity for marking in a practical way the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty The Queen – of whose reign service has been a key theme. The end of project report for 'A Year of Service', which has been prepared by Jane Winter of the Faith Based Regeneration Network, is available to download from <http://www.fbrn.org.uk/news/year-service-report>.

'Making Dialogue Effective'

The Dialogue Society has recently published a document entitled Making Dialogue Effective. The booklet brings together key insights and recommendations from a series of discussions exploring the role and value of dialogue and considering how its quality might be improved and its reach extended. The discussions brought together dialogue professionals, religious leaders, conflict resolution specialists, academics and other professionals with relevant experience. The booklet comprises short articles on each of the discussions and a list of recommendations, some taken from the discussions and some based on Dialogue Society experience. It is intended to be a contribution to an ongoing dialogue on dialogue and to the sharing of best practice.

The booklet can be downloaded free of charge from www.dialoguesociety.org/publications.html. A limited number of copies will be printed and distributed to relevant practitioners and researchers. To request a hard copy of the booklet, contact Ilknur Kahraman at ikahraman@dialoguesociety.org or telephone 020 7619 0361.

WCC Interreligious Summer School

The World Council of Churches is running an interreligious summer school for Christian, Jewish and Muslim participants from 12 to 30 August at the Ecumenical Institute, near Geneva in Switzerland. Participants will be exploring the question "What can we, as people of faith, do to respond and to overcome, the pressing challenges of our time as violence and conflict and build together mutually accountable societies based on respect and cooperation?"

The summer school is aimed at young people up to the age of 35. It is designed to enable participants to encounter each other in mutual respect, to learn together, and to challenge and overcome stereotypes. There is a charge to attend but some bursaries are available. The deadline for applications is 1 May. The brochure can be downloaded from <http://www.oikoumene.org/fileadmin/files/wcc-main/2013pdfs/interfaithsummer2013.pdf> and for further information, contact Dr Clare Amos at Clare.Amos@wcc-coe.org.

Postgraduate course in Inter-Religious Relations

The St Philip's Centre in Leicester is currently accepting applications for its part-time postgraduate course in Inter Religious Relations. The course looks at the role of religion in modern society, covering the inter relationship between communities of faith and belief in Britain today together with their growth and settlement and is designed to enable students to: deepen their appreciation of religious diversity; consider the challenges which diversity and inter religious dialogue bring to religious communities, civil service and public institutions; and to learn from academics who are also experienced practitioners in the field of dialogue and community praxis.

The course can be studied at MA, Diploma or Certificate level. It is taught at St Philip's Centre in Leicester and validated by De Montfort University. For further information, a brochure or application form for the September 2013 intake, visit www.stphilipscentre.co.uk/study/pg-courses/ or call 0116 273 3459 or email admin@stphilipscentre.co.uk.

JOBS AND VOLUNTEERING

Faith Network for Manchester – Community Development Worker

The Faith Network for Manchester (FN4M) has recently been successful in obtaining a grant from Manchester City Council's Equalities Funding Programme for the next three years and is now looking to appoint a part-time Community Development Worker and a part-time Administrator to help it fulfil the aims of this project as part of its ongoing work. The Community Development Worker will help FN4M to develop working relationships with communities and organisations; encourage people to work with and learn from each other; work with people in communities to plan for change and take collective action; and evaluate the success of these initiatives.

The job description and person specification for the Community Development Worker can be obtained via the FN4M website, www.fn4m.org, or from Manchester Community Central at www.manchestercommunitycentral.org.

A paper copy of the completed application form must be received by Wednesday 24 April at 12 noon.

Sewa Day

Sewa Day will be taking place on 6 October. The Sanskrit word 'Sewa' means 'selfless service'. The aim of Sewa Day is to provide people a chance to give back to the local community through volunteering on a single day to make a difference. For more information and to get involved visit: www.sewaday.org

One World Week

One World Week will this year take place from 20 to 27 October. The theme is 'More Than Enough?', which offers two linked elements:

Firstly, along with the European Global Education Week, it wants to explore issues about consumption of resources and to consider whether people:

- have had more than enough of consumer culture getting in the way of relationships with others in our communities and across the globe?
- have had more than enough of being defined by what we possess?
- have had more than enough of seeing our planet irrevocably consumed?
- take more than enough ourselves?

Secondly, it is offering an opportunity to support or organise local events with people and organisations involved to follow up the multi-organisation campaign "Enough Food for everyone IF" which asks the question "Why, if the world produces enough food for everyone, do more than two million children die every year because they can't get enough to eat?" and to ask what needs to be done next.

Mitzvah Day

Mitzvah Day will be taking place on Sunday 17 November. Mitzvah Day is a Jewish led day of social action – around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. The goal is to reduce hardship and poverty and to help the environment. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. See www.mitzvahday.org.uk

Inter Faith Week

Inter Faith Week 2013 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales will take place from Sunday 17 to Saturday 23 November.

The aims of the Week are: strengthening good inter faith relations at all levels; increasing awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, in particular celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society; and increasing understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs.

Building good relationships and working partnerships between people of different faiths and beliefs is part of the year-round work of many people and organisations across the UK. Having a special Week provides a focal point, helping to open inter faith activity up to a wider audience so that more and more people are made aware of the importance of this vital work and are able to participate in it.

An online event registration form will be available at www.interfaithweek.org later in 2013.

Scottish Inter Faith Week, which has been running since 2004, will take place from 24 November until 1 December, including, as usual, St Andrew's Day. More information can be found online at <http://www.interfaithscotland.org/22.html>.

IFN National Meeting and AGM

IFN's National Meeting and AGM took place on 1 July in Birmingham. Both meetings were an opportunity for discussion and reflection on the report and recommendations of the Strategic Review Working Group which had been carrying out a Strategic Review of IFN.

The National Meeting also included a special session on 'inter faith engagement and solidarity' in the face of hatred and violence which is motivated by, or claims a link to, religious identity. This session was included following the killing of Drummer Lee Rigby in Woolwich on 22 May, in the London Borough of Greenwich, by men who associated their actions with Islam. Local faith leaders of different traditions responded together, alongside the local authority, to encourage a calm and effective cross-community response and to draw together the faith communities of Woolwich in a common expression of sorrow and solidarity. At the National Meeting, Pastor Mike Leader of the Greenwich Faith Leaders group, who was at the heart of this response, shared his reflections on the process and its effects.

After the Woolwich attack, statements from major national Muslim bodies condemned the act in the strongest terms and stressed its lack of connection to – and complete contradiction of – teachings of Islam. Even so, retaliatory attacks took place on mosques and other Muslim premises. At the National Meeting Fiyaz Mughal, Director of Faith Matters and Muslims against Anti-Semitism spoke about TELL MAMA (Measuring Anti-Muslim Attacks), a national project of Faith Matters, and about the importance of ensuring safety for all communities.

Mrs Neelam Aggarwal-Singh, a member of Northampton Inter-Faith Forum, reflected on how local inter faith groups had brought people together to respond, both to the killing of Lee Rigby and to subsequent anti-Muslim attacks.

Note: A wide range of faith and inter faith bodies released statements responding to the Woolwich killing and to subsequent anti-Muslim attacks and a number of inter faith events were held. IFN's Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs issued a widely distributed statement which can be downloaded from the home page of the Inter Faith Network website: <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/index.htm>

Inter Faith Week 2013 – 100 days to go!

Friday 9 August marks 100 days to go until the start of Inter Faith Week in England and Wales, which runs this year from Sunday 17 to Saturday 23 November.

This will be the fifth year the Week is held in England, Northern Ireland and Wales. In a press release issued on 6 August, IFN Co-Chairs, the Revd Bob Fyffe and Vivian Wineman, together with Communities Secretary Eric Pickles and Faith and Communities Minister Baroness Warsi welcomed the Week and encouraged involvement:

http://www.interfaithweek.org/images/stories/pdfs/ifw2013\_press\_release\_august.pdf

A flyer for Inter Faith Week can be downloaded from the Inter Faith Week website at <http://www.interfaithweek.org> and printed copies are available from the IFN office. Contact interfaithweek@interfaith.org.uk for details. Resources for Week event planners and event registration forms are also available on the site.

Inter Faith Week will again be using the @IFWeek Twitter account, and the hashtag #IFWeek to talk about the Week. Twitter users are being encouraged to follow this and to use the hashtag to help people find out about events. Inter Faith Week is on Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/pages/Inter-Faith-Week/194238653936191>

A list of all events known to have taken place to mark Inter Faith Week 2012 is at <http://www.interfaithweek.co.uk/resources/reports>. A huge variety of events took place, and the list provides many examples of this diverse range to inspire event organisers and provide ideas ahead of the 2013 Week. The 2012 photo gallery has had new pictures added.

Government response to Riots, Communities and Victims Panel final report

The Government has now published its response to the final report of the Riots, Communities and Victims Panel which was formed by the Prime Minister, the Deputy Prime Minister and the Leader of the Official Opposition following the riots in August 2011. Its role was to explore the causes of the riots and how communities can be more socially and economically resilient, in order to prevent future disorder.

Legislation on caste

Earlier this year the Government unsuccessfully opposed amendments tabled in the House of Lords to the Enterprise and Regulatory Reform Bill requiring the Government to add 'caste' to the current definition of 'race' within the Equality Act 2010. As noted in the April E-bulletin, following the first of these defeats, the Government stated that it had no current plans to take this step. Following the second defeat, the Government announced, on 23 April, that it would now be amending the 2010 Act. The Government said at the time that full consideration would be required, possibly through consultation, on various factors, such as the possible need for specific caste-related exceptions and possible impacts on community relations and businesses

The Government Equalities Office published a note in July on the timetable and process for the introduction of caste legislation. It can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/caste-discrimination-legislation-timetable>.

The note refers to research about the extent of caste discrimination in Britain, to be undertaken by the Equality and Human Rights Commission as a comparative baseline for any future consideration of the effectiveness of caste legislation. It also refers to a public consultation which will include proposals on whether and how 'caste' should be defined in the legislation. The public consultation is expected to be launched in February or March 2014, concluding twelve weeks later. The Government's response to the consultation will be published together with a draft Affirmative Order before legislation is introduced into Parliament, probably during the summer of 2015.

In parallel with the EHRC research, the DCLG and Government Equalities Office are sponsoring community mediation work being undertaken by Talk for a Change.

Near Neighbours evaluation

An evaluation has been carried out of the Small Grants fund of the Near Neighbours programme. The midway report looks at the progress of the fund over the first 18 months of its operation and the projects it has supported; gauging the success of the programme. It covers areas such as participation in Near Neighbours funded projects as well as faith inclusion, project growth and the longer term impact upon participants and their area.

A copy of the report can be downloaded from <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/evaluation>.

New faith and public policy forum

The Centre for Ethnicity at the University of Bristol has set up a new online forum on faith and public policy. The forum, called 'Public Spirit', provides a space for researchers, policymakers, politicians and practitioners from the voluntary and community sectors to access the latest research, engage in current debates and share expertise on key issues of faith and public policy.

In the coming months the forum will feature contributions from a wide range of authors on: the how and who of questions of religious representation; the implications of 'muscular liberalism' for faith and integration; the role of faith groups and values in social action; and finding the right balance between promoting equality and recognising religious difference. The forum is funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council and the project is led by Dr Therese O'Toole working with Dr Stephen Jones and the Centre's Director, Professor Tariq Modood. For further information, visit publicspirit.org.uk.

One Britain One Nation – Fly with Pride

One Britain One Nation (OBON) is an organisation which aims to "capture the imagination of our nation and bring the people of this country together by cascading our simple message based on a set of shared values where freedom, democracy, fair play, respect and tolerance are celebrated and embraced. We want people to join hands to create a thread of unity and fraternity for them to express their gratitude towards this great nation under our common collective identity of being British".

OBON is currently running a campaign called 'Fly with Pride' in which it is asking individuals and organisations to fly the Union flag on Sunday 11 August. As part of this campaign it is keen to involve places of worship and other religious buildings. For further details, visit <http://onebritainonenation.com/flywithpride.php>.

Inter Faith Youth Trust grant programme for Inter Faith Week

The Inter Faith Youth Trust is running a grant programme for events linked to Inter Faith Week. This programme is specifically for events organised by and for young people (11-25) focussed around Inter Faith Week 17-23 November. The Deadline for applications is Sunday 8 September. For further information about the programme, visit <http://www.ifyouthtrust.org.uk/>.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. The programme currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, the City of Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham. The scheme has also recently been undertaking some capacity building work in Luton.

Near Neighbours has a grants programme, with amounts ranging from £250 to £5,000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects>

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

A note has recently been added to the Near Neighbours website which says: "Please be aware that the Near Neighbours small grants fund is depleting and we intend to have allocated all the funds by December 2013. Therefore early applications are encouraged."

GEO PROGRESS Scheme

The Government Equalities Office is asking for proposals from non-profit-making organisations which want to bid to run anti-discrimination programmes. It will then choose two projects to be eligible to share up to €250,000 from the European Commission's PROGRESS Scheme.

According to the European Commission, PROGRESS's aims are: "Raising awareness, disseminating information and promoting the debate about the key challenges and policy issues in relation to discrimination and the mainstreaming of anti-discrimination in all Community policies, including among the social partners, NGOs and other stakeholders."

Information about applying, including criteria and required documentation can be found online at <https://www.gov.uk/government/news/apply-now-for-funding-to-raise-awareness-about-discrimination>. The closing date for proposals is 12 noon on 28

August. For further information on completing a bid, contact either paul.howarth@geo.gsi.gov.uk or charles.ramsden@geo.gsi.gov.uk.

My Community Rights

The website <http://mycommunityrights.org.uk> is an online hub and advice service, run by Locality, which helps communities to use the community rights which came into effect with the Localism Act (such as the Community Right to Challenge and the Community Right to Bid). These rights are designed to give local communities more control over what happens locally, and have been used by communities wishing to take ownership of an asset which is being sold, take over a service they feel could be run better, or build new facilities. For information on ways to fund projects initiated using the community rights, visit <http://www.communityshares.org.uk/>

London Churches' Group for Social Action report

The London Churches Group for Social Action has published a report of a pilot study into the proportion of voluntary sector welfare projects organised by churches and other faiths. The research found that faith organisations were running 40% of all voluntary sector welfare projects in the borough (35% by Christians and 5% by other faiths) and that an additional 7% of secular projects had been founded by a faith organisation. To access the report, visit :http://www.londonchurchesgroup.org.uk/Better%20off%20without%20them%20report%20May%202013.pdf.

Faithworks report

Faithworks has recently published a report on research carried out by Oasis College entitled 'Faithfully meeting local need: Lessons from faith-based organisations delivering community services'. This research study involved two main activities: collecting data from participating faith-based projects between October and December 2012 and the dissemination of the research findings at regional Capacity Building events, held as part of the Faith to Engage project, between March and June 2013.

The report recommends investment in the following four areas: "Firstly, faith entrepreneurs, to facilitate and support visionary leaders in their development of innovative community delivery. Secondly, the building of active partnership between faith and non faith-based organisations to enhance the service delivered to clients and maximise scarce resources. Thirdly, through promoting the added value faith-based organisations offer, statutory organisations should be encouraged to commission their services. Fourthly, policy makers should be proactively encouraged to engage with, and listen to, local community organisations (faith-based or otherwise) to establish how they can best support them to meet locally identified need."

A copy of the report (both full and abridged versions) can be found online at <http://www.oasiscollege.org/faithfully-meeting-local-need>.

Theos report

The Theos Think Tank has produced a report entitled 'Making Multiculturalism Work: enabling practical action across deep difference'. Drawing on a range of interviews with people involved in two major initiatives – community organising and Near Neighbours – Making multiculturalism work argues that "ordinary relationships across religious and cultural difference are the key to addressing the malaise of the public square and pursuing a meaningful 'multicultural settlement'. These are forged not by adherence to abstract national values or an idea of what multiculturalism should look like in theory, but rather by common action – working side-by side and pursuing common goals."

‘Faith with its sleeves rolled up’

FaithAction has launched a collection of essays entitled Faith With Its Sleeves Rolled Up. There are fifteen contributions in total, each of which examines the practical role faith can play in the positive shaping of UK society. The perspectives include academic, political and artistic angles on the value of active faith.

FaithAction hopes that the publication of the book will help to promote the idea that people of faith are making significant, though underappreciated, contributions to UK society. Further information, including details on how to purchase the book, can be found at <http://www.faithaction.net/book>.

Catering and Faith Based Dietary Practice

Following discussion at meetings of the Inter Faith Network for the UK (IFN) Faith Communities Forum and Executive Committee about halal and non-halal provision in catering contexts, a multi faith Working Group was tasked with developing guidance on faith and dietary practice. Reference to this guidance note was included in the April 2013 issue of IFN’s e-bulletin. It has now been widely circulated.

The guidance has four sections:

- a) ‘Some key principles’ concerning faith based dietary practice – which explains both the importance and provenance of the document.
- b) Part 1 ‘Some general points on catering for a religiously diverse clientele’ – which offers points for those catering for or managing the catering of people of different faiths and sets out good practice points on provision and procurement.
- c) Part 2 ‘Some more detailed points about particular issues’ – which goes into more depth about some of the more complex aspects of the dietary practices of different religions including the separate storage and preparation of different types of food and the changes that can occur in faith based diet during religious festivals.
- d) A chart which contains information on faith based dietary practices – which is intended to give caterers a reasonably comprehensive idea of what certain groups are, or are not, likely to consume but is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the dietary requirements of different faiths.

A key principle articulated in the guidance is that: “It is not appropriate for choices of food and drink to be imposed on people regardless of their religious, cultural, social or ethnic background. Sensitivity and care should therefore be exercised when catering for those who follow particular dietary practice for reasons of their belief, whether religious or non-religious.”

A pdf of the document can be downloaded from <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/publications/Catering-and-Faith-Based-Dietary-Practice.pdf>. For further information, contact ifnet@interfaith.org.uk.

Multi-Faith Spaces: Symptoms and Agents of Religious and Social Change

Multi-Faith Spaces project: Symptoms and Agents of Religious and Social Change is a three year research based at the Manchester Architecture research Centre (MARC). The project considers multi faith spaces as both emerging from our multi-cultural and religiously diverse societies, as well as active in the facilitation of community, dialogue and toleration. These processes are researched from a material perspective, viewing multi faith spaces (MFS) as primarily works of architecture, shaped through the actions of many stakeholders such as users, designers, architects, engineers, artists, chaplains, academics, facilities managers, and diversity officers,.

The project has visited over 300 multi faith spaces in the UK and beyond. The research is now drawing to a close, and the project team is writing up its findings. It is still keen to hear views on the multi faith spaces with which people are familiar or have visited and 'multi faith space' more generally. The survey can be found at <http://www.sed.manchester.ac.uk/architecture/research/mfs/>. For further information, contact mfs@manchester.ac.uk.

The conference runs from 10.00am to 4.00pm at Thame Barns Centre, Thame, Oxfordshire and is for anyone who cares about, or is involved in, the management of burial grounds. Places are limited and cost £15 including lunch and refreshments. For further information, visit <http://www.caringforgodsacre.org.uk/index.php/events/national-conferences>.

The Interfaith Scotland AGM will take place on Tuesday 8 October from 6pm in Linlithgow, West Lothian. Further information can be found at <http://www.interfaithscotland.org/events/>

The Zoroastrian Trust Funds of Europe is funding an exhibition at the Brunei Gallery of the School of African and Oriental Studies in London from 11 October to 14 December entitled 'The Everlasting Flame: Zoroastrianism in History and Imagination'. The exhibition will be free to attend and will "provide a visual narrative of the history of Zoroastrianism from its ancient Iranian roots, to its emergence as the foremost religion of the Achaemenid and Parthian empires as well as its consolidation as the state religion under the Sasanians and the establishment of the great regnal fires". For further information, visit <http://www.theeverlastingflame.com>.

Brighton and Hove Inter-Faith Contact Group will be holding a dialogue event on the theme of 'death' on Wednesday 30 October. For further details, contact admin@interfaithcontactgroup.com

Surrey Faith Links will be holding an event on the theme 'Women and Faith – who is the oppressor? Religion or men?', including local perspectives from Judaism, Christianity and Islam. The event will take place on Sunday 17 November, and is open to men and women of all faiths. For further information, contact Kauser.Akhtar@cofeguildford.org.uk.

Inter Faith Network for the UK: Special Appeal

The Inter Faith Network for the UK was founded in 1987 to promote good inter faith relations in the UK. It has made a tremendous difference to relations between different faith communities in the UK and it is a vital resource for inter faith cooperation and understanding in years to come. Its role is unique both in the UK and Europe: linking national faith communities, local, regional and national inter faith bodies, and educational bodies and working with them to deepen inter faith understanding and cooperation as part of working for the common good.

A key IFN led programme is Inter Faith Week (more information on which is in this e-bulletin). The Week is an increasingly significant way of drawing new people of all ages into inter faith activities and cooperative projects.

The Inter Faith Network is part supported by faith communities and by the Government (through the Department for Communities and Local Government) as well as through donations from individuals who see the value of its work. But this year and next, in a difficult economic climate, like a number of organisations, it is facing particularly pressing financial challenges and there is a real danger that without support from those who see the value of IFN's contribution to our society there will be a major impact on its work of building good inter faith relations in the UK and supporting others in doing so.

An Appeal has been launched to support IFN's work. Early supporters have included the Most Revd Justin Welby, Archbishop of Canterbury, and other leading faith community figures, as well as inter faith practitioners and other supporters. The e-bulletin has a wide readership and the Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs of the Inter Faith Network and the Appeal Chair hope very much that readers may join them in making a donation to support IFN's work.

Please help support our vital work if you can. Gifts at all levels will be carefully used to help strengthen the vital work of building good relations between people of different faiths and beliefs in Britain, creating a strong basis for positive coexistence and cooperation now and for years to come.

Donations can be made online at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/donations.htm> or by a cheque payable to the Inter Faith Network for the UK. A donations form for those who would prefer to pay by cheque or standing order can be found at the end of this e-bulletin.

Thank you for your support.

Mr Dorab Mistry OBE, Appeal Chair

The Revd Bob Fyffe and Mr Vivian Wineman,(Co-Chairs)

Mr Mohinder Singh Chana, Dr Kishan Manocha, Maulana Shahid Raza OBE, and Dr Jagdish Sharma (Vice-Chairs)

UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Inter Faith Week – 40 days to go!

www.interfaithweek.org

National Inter Faith Week 2013 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales runs from Sunday 17 to Saturday 23 November. Its aims are:

- to strengthen good inter faith relations at all levels;
- to increase awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, in particular celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society; and
- to increase understanding between people of religious and non-religious belief.

Faith community organisations, inter faith bodies, non-religious belief groups, local places of worship, local authorities, schools and colleges, universities, hospitals, prisons, police forces, and NGOs are among the many planning events.

Make your event known!

The listings section of the Inter Faith Week website is open for organisers to list events happening in England, Northern Ireland and Wales. If you are holding an event, please do take time to register it so that we can add you to the map and give profile to your event – and so that your event can add to the profile of the Week! You can register your event at <http://www.interfaithweek.org/events/submit-an-event>

Follow Inter Faith Week on Twitter here: <https://twitter.com/IFWeek>. You can use the hashtag #IFWeek to help people find out about your Inter Faith Week event. Like Inter Faith Week on Facebook here: <http://www.facebook.com/ifweek>

Resources

The Inter Faith Week flyer can be downloaded at <http://www.interfaithweek.org> and printed copies of it are available from the IFN office. Contact interfaithweek@interfaith.org.uk for details.

Resources for event organisers, including lists of events which took place in previous years, can be found on the website. These include a list of all events known to have taken place to mark Inter Faith Week 2012, and can be found at <http://www.interfaithweek.org/resources/reports>. A huge variety of events took place, and the list provides many examples of this diverse range to inspire event organisers.

Inter Faith Week is a project of the Inter Faith Network for the UK working with its member bodies and with the support of the Department for Communities and Local Government. Find out more at www.interfaithweek.org.

Inter faith response to recent events in Peshawar and Nairobi

There has been an inter faith response in the UK to the recent events in Peshawar and Nairobi. Several organisations have issued statements of solidarity including Birmingham Faith Leaders' Group, Bolton Interfaith Council and the Women's Interfaith Network and an inter faith solidarity event took place at the Al-Khoei Foundation in London. An IFN Circular on 24 September said:

“The work of the Inter Faith Network is focused on the United Kingdom – as is that of most of its member bodies. For this reason, it does not make statements on overseas events – except, from time to time, in terms of their impact or possible impact on inter faith relations here. The siege at Westgate Shopping Mall in Nairobi, Kenya, and the suicide bombing of All Saints Church in Peshawar, Pakistan, at the weekend have affected many people, including some individuals in the UK connected to IFN member bodies who have lost family members. The world is interconnected, and atrocities in other parts of the world resound here – we have both community and personal links across the globe. The Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs of IFN are very much aware of this, and share in the sorrow and concern of those affected. Their thoughts and prayers are with them. They also reflect on the vital importance of retaining trust and openness in the face of events which have the power to undermine this, and the broader ripples such events have in all of our lives.

The Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs would like to draw to member bodies' attention an important reflection this morning on Thought for the Day on Radio 4, by the Bishop of Norwich, the Rt Revd Graham James, about the importance of inter faith dialogue in this context. In it, he talks about how atrocities in other parts of the world have the capacity to affect how we relate to each other in our own communities, and about the corrosion of trust that can ensue between, and within, nations and faith communities in such contexts. He underlines the importance of inter faith discussion and friendship in developing and maintaining trust, and as a vital safeguard against gradual, unnoticed erosions of tolerance within ourselves. He speaks, at the close of his piece, about how the Inter Faith Network for the UK has allowed him and many others to have meaningful inter faith encounters, but could equally well be speaking about the work of every inter faith initiative in this country and around the world that contributes to this hugely important work. You may be interested to listen to this piece online at <http://www.bbc.co.uk/programmes/p01hclzx>.”

New Ministerial Appointments

A number of new Ministerial appointments were made by Prime Minister David Cameron on 7 October. These included the appointments as Parliamentary Under Secretaries of State for Communities and Local Government of Baroness Stowell, Mr Stephen Williams MP, and Mr Kris Hopkins MP. Mr Williams will hold the brief for integration. Baroness Warsi retains her role as Minister for Faith and Communities at the Department.

Mr Don Foster MP, who served for the last year as Communities Minister, moves to become the Chief Whip of the Liberal Democrats.

A full list of appointments can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/ministers>.

New faith community APPGs

Two new All Party Parliamentary Groups (APPGs) for faith communities have been set up.

The APPG on British Jews will be launched on 9 October and the Board of Deputies of British Jews (<http://www.bod.org.uk>) will provide the Secretariat for this.

The APPG on Zoroastrians will be launched on 14 October and the Zoroastrian Trust Funds of Europe (<http://www.ztfe.com/>) will provide the Secretariat for this.

All Party Parliamentary Group for RE

The All Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) for Religious Education will be holding an inquiry during 2013-14 into the contribution of RE to good community relations.

Further information about the APPG, including a list of its members, and a copy of its most recent report "RE: The Truth Unmasked" which examines the supply of, and support for, Religious Education teachers can be found at <http://religiouseducationcouncil.org.uk/appg>.

The Religious Education Council for England and Wales provides the Secretariat for the APPG.

OFSTED report on RE in schools

An OFSTED report, RE in Schools: Realising the Potential, published on 6 October has said that "Religious education (RE) makes a significant contribution to pupils' academic and personal development. It also plays a key role in promoting social cohesion and the virtues of respect and empathy, which are important in our diverse society." The authors said, however, that "the potential of RE was not being realised fully in the majority of the schools surveyed for this report." The report says that, while there have been some improvements in Religious Education in schools, more than half of them are failing pupils on RE. It identifies barriers to better RE and suggests ways in which the subject might be improved. The report is written for those who teach RE, for those who lead the subject, and for headteachers of primary and secondary schools. John Keast, Chair of the RE Council of England and Wales said "The Religious Education Council is disappointed but not surprised by these findings. We have been warning the Department for Education for some time about the poor state of religious education in many schools. The report of the Religious Education Council's own review of religious education is being launched on 23 October in Westminster. It offers a new curriculum for religious education as a benchmark for local authorities, academies and faith schools, and proposes various ways to improve religious education in our schools. It is now vital that the Department for Education works with the Religious Education Council on putting things right. We can do better than this."

Religious Education Subject Review

In summer 2012, the RE Council initiated a review of Religious Education in England to run parallel to the government's review of the National Curriculum, as part of its strategic plan. More information can be found online at <http://resubjectreview.recouncil.org.uk/>.

The publication and launch of the report of the RE Subject Review, including a new non-statutory curriculum framework, is due to take place in Westminster on 23 October. A series of dissemination events will be taking place around the country during November, where presenters will speak about the Review report and its contents. There will be opportunity for questions to the panel of speakers and the events will be introduced by teams of Young Ambassadors for RE. The events all run from 5.30pm to 7.30pm and will be held in: London (5 November); York (6 November); Oxford (19 November); Liverpool (21 November); and Bristol (28 November). Events are free of charge but tickets will be allocated on a 'first come, first served' basis due to limited venue capacity. To register and request a ticket, email sophie@religiouseducationcouncil.org.uk.

Report on the review of the Public Sector Equality Duty

The Report of the Independent Steering Group responsible for carrying out the review of the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED) was published on 6 September.

The Group was set up following a Ministerial Statement in 2012 by Home Secretary, Ms Theresa May, that there was a need to review the duty to ensure that it was 'operating as intended', following the Red Tape Challenge on equalities which had been completed earlier that year. With the caveat that it did not feel that enough time had passed since the implementation of the PSED in 2011 for firm judgement to be made on it, the Steering Group broadly supported the PSED in principle but made a number of recommendations regarding its implementation:

- The EHRC should work to produce clearer guidance on the minimum requirements placed on public bodies; should work with sector regulators to ensure compliance; and should not compel public bodies to collect diversity data unless this is necessary.
- Public bodies should comply with the PSED in a proportionate way and reduce unnecessary paperwork; and should aim to reduce pressure on small employers to comply with burdensome equalities paperwork.
- All contractors, companies or charities, should be active in holding public bodies to account under the duty.
- Government should consider the removal of the specific duties which require public bodies regularly to publish PSED compliance data; and should make sure that enforcement of the PSED is proportionate and cost effective.

Ruling on wearing of the niqab when giving evidence in Crown Court and responses

The facial veil or niqab, worn by some Muslim women, has received significant media attention in the past few weeks due to a ruling by Mr Justice Peter Murphy at Blackfriars Crown Court on 16 September on the wearing of the niqab in the Crown Court.

The judgement by Mr Justice Murphy followed a plea and case management hearing relating to an indictment for witness intimidation at which the defendant declined to remove the niqab, or facial veil, when requested to do so for the purposes of identification. Justice Murphy made a number of points regarding the balancing of the primacy of the rule of law in a democratic society on the one hand and the duty placed upon the UK by Article 9 of the European Convention on Human Rights to uphold freedom of religion and belief on the other. The full text of the judgement can be read here: http://www.judiciary.gov.uk/Resources/JCO/Documents/Judgments/The%20Queen%20v-%20D%20\(R\).pdf.pdf)

Mr Jeremy Browne, then Minister of State at the Home Office, called for a 'national debate' on the issue and Mr Nick Clegg, the Deputy Prime Minister, and Ms Theresa May, the Home Secretary, also responded. Mr Browne's original comments can be read at <http://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/politics/10311469/Jeremy-Browne-Ban-Muslim-women-from-wearing-veils-in-schools-and-public-places.html>. This led to debate about the wearing of the niqab by children and staff in schools and colleges, although head teachers' associations have been quick to point out that uniform restrictions are set at the discretion of individual establishments. There has also been discussion about the wearing of the niqab in hospitals, with a claim made by the Telegraph that 17 NHS trusts do not allow staff to wear full face coverings when dealing with patients. Mr

Dan Poulter, Minister of State for Health, has asked all NHS trusts and NHS employers to clarify their positions regarding the wearing of face coverings including the niqab.

Note: In 2007, the Executive Committee of the Inter Faith Network produced a briefing note containing some broad reflections on the wearing of religious clothing and symbols: the deeply held beliefs which can underlie choices about the wearing of these; the need for courteous and sensitive handling of the issues involved; and some of the factors to be taken into account in considering limits on the wearing of particular items for such reasons as security, organisational corporate identity or health and safety. This can be found at: <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/religiousdress.pdf>

Timetable of implementation of caste discrimination legislation

In late July the Government Equalities Office (GEO) published its timetable for the introduction of caste legislation, following on from the passage into law of the Enterprise and Regulatory Reform Act 2013 in April which contained a provision requiring due regard to be given to caste discrimination when considering race discrimination under the Equality Act 2010. The timetable is set out in Caste Legislation Introduction: Programme and Timetable. This explains that:

- a) The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) will be undertaking research into the nature of caste and caste discrimination in the UK. This has started and is due to be completed by the end of 2013 and is to include discussions with groups with an interest in caste discrimination.
- b) Following the completion of this research the Government will undertake a full public consultation on the issue, seeking in particular to understand whether and how “caste” should be defined in the legislation, and to identify any legislative exceptions that may be necessary. This consultation is expected to run for twelve weeks starting in February or March 2014. While analysis on the public consultation is on-going, the Government will undertake some sector specific consultation with stakeholders including employers, local authorities and the judiciary during summer 2014.
- c) The Government’s response to the consultation and a draft order outlining caste legislation are expected to be drawn up by Autumn 2014 with legislation taking effect in early 2015.

Issues of planning permission close to religious buildings

Planning permission for premises close to place of worship can be an issue of concern for faith communities. Recent granting of planning permission for a meat processing plant next to the Guru Gobind Singh Gurdwara in Bradford is an example of this.

Sikhs in Bradford, and more widely, have voiced concerns at the decision of Bradford Metropolitan District Council's Planning Committee on 13 August to grant planning permission to food producer and retailer Pakeezah to take over a site sharing a boundary with the gurdwara as a meat processing and retail plant. Pakeezah's retail butchers' shop has shared a boundary with the gurdwara for nearly twenty years. The planning permission was granted for an expanded site and a new processing plant.

Many Sikhs are vegetarian. Those who do eat meat often find the killing of cows (venerated animals in India) particularly disturbing. In this context, the Sikh community in Bradford has voiced concerns that the granting of planning permission for the meat processing plant shows a lack of awareness of the sensitivities of the Sikh community and respect for these. Their views have been echoed by some others, for example the Hindu Forum of Britain <http://www.hfb.org.uk/Default.aspx?SID=45&cID=534&ctID=43&IID=0>

Pakeezah have said that their business is in lamb, mutton and chicken only, and that their meat will arrive and be stored at refrigerated temperatures, in order to allay fears about smells coming from the plant.

Transparency of Lobbying Bill

The Transparency of Lobbying, Non-Party Campaigning, and Trade Union Administration Bill (<http://services.parliament.uk/bills/2013-14/transparencyoflobbyingnonpartycampaigningandtradeunionadministration.html>) is currently going through Parliament. The House of Commons Committee stage has started. The Bill has its Third Reading on 9 October.

The Bill is primarily aimed at curtailing the influence of lobbyists in Westminster. However, it includes significant provisions on lobbying for political purposes during elections which has caused considerable concern amongst the charitable sector. There are provisions to cap the overall spending of any organisation working for a 'party political aim' during an election at £390,000 and also place further restrictions on the amount of money that can go to projects with any sort of 'political outcome.' A 'political outcome' could be any position on which a political party takes a stance.

It has also been suggested that the proposed legislation might affect faith community and inter faith bodies. Some members of the Select Committee met with the National Council for Voluntary Organisations and other third sector bodies on 3 September and said that they would be interested to gather the opinions of faith community bodies on the proposed legislation. The Religious Society of Friends (Quakers), and a number of other faith based organisations met on 27 September to discuss ways to try to ensure that the Bill does not adversely affect faith community organisations and a number signed a letter to the Prime Minister and Deputy Prime Minister about this. The Government announced on 4 October an amendment to Clause 26 of the Bill which deals with the definition of 'controlled expenditure'. Some concerns are still being expressed by voluntary bodies about the potential impact on their work. An NCVO briefing note can be found at:

New Charity Commission guides on public benefit

On 16 September the Charity Commission published three new guides for trustees on 'public benefit.' These explain what is required to show that an organisation is a charity (by having purposes that are for the public benefit); what trustees' duties are in carrying out those purposes for the public benefit; and how trustees should report on the public benefit their charity provides in their Annual Report.

The guides also explain that the trustees of charities which charge fees for services or facilities that the poor cannot afford must make provision for the poor to benefit. It is for trustees - not the Commission or the courts - to decide how to do this, but they must act reasonably and make more than a minimal provision.

Beyond 2011 Census consultation

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) has launched a consultation into the future of the UK census following on from its 'Beyond 2011' programme of research. The consultation, launched on 23 September, is open to all organisations and members of the public who might wish to respond and runs from now until 13 December. There will be a number of events held in October supporting the consultation, they are:

- 8 October, Cardiff
- 14 October and 22 November, London
- 27 November, Manchester

The first 'Beyond 2011' consultation took place in 2011 and received responses from 266 individuals and organisations, with a similar number attending workshops held around the country. That original consultation identified two possible ways forwards on a national census-like data collection exercise:

- A once a decade census, similar to the 2011 Census but primarily online
- A census compiled of existing administrative data and compulsory annual surveys.

Respondents to the latest consultation will be asked to comment on ways forward on one, or both, of these suggestions.

For more information and to respond to the consultation visit: <http://www.ons.gov.uk/ons/about-ons/who-ons-are/programmes-and-projects/beyond-2011/beyond-2011-consultation/index.html>

Government initiative 'You've got the power'

'You've got the power' is a new Government initiative, which gives communities the legal powers to shape where they live. During October the Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) will be writing to all those concerned from MPs to parish councillors to draw this to their attention.

A guide to the new initiative can be downloaded from <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/youve-got-the-power-a-quick-and-simple-guide-to-community-rights>.

PROJECTS

Faiths in harmony – inter faith choirs

A number of organisations have inter faith and multi faith choirs and more are now being set up.

The 'Com.unity Choir' is a multi-cultural, inter-faith singing group in Borehamwood in Hertfordshire. It has been running for 8 years and is religiously and culturally diverse. Information about its work can be found online at <http://www.comdotunity.com>. The St Ethelburga's Centre in London has also been running an inter faith choir for some while. For more details, contact namaah.pinkerfield@gmail.com 01342 826 732

The Three Faiths Forum has launched a new intercultural choir called 'The Mixed Up Chorus!'. The choir is open to people of all backgrounds and beliefs, religious and non-religious and will be directed by Jeremy Haneman, Community Chorus Director for the Royal Opera House. It will be launched at the 'Shoreditch Singathon' event on Sunday 13 October and the first rehearsal takes place on Tuesday 22 October at the Three Faiths Forum office in London. To register an interest in taking part, contact eli@eff.org.uk.

Building Bridges in Burnley has set up a women's inter faith choir, with funding from the Near Neighbours project, called 'Singing for the Soul' (<http://singingforthesoul.net/>). The choir has appeared on BBC's Songs of Praise and on BBC Radio Lancashire. The choir members range in age from 18 to 80 and all are welcome to join without auditions. For further information, contact Janet on 01282 414287 or at janet.swan@naturalvoice.net.

The Feast is running a half term inter faith choir for 11 to 18 year olds at the Faithful Neighbourhoods Centre in Birmingham. Rehearsals take place between 28 October and 1 November with a performance at the Feast's Autumn Dinner on 6 November. For further information, contact Natasha on 07722 418525 or at natasha@thefeast.org.uk.

The Berakah Project is starting a new multi faith choir and is keen for people from all faiths and none to be involved. The choir will meet every Tuesday evening from 8 October for 11 weeks at the London Inter Faith Centre in Salusbury Road. Rehearsals will culminate in a special concert in December. For further information, including costs, visit www.theberakahproject.org or email berakahmultifaithchoir@gmail.com.

In East London, a new multi faith male voice choir, 'East End Notes' has been formed by Spitalfields Music, led by Omar Shahryah. The organisers write "Spitalfields itself is a very diverse area, with a long and fascinating history of immigration; from the Irish to the Huguenots to the Bangladeshi community, the residents of Spitalfields come from a broad range of backgrounds and bring with them many rich cultural heritages. In creating East End Notes we wanted to create an opportunity for men from these communities to come together, celebrate their differences yet discover their similarities. In this setting, music is used to form social bonds between people of different spiritual beliefs; you can share your passion for music and singing without having to share religious beliefs. The choir becomes a unique sociable experience where people from various cultural backgrounds can create music together in a friendly environment. EastEnd Notes is about building a choir from an existing community, but that creates a new community in and of itself. Also note that although EastEnd Notes is termed a 'multi-faith' choir, this does of course mean that atheists and agnostics are welcome to join, as all beliefs are welcomed." There is a taster session on 10 October. More information from Laura Fensom on laura.fensom@spitalfieldsmusic.org.uk

Inter faith choirs have also been formed for one off events or for longer programmes in Edinburgh, Exeter, Manchester and other parts of the UK. If you know about one do tell us. We'd love to hear about it: ifnet@interfaith.org.uk

Faith-Based Conflict Resilience programme

St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace is convening a new programme called the Faith-Based Conflict Resilience Programme. This is looking at the dynamics and process of conflict within faith groups and communities, aiming to bring spiritual practices to bear on community dialogue surrounding conflict and the processes of conflict management. The programme is offering a number of public conferences at the Centre in Bishopsgate as well as a roving participatory workshop entitled A Conversation about Conflict that can go directly to a community. This will connect the dialogue surrounding conflict to the faith principles of individual traditions in a context of individual and collective growth and help to give members and leaders alike increased confidence in acknowledging and tackling the challenge of conflict.

For more details and how to get involved, visit <http://www.stethelburgas.org/conflict-resilience> or contact angharad@stethelburgas.org for more information.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours programme cycle is due to reach its end in March and it intends to have allocated all its funds by the end of December 2013.

The programme is a three-year initiative, run by the Church Urban Fund, which aims to bring people together in diverse communities, helping them build relationships and collaborate to improve the local community in which they live. It currently operates in the following areas: East and South East London, the City of Birmingham, Leicester, Bradford, Burnley and Oldham. The scheme has also recently been undertaking some capacity building work in Luton.

The small grants programme offers grants ranging from £250 to £5,000. The fund invests in environmental, social, cultural, artistic and sporting ideas which fulfill the criteria, which can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants. Examples of funded projects can be found at: <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/funded-projects>

The Fund is pleased to receive applications from people of different faith groups or none, working in partnership with people of different faiths and within the criteria. Details on how to apply can be found at www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants.

My Community Rights

The website <http://mycommunityrights.org.uk> is an online hub and advice service, run by Locality, which helps communities to use the community rights which came into effect with the Localism Act 2011 (such as the Community Right to Challenge and the Community Right to Bid). These rights are designed to give local communities more control over what happens locally, and have been used by communities wishing to take ownership of an asset which is being sold, take over a service they feel could be run better, or build new facilities. For information on ways to fund projects initiated using the community rights, visit

<http://www.communityshares.org.uk/>

University of Derby report on 'Religion and Belief discrimination in England and Wales – a decade of change'

A team at the University of Derby has produced a 'research informed policy brief' on religion and belief discrimination in England and Wales that charts the changing attitudes and responses to this over the course of 2001-2011. Published in August, it deals with policy frameworks that have been put in place over that time to seek to overcome issues of discrimination on the grounds of religion and belief. It also presents a 'three-fold' policy approach structured around the 'Christian' 'Non-religious' and 'religiously pluralistic' aspects of religion and belief equalities.

The report sets out a 'three-dimensional' policy framework to deal with discrimination felt by religion and belief groups from wider society; discrimination by religion and belief groups against others in wider society; and discrimination within/between religion and belief groups.

The report can be downloaded from: http://www.derby.ac.uk/files/policy\_brief.pdf

Report of Demos Inquiry into Faith, Community and Society

The Demos Inquiry into Faith, Community and Society set out to explore the role of faith in British society and politics. It investigated the relationship between religious belief, values and political motivation, and looked at the role that faith groups play in delivering public services. The report brings together the research conducted for the inquiry, and includes a new essay by the Inquiry's chair, Mr Stephen Timms MP.

Runnymede report on New Muslims

The Runnymede Trust has produced a report entitled The New Muslims which finds that dominant perceptions of Muslims are damaging as they do not take into account the vast complexities and differences in British Muslim identities. It examines the wide range of Muslim identities in the UK through looking at a number of factors, including changing demographics, Muslims in the army, Muslims in the media, the unique histories of different Muslim groups in the UK, and youth culture. It makes recommendations based on what it sees as the failure of policy to reflect the lived experiences of British Muslims.

For more information about the report, visit <http://www.runnymedetrust.org/news/499/272/The-New-Muslim-Report-Launched.html>.

The report can be downloaded from http://www.derby.ac.uk/files/policy\_brief.pdf.

Dialogue Theories

A new book by Frances Sleaf and Dr Omer Sener, edited by Professor Paul Weller, will be launched on 8 October. The book, called Dialogue Theories, aims to advance theoretical and practical engagement with dialogue by introducing the work of ten individuals who have made important and insightful contributions to thought in this area. The thinkers, drawn from diverse intellectual and cultural backgrounds, include quantum physicist David Bohm, Jewish philosopher, theologian and educationalist Martin Buber, social theorist Jurgen Habermas and Islamic scholar and peace advocate Fethullah Gulen. Together with the Journal of Dialogue Studies which will be launched this year, and the Dialogue Studies MA co-delivered with Keele University, it is also intended to contribute to the related goal of the development of "Dialogue Studies" as a distinct academic field.

Holocaust Memorial Day 2014 Workshops

The Holocaust Memorial Day Trust is running workshops across the UK throughout September and October for anyone interested in marking Holocaust Memorial Day 2014 (27 January). The workshops will explore the theme of 'Journeys' and how Holocaust Memorial Day can be tailored to be relevant for both faith and inter faith audiences. There will be a chance to hear life stories of Holocaust and genocide survivors and network and share best practice with local organisers.

Dates for workshops and booking information can be found online at <http://www.hmd.org.uk/news/book-your-place-our-hmd-2014-workshops> or by telephoning 020 7785 7029.

JOBS AND VOLUNTEERING

IFN Volunteering

The Inter Faith Network has volunteering opportunities from time to time. These vary from helping with such tasks as mailings and organising the resources library, through to work on the website and supporting such projects as national Inter Faith Week. We are always interested to hear from people with enthusiasm for developing inter faith understanding and cooperation, commitment to the goals of IFN, a positive and diplomatic approach and such skills as:

- good written and verbal communication
- attention to detail
- IT skills
- event organising

If you are interested in volunteering and would like to know more, please email us at ifnet@interfaith.org.uk or ring 020 7730 0410.

Mitzvah Day

Mitzvah Day will be taking place on Sunday 17 November. Mitzvah Day is a Jewish led day of social action – around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. The goal is to reduce hardship and poverty and to help the environment. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. The Day brings people of different faiths together to volunteer.

This year there is a special focus on tackling hunger and raising awareness about what people can do about it.

Inter Faith Network for the UK Appeal

The Inter Faith Network for the UK was founded in 1987 to promote good inter faith relations in the UK. It has made a tremendous difference to relations between different faith communities in the UK and it is a vital resource for inter faith cooperation and understanding in years to come. Its role is unique both in the UK and Europe: linking national faith communities, local, regional and national inter faith bodies, and educational bodies and working with them to deepen inter faith understanding and cooperation as part of working for the common good.

The Inter Faith Network is part supported by faith communities and by the Government (through the Department for Communities and Local Government) as well as through donations from individuals who see the value of its work.

An Appeal was launched earlier this year to support IFN's work. Supporters to date have included the Most Revd Justin Welby, Archbishop of Canterbury, and other leading faith community figures, institutions and trusts linked to a number of faith communities, as well as local inter faith practitioners and other supporters. As we come towards the end of the year, we would like to thank warmly those individuals and organisations who have already given generously and to encourage other readers to contribute to the Appeal to offer support towards IFN's work.

Donations can be made online at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/donations.htm> or by a cheque payable to the Inter Faith Network for the UK. A donations form for those who would prefer to pay by cheque or standing order can be found at the end of this e-bulletin.

Gifts at all levels will be carefully used to help strengthen the vital work of building good relations between people of different faiths and beliefs in Britain, creating a strong basis for positive coexistence and cooperation now and for years to come.

Thank you for your support.

Mr Dorab Mistry OBE, Appeal Chair

The Revd Bob Fyffe and Mr Vivian Wineman (Co-Chairs)
Mr Mohinder Singh Chana, Dr Kishan Manocha, Maulana Shahid Raza OBE and Dr Jagdish Sharma (Vice-Chairs)

Inter Faith Week

Inter Faith Week 2013 in England, Northern Ireland and Wales drew to a close on 23 November. By the end of the Week over 350 events were known to have taken place and tweets, emails and posts have conveyed a picture of a wide variety of these which have drawn many people into new experiences, new dialogues and new opportunities for learning and cooperation. Details of these can be found on the IFW website: www.interfaithweek.org.uk

The IFN office would be pleased to hear how your event or events went and to be emailed any photographs which you think might be good to include on the website or in future materials about the Week. If you have time, we would be very pleased if you would draw on your experience to help us continue to develop the Week to help increase opportunities for inter faith learning and cooperation, including between those of religious and non-religious beliefs. A short evaluation form can be found on the Inter Faith Week website at <http://www.interfaithweek.org/> or you can simply send an email to Interfaithweek@interfaith.org.uk with your reflections on its questions which are:

- a) We think our event was a successful Inter Faith Week event because:
- b) What surprised us most about the event was:
- c) On reflection, we would have done the following things differently:
- d) We evaluated our event and did so in the following way(s):
- e) We have the following tips for other Inter Faith Week event organisers:
- f) If possible, we would like to see the following additions to the Inter Faith Week website next year:
- g) Any other thoughts.

Inter Faith Week 2014 will run from Sunday 16 November until Saturday 22 November.

Scottish Interfaith Week

Scottish Interfaith Week took place from 24 November until 1 December, including within it, as usual, St Andrew's Day on 30 November. The theme for Scottish Interfaith Week this year was 'Values and Visions for the Future of Scotland' in preparation for the Scottish Referendum in 2014.

Around 60 events took place. More information can be found online at <http://www.interfaithscotland.org/our-activities/scottish-interfaith-week/>.

Together in Service

The Department for Communities and Local Government is supporting a new programme, Together in Service (<http://www.togetherinservice.net/>), which builds on the legacy of the A Year of Service programme. It aims both to celebrate the contribution of faith communities to society through social action, and to support the emergence of new multi-faith volunteering projects at local level.

Linked to this is a Together in Service Fund, which is administered by FaithAction. Further information can be found in the section on Funding Opportunities.

All Party Parliamentary Group for RE inquiry

The All Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) for Religious Education is currently holding an inquiry into the contribution of RE to good community relations. The first oral evidence session took place on 10 December.

Further information about the APPG, including a list of its members, and a copy of its most recent report RE: The Truth Unmasked which examines the supply of, and support for, Religious Education teachers can be found at <http://religiouseducationcouncil.org.uk/appg>.

The Secretariat for the APPG is provided by the Religious Education Council for England and Wales.

Religious Education Subject Review

In May 2012, the RE Council, as part of its strategic plan, initiated a review of Religious Education in England to run parallel to the Government's review of the National Curriculum. More information can be found online at <http://resubjectreview.recouncil.org.uk/>.

The report of the Review was published on 23 October with a launch event in the House of Commons. The full text, which includes a non-statutory national curriculum framework, can be read at <http://resubjectreview.recouncil.org.uk/re-review-report>.

Extremism Task Force report published

The Government's Extremism Task Force has produced a report setting out proposals to tackle extremism in the UK. Published on 4 December, this can be downloaded at <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/tackling-extremism-in-the-uk-report-by-the-extremism-taskforce>.

The report's proposals include:

- considering if there is a case for new civil powers, similar to the new anti-social behaviour powers, to target the behaviours extremists use to radicalise others;
- considering if there is a case for new types of order to ban groups which seek to undermine democracy or use hate speech, when necessary to protect the public or prevent crime and disorder;
- consulting on new legislation to strengthen the powers of the Charity Commission;
- working with internet companies to restrict access to terrorist material online which is hosted overseas but illegal under UK law and help them with their continuing efforts to identify what material to include in family-friendly filters;
- improving the process for the public to report extremist content online;
- making delivery of the Channel programme, which supports individuals at risk of being radicalised, a legal requirement in England and Wales; and
- ensuring prisoners who have demonstrated extremist views in prison receive intervention and support on release.

Beyond 2011 Census consultation

As noted in the October issue of IFN's e-bulletin, the Office for National Statistics (ONS) has been carrying out a consultation into the future of the UK census following on from its 'Beyond 2011' programme of research. The consultation closed on 13 December. ONS hopes to report on the consultation in early 2014.

The first 'Beyond 2011' consultation, which took place from October 2011 to January 2012, identified two possible ways forward on a national census-like data collection exercise:

- A once a decade census, similar to the 2011 Census but primarily online

- A census compiled of existing administrative data and compulsory annual surveys.

Respondents to the latest consultation were asked to comment on ways forward on one, or both, of these suggestions. For more information, visit: <http://www.ons.gov.uk/ons/about-ons/who-ons-are/programmes-and-projects/beyond-2011/beyond-2011-consultation/index.html>

Marriage and Civil Partnership (Scotland) Bill

Stage 2 of the Marriage and Civil Partnership (Scotland) Bill is due to be considered by the Scottish Parliament on 19 December. Stage 1 of the Bill was passed by a large majority (98 to 15) in November. It is understood that the proposal is that religious bodies would 'opt in' to perform same sex marriages in the same way that they would do so under the Marriage (Same Sex Couples) Act 2013 for England and Wales which received Royal Assent in July this year.

As well as the main Bill, Scottish Ministers have also reached an agreement with the UK government for an amendment to the 2010 Equality Act. This aims to protect individual religious celebrants in Scotland who do not wish to conduct same-sex marriages from the threat of court action claiming discrimination.

Information about the Marriage and Civil Partnership (Scotland) Bill can be found online at <http://www.scottish.parliament.uk/parliamentarybusiness/CurrentCommittees/63773.aspx>.

Supreme Court ruling on Church of Scientology chapel

Overtaking an earlier decision by a lower court, the Supreme Court ruled on 11 December that a chapel of the Church of Scientology is a place of meeting for religious worship where marriages can be solemnised and should be accepted as such by the Registrar General of Births, Marriages and Deaths. The Supreme Court said that a court ruling to the contrary in 1970 was out of date in its definition of religious worship as involving "reverence or veneration of God or of a Supreme Being".

In delivering the Court's judgment, Lord Toulson said that religion could be defined more accurately as a "spiritual or non-secular belief system" which "claims to explain mankind's place in the universe and relationship with the infinite" and give people guidance on life. "Such a belief system may or may not involve belief in a supreme being, but it does involve a belief that there is more to be understood about mankind's nature and relationship to the universe than can be gained from the senses or from science."

Butler-Sloss Commission

As noted in the October issue of the e-bulletin, the Woolf Institute recently convened a Commission on Multi-Faith Britain. This is chaired by Baroness Elizabeth Butler-Sloss and seeks to: a) consider the place and role of religion, belief and conviction in contemporary Britain and the significance of emerging trends, b) examine how concepts of Britishness may be inclusive of a wide range of faith traditions and beliefs, and may influence self-understanding and a sense of identity; in different traditions and communities; c) explore how shared understandings of the public good may contribute to greater social cohesion and crosscommunity action; and d) make recommendations for public life and policy.

The Commission will continue to meet over a period of two years and will include national and local level public hearings and the publication of two reports: an interim report in late spring/early summer of 2014 to contribute to pre-election debates and manifesto commitments; and a final report in late spring/early summer of 2015 to contribute to debates around the policy and the legislative programme of the new Government following the 2015 general election.

Members are: Bishop Dr Joe Aldred; Dr Ian Bradley; Andrew Copson; Shaunaka Rishi Das; Prof Gwen Griffith-Dickson; Mark Hammond; Dr Jagbir Jhutti-Johal; Prof Francesca Klug; Prof Maleiha Malik; Imam Ibrahim Mogra; Brian Pearce (former Director of the Inter Faith Network for the UK); Canon Dr Angus Ritchie; Rabbi Dr Norman Solomon; and the Revd Dr Robert Tosh. The Patrons are: Lord Bhikhu Parekh (also a member of the Commission); Sir Iqbal Sacranie; Lord Rowan Williams; and Lord Harry Woolf. The Convenor is Dr Edward Kessler. The Advisory Group members (who are also members of the Commission) are: Dr Shana Cohen; Lord Richard Harries; and Prof Tariq Modood. Further information on the Commission is available at <http://www.woolf.cam.ac.uk/>.

Consultation on the Code of Practice for the Human Transplantation (Wales) Act

The Human Tissue Authority (HTA) consultation on the draft Code of Practice for the Human Transplantation (Wales) Act closes on 23 December.

This legislation will make Wales the first country in the UK to introduce a deemed consent system for organ and tissue donation for transplantation after death. The consultation process is vital to the development of the Code of Practice and allows interested parties to contribute to the document and ensure the operational requirements of the legislation are implemented accurately.

Further information on the consultation, including how to submit a response, can be found online at <http://www.hta.gov.uk/consultations/consultationonthecodeofpracticeenglish.cfm>.

PROJECTS

Women of Faith – Manchester

The Faith Network 4 Manchester has launched a new Women of Faith project which will explore and celebrate different cultures and religions and offer learning opportunities for all. The project was launched on 27 November and builds on the women's events held by the Muslim Jewish Forum in Manchester over recent years. For further information, contact Eve Davidson and Farah Mitha at admin@fn4m.org.

'Building Our Futures Together'

Faith Matters has recently launched a new project which is working to ensure that diverse communities have the chance to dialogue with, and engage with, various members of the Armed Forces and their families. The 'Building Our Futures Together' project will provide attendees with a historical insight as to the role of Commonwealth soldiers who fought in the Great Wars and will also provide faith communities with the chance to meet chaplains from different faiths who provide pastoral care to serving soldiers. For further information, contact joanne@faith-matters.org.

SOAS Interfaith Music Festival

The third Interfaith Music Festival run by the School of African and Oriental Studies at the University of London will take place in February 2014. The Festival is a free day of talks and musical and dance performances from people of diverse religious backgrounds promoting inter faith dialogue. Information on this year's Festival can be found online at <http://www.soas.ac.uk/equalitydiversity/events/28feb2013-interfaith-music-festival.html> and <http://www.youtube.com/SOASIFMF>.

Anyone interested in offering a performance for the Festival, should email Anja Fahlenkamp at interfaith@soas.ac.uk. (In order for SOAS to enable the Festival to be for free for all to attend, performers donate their work for free and no reimbursements can be paid towards travel or performance.)

Together in Service Fund

The Together in Service Fund, a programme supported by the Department for Communities and Local Government and administered by FaithAction, was launched in November. It will be making available up to £160,000 over two years in small grants of £2,000 or £5,000 to facilitate new multi faith social action at the local level. Grants will be available on a 1:1 match-funding basis to 'constituted bodies'.

The closing date for the next round of applications is 6 February. Further details about funding, including eligibility, how to apply, and the full schedule of closing dates can be found at <http://www.togetherinservice.net/funding/>.

Church Urban Fund Mustard Seed programme

The Mustard Seed Grant programme run by the Church Urban Fund aims to provide grants of up to £5,000 to enable churches and faith-based organisations to engage in social action, by supporting them to initiate or develop community work. Details on criteria for grants and how to apply can be found online at <http://www.cuf.org.uk/how-apply>.

Funding Central website

Funding Central - <http://www.fundingcentral.org.uk/default.aspx> - is a free website for charities, voluntary organisations and social enterprises that provides access to thousands of funding and finance opportunities, together with tools and resources supporting organisations to develop sustainable income strategies appropriate to their needs.

Funding Central is managed by the National Council for Voluntary Organisations, in partnership with Idox Information Solutions Ltd, and funded by the Government's Office for Civil Society.

Comic Relief Stronger Communities grants

Comic Relief's grants programme now has five themes, one of which is 'Stronger Communities'. Grants for the Stronger Communities theme are managed by Local Community Foundations and range in size from £1,000 to £10,000 per year. Priority is given to small, locally-based groups or organisations in areas of disadvantage that have a clear understanding of the needs of their community and are undertaking actions as a means of addressing these needs. Anyone wishing to apply for a Local Communities grant should contact their local community foundation. Further details can be found online at http://ukcommunityfoundations.org/programmes/comic\_relief/.

Multi Faith Calendars

The 2013-14 Shap Calendar of Religious Festivals, which is used by many schools as well as more widely, published by the Shap Working Party for World Religions in Education, is available to purchase from its website at <http://www.shapworkingparty.org.uk/calendar.html>. This e-calendar includes A4 calendar sheets and photos, together with a booklet giving a brief description of each religious festival. A separate A2 wallchart is also available.

Many inter faith initiatives include a mini calendar of faith festivals and other days of observance in their newsletters or on their websites. Some are now also producing calendars for sale. Two such are the Hampshire Interfaith Network 'Expressions' calendar featuring children's artwork (details of which are available at <http://www.hants-interfaith.org/cal.htm>) and the calendar produced by Leicester Council of Faiths together with Faiths Aware Leicester, entitled 'A Festival Year' (details of which are available from Amanda@christiansaware.co.uk).

Three Faiths Forum Interfaith/Intercultural Facilitation

The Three Faiths forum is running an 'Interfaith/Intercultural Facilitation' training day on 10 January at its offices in London. The day's activities are designed to enhance the intercultural skills and confidence of community professionals and volunteers with experience of basic facilitation.

Participants will learn how to: create and maintain safe space in which group processes can flourish; build group identity and investment; design interfaith/intercultural activities for different purposes; encourage positive contributions and challenge unhelpful behaviour; cultivate deeper, more challenging conversations; respond effectively to controversial moments, and use them as learning opportunities; and reflect and help participants learn from group experiences.

A Conversation about Conflict

The Christian Muslim Forum and St Ethelburga's are running a one-day inter faith dialogue workshop on 20 January exploring the faith influences that can be used to tackle difficult issues in a community setting. The workshop forms part of the Conflict Resilience Programme for Faith Communities and there is a small charge to attend. Places are limited and can be booked online at http://www.christianmuslimforum.org/index.php/calendar?task=view\_event&event\_id=183.

St Ethelburga's conflict resilience workshop

The St Ethelburga's Centre has a roving conflict resilience workshop which is available free of charge to faith communities who would like to improve their responses to conflict. This workshop aims to change the way communities think about conflict, bringing it into the context of individual and collective growth, and connecting it with faith principles. It will explore which faith practices and principles can be brought to bear on conflict and also help begin the process of working through specific current disagreements.

The workshop is part of the Centre's Conflict Resilience programme which also includes a series of public talks and lectures, a peer learning group and a multi faith conference later in 2014. For more information on the roving workshop or the rest of the programme, contact angharad@stethelburgas.org or visit <http://www.stethelburgas.org/conflict-resilience>.

Christians Aware Faith Awareness 'Spirituality' programme

The Faith Awareness Committee of Christians Aware is running a programme in Leicester on Monday evenings from 13 January to 7 April on the theme of 'Spirituality'. The programme seeks to enable people to: recognise a number of different definitions of 'spirituality' in use today and in the past; explore approaches to spirituality from within a limited number of faith perspectives; examine how spiritual practice may be deepened through music and the arts; and be mindful of spirituality and difference in spiritual practice amongst people from different backgrounds. For further information, contact Amanda@christiansaware.co.uk or call 0116 254 0770.

Encompass Trust International Programme

The Encompass Trust is running a residential programme for young people aged 18 to 25 called the 'International Journey of Understanding'. The programme will include 24 young people from a mix of national backgrounds, faiths, cultures, traditions and conflicts. The ten-day programme, which will be held in the Lake District in January, aims to support the young people to understand each other better and to give them the confidence and skills to promote intercultural understanding in their communities.

For further information, visit <http://www.encompassstrust.org/our-work/international-work/> and for an application form, contact Sahdia Khan at sahdia@encompassstrust.org. The closing date for applications is 18 December.

JOBS AND VOLUNTEERING

IFN Volunteering

The Inter Faith Network has volunteering opportunities from time to time. These vary from helping with such tasks as mailings and organising the resources library, through to work on the website and supporting such projects as national Inter Faith Week. We are always interested to hear from people with enthusiasm for developing inter faith understanding and cooperation, commitment to the goals of IFN, a positive and diplomatic approach and such skills as:

- good written and verbal communication
- attention to detail
- IT skills
- event organising

If you are interested in volunteering and would like to know more, please email us at ifnet@interfaith.org.uk or ring 020 7730 0410.

The Doha International Award for Interfaith Dialogue

The Doha International Center for Interfaith Dialogue is seeking nominations for the second Doha International Prize for Interfaith Dialogue. The awards will be presented at the Center's conference in March in Doha which is on the theme of 'Enhancing the Value of Dialogue Through Youth'.

The prize will be given this year for work relating to "youth in interfaith dialogue, successful projects accomplished in the field of activity related to dialogue of youth from different religions, the role of youth in religious dialogue, the role of dialogue in strengthening the capacity of youth and directing their creative energies to build a humane society, a spirit of love, tolerance and co-existence". The award is open to individuals and organisations and there is a cash prize.

Further information can be found online at http://www.dicid.org/english/11th\_conf\_award.php and nominations should be emailed to award2014@dicid.org by 31 December.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

Holocaust Memorial Day - 27 January

'Journeys' is the theme for Holocaust Memorial Day 2014. Each year a specific topic is chosen, relevant to survivors and those who perished, which will enable HMD activity organisers to approach their annual activities the interest of their existing participants and engage new audiences. HMD 2014 will be an opportunity to learn how journeys themselves became part of genocide, and how the journeys undertaken were often experiences of persecution and terror for so many people who suffered in the Holocaust, under Nazi persecution and in the subsequent genocides. It is also an opportunity to learn about the journeys that brought survivors to the UK and how, in many instances, journeys of return have been part of the experience of rebuilding. For more information, see <http://www.hmd.org.uk>.

Inter Faith Week

Over 350 events are known to have taken place in last November's Inter Faith Week www.interfaithweek.org. Some were held to mark both Inter Faith Week and Mitzvah Day, reflecting an increasing emphasis on faith and social action. Other types of events included: film screenings; inter faith cricket; family faith trails; 'inter faith talent contests'; short, 'speed-dating' style dialogues between people of different faiths and beliefs; multi faith music making and choirs; fairs and cultural events; charity fundraising events; exhibitions; arts and crafts themed events; classroom activities, and school visits and assemblies. The National Union of Students funded a range of campus projects and week-long programmes took place at a number of universities and colleges, including Liverpool and Leeds Trinity.

A call for feedback on Inter Faith Week 2013 is included in the section on Calls for information, Competitions and Tenders below.

UN World Interfaith Harmony Week took place in the first week of February. The Committee of IFN sent greetings and a number of inter faith and other bodies in the UK held events. Details can be found at: <http://worldinterfaithharmonyweek.com/events-calendar/?year2=2014>.

Planning for Inter Faith Week 2014

Inter Faith Week 2014 will run from Sunday 16 November until Saturday 22 November. Resources and information can be found at www.interfaithweek.org

Some are already planning for Inter Faith Week 2014! For example, Kirklees Faiths Forum is planning to run an inter faith 'Dragons' Den' competition for secondary schools in Kirklees to coincide with the Week. Young people from secondary schools will be invited to write a business plan which has to be a community based project bringing people from different backgrounds together, to explore and share understanding of: faith, culture, diversity and community. Ideas will pitched by the school before 'faith Dragons.'

Scottish Inter Faith Week will take place from 23-30 November and has a theme this year of 'Journeys'. Further information from Interfaith Scotland: fhume@scottishinterfaithcouncil.org

Inter Faith Network website

The new Inter Faith Network website has been launched and can be viewed at www.interfaith.org.uk (as before). There are a number of new features on the website such as a 'local inter faith locator', and a more detailed list of member bodies. Working will be going on across the coming months to add new resources.

Ashley Beck, who manages the IFN website and has been in charge of the update project, will be very pleased to receive feedback and suggestions at ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk.

Faith communities and flooding

Recent weeks have seen severe flooding in a number of areas of the UK. Faith communities have been working to help those affected and the Church Urban Fund has launched an appeal to assist flood victims. Some have travelled distances to assist, such as volunteer members of Khalsa Aid from Slough and Walsall who went to lend a hand in Somerset.

Regional faith forums in England

The last two years have seen closure, due to funding difficulties, of regional faith forums in four former Government Regions of England: East of England, East Midlands, North West, and Yorkshire and Humber. Faithnetsouthwest, the regional faith forum for the South West of England has announced that it too will cease operating on 31 March. It will be holding a final event, entitled 'Leaving a Legacy', on 27 March in Taunton. For further information, see the Diary Dates section. Like the East of England Faiths Council, it has until recently run a very full programme of work, including support to local inter faith bodies. Faiths Forum for London continues, on a staffed basis, to run a programme of work in Greater London. Details about this can be seen at <http://www.faithsforum4london.org/>. The North East Regional Faiths Network <http://www.nerfn.org/>, South East England Faiths Forum <http://www.se-faithforum.net/> and West Midlands Faiths Forum <http://www.wmfaithsforum.org.uk/> continue their work on a voluntary basis.

Guidance on Transparency of Lobbying, Non-party Campaigning and Trade Union Administration Act 2014

The Charity Commission has announced that it will update its guidance on charities, elections and referendums to explain the changes introduced by the Transparency of Lobbying, Non-party Campaigning and Trade Union Administration Act 2014 (which received Royal Assent at the end of January).

The Lobbying Act changes the rules for non-party campaigners in the run up to elections. The Electoral Commission has already published an update on the changes the Act makes to the rules on non-party campaigning (campaigning by individuals or organisations not themselves standing for election). A copy of the update is available at http://www.electoralcommission.org.uk/\_data/assets/pdf\_file/0009/165177/npc-update-1.pdf. The changes in the Act will apply from 19 September 2014.

The Charity Commission has said that it will “coordinate its guidance and work closely with the Electoral Commission, which is preparing guidance for all organisations affected by the legislation”. It is encouraging charities to sign up for the campaigner updates that the Electoral Commission will be publishing over the coming months. A copy of the Charity Commission's press release is at <http://www.charitycommission.gov.uk/news/charity-regulator-will-update-guidance-to-reflect-changes-introduced-by-lobbying-act/>.

Appeal ruling on Catholic adoption agency

A Glasgow-based adoption Agency run by the Catholic Church in Scotland has won an appeal against a decision to strip it of its charitable status. The Office of the Scottish Charity Regulator reviewed the practices of the charity in January last year, after a complaint from the National Secular Society and, in a report, found it was breaking the Equality Act 2010. St Margaret's Children and Family Care Society had been told by the Scottish Charity regulator it was to lose its status over its refusal to place children with same-sex couples. This decision has now been overturned by the Scottish Charity Appeals Panel (SCAP). A copy of the decision can be found on the SCAP website at <http://www.scap.gov.uk/appeal/register.html>.

Civil Partnership update

Marriage and Civil Partnership (Scotland) Bill

Stage 3 of the Marriage and Civil Partnership (Scotland) Bill was debated on 4 February and the Scottish Parliament voted overwhelmingly to pass the bill. Information about the Marriage and Civil Partnership (Scotland) Bill can be found online at <http://www.scottish.parliament.uk/parliamentarybusiness/CurrentCommittees/63773.aspx>. As noted in the December issue of the e-bulletin, it is understood that religious bodies would 'opt in' to perform same sex marriages in the same way that they would do so under the Marriage (Same Sex Couples) Act 2013 for England and Wales which received Royal Assent in July last year.

Consultation on the future of civil partnerships

The Government has launched a consultation on the future of civil partnerships in England and Wales. This is the full public consultation required by section 15 the Marriage (Same Sex Couples) Act 2013. Full details can be found online at <https://www.gov.uk/government/consultations/consultation-on-the-future-of-civil-partnership-in-england-and-wales> and the closing date for responses is 17 April.

All Party Parliamentary Group on RE

The second of three oral evidence sessions for the Inquiry into the contribution of Religious Education to good community relations took place at the Palace of Westminster on 27 January. The minutes of this event will be available on the website shortly, along with the minutes for the first session which took place in December. Led by Dr Joyce Miller, the Inquiry enables MPs to hear oral evidence from people with expertise in the field, supplemented by written evidence, and the outcome will be a short publication of good practice recommendations. The third session will take place at Westminster on 24 February from 5.00pm to 7.00pm. For further information, email appg@religiouseducationcouncil.org.uk.

PROJECTS

Women in focus

A number of events recently have seen a focus on women in faith and inter faith contexts. For example, the City Sikhs Network (<http://www.citysikhs.org.uk>) in partnership with St Paul's Cathedral, hosted an event at the Cathedral earlier this month entitled 'Women in Faith', which highlighted the role that women play in various religions, contemporary issues affecting women in their respective faiths and personal challenges that female faith leaders have encountered whilst practising and preaching their beliefs.

Interfaith Scotland (www.interfaithscotland.org) is holding a women's inter faith dialogue event on 6 March. This is the latest event in a series stretching across many years. Local inter faith bodies are also bringing women together. Redbridge Faith Forum has been running a two year series of workshops to enable women of all ages and from different faith backgrounds to meet together and discuss topics that matter to them. Further information from faith.forum@redbridge.gov.uk. Horsham Interfaith Forum (www.horsham-interfaith.org.uk) is organising a multi-faith panel on 22 February on this topic. Hounslow Friends of Faith (www.hounslowfriendsoffait.org) holds women's discussion groups, the next of which is on 26 February and West Wilts Multi Faith Forum is holding a women's lunch on 19 March. Further information in the Diary Dates section later in the e-bulletin.

There are also such initiatives as the annual joint prayer event for Christian and Muslim women linked with the Roman Catholic Diocese of Hexham and Newcastle, <http://www.rcdhn.org.uk/interfaith/jesmond13.php> and Luton Council of Faiths' events with women's organisation Ghar se Ghar.

A number of inter faith organisations and projects are focused on the participation of women in inter faith dialogue and activities. Here are just a few from different nations and regions:

The Women's Interfaith Network will be marking its tenth anniversary with an art exhibition at the Oxo Tower in London. The exhibition, which runs from 25 to 30 March, is entitled 'The Spirit of Womanhood' and is described as an opportunity for emerging artists to showcase their work alongside established artists, including works which have been produced specifically for the exhibition in a celebration of creative enterprise and artistic talent. For more information about the exhibition, contact the Curator, Rosalind Parker, at win.exhibition@gmail.com. For further information about WIN, contact marion@wominet.org.uk or visit www.wominet.org.uk.

Religions for Peace has a Global Women's Network <http://www.religionsforpeaceinternational.org/who-we-are/global-women-faith-network>; there is a European Women of Faith Network <http://www.rfpwomenoffaith.eu/>; and Religions for Peace UK is exploring development of a UK Women's Network <http://www.religionsforpeace.org.uk/about/global-women-of-faith-network/> Further details from rknijjar@hotmail.com

The Christian Muslim Forum has an ongoing programme of work focusing on women: <http://www.christianmuslimforum.org/women/>

Edinburgh Women's Interfaith Group is "a safe, organic, open and informal group, welcoming women of all faiths and none". Further information is online at (<http://www.edinwig.org.uk/EWIG/Welcome.html>).

The St Albans Interfaith Women's Group has been running for several years. For further information, contact Ann Scorer at ann@masonscorer.plus.com.

The Women in Faith Group on Merseyside enables "women to share and learn about different faith traditions, stories, festivals and celebrations throughout the year." For further information, contact Irene Hall at Halliml@aol.com.

A Muslim Christian Women's Network was launched in Leicester last year as part of the Christian Muslim Forum. For further information, contact Bonnie Evans-Hills at bonnie.evans-hill@hotmail.co.uk. A dialogue and friendship group for women of these faiths has been running in Leicester since 2002.

Building Bridges Burnley has a project entitled 'Share Food Share Faith' which is a series of events for women only. For further information, contact bbburnley@gmail.com.

A Women's Peace Group, with an inter faith dimension, has met for many years in Birmingham. Further information from: patriciaearle@blueyonder.co.uk

Council of Christians and Jews Student Presidents

A national initiative has been launched by the Council of Christians and Jews (CCJ) to create a network of CCJ Student Presidents. It is hoped that this will help establish inter faith bodies at a student level, 'foster a value' for the bilateral Jewish-Christian relationship and mutual respect of people of all faiths. The launch took place at Durham University at an inter faith event organised by CCJ, Durham's Jewish Society, the Durham University Ecumenical Christian Council, and the Fayre Share Foundation. Speakers were the Most Revd and Rt Hon John Sentamu, the Archbishop of York and Chief Rabbi Ephraim Mirvis, who issued a call to students across the UK to participate in inter faith activity.

Students participating in the scheme will work with the wider organisation to facilitate regular opportunities for students of different faiths to meet, campaign for religious tolerance and 'promote religious intelligence' within the wider campus community. Students from across the country are invited to join the initiative and implement the programme in their own campus. As CCJSPs, students will be invited to CCJ inter faith events involving key figures in the Christian and Jewish Communities. Other activities and support will include:

- An annual national conference in the UK for CCJ Campus members
- An interactive website, PORTICO, set up by CCJ for its campus members and used as a conduit for information and opinion exchange
- Access to the CCJSP project manager who will offer advice, help, ideas and co-ordinate the work of the campus groups, as well as organise national and regional events and manage the PORTICO site

Each year a one-term scholarship will be offered to one CCJSP to study inter faith relations

University of Gloucestershire Faith Space

On 5 February the University of Gloucestershire unveiled its new Faith Space. This Space includes a prayer space for quiet reflection or prayer specific to a particular religion; a new Chaplaincy office where confidential conversations can take place; and a welcoming social space for hospitality so that diverse communities can come together over tea, coffee and a chat. A new stained glass window in the Faith Space has been created using stained glass from the original chapel on the site that has been stored for more than 20 years. It is anticipated that a range of regular events will take place in the Faith Space including Christian discussion groups, Buddhist meditation, inter faith discussions and a Friday International Café. For further information, contact Bobbie Dibden, Communications Support Officer on 01242 714522 or at bdibden@glos.ac.uk.

RESOURCES AND TRAINING

Youth On Religion report

New research findings from the Youth On Religion (YOR) study, funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council and the Economic and Social Research Council's Religion and Society programme, were published in January. These are based on a survey of more than 10,000 13 to 17-year-olds and interviews with around 160 17 to 18-year-olds. The research was carried out in three multi-faith locations – the London boroughs of Hillingdon and Newham, and Bradford in Yorkshire. Participants came from a range of faith backgrounds and included Christians, Muslims, Sikhs, Hindus and those with no specific faith. Some key findings:

- 6th-formers have a high level of respect and tolerance for peers from different backgrounds.
- Students stress how multi-faith schooling, providing opportunities to get to know other pupils with a range of faith values, is good preparation for later life, including going to university. Mixing at school or college also encourages an interest in diversity and helps to reduce prejudice.
- Although the majority of young people taking part in the research attended multi-faith schools, they were not especially confident in their knowledge and understanding of different faith groups.
- More than three-quarters said that RE lessons were a key source of information on different religions and their traditions. Around 46 per cent said assemblies at school or college were also important, and some 35 per cent said that festivals were also significant.
- Teaching everybody together, and providing a prayer room where everybody felt welcome, were also advocated to enhance shared experiences.
- Promoting understanding and tolerance seemed high on the agenda for most young people in the YOR study.

Cambridge Inter-faith Programme Summer School

Each summer the Cambridge Inter-faith Programme brings together an international group from Islamic, Christian and Jewish backgrounds for three weeks of inter-faith and cross-cultural encounter and to resource practical peacemaking and conflict-transformation efforts. Applications are now being accepted for this year's Summer School which takes place at the University of Cambridge from 30 July to 15 August.

The bedrock of the programme is the practice of inter-faith Scriptural Reasoning (SR), in which students receive intensive training. They are offered a series of lectures delivered by specialist academics and peacemakers; and they are facilitated in a process of teaching one another about aspects of their traditions. Most importantly, students have the opportunity to get to know, and learn from, their fellow participants. For further information and an application form, visit <http://www.interfaith.cam.ac.uk/en/education/summerschool>. A film about the Summer School can be seen online at <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=x6P5iwWICKU>. Applications are due by 28 February.

Training for Big Lunchers

Big Lunch Extras is a free three-year support programme run by the Eden Project. The programme is for 900 individuals across the UK wishing to start a community initiative or to take existing projects to the next level.

To begin with participants will all take part in a residential 'camp' at Eden in Cornwall for an immersive weekend to get inspiration, practical skills and the confidence to make real, positive changes in their community. They will also get the opportunity to attend regional events in their area. The events always include a range of practical activities, facilitated sessions and networking opportunities which help participants to increase their knowledge of a certain area (for example, funding or social media), offer practical ideas to engage people in the community (such as outdoor play or community art), and give the chance to talk to fellow participants from around the UK.

UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Inter Faith Week report launch

Inter Faith Week: Celebrating 2013 and planning for 2014 was launched on 25 June.

Inter Faith Week takes place in the third week of November and has now become a fixture in the local and national calendar with events to:

- strengthen good inter faith relations at all levels
- increase awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society
- increase understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs

The report looks back at the 2013 and includes planning tips and ideas for 2014.

The 2013 Week saw thousands participate through over 400 events which took place in England, Wales and Northern Ireland to mark the Week – nearly 30% more than the previous year. The number of local faith communities involved with the Week more than doubled – as did local authorities and civic bodies. The spread of activities was wide: from faiths volunteering together on social action projects and fundraising together for charity, to faith trails and open door days at places of worship; from debates and dialogues to multi faith sports matches; from exhibitions and festivals to hands-on workshops to learn more about different faiths.

It is expected that this year many different kinds of organisation will be holding events to mark the Week: faith groups; inter faith organisations; non-religious belief bodies; businesses; sports organisations; local authorities; Police and Fire and Rescue Services; schools and Standing Advisory Councils on Religious Education (SACREs); universities and colleges; hospitals; voluntary organisations; chaplaincies; and others. Inter Faith Week 2014 will have a special focus on events involving young people or with an intergenerational dimension, and some ideas for events are included in the short report.

The Officers of the Inter Faith Network said:

“This is a Week that is firing the imagination of more and more people of all ages each year.

In the UK we live side by side as neighbours with people of many different backgrounds. “This is a Week for celebrating the positive aspects of how we coexist and for strengthening our common bonds. It encourages new links and friendship. It enables people to learn more about their neighbours’ faiths and beliefs. It brings people together to volunteer in their local communities. It encourages discussion – including about areas of commonalities and shared values, areas of difference, and also about some of the more difficult questions that face us today.”

A copy of the report and press release can be downloaded from <http://www.interfaithweek.org/>. Hard copies of the report are available from the IFN office.

Inter Faith Network Membership Admission Policy

At an EGM in London on 20 May, IFN's member bodies agreed a new membership admission policy, including revised membership criteria, and necessary related changes to the Articles of Association. These changes reflected the Executive Committee's unanimous agreement to the relevant recommendations of the Strategic Review Working Group which presented its Report and Recommendations to the Committee last year. The draft policy put to the EGM also took into account discussion by member bodies at IFN's 2013 AGM and further discussion by the Committee in the course of the Autumn and early 2014.

The new Membership Admission Policy and amended Articles are effective from 20 May and information on the IFN website has been updated to reflect this:

First World War commemorations: Lights Out

4 August is the 100th anniversary of the declaration by Britain and its then Empire and Commonwealth of war against Germany, which marked the beginning of the First World War. Information about the Government's programme for marking this can be found at: www.gov.uk/government/topical-events/first-world-war-centenary.

Some funding possibilities linked to this open to faith groups are listed in the Funding section later in the e-bulletin.

One of the national commemorations taking place on 4 August itself will be a Vigil in Westminster Abbey – an act of solemn reflection in the hour leading up to 11pm when war was declared.

At the same time, homes, workplaces and public buildings around the country will be taking part in Lights Out, a project that forms part of 14-18NOW (www.1418now.org.uk) the cultural programme that will be taking place throughout the four years of the centenary. There will be solemnly turning out lights (a reference to the reported comment by Sir Edward Grey, Foreign Secretary in 1914, that "the lamps are going out across Europe, we shall not see them lit again in our lifetime"), and the leaving of just one light burning as a symbol of continuing hope in the darkness of war. The Government hopes that many places of worship of different faiths will want to take part in this symbolic act and – if appropriate – accompany it with an act of worship or reflection. Please get in touch with Warwick Hawkins at the Department for Culture, Media and Sport (warwick.hawkins@culture.gsi.gov.uk) if you are aware of places of worship within your tradition that would be interested in taking part.

Equality and Human Rights Commission

In April the Equality and Human Rights Commission published its Business Plan for 2014/15. The Plan includes three strategic priorities:

- To promote fairness and equality of opportunity in Britain's future economy
- To promote fair access to public services, and autonomy and dignity in service delivery
- To promote dignity and respect and safeguard people's safety.

A copy of the full Business Plan can be found on the EHRC website at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/about-the-commission/our-vision-and-mission/our-business-plan>. What our plans mean for you – which highlights some of the key issues the Commission has championed and on which it has intervened across the seven protected grounds and human rights over the last 18 months, as well as its future plans – can be downloaded at http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/sites/default/files/documents/OurJob/what\_our\_plans\_mean\_for\_you.pdf.

The Commission has identified several new projects relevant to religion or belief which it plans to undertake this year. These projects are based on its strategy called 'Shared Understandings: a new EHRC strategy to strengthen understanding of religion or belief in public life' which can be found at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/about-commission/our-vision-and-mission/our-business-plan/religion-belief-equality/shared-understandings-new-ehrc-strategy-strengthen-understanding-religion-or-belief-public-life>

The Commission updated this month its document Religion or belief in the workplace: An explanation of recent European Court of Human Rights judgments. This can be downloaded from <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/publication/religion-or-belief-workplace-explanation-recent-european-court-human-rights-judgments>

RE Council Chair open letter on RE

The Chair of the Religious Education Council, John Keast, has issued an open letter on the recent proposal in comments to the Observer by Tristram Hunt MP, Shadow Education Secretary, for a cross-party debate on the role of Religious Education. The letter argues for genuine parliamentary debate on how to ensure good quality RE provision in all schools, and cautions against confusion of RE issues with debates over faith schools and the wider role of religion in education. The letter can be found at <http://religiouseducationcouncil.org.uk/public-engagement/news/2014-06-24/cross-party-debate-on-the-role-of-re>

Law Commission publishes report on hate crime

On 28 May, the Law Commission published a report, Hate Crime: Should the Current Offences be Extended? This followed a consultation carried out between June and September 2013. A key recommendation of the Commission is that a wider review be carried out asking questions such as how the criminal justice system can best provide protection for victims of hate crime.

The report and a summary are available at http://lawcommission.justice.gov.uk/areas/hate\_crime.htm

Prime Minister's Holocaust Commission

The Prime Minister's Holocaust Commission, established in January and chaired by Mick Davies of the Jewish Leadership Council, completed its gathering of evidence in May and is now working towards its report which is due by the close of the year. The Commission is working to ensure Britain has a permanent memorial to the Holocaust and educational resources for future generations.

Britain First 'mosque invasions'

A far right group called 'Britain First' has staged a number of what it has described as 'mosque invasions'. The group, which is a registered political party, has staged a number of public actions including walking into mosques in Bradford, Glasgow, East London and Luton with some members in military-style uniforms and distributing bibles and leaflets to worshippers. The group has used language, such as 'crusade' and 'patrol' and uses the slogan 'Taking Britain Back'. Police investigations into the group are ongoing. A statement issued by Interfaith Scotland following the actions in Glasgow can be found on its website at <http://www.interfaithscotland.org/news/>.

Tell MAMA, a programme monitoring anti-Muslim attacks, advises that any mosque or other organisation subjected to such actions log the issue with the Police using the 101 number (using 999 in the event of an emergency) and log the issue with Tell MAMA via their website <http://tellmamauk.org/> or using their telephone, SMS, iPhone App, Email, Twitter or Facebook details (all available via the website). Tell MAMA has also produced a leaflet with safety advice for Mosques which can be downloaded from <http://tellmamauk.org/wp-content/uploads/2013/07/mosquesafetya3.pdf>.

For all faith communities, the safety and security of their premises and their ability to congregate there and to worship undisturbed is of enormous importance. In 2005, IFN published, with a range of partners, a document Looking After One Another: The Safety and Security of Our Faith Communities and work is under way to revise and republish this.

Equal Marriage guidance

In July 2013, the Marriage (Same Sex Couples) Act received Parliamentary approval. This act makes the marriage of same sex couples lawful in England and Wales, while protecting and promoting religious freedom. The Equality and Human Rights Commission, as part of its statutory remit under the Equality Act 2010, has produced guidance to explain the equality and human rights implications of this legislation. The guidance covers 5 main areas: the law; public authorities; the workplace and service delivery; religious organisations; and school education.

The guidance relevant to religious organisations can be downloaded at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/publication/marriage-same-sex-couples-act-2013-implications-religious-authorities> Other guidance is listed adjacent to this.

Consultation on Marriages by Non-Religious Belief Organisations

The Ministry of Justice has launched a consultation on Marriages by Non-Religious Belief Organisations. This is part of a review required under Section 14 of the Marriage (Same Sex Couples) Act 2013.

The consultation runs until 18 September 2014 and can be found at: https://consult.justice.gov.uk/digital-communications/marriages-by-non-religious-belief-organisations/supporting\_documents/beliefmarriagesconsultation.pdf.

FGM, Forced Marriage and ‘Girl Summit’

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) and forced marriage are criminal offences in the UK and Government and civil society organisations are working to bring an end to them.

On 19 June Religious and community leaders from a number of organisations came together at a summit at the Home Office to discuss, with Government Ministers, a joint declaration condemning FGM. A similar declaration condemning forced marriage has also been prepared. These declarations are designed to provide a joint statement by all faiths that FGM and forced marriage are unacceptable practices, and are not condoned by any religious doctrine. Faith leaders are invited to sign the declarations by emailing rachael.crook@communities.qsi.gov.uk.

The declarations will be formally launched at the “Girl Summit” hosted by the Prime Minister on 22 July. This will be a major international summit aimed at mobilising domestic and international efforts to end female genital mutilation (FGM) and child, early and forced marriage (CEFM). It will be hosted by UNICEF.

Northern Ireland inter faith response to anti-Islamic remarks

In Northern Ireland there has been recent publicity about anti-Islamic remarks made by a local fundamentalist Christian pastor, Pastor James McConnell. McConnell was backed by the First Minister, Peter Robinson.

Several bodies issued statements criticising the remarks and promoting strong inter-religious and intercultural relations, including the Executive of the Northern Ireland Inter-Faith Forum, whose statement is at <http://niinterfaithforum.org/>. The Revd Dr Inderjit Bhogal, former Leader of the Corrymeela Community and former member of the NI Inter-Faith Forum Executive, also issued a statement which appears on the Inter-Faith Forum website. Members of the Belfast Islamic Centre also issued responses.

Pastor McConnell and the First Minister have both since offered public apologies.

Caste in Britain project

At the end of February the Equality and Human Rights Commission published two new research reports which look into issues surrounding caste in Britain. Both reports are from the Commission's Caste in Britain project which was undertaken at the request of government to help inform the introduction of a new statutory law. This followed the Enterprise and Regulatory Reform Act 2013 requirement that government introduce a statutory prohibition of caste discrimination into British equality law.

Key findings from the report to help inform this process include:

- Caste is a form of identity that is used as a basis for social differentiation, distinct from class, race or religion.
- Discrimination against an individual because of caste, including perception of caste, in education, employment, housing, business or public services cannot be tolerated and should be included in the protections against discrimination and harassment provided in the Equality Act 2010.
- However, the State should not intervene in cultural or social usages which are a matter of private practice. Therefore, in regulating in this area particular regard should be given to individuals' rights under the European Convention on Human Rights.
- The definition of caste should be neither too precise nor too broad. A minimum definition of caste in terms of endogamy (marriage restricted within a specific group) inherited status and social stratification would be useful.
- Businesses and public authorities will need clear and practical information about how the prohibition of caste discrimination will affect them. The Commission's initial view is that the impact will be small given that the straightforward message remains that employers and service providers must not make decisions on the basis of irrelevant considerations such as caste.

Copies of the two reports can be downloaded from <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/publications/our-research/research-reports>. They are Reports 91 and 92.

Global research and action network focused on youth-oriented hate speech online

The Berkman Center for Internet & Society at Harvard University has launched plans to form a "thematic network of experts, educators, practitioners and ambassadors that will facilitate, promote and strengthen collaboration to counter youth-oriented hate speech online". The initiative builds upon the "Viral Peace" project, which was inspired by the outcomes of a meeting at the Berkman Center in 2008, and seeks to fight hate speech online by enhancing the capabilities of youth, community leaders, social media influencers and civic activists around the world to stand up to hate and violence online.

To form the thematic network, the Berkman Center will be working with partners including, among others, the London-based Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD). The project will benefit from ISD's work on countering extremist propaganda online, including its Against Violent Extremism network of former-extremists and survivors of extremism-turned-advocates, run in partnership with Google Ideas and the GenNext Foundation. Additional information can be found at <http://cyber.law.harvard.edu/research/viralpeace>.

Court rulings on religious doctrine

The Supreme Court has issued a decision in the case of Shergill-v-Khaira. This appeal related to disputes which have arisen within a Sikh sect associated with three Gurdwaras (Sikh temples) in Bradford, Birmingham and High Wycombe. It raises two questions concerning the trusts on which the Gurdwaras are held. The questions are (i) the extent to which it is open to trustees to alter, or restrict, the terms of the trusts upon which they hold property, and (ii) the extent to which the court can and should refuse to determine issues of religion or religious belief in legal proceedings.

The Court of Appeal had previously permanently stayed proceedings on the basis that the Court could not decide on issues of religious doctrine or practice. However, the Supreme Court has decided that where the matter at stake is to do with issues such as ownership or control of property held in trust, these involve interests which the civil law will protect. Therefore, the Court may have to adjudicate on matters of religious doctrine and practice in resolving the civil law case; but the civil court does not resolve the religious dispute itself.

The case has been referred back to the High Court for a full hearing. A press summary issued by the Supreme Court can be found at:

http://www.supremecourt.uk/decided-cases/docs/UKSC\_2012\_0234\_PressSummary.pdf

PROJECTS

Interfaith Scotland School Inter Faith Days

Interfaith Scotland is expanding its team of volunteers to deliver talks and workshops in schools. The most recent inter faith days have been for primary and secondary schools pupils across Shetland, S4 and S6 pupils at Dumfries High School, S6 pupils at St Modan's High School in Stirling and Oban High School and others are planned.

Further information from admin@interfaithscotland.org.

Interfaith Scotland Women's Interfaith Dialogue

Interfaith Scotland will be holding a women's interfaith dialogue event in Moray during September (date tbc). This is part of a regular programme of women's dialogues across Scotland, looking at 'Values and Visions for the future of Scotland' in the light of the Scottish referendum in September 2014, and thinking about how women of all faiths and none can contribute to that vision. For further information, contact frances@interfaithscotland.org.

Friends for Change

The St Ethelburga's Centre in London is launching a new programme of inter faith dialogue for young adults called 'Friends for Change'. The programme is for 18 to 36 year olds who are committed members of a faith community.

The programme takes place over 12 months and will focus on: Exploring identities and sharing stories; Experiencing other communities and places of worship; Understanding each other's beliefs and practices; Building lasting friendships across different cultures; Reflecting on what it means to live one's faith in times of transition; Exploring spiritual aspirations and passions; Asking what contribution the younger generation can make to our communities and wider world; and Exploring the potential for joining forces in the future and generating social action projects in 2015.

There are still a few places available and further information can be found online at <https://www.stethelburgas.org/friends-change> or by contacting Viviana at projects@stethelburgas.org.

Luton archery project

The Luton Council of Faiths and Grassroots Luton have launched an archery project, enabled by Big Lottery funding. The aims of the project include improving the physical health of disadvantaged minority ethnic people, enabling these groups to be less isolated and better engaged, and strengthening community cohesion, to foster a stronger and safer community. Community archery sessions will be held in local places of worship. For further information, contact admingrassroots@btconnect.com.

3FF ParliaMentors

ParliaMentors is a year-long programme, run by 3FF in which trios of university students of different faiths and non-religious beliefs are mentored by parliamentarians and create social action projects with support from leading local and national NGOs. Participants on the programme receive training and attend events that widen their professional and social networks.

3FF is now recruiting for its 2014-15 ParliaMentors programme, which begins in September. To find out more, and to apply, visit

Community tree planting to commemorate WWI

This August marks the 100th anniversary of the outbreak of the First World War. The Woodland Trust is honouring all those who took part in the war effort by planting millions of trees that will stand as a tribute for centuries to come and is encouraging communities to plant a free tree pack in their local area.

Packs come in three sizes – 30 saplings, 105 saplings and 420 saplings in various themes (hedge, copse, wildlife, wild harvest, year-round colour, working wood, wild wood and wetland). For more information, and to apply for packs, visit www.woodlandtrust.org.uk/freetrees. The closing date for applications is 4 September but it may close early if oversubscribed.

Together in Service Fund

The Together in Service Fund, a programme supported by the Department for Communities and Local Government and administered by FaithAction, is available as 1:1 match-funding for small grants between £2,000 and £5,000 to facilitate multi-faith social action projects at a local level. It has so far awarded a total of £72,000 to 25 projects. Funding is available only to organisations and not to individuals.

The next two deadline dates are 3 July and 25 August. Further details about funding, including eligibility, how to apply, and the full schedule of closing dates can be found at <http://www.togetherinservice.net/funding/>.

FaithAction are holding a series of 'Fast Track to Funding' workshops to help organisations with funding applications. A full list of dates and venues can be found online at <http://www.togetherinservice.net/latest/2014/03/fast-track-to-funding-events-by-faithaction/>.

Near Neighbours programme

The Near Neighbours programme, a partnership between the Church Urban Fund and the Archbishops' Council, has been awarded a further grant by the Department for Communities and Local Government of £3 million to build upon the success of its current projects in bringing together multi faith communities. This additional funding will enable the programme to expand to new areas within the UK and to support existing community projects over the next two years.

The programme has been focused on Leicester, Birmingham, East London, Luton and the northern conurbations of Burnley, Bradford and Oldham. It will now be expanding into Rochdale, Dewsbury, Leeds, Nottingham, North and West London and the Black Country.

The Near Neighbours Fund awards small grants of between £250 and £5,000 to projects that enable people of different faiths or none to work together for the benefit of the community. The Fund has now re-opened and details on how to apply can be found online at <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants>.

Inter Faith Youth Trust grants for Inter Faith Week

The Inter Faith Youth Trust will be making small grants of up to £500 for organisations running events or projects connected with Inter Faith Week 2014.

Grants are awarded for proposals for inter faith activities by children and young people from Christian, Jewish, Muslim, Hindu, Sikh and other faiths and those of no formal faith which encourage understanding and co-operation. The age range for young people is 11 to 25 years. Priority will be given to projects which:

- Actively involve young people in planning, running, and evaluation of the project.
- Promote positive action, ie young people from different backgrounds coming together to address shared problems such as improving green spaces.
- Are run by non-statutory organisations, such as youth clubs, scout/guide groups, local voluntary and community organisations.

The application form can be downloaded from www.ifyouthtrust.org.uk and the closing date for applications is 31 August 2014.

Support for inter faith WWI commemoration events

A number of organisations are making support available for projects and events to commemorate WW1 this year.

Under the Heritage Lottery Fund's 'First World War, Then and Now' programme grants of up to £10,000 are available for local projects with a permanent learning legacy (grants solely for events are not available). Larger HLF grants may also be available for projects with a national scope. Details are available online at <http://www.hlf.org.uk/HowToApply/programmes/Pages/FirstWorldWarThenandNow.aspx#.U43YIE0U-vE>.

The Near Neighbours fund (<http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants>) and Together in Service (<http://www.togetherinservice.net/>) are both willing to consider grant funding applications for practical multi-faith projects with a First World War focus.

Projects may also be interested in registering to be part of the First World War Centenary Partnership (<http://www.1914.org/partnership/>), headed by the Imperial War Museum. Although grants are not available, members carry the Centenary Partnership brand and have access to an extensive network of contacts and opportunities.

Ride and Stride

Ride and Stride is a sponsored bike ride or walk in which people from all over the country walk or cycle between places of worship, enjoying the countryside from Cornwall to Northumberland. The money raised helps to preserve some of Britain's places of worship which are at risk of falling into serious disrepair. Taking part in this fundraising event is open to any church, mosque, synagogue or temple and is a good way to raise awareness.

London's Ride and Stride is taking place on 20 September (www.heritageoflondon.com) and in the rest of England it is taking place on 13 September (www.rideandstrideuk.org).

Comic Relief Stronger Communities grants

Comic Relief's grants programme now has five themes, one of which is 'Stronger Communities'. Grants for the Stronger Communities theme are managed by Local Community Foundations and range in size from £1,000 to £10,000 per year. Priority is given to small, locally-based groups or organisations in areas of disadvantage that have a clear understanding of the needs of their community and are undertaking actions as a means of addressing these needs. Anyone wishing to apply for a Local Communities grant should contact their local community foundation. Further details can be found online at http://ukcommunityfoundations.org/programmes/comic\_relief/.

RESOURCES AND TRAINING

The Good Society Project

On 21 May, at the Basil Hume Centre in Westminster, London, Churches Together in Britain and Ireland (CTBI) and Church Action on Poverty launched the 'Good Society' project, with a keynote speech from Cardinal Vincent Nichols.

Over the past two years, Good Society researchers have visited different places in the UK to look at how churches are tackling a wide range of social issues. A report has been produced and this, together with a specially produced toolkit, is designed to be a springboard for wider conversations by communities and churches across the UK about what constitutes a Good Society. CTBI will be gathering these views, and using them as the basis for what the Churches say on a range of issues in the run-up to the 2015 General Election.

To download the free toolkit and for more information, go to www.agoodsociety.org or email info@agoodsociety.org.

Faithnetsouthwest final event report

Like many organisations, Faithnetsouthwest has been struggling to maintain a secure financial base for some time in a very difficult funding environment. Its Directors decided that regrettably its financial position was not sustainable and its work has now drawn to a close. Its final event, entitled 'Leaving a Legacy' took place on 27 March and was addressed by Stephen Timms MP, Chair of the All-Party Parliamentary Group on Faith and Society. A copy of the report can be downloaded from <http://faithnetsouthwest.org.uk/faithnetsouthwest-to-shut-on-31-march-2014/>.

'Visiting Faiths' DVD

The Faith Encounter Programme (FEP) in the West Midlands has recently produced a DVD, comprising 6 ten minute films of 6 of the most inspiring places of worship in the region. The films are presented as mini tours by six of the trained Faith Guides, and give an insight into the lives of the people who worship at each place, as well as displaying the beautiful features of the buildings. Buddhist, Christian, Jewish, Hindu, Muslim and Sikh faiths are featured. The films are intended as a resource for teachers who are unable to take their pupils to visit or who are preparing for a visit, anywhere in the country and teachers' notes are planned. The films can also be used in adult groups, as an introduction to the heritage of faiths in the UK. The films can be previewed briefly at www.faithencounter.org.uk and purchased from FEP Coordinator Ruth Tetlow at 0121 449 4892 or ruthetlow@btinternet.com.

Faith Initiative

Faith Initiative magazine has been published since 2001. Its publishers see it as helping readers move past 'fear of the unknown' to explore a multitude of issues that are relevant to people of faith and their communities. It seeks, through a variety of themes, to increase mutual understanding by illustrating the similarities between religions, and also the distinct differences on the basis that both have to be valued if inter faith dialogue and action is to have integrity. The publishers also see the magazine as a celebration of faiths in its colour, artwork, poetry and sacred writings. It is published twice a year over 4,500 copies are circulated annually to schools, colleges, universities, chaplaincies, inter faith groups and religious communities, many on a gift basis.

For further information, visit www.faithinitiative.co.uk. For a complimentary copy of the magazine, contact the Editor, Heather Wells, at hf\_wells@yahoo.co.uk.

One World Week (19 to 26 October)

Each year One World Week is an opportunity for people from diverse backgrounds to come together to learn about global justice, to spread that learning and to use it to take action for justice locally and globally. The theme for this year's One World Week is 'Living Differently: Breaking Chains – Making change'. This recognises that everyone needs to make changes now to secure a fairer, more satisfying, life for all whilst protecting the planet's resources for future generations. This year OWW is encouraging events around sourcing food differently, reducing wastefulness and using money ethically to support change.

UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Inter Faith Network update

IFN's National Meeting and AGM were held in Birmingham on 29 September.

National Meeting

The theme of the National Meeting was 'Tough to talk?'. This focused on issues which can be difficult to tackle in inter faith contexts, reflecting on how these are being approached around the UK in different settings.

The following themes were addressed through plenary discussion and in discussion groups: contexts in which it can be 'tough to talk' and ways of approaching difficult issues; maintaining bonds of trust and cooperation when times are tough; charities and due diligence, including in relation to concerns about extremism; addressing difficult issues sensitively in local contexts; conflict resilience skills; motivations and agendas in inter faith contexts; questions of identity and inclusion; inter faith engagement and extremism; learning from dealing with difficult issues in the classroom and in youth inter faith work; and learning from faith communities' engagement with social challenges.

A report of the National Meeting will be available in due course.

New Committee and member bodies

A list of those elected to serve on IFN's Executive Committee for 2014-15 can be found on the IFN website at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/about-ifn/structure>. The following organisations were accepted into membership, under the new Membership Admissions Policy agreed at the May EGM: Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Great Britain); Druid Network; Pagan Federation; Spiritualists' National Union; North Lincolnshire Multi Faith Partnership; and Stratford-on-Avon Interfaith Forum.

Other meetings

A meeting of the Faith Communities Forum of IFN was held in London in July and meetings of member local inter faith organisations for exchange of news and good practice were held in Bristol, Leicester, Luton, Newcastle and Preston in August.

A combined meeting for National and Regional Inter Faith Organisations and Educational and Academic Bodies was held in London in August.

Inter Faith Week

Inter Faith Week in England, Northern Ireland and Wales runs from Sunday 16 to Saturday 22 November.

Many events are now up on the Inter Faith Week website and can be viewed via the interactive map at www.interfaithweek.org/map, and more will be added regularly.

To submit details of an event, go to www.interfaithweek.org/submit and follow the instructions on the page. Listing an event brings free publicity, and helps other people to find out about events happening in their local area. It is also a good way of encouraging everyone else taking part in the Week by making people feel part of the bigger picture.

The range of organisations taking part in the Week looks set to be as wide as in past years, including local, regional and national faith communities and inter faith organisations; schools, colleges and universities; SACREs and local education centres; local authorities and public services such as the Police; libraries, museums and galleries; community organisations, charities and NGOs; student and youth organisations; Chaplaincies; businesses and professional bodies; and hospital and healthcare organisations.

The Week is an important focal point for inter faith activity, and an opportunity to showcase the many excellent projects and programmes taking place year-round. Prime Minister David Cameron has said “there is no better way of celebrating the richness and diversity of faith in our country.”

Mitzvah Day takes place on 16 November. This is a Jewish-led day of social action and volunteering which includes a large number of projects run on a multi-faith basis known as ‘Inter Faith Mitzvah Days’. Inter Faith Week and Mitzvah Day work closely together and Mitzvah Day inter faith events are listed on the IFW website. Further information on Mitzvah Day is included in this E-bulletin here.

For further information about Inter Faith Week or how to take part, contact Ashley Beck at ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk or on 020 7730 0410.

Scottish Interfaith Week will take place from 23-30 November and has the theme ‘Journeys of Faith’. Further information can be found at <http://www.interfaithscotland.org/events/>.

EHRC call for evidence on religion or belief in the workplace and service delivery

The Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) has extended to 31 October the closing date for its call to evidence on religion or belief in the workplace and service delivery.

This call for evidence aims to gather as much information as possible from members of the public, employers, providers of services, legal advisors and religion or belief organisations. The work covers all faiths and beliefs and experiences in England, Scotland and Wales. The EHRC is keen to hear about positive and negative experiences since 2010 including:

- How religion or belief has affected the recent experiences of job applicants, employees or customers
- Whether people who hold a religion or belief are aware of their legal rights and if appropriate information and guidance is available to them
- Views on the effectiveness of current equality and human rights legislation on religion or belief

- The recent experiences of employers when these issues arise in the workplace
- The recent experience of organisations providing services to the public when issues around religion or belief are raised.

This research is part of a three-year EHRC programme “to strengthen understanding of religion or belief in public life, improve knowledge about what happens in practice and ensure that the laws that protect everyone’s right to be treated with fairness, dignity and respect are effective”.

The EHRC will be releasing its initial findings in early 2015 and will use the information gathered to develop guidance on any issues which individuals or organisations are finding challenging. It will also inform its assessment of the effectiveness of the current equality and human rights framework relating to religion or belief rights and freedoms.

The call for evidence is being conducted by independent research organisation NatCen Social Research. Questionnaires can be completed on line or by post and all information collected will be in confidence. ## Religious Education updates

The Religious Education Council, National Association of Teachers of RE and Culham St Gabriel's Trust are supporting the development of regional hubs for RE. Five hubs were piloted during the summer term, and five more are in development, as well as some working independently. More information is available on the RE Council website <http://religiouseducationcouncil.org.uk/>

The RE Council Learning Outside the Classroom website has now been launched at <http://lotc.recouncil.org.uk/> This website brings together information on RE trails and case study material on running visits to places of worship and other sacred spaces.

The Religious Education Council runs a professional development portal which enables RE teachers to find relevant training, workshops and other professional development opportunities. Organisations can submit details of any opportunities they provide at <http://www.theredirectory.org.uk/pdportal>.

Impact on inter faith relations in the UK of overseas events

Across recent months, events in the Middle East have had a significant impact on inter faith relations in the UK and they continue to be a focus of prayer and discussion.

Responding to this situation, in early August, the Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs sent two messages to member bodies. The first, on 4 August, was entitled 'Overseas events and inter faith bonds of friendship and trust in the UK'. This focused on maintaining good relations with people of other faiths in times when the impact of overseas events puts strain on these. The second was entitled 'UK inter faith relations and impact of overseas events, particularly in Iraq and elsewhere in the Middle East' and focused on ways of responding to overseas events here in the UK. These were also made available more widely through the home page of the Inter Faith Network website at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/>.

There have been a number of national, regional and local inter faith and multi faith responses to events. Just a few examples of inter faith responses are noted below.

The National Council of Imams and Rabbis of the Joseph Interfaith Foundation issued a statement on 13 July. Blackburn with Darwen Inter Faith Forum, Lancashire Council of Mosques and Lancashire Forum of Faiths and Churches Together in Lancashire signed a Plea for Peace on 4 August, which they sent to the Prime Minister, the Leader of the Opposition, and local MPs. Led by the Archbishop of Wales and the Secretary General of the Muslim Council of Wales, more than 30 leaders from churches, mosques, temples and synagogues signed a statement on 7 August to express their concern for the plight of Christians who are being forced out of their homes by ISIL (Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant). They also reaffirmed their friendship to each other and offered prayers for those suffering. The Al-Khoei Foundation, in partnership with the Assyrian Orthodox Church and the Awareness Foundation, held, on 9 August, "an evening of solidarity and support, bringing together the diverse communities of Iraq to show their concern and condemnation of what was happening to the Christian community and all the diverse communities of Iraq". Religions for Peace (UK) issued a statement on 22 August condemning the acts of ISIL. Some responses are ongoing, for example, Building Bridges in Burnley is holding inter faith prayers for peace in Gaza, Syria and Iraq weekly during October.

On 3 September, a multi-faith peace vigil was held outside Westminster Abbey, attended by the Archbishop of Canterbury, faith leaders and representatives of faith-based NGOs. The vigil, which was jointly organised by Christian Aid, Islamic Relief and World Jewish Relief in partnership with the Church of England, the Muslim Council of Britain and the Movement for Reform Judaism, was an expression of solidarity with the people of Iraq and affirmed the message "We Are All Human".

A multi faith event took place on 12 October at the British Muslim Heritage Centre in Manchester to celebrate the life of a local man, Alan Henning, who had been murdered by ISIL following his kidnapping while delivering humanitarian aid. A memorial service also took place at Perth Congregational Church to celebrate the life of David Haines. The minister who led the service, at which people of other faiths were present, said that it had a "message of peace and reconciliation".

There were also many single faith statements and events. In relation to ISIL, a number of them being strongly worded statements from Muslim organisations deploring the way that Islamic teachings had been misused in seeking to justify acts committed by it. A video statement was released by ImamsOnline.com in which a number of senior British Imams from both Sunni and Shia traditions, including IFN Vice-Chair Maulana M Shahid Raza, emphasised the importance of unity and condemned ISIL as a "vicious group who do not represent Islam in any way". The video can be found at <http://imamsonline.com/blog/2014/07/senior-british-imams-response-to-isis-recruitment-videos/>

Faith community festivals at Westminster

Across the last few years, there has been a tradition established of key festivals of a number of faith communities being celebrated within the Houses of Parliament and, more recently, of receptions linked to particular festivals held at Downing Street or locations such as Lancaster House.

One of the longest standing is the Diwali event at the House of Commons which took place this month for the 13th year.

There are also a number of annual events which have a link to particular communities, such as Ahimsa Day, arranged by the Institute of Jainology and held this year on 15 October.

These events have a strongly inter faith dimension with communities inviting colleagues of other faiths to participate.

PROJECTS

RE 4 Real

The Faiths and Civil Society Unit at Goldsmiths, University of London has launched a project entitled 'RE 4 Real – What do school leavers really need to know about religion and belief?'. Schools can play a crucial role in shaping how young people engage with the presence and diversity of religion and belief in the world around them. The project will explore the contours through the views of teachers, parents, pupils and employers on what sorts of knowledge and skills school leavers should develop on religion and belief and why they need them.

The project is being funded by the Culham St Gabriel's Trust and will run until July 2015 conducting over 200 interviews and focus groups in 20 schools across England.

Council of Christians and Jews 'Buddy' project

The Council of Christians and Jews has worked to bring about a "Buddy Scheme" which will pair ten students training for ministry at the Queen's Foundation, Birmingham, with ten Rabbinic students from Leo Baeck College in London during their years of training.

The project will give the Anglican ordinands the opportunity to learn more about Jews and Judaism from a 'buddy' also going through the experience of training for ministry and community leadership. The pairs will be encouraged to meet monthly to share their learning and experiences. In a context where the training curriculum may have limited space for learning about other faiths, the students will be building dialogue into personal experience as they build a relationship with a contemporary. The hope is that the pairings may also lead to long-term friendships which will enrich the training of participants and also their future ministries.

CCJ explain that it is planned that a further cohort of students will be enrolled into the scheme each year from now on, creating a significant new resource in Christian-Jewish understanding for the future.

Holocaust Memorial Day Trust inter faith resource

Holocaust Memorial Day 2015 is asking people to 'Keep the memory alive' by exploring and sharing the powerful stories of survivors in a year that marks two important anniversaries – the 70th anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz-Birkenau and the 20th anniversary of the Genocide in Srebrenica, Bosnia. The aim is to reflect on memories of genocide while the survivors are still present in order to leave a legacy for future generations, learn the lessons of their experiences and to challenge hatred and discrimination in the UK today.

Faith and inter faith organisations play a crucial role in fostering understanding and good relationships between different faith groups in the UK. The HMD Trust sees HMD as an opportunity for “people of different faiths and of no faith to come together to celebrate the diversity of their communities, challenge prejudice and intolerance, and create a safer, better future.”

The Trust has produced a range of resources to assist groups in organising an activity to commemorate Holocaust Memorial Day. A 'Get Involved Guide' for faith and inter faith organisations provides ideas and inspiration, and a free Activity Pack with a set of posters to create a display. HMDT is also able to send material to be handed out at events – including stickers, badges, and copies of the booklet which provides an introduction to HMD. For further information, visit www.hmd.org.uk.

Impact of Faith-Based Organisations on Public Health and Social Capital

FaithAction has recently launched a report entitled The Impact of Faith-Based Organisations on Public Health and Social Capital. This report brings together evidence around the reach of faith-based organisations and their impact on health and wellbeing by drawing on published literature.

The report uncovers evidence on the current and potential involvement in public health of faith-based organisations, including highlighting innovative practice that is having an impact. It is intended as a starting point for faith groups to consider how they can help to improve health and wellbeing; and as a support tool for policymakers to broaden their range of approaches with confidence that there is evidence to support the involvement of faith in public health and wellbeing.

Scriptural reasoning information call from local group

The Stratford-on-Avon Interfaith Forum (SAIF) has been experimenting with Scriptural Reasoning and would be pleased to hear from other inter faith groups who have worked on scriptural reasoning. It writes "IFN members will probably know that this way of studying other people's scriptures began with Jews and Christians, and soon included Muslims. The paucity in our immediate area of Jews and Muslims has led us to try using the method with Buddhist and Baha'i scriptures, as well as the Christian. In December we will approach the Bhagavad Gita of Hinduism with the same intent. If any other interfaith group has attempted similar ventures we would be very glad to hear from them."

2015 Parliament of the World's Religions

The Council for a Parliament of the World's Religions is currently inviting proposals for programmes for presentation at the 2015 Parliament in Salt Lake City, Utah, in October 2015.

Programme types may include: lectures, academic papers, seminars, panel discussions, religious or spiritual observance, workshops, training sessions or artistic performances. The theme of the 2015 Parliament will be Reclaiming the Heart of Our Humanity: Working Together for a World of Compassion, Peace, Justice, and Sustainability. Most of the programming will be around the following three 'critical issues': Climate Change and Care for Creation; War, Violence and Hate Speech; and The Widening Wealth Gap and Wasteful Consumption; and will be focused on the following three 'constituencies': Women; Indigenous Communities; and Youth.

The closing date for submissions is 15 January 2015. For further information, visit <http://rfp.parliamentofreligions.org>.

Faith and Fire

Faith and Fire welcomes submissions to the Faith and Fire website. Faith and Fire is a partnership between the Chief Fire Officers Association [UK] and Fire and Rescue Services. It developed from work undertaken by the Chief Fire Officers Association with Buddhist Group of Kendal (Theravada), Ketumati Buddhist Vihara Manchester, and Manchester Buddhist Convention; and from the pilot project run at Kendal Fire Station in 2012 – 2013 by Buddhist Group of Kendal together with Cumbria Fire and Rescue Service. Further information, and a downloadable resource, can be found at:

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

One World Week (19 to 26 October)

Each year One World Week is an opportunity for people from diverse backgrounds to come together to learn about global justice, to spread that learning and to use it to take action for justice locally and globally. The theme for this year's One World Week is 'Living Differently: Breaking Chains – Making change'. This recognises that everyone needs to make changes now to secure a fairer, more satisfying, life for all whilst protecting the planet's resources for future generations. This year OWW is encouraging events around sourcing food differently, reducing wastefulness and using money ethically to support change.

For more information, including guidance for inter faith and inter cultural events, visit <http://www.oneworldweek.org>.

UK/NATIONAL UPDATES

Events

The response to Inter Faith Week this year has been very positive. Over 300 events in England, Northern Ireland and Wales were registered on the website at www.interfaithweek.org and more continue to be discovered through monitoring of reports on the internet. The updated map is viewable on the Inter Faith Week website.

This year saw week-long programmes in a number of places which had not held such programmes before. One example was Rugby where the new Mayor, Councillor Ramesh Srivastava, convened a special inter faith working group to put together the programme of events.

Events were, as usual, vary varied – from clergy exchanges, to classroom inter faith dialogues, quizzes, suppers for the homeless cooked by members of different faith communities, tree plantings, faith trails, and much more. This year saw some tough issues taken as discussion subjects, from international political and religious divides to protecting children from abuse.

The Week was marked again by a wide spectrum of organisations and some, such as the National Union of Students, marked both Inter Faith Week and Scottish Interfaith Week (within a 'Faith and Belief Fortnight').

Media

Inter Faith Week gained very good publicity, being picked up widely in everything from blogs to local radio interviews to pieces in the Times and on the BBC website, which featured the awarded photographs from the Congregational Insurance Competition, run in association with IFN and Churches Together in England, Faith Through a Lens. A new section of the Inter Faith Week website has been added which brings together media coverage, and you can find this at <http://www.interfaithweek.org/media/2014-media-coverage>. If your events or activities received coverage, check if this is listed. If not, please do send details to Ashley Beck at interfaithweek@interfaith.org.uk.

Use of Twitter this year was extensive with a high volume of traffic during the Week about events taking place. Tweets about the Week were widely re-tweeted and a carousel of the Twitter feed was placed on the Inter Faith Week website. IFN also used Facebook to profile events and continues to post stories and reflections on the Week. At least one organisation ran a week-long social media campaign.

Feedback

If your organisation held an event for Inter Faith Week in England, Northern Ireland or Wales IFN would very much value your feedback on Inter Faith Week 2014. Your response can help it continue to develop the Week as a highly effective way to profile, and widen involvement in, inter faith activity and cooperation and to add value to the work of the many organisations sharing these important aims. You can let IFN have your feedback by clicking on this link: <http://www.smartsurvey.co.uk/s/139357PKHMF>. There is also a space at the end to use if you would like to send us a short account of your event. This short electronic questionnaire will remain live until 22 January. If you prefer to have a Word version of this, contact Ashley Beck at Interfaithweek@interfaith.org.uk.

Scottish Inter Faith Week

Scottish Interfaith Week 2014 took place from 23 to 30 November. The theme for 2014 was 'Journeys of Faith'. Ideas around this theme included people's personal journeys of faith, an inner journey towards greater spiritual understanding, a physical journey of pilgrimage, looking at the theme of 'journeys' in different faith traditions and scriptures and journeys taken by the prophets or founders of a faith tradition. The programme of events that took place during Scottish Interfaith Week 2014 can be found online at <http://www.interfaithscotland.org/scottish-interfaith-week/>.

Young Voices, Young Agents for Change

Inter Faith Week 2014 had a focus on youth and intergenerational involvement and so IFN arranged a special day event where over 80 inter faith practitioners and young people came together to discuss youth inter faith education and activity. Young Voices, Young Agents for Change took place at the Coin Street Neighbourhood Centre in London. It was chaired by IFN's Co-Chairs. The day was sponsored by the Church Urban Fund, Golden Tours Foundation, NASACRE, the Inter Faith Youth Trust and Zoroastrian Trust Funds of Europe.

There were presentations and participation from young people of different faiths and from those developing inter faith activities and education in organisations such as, to name just a few, the RE Council of England and Wales, the National Association of SACREs, Bolton Inter Faith Youth Ambassadors, Redbridge Ambassadors of Faith and Belief, the Feast, Interfaith Scotland, Mitzvah Day, Near Neighbours, 3FF, the Joseph Interfaith Foundation, the Maimonides Interfaith Foundation, the Nehemiah Foundation, Rowan Arts the St Ethelburga's Centre, the Encompass Trust, NUS and FBFE, the National Council for Voluntary Youth Services, National Citizen Service, Girlguiding, the Jewish Lads and Girls Brigade, the West Midlands Scouting Association as well as others.

Inter faith understanding and cooperation between people of all ages is important. But, at the same time, there are unique factors about involvement of young people. The event was a chance to talk about that, as well as to recognise the great work already under way. It was also a chance to discuss how organisations might work more effectively to enable young people to gain a good level of religious literacy and develop the skills for successful engagement with an increasingly diverse society.

Grant funding helped support videoing and photographing of the day. A microsite within the IFN website to include vox pops and a short video are currently under development.

If your organisation is developing inter faith work with or for young people and you have not already been in touch with the IFN office, it would be glad to hear from you with details: ifnet@interfaith.org.uk

Extension of Consultation on Religion and Belief in British Public Life

As noted in earlier issues of the e-bulletin, the Commission on Religion and Belief in British Public Life, convened by the Woolf Institute, has launched a public consultation on the role of religion and belief in public life, with particular regard to media coverage of religion and belief issues, social action, developments in UK education systems, civil and criminal law, and dialogue and engagement. Information on the consultation can be found at www.corab.org.uk/national-consultation. The closing date for responses has been extended to 31 December.

Responses can be of any length and can be accompanied by copies of relevant documents. In its eventual report the Commission will acknowledge all the responses which it receives and may quote from some directly. Enquiries and responses should be sent to Mohammed Aziz, Head of the Commission Secretariat at maa74@cam.ac.uk or by post to the Woolf Institute, 12-14 Grange Road, Cambridge CB3 9DU.

Integration update from Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government

On 18 December Mr Eric Pickles, Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, provided an update on integration issues to the House of Commons in the form of a Written Statement. He began by saying that the Government was “committed to confronting and challenging extremism in all its forms, tackling the violence and hatred that seeks to create division. We are championing what unites our country across class, colour and creed, and we are standing up for and supporting British values.” He then drew attention to the Government’s integration strategy which was published in February 2012 - <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/creating-the-conditions-for-a-more-integrated-society>.

The Written Statement listed the current integration projects and activities which the Department for Communities and Local Government currently supports and noted that DCLG will no longer be funding the Muslim Charities Forum, which was initially awarded the contract to run a Faith Minorities in Action Project; and that it has asked FaithAction to cease its funding of Islamic Help. The Government’s reasons for these decisions and an indication of further plans relating to the work area of FMAP are included in the Written Statement, a full copy of which can be found at: <http://www.parliament.uk/business/publications/written-questions-answers-statements/written-statement/Commons/2014-12-18/HCWS154/>.

Jewish News Interfaith Channel

The Jewish News has launched a new inter faith channel, dedicated to growing understanding and co-operation between people of faith, and none. The site, hosted on www.jewishnews.co.uk and backed by the Pears Foundation, aims to highlight the work of organisations and initiatives bringing members of different faiths together to break down barriers. Providing news, features, pictures and opinion articles, the section will also offer a platform for discussion on the challenges facing this field. Jewish News editor Richard Ferrer said the section will be a “place for people of all religions and none to celebrate similarities, debate differences and tackle issues of common concern”. The Channel was launched at the House of Commons on 20 November as part of Inter Faith Week. It can be found at <http://www.jewishnews.co.uk/category/interfaith-2/>.

Faith Covenant

The All Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) on Faith and Society has drafted a Covenant which can be adopted by faith groups and local authorities in cities across the UK. The Covenant is a joint commitment between faith communities and local authorities to a set of principles that guide engagement, aiming to remove some of the mistrust that exists and to promote open, practical working on all levels.

Any local authorities interested in adopting the Covenant should contact FaithAction, (which provides the Secretariat for the APPG), on 0845 094 6350 or at info@faithaction.net, with the aim of working out a local version of the Covenant’s commitments according to the priorities and needs of that locality.

Christian Muslim Forum announces Strategy Review

The Co-Chairs of the Christian Muslim Forum announced on 19 December that, in the context of significant changes both in wider society and in the funding streams available to support this work, “after a decade of outstanding achievements, the Forum is to undergo a significant review and re-structure.” As part of this restructuring, the implementing Director, Julian Bond, will complete his role next month, continuing to serve the Forum in an advisory capacity. During 2015 there will be a major listening exercise and consultation with both Christian and Muslim communities and organisations in order to determine the Forum’s future shape and priorities. The full message from the Co-Chairs of the Christian Muslim Forum is at <http://www.christianmuslimforum.org/index.php/news/514-2015-review>.

Safe Network Multi-faith safeguarding hub

Safe Network is a joint NSPCC and Children England service that provides a wide range of child safeguarding resources and learning opportunities to the voluntary and community sector in England. It is currently funded by the Department for Education and the NSPCC.

In November, during Inter Faith Week, the Safe Network launched a Multi-faith safeguarding hub at an event at the St Philips Centre in Leicester at which IFN's Director, Dr Harriet Crabtree, was the keynote speaker.

The resource brings together information, advice and resources relating to some of the faiths practised in the UK today while also promoting the positives of taking a multi-faith approach. It is aimed at the voluntary, community and faith sectors but will also be useful for those groups or organisations who may want to know more about safeguarding in faith groups and communities, including schools, universities and local authorities.

One of the key aims of the hub is to demonstrate the important that all faiths place on safeguarding children and support those individuals or groups who want to ensure they prioritise child safeguarding in all their activity. A range of information and resources are already available and these will be added to in the coming months.

The Hub is online at <http://www.safenetwork.org.uk/resources/mfsh/interfaith/Pages/default.aspx>.

Living Together in a Multi Faith World course

The London Inter Faith Centre's new course on 'Living Together in a Multi Faith World' begins on Monday 12 January. The course has five objectives:

1. to give participants first-hand experience of world faiths and their practitioners
2. to reflect on the basis for inter faith work and on questions relating to mission
3. to build up participants' knowledge of resources and contacts so they can continue the work into the future
4. to explore the religious landscape of UK
5. to enable participants to engage in a piece of Inter Faith work of their own

The course will run for two years from January 2015 to December 2016. It will usually run on Monday evenings from 7.30pm to 9.30pm at the London Inter Faith Centre, though there will be some travel to visit places of worship. All those completing all six modules will receive a Certificate in Inter Faith Relations. For further information, including details of course fees, visit <http://londoninterfaith.org.uk/study/certificate-in-inter-faith-relations-introduction/>. For enquiries and registration, contact laurence.hillel@londoninterfaith.org.uk.

Youth in Excellence poetry anthology

Youth in Excellence is inviting young residents of the UK, between the ages of 11 and 19, to submit a poem on the theme of 'Identity' for possible inclusion in its poetry anthology to be published early next year.

The aim is to increase the artistic opportunities available to younger members of communities, engage youth within the arts and create a sense of geographical and community cohesion via shared perspectives on the theme of identity and what it means to young people living in the United Kingdom. The anthology will be the start of a celebration of diversity and will culminate in an event for Universal Children's Day in November 2015. The winning entrants will receive special awards for their contributions as well as the opportunity to perform their poem at the Universal Children's Day event. Entries must be received by 15 January. For a copy of the guidelines, contact info@youthinexcellence.com.

The murders at the offices of Charlie Hebdo, at the Hyper Cachat Kosher Supermarket and related deaths in the second week of January, have been the focus of vigils, prayers, statements, articles and reflection across the last few weeks in the UK. Links to details of a range of events and statements can be found on IFN's website at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/news>.

IFN's Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs referred in a New Year message to member bodies to the events [<http://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/statements-and-messages/100-message-from-ifn-officers-to-member-bodies-8-jan-2015>] and also issued a statement on 21 January which is reproduced at the end of this e-bulletin and can be found at: <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/statements-and-messages>

The Government's response to the impact of the events, as well as to growing concerns about a reported rise in anti-Semitic attacks in the UK and Europe more widely, has included a pledge to increase levels of protection for the Jewish community and police support for mosques as well as statements about the importance of all faith communities to British life and to the countering of extremism. Communities Secretary Eric Pickles and Parliamentary Under-Secretary Lord Ahmad wrote a letter to mosques on 18 January https://www.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment\_data/file/396312/160115\_Final\_Draft\_Letter\_to\_Mosques\_PDF.pdf and Home Secretary Theresa May addressed issues relating particularly to anti-Semitism at a commemorative event on 18 January organised by the Board of Deputies of British Jews.

While the principal focus in the UK in terms of community safety has been on the Jewish and Muslim communities, Sikh organisations have expressed concern that the safety of Sikhs is also affected, with a recent serious attack on a Sikh in Mold, Wales taking place in the days following the events in Paris. <http://www.citysikhs.org.uk/2015/01/attack-on-sikh-man-in-north-wales-statement-from-city-sikhs-network/> The Secretary General of the Muslim Council of Britain wrote to Sikh leaders to express support <http://www.mcb.org.uk/muslim-council-britain-condemns-attack-sikh-man/>

EHRC to produce new legal guidance on freedom of expression

The Equality and Human Rights Commission has announced that (on 3 February) it will be publishing new legal guidance on freedom of expression. In explaining the context, it says that "Following the recent tragic deaths in Paris, there has been considerable debate both nationally and internationally about free speech. Freedom of expression is a fundamental right which is essential for democracy, a free media and political, artistic and scientific development." The guidance will explain that a) there are legitimate ways the state restrains what can be said but the test for curtailing freedom of expression in law is a stringent one, and much that is offensive is still legal; and b) Freedom of expression can however be restricted in certain circumstances (for example, where it incites violence against others or promotes hatred based on the colour of someone's skin or their sexual orientation or their religion).

Reconciliation and tolerance a theme in speeches from HM The Queen and HRH the Prince of Wales

HM The Queen's Christmas Speech had a particular focus on reconciliation and included reflection on The Queen's own Christian basis for seeking "to respect and value all people of whatever faith or none."

<http://www.royal.gov.uk/imagesandbroadcasts/thequeenschristmasbroadcasts/christmasbroadcasts/christmasbroadcast2014.aspx>

In a speech to the Institute of Jainology and the Oshwal Association at the Oshwal Centre in Potters Bar on 22 Jan, receiving the Ahimsa Anniversary Award, HRH the Prince of Wales spoke of the importance of religious tolerance, saying: "We all have a duty to work for greater harmony between the religions of the world, especially when, as now, tolerance is being so severely tested."

Charity Commission consults on new guidance for trustees

The Charity Commission has launched a consultation on its new guidance for trustees, the closing date for which is 17 February.

The Commission has rewritten guidance note CC3, entitled 'The Essential Trustee: what you need to know, what you need to do'. The new guidance clearly explains what the Commission expects of trustees and the potential consequences if the minimum good practice standards are not met.

The current guidance distinguishes between what trustees must do (i.e. what are legal requirements) and what trustees should do (i.e. what is good practice), but it is unclear whether the good practice standards are optional. The new draft guidance clarifies this position and warns that those who do not meet the minimum standards are at risk of breaching their legal duties as trustees. The new draft follows recent commission guidance on decision making and conflicts of interest. It also reflects other changes such as the introduction of Charitable Incorporated Organisations.

Information about how to respond to the consultation on the draft guidance, including the consultation questions, can be found online at <https://www.gov.uk/government/consultations/the-essential-trustee-cc3-new-version>.

Inter Faith Network meetings

Faith Communities Forum

A meeting of the Inter Faith Network's Faith Communities Forum was held on 28 January. The Forum exists to facilitate discussion between member faith communities at a national level on issues of common concern to them as faith communities and thereby to promote the development of closer working relationships between them. Under discussion were issues such as multi faith healthcare chaplaincy and the Government's integration approach.

Faith communities making their spaces available for inter faith meetings and discussions help enable shared engagement in projects that benefit society. In the spirit, FCF meetings take place, where possible, at venues offered by the bodies represented. This meeting was hosted by IFN member body the Quaker Committee for Christian and Interfaith Relations at Friends House.

Planned day event for local inter faith practitioners

Save the date: Planning is under way for a day event for local inter faith practitioners on practicalities of their work, focusing on topics highlighted by member groups at their recent IFN link meetings. This event, planned as the first of two, will be open to both IFN member and non-member local inter faith groups. The provisional date for the first meeting is 26 March. Further information will be circulated in due course.

New Hindu temple inter faith reach out

Shri Pashupatinath Mandir, a new Hindu Temple in Rowley Regis, is holding an inter faith conference on 7 February with representatives of the different faiths represented in the area. This is an example of how inter faith engagement is increasingly seen as a vital dimension of the life of places of worship in their local communities.

In an interview with the Hereford Times, their spokesperson said: "We thought with everything going on in the world at the moment it is the right time for all the faiths to get together and support each other. We want to bring different faiths and unite the community so we are hosting the first ever Inter-faith awareness day to bring people of various faiths, leaders, the community and local councillors together. We have also invited members of West Midlands Police and Building a Better Blackheath and the Black Country Housing Group. ...Following our first event, a chance for regular get together for community members and representatives from organisations will be held each Sunday during the coming weeks together with a community meal."

The inter-faith day is at the Shri Pashupatinath Mandir Temple, Park Road, Rowley Regis, between 2pm and 4pm on Saturday, February 7.

Sharing of expertise – pioneering new approaches

Faith communities are increasingly exploring ways to learn from each other's practical experience and good practice. A synagogue in Bradford is exploring one very direct way of doing this through inviting a member of another faith community – a Muslim member of the Friends of the Synagogue - to become one of its governing body.

Kendal Peace Garden

South Lakes Interfaith Forum is involved in a Peace Garden that is being planned for Kendal to commemorate the First World War. The idea for the garden, in Abbot Hall Park, was put forward by the town's Mayor, Cllr Tom Clare. It is intended to be "a deliberate and conscious community creation: a signifier of peace and understanding between our communities and those in the rest of the world. In addition it is intended that the Kendal Peace Garden should embody wider symbolism and be something which people will come to the town to see". The symbolism within the garden design currently includes reference to Christianity, Judaism, Buddhism, Hinduism and Paganism. ## Big Lunch Extras

Following on from the success of The Big Lunch, the Eden Project has begun a new community programme called Big Lunch Extras, which it believes could benefit and encourage inter faith work.

Big Lunch Extras is designed to help people interested in bringing about small, positive changes in their neighbourhoods. At the heart of the programme is a free three day Community Camp at the Eden Project, offering speakers, workshops, tours and the chance to network with others on the programme. This is followed by a series of one-day road-shows across the country, to help develop skills and keep up the momentum. This is a fully funded programme and further information can be found at www.biglunchextras.com.

Edinburgh Inter Faith Association video and publication

The Edinburgh Inter Faith Association has recently created two resources:

Faith and I is an educational documentary video which challenges hate crime and racism directed towards people of faith. It follows the lives of three young women from different faith traditions; Islam, Judaism and Sikhism, showing the positive influence of faith in their lives. The project was partly commissioned in response to a rise in hate crime towards Muslims and Jews as an educational tool to tackle prejudice and raise awareness. It highlights hopes and fears which anyone can identify with, regardless of beliefs, values and practices.

Faith and Young People is a publication for schools detailing the needs of young people of faith in terms of requirements for prayer facilities, dietary needs and requirements around religious holidays. It discusses potential uniform/dress code requirements and issues relating to relationships, sexual health, parenthood education, physical education, religious and moral education and religious observance. This document was produced primarily as a resource for those working in schools, but is described as relevant to anyone interested in developing their knowledge to the needs and sensitivities of the various faith adherents and communities.

Inter Faith Week questionnaire – deadline extended

If your organisation held an event for Inter Faith Week in England, Northern Ireland or Wales in 2014, IFN would very much value your feedback on the Week. Your response can help it continue to develop the Week as a highly effective way to profile, and widen involvement in, inter faith activity and cooperation and to add value to the work of the many organisations sharing these important aims. You can let IFN have your feedback by clicking on this link: <http://www.smartsurvey.co.uk/s/139357PKHMF>. There is also a space at the end to use if you would like to send us a short account of your event.

The closing date for this short electronic questionnaire has been extended until 10 February. If you prefer to have a Word version of this, contact Ashley Beck at Interfaithweek@interfaith.org.uk.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

World Interfaith Harmony Week – first week of February

World Interfaith Harmony Week is a UN recognised Week which takes place each year during the first week of February.

WIFW was proposed at the UN General Assembly on 2010 by HM King Abdullah II of Jordan and adopted by the UN. It is based on the work of the Common Word initiative which started in 2007 and called for Muslim and Christian leaders to engage in a dialogue based on two common fundamental religious Commandments - Love of God, and Love of the Neighbour - without compromising any of their own religious tenets. Events can be registered on the website www.worldinterfaithharmonyweek.com

Note: While the decision was taken to keep Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland in November for a range of practical reasons and Scotland also continues to mark its Inter Faith Week in November/December, the World Week is marked by a number of organisations in the UK, including the branches in this country of international inter faith organisations which help raise awareness of, and encourage involvement with, the vital issue of global inter-religious harmony.

SAFETY, SECURITY AND LIVING WELL TOGETHER

A statement by the Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs of the Inter Faith Network for the UK

The recent murders in Paris, as well as reported rises in anti-Semitic and anti-Muslim comments and attacks in the UK and more widely in Europe, have brought in their wake increased anxieties about the safety of Jewish and Muslim communities. In the case of manifestations of violent extremism and terrorism they have brought anxiety about the safety and wellbeing of all communities and of our society overall.

There is, and will be, debate about best ways to respond to these disturbing developments, as well as to the implications of others around the globe. At an immediate practical level, however, where communities feel their very safety is under threat, mutual support is vital. Inter faith initiatives are fundamental to achieving this and play a crucial role alongside that of the emergency services and other secular agencies working to ensure public safety. The attached principles, drawn from the IFN and partners document 'Looking After One Another: The Safety and Security of our Faith Communities' remain very relevant.

Government statements this weekend about the need to re-double efforts to eradicate anti-Semitism, as well as about the need to protect Muslim and other communities, were accompanied by statements from Ministers about the importance of all faith communities to British life and to the countering of extremism.

The Inter Faith Network for the UK works to increase understanding about and between faith communities and to encourage and support good inter faith relations. As part of this it has always underlined the enormous importance of the contribution which faith communities make to British society – and also of their engaging and being engaged with well by wider society.

Among the Government statements made was that of Home Secretary Theresa May: "Without its Jews, Britain would not be Britain, just as without its Muslims, Britain would not be Britain - without its Sikhs, Hindus, Christians and people of other faiths, Britain would not be Britain". We wholly agree. We would add that Britain would also not be Britain without our continuing commitment as people of different faiths, within its four nations, to finding ways to live together well – including with those of non-religious beliefs - and continuing to work together to shape our society in the light of our shared values while retaining the integrity of our religious beliefs and appreciating the positive dimensions of diversity.

There has been fresh discussion in recent times about "values", including in the context of discussion of 'British values'. The Inter Faith Network has, across the years, explored the ideas of 'common values' and 'shared values' in a number of ways, from the seminar The Quest for Common Values <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/quest-for-common-values>, through working with the faith communities on the Act of Commitment for the new Millennium <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/act-of-commitment>, to such documents as 'Living Well Together' www.interfaith.org.uk/living-well-together. Further work on values will be taking place within the Inter Faith Network across the year."

FAITH AND PUBLIC LIFE UPDATES

General Election – manifestos and hustings

A number of national faith community bodies have produced resources or manifestos or are holding hustings events in the run up to the General Election on 7 May. For example:

- www.churcheselection.org.uk Churches Together in Britain and Ireland (CTBI), in collaboration with a number of ecumenical partners.
- <http://www.jointpublicissues.org.uk/issues/politics-and-elections/election2015/> Joint Public Issues Team (Baptist Union, the Methodist Church and the United Reformed Church and Church of Scotland) in the area of public issues.
- <http://www.sikhsangat.com/index.php?/topic/76585-the-sikh-manifesto/> The Sikh Network, which brings together a number of Sikh organisations.
- <http://www.bod.org.uk/coming-to-a-shul-near-you-the-general-election-jewish-manifesto-launched-after-six-months-of-community-wide-consultation/> Board of Deputies of British Jews.

A number of inter faith organisations and cross-community bodies are also organising hustings or have produced manifestos, for example:

- The Council of Christians and Jews has produced a Christian-Jewish manifesto discussing topics of importance to both communities and all those involved in interfaith dialogue. This outlines the areas in government and politics that are of concern to the religious communities, both separately and together.
http://www.ccj.org.uk/Articles/431008/The\_Council\_of/News/Manifesto.aspx.
- The City Hindus Network and the City Sikhs Network, together with the Faiths Forum for London, Square Mile Muslims, Asian Voice and the Emerald Network are jointly organising an event entitled 'Hustings in the City' in London on 9 April. For further information and for tickets, visit <http://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/hustings-in-the-city-tickets-15957958684>.
- People Inspired is a project supported by the Association of English Cathedrals, Theos, the Cathedral Innovation Centre and public participation specialists 'Involve' which aims to give people from all communities a voice in UK politics and to make politics more accessible and appealing. Hustings are being held through this project around the country, for instance in the Bradford West Constituency
<http://www.westyorkshiredales.anglican.org/?q=content/bradford-west-hustings-0>
- FaithAction has launched a Faith Manifesto, with input from its member bodies
<http://www.yoursay.faihtaction.net/>
- The Jewish Council for Racial Equality has published 'An Interfaith Manifesto' from a range of faith leaders which calls on political leaders to pursue ethical, moral and fair policies towards migrants, asylum seekers and refugees.
<http://www.migrantsrights.org.uk/news/2015/interfaith-manifesto-just-treatment-refugees-asylum-seekers-and-migrants>

Local inter faith organisations are playing an active role in some areas, for example in London:

- Faiths Together in Lambeth will be holding hustings for the three parliamentary constituencies within Lambeth on Monday 20 April, Tuesday 21 April and Thursday 23 April. For further information, contact ftil@hotmail.co.uk.
- Hillingdon Inter Faith Network is organising three hustings in the run up to the general election in the three parliamentary constituencies within the borough, similar to the events they ran prior to the last election. <https://greenwire.greenpeace.org/uk/en-gb/node/24785>

Faith communities standing together

The January/February issue of the e-bulletin, published on 30 January, carried an extended piece on UK inter faith response to the murders at the offices of Charlie Hebdo and at the Hyper Cachet Kosher Supermarket and related events in France. It also referred to the impact of the far right, noting the PEGIDA marches in Germany.

February saw faith communities responding again to attacks in Copenhagen and also atrocities in other parts of the world.

Among the responses from faith communities is a campaign called #WeStandTogether which was launched at the London Central Mosque at Regents Park with involvement from a number of faith community leaders and from the Metropolitan Police.

Regents Park Mosque was also the starting point for another expression of solidarity which saw a group of Jewish, Muslim and Christian religious leaders leading a one-day 'pilgrimage' across central London, organised by the Coexist Foundation, to demonstrate inter faith fellowship.

PEGIDA marched in Newcastle on 28 February and faith groups were an active part of 'Newcastle Unites' which rallied to oppose this.

Home Secretary speech on counter-extremism strategy

Last October, the Home Secretary, the Rt Hon Theresa May announced that the Home Office was taking responsibility within Government for developing a new counter-extremism strategy. This strategy aimed "to tackle the whole spectrum of extremism, violent and non-violent, ideological and non-ideological, Islamist and neo-Nazi – hate and fear in all their forms".

On 23 March Ms May gave, in her role as Home Secretary, a speech outlining the further measures she wished to see implemented after the General Election. These include:

- banning of hate preachers.
- 'banning orders' for groups which do not reach the current threshold to be banned as extremists

- civil ‘extremism disruption orders’ to be used against individuals
- ‘closure orders’ to shut down premises owned or used by extremists
- a ‘positive campaign to promote British values’ to the public
- a review of supplementary schools, which are currently unregulated, to ‘protect children from extremists’
- HM Inspectorate of Constabulary reviewing how police forces have responded to ‘honour crimes’, female genital mutilation and forced marriage
- new ‘extremism officer’ roles in prisons to deal with extremist inmates and gangs
- a full review of citizenship law to ensure successful applicants respect British values
- a ‘sharp reduction’ in funding for translation services and a ‘significant increase’ in money for English language training
- a review of Sharia courts in England and Wales to examine whether they are compatible with British values

The Home Secretary also referred to the Government’s new ‘Extremism Analysis Unit’ which is intended: to help develop a new engagement policy in order to ensure that “nobody unwittingly lends legitimacy or credibility to extremists or extremist organisations”; and also to “inform the development of a counter-entryism strategy”.

She also mentioned plans to create “a place-based, multi-agency, single-pot funding model called the Helping Isolated Communities Programme which will include training and skills projects, help for women to get into work, mentoring schemes, interfaith projects, getting school pupils mixing with children from other backgrounds, and intensive English language training”.

A copy of the full text of her speech, which sets out all her proposals, can be found on the Government website at <https://www.gov.uk/government/speeches/a-stronger-britain-built-on-our-values>.

EHRC report: Religion or belief in the workplace and service delivery

As noted in the October 2014 E-bulletin, the Equality and Human Rights Commission launched a call for evidence in August 2014 aiming to explore the direct and personal experiences of employees and service users concerning religion or belief, and also the views and experiences of employers, service providers, relevant organisations and others. A report on the findings of the call for evidence has now been published by the EHRC and can be found at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/our-work/key-projects/your-experiences-religion-or-belief> along with summaries of its findings. The EHRC will be drawing on the findings to produce guidance in due course.

EHRC guidance: Freedom of expression legal framework

The January/February E-bulletin noted that the Equality and Human Rights Commission guidance on freedom of expression was due to be published imminently. This was published on 4 February and can be found at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/publication/freedom-expression-legal-framework>.

Government progress report: call to end violence against women and girls

To mark International Women's Day, the Government published a progress report on its activity to end violence against women and girls since 2010. The report, which refers to the role of faith leaders in supporting declarations condemning FGM and forced marriage, can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/call-to-end-violence-against-women-and-girls-progress-report-2010-to-2015>.

Multi faith call on nuclear weapons

A number of faith leaders from across the UK have signed a statement calling on states with nuclear weapons to join with other states to implement new approaches to eliminate nuclear arsenals. Ahead of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT) Review Conference meeting from 27 April to 22 May 2015, senior representatives from eight faiths in the UK, including Christian, Muslim, Hindu, Sikh and Buddhist, have given their backing to a statement calling for the elimination of nuclear weapons. The statement, which can be found at <http://www.endnuclearweapons.org.uk/>, was developed and co-ordinated by Religions for Peace UK, Pax Christi UK and a range of Churches and other faith groups.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

Faith and Social Action

Recent weeks have seen faith and multi faith social action highlighted in a number of different contexts.

Sadaqa Day

On Sunday 22 March, Sadaqa Day took place, with events in Bradford, Leeds, London and Manchester and other locations around the UK. It is a new national day of multi faith social action, led by Britain's Muslim community and supported by the Department for Communities and Local Government whose Minister Lord Ahmad of Wimbledon spoke at its launch at Southwark Cathedral. Further details can be found at www.mysadaqaday.org.

Sadaqa Day joins the long established Mitzvah Day and also Sewa Day and the Big Iftar in encouraging volunteering by people of many backgrounds to make a difference in communities. It took place within Islam Awareness Week which this year took as its theme: "Give a little of yourself".

Mitzvah Day 365

Mitzvah Day has now developed Mitzvah Day 365 which supports and encourages hands-on social action throughout the year, building stronger communities and creating relationships between different faith groups. There is more information about this development online at <http://www.mitzvahday.org.uk/about-us.html>.

Near Neighbours

The Near Neighbours Programme of the Church Urban Fund and the Church of England, with funding from the Department for Communities and Local Government, works to support people of different faiths and ethnicities so that they can get to know each other better, build relationships of trust, and collaborate together on initiatives that improve the local community they live in. Its small grant fund recently awarded its 800th grant to the Larches Trust, connecting Jewish, Christian, Hindu and Muslim residents in Barnet for a community peace project where local people are coming together to build a mosaic in the form of a tree, as a declaration of peace in the area. Further information is at <http://www.cuf.org.uk/blog/800th-grant-award>.

Cinnamon Network

Cinnamon Network invited fifty Local Church Networks to lead a Cinnamon Faith Action Audit to provide evidence for the impact and value of social action delivered by local churches and all other faith groups. In May, they will publish these and present them to their respective local authorities, police and other agencies. In addition, a national Cinnamon Faith Action Audit will be published and presented to Government following the General Election. It is hoped that evidence gathered will strengthen the confidence of local churches and that of local authorities, police and other agencies to work more closely together. Further information is online at <http://www.cinnamonnetwork.co.uk/cinnamon-faith-action-audits/>.

Faith Based Regeneration Network

The Faith Based Regeneration Network, in partnership with Locality, the Community Development Foundation and others is launching a new programme of support for local community action, funded by the Department for Communities and Local Government, called 'First Steps'. The programme is designed to give small community groups the opportunity to think about their area, what they like and don't like and how they would like to change aspects of it. The programme will initially be working to support at least 115 local neighbourhoods or areas to work collaboratively in their communities to create a community action plan by March 2016. The support offered will include consultancy, shared learning and small grants. Information on the grants provided can be found in the Funding section below. For further information, visit <http://cdf.org.uk/content/funding-programmes/first-steps> or contact Steve Miller at stevemiller@fbrn.org.uk.

New website for 'Inter-faith Wales'

'Inter-faith Wales' has recently launched a new website at <http://interfaithwales.org.uk>. The website includes an introduction from the Rt Hon Rhodri Morgan AM, First Minister for Wales, and includes information about three separate bodies covered by the term 'Inter-faith Wales': the Faith Communities Forum (which is an organ of the current Wales Assembly Government), the Interfaith Council for Wales and the emerging Wales Inter-faith Network. The site contains information and news on each body and also contact details for all those involved.

Multi faith roadshows visit schools and colleges

Inter faith organisations play an important role, alongside professional educators, in bringing faith and inter faith issues into schools and colleges. As well as bodies such as Interfaith Scotland, 3FF and the Maimonides Inter Faith Foundation operating at UK or national level, a number of IFN's member local groups provide speakers for schools and work closely with local schools and SACREs and with colleges to support classroom and whole school learning about different faiths and about inter faith understanding.

The St Philip's Centre has been bringing a special Religion and Belief roadshow to schools and colleges in Leicestershire and Lincolnshire as part of its work to build good inter-faith relations . The most recent visit was to Grantham College where students learned about a range of faiths and had the opportunity to sign a giant card which supported the importance of inter-faith relations and the need for respect, acceptance and understanding in society, which was then presented to the college for display.

Friendly Places

FaithAction is working on a project entitled Friendly Places which aims to help those suffering from mental health problems. It notes that "Mental health problems are common and will affect 1 in 4 people in the UK during their lifetime. Faith groups and faith-based organisations have the capacity to provide places of support and acceptance for those struggling with mental health problems."

On its website at <http://www.faithaction.net/areas-of-work/friendly-places/> are a series of articles and resources to help faith groups make some practical and positive steps towards becoming more mental health friendly. Faith Action is also offering a training session based on the Friendly Places Pledge (<http://www.faithaction.net/areas-of-work/friendly-places/pledge/>). Any faith group interested in hosting or attending a training session, should contact FaithAction at info@faithaction.net or on 0845 094 6350.

New Jewish Muslim Women's Network

Funding for a Jewish Muslim Women's Network – Women Leading Together (WLT) has been approved by the Rt Hon Eric Pickles MP, Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government. Led by Laura Marks, Senior Vice-President of the Board of Deputies of British Jews, and Julie Siddiqi, Executive Director of the Islamic Society of Britain, the network aims to strengthen relationships, initially between the Jewish and Muslim communities in the UK, through their women – and to encourage more women into leadership roles in the two communities.

The Network aims to create a safe, inclusive space for women from both faiths to meet, learn from and share skills with each other, as well as working on shared inter faith projects to improve real contact awareness and understanding. WLT will focus on creating unity between the UK Jewish and Muslim communities and will involve other faith groups wherever possible throughout its work.

For further information or to get involved, visit <http://www.womeninjewishleadership.org.uk/women-leading-together-wlt-jewish-muslim-womens-network/> or contact Sam Clifford at sam.clifford@bod.org.uk.

Weaving Women's Wisdom

The Weaving Women's Wisdom project began through the Kirklees Faiths Forum Book Club and is now supported by Touchstone Bradford. The aim of the project is for women to meet and share important stories from traditions and scriptures and to reflect on the wisdom that they have experienced to inspire a rug design. It has just completed its first design and is now looking for new craft projects. For further information, contact Jenny Ramsden at Touchstone on 01274 721626 or at faith2faith@touchstone-bradford.org.uk.

Places of worship and other faiths

Places of worship of different faiths now often host inter faith events and sometimes invite groups to hold events in their buildings. This is a growing feature, for example, of Inter Faith Week which has seen: the Middlesex Reform Synagogue hosting a Harrow Inter Faith Council event on faith festivals; the Vedic Temple in Southampton hosting an inter faith musical event; and York Minister featuring a performance of 'Luminosity', a light-and-sound installation (inspired by Shiva) with live Carnatic singing, Indian-inspired violin, and contemporary music performed by Manasamitra, an Indian performing arts company from Yorkshire.

Not so usual is performers from one faith tradition contributing to the liturgical experience of congregations of a different faith. Chelmsford Cathedral has, however, recently seen this on two separate occasions. Choral Evensong before Christmas saw a group of 26 Bharathanatyam dancers, under the direction of their tutor Shrimathi Susanna, performing three dances to a mixed congregation of Hindus and Christians. Bharathanatyam is a traditional Hindu sacred dance which is performed in the temples of southern India, and the dancers danced the Amrit Vani, and then two Christian dances, one to the words of The Magnificat, and one called Halleluiah. On Mothering Sunday this month dancers from the same group returned to dance three different parts of the Eucharist. The Cathedral's Vice Dean, Canon Ivor Moody, commented on the significance for its engagement with different faith communities in Essex and also for the work of the Mid Essex Inter Faith Forum, which he chairs.

The Big Lunch

The Big Lunch aims to get as many people as possible across the UK to have a community lunch once a year. Since the project was launched in 2009 thousands of lunches have taken place across a wide range of communities. The Big Lunch this year takes place on Sunday 7 June and the organisers hope that faith communities and inter faith groups will again play a significant role this year – hosting and participating in lunches.

For those wishing to take part, the 2015 packs containing help, ideas and information for planning a lunch or street party are now available and can be obtained at <http://www.thebiglunch.com/join-in/register-2015.php> or by calling 0845 850 8181. Any queries can be addressed to info@thebiglunch.com.

Collaboration House and Coexist House

Collaboration House

A new space in London called 'Collaboration House' has been established by Maurice Ostro and the Fayre Share Foundation which promotes philanthropy, collaboration, good inter faith relations, and conflict resolution. The building provides office space for a range of inter faith initiatives, aiming to foster collaborative engagement. Among early occupants are the Council of Christians and Jews, Faiths Forum for London and the Women's Inter Faith Network. Further information can be found at <http://fayresharefoundation.org/priorities/collaboration/collaboration-house/>.

Coexist House

Cambridge Inter Faith Programme and the Coexist Foundation have for some years been working towards establishing a new London institution that will welcome visitors from all religious backgrounds and none, reaching out to audiences across the UK and worldwide: Coexist House. Following a feasibility study, the vision for Coexist House was unveiled last month at the launch of a £20-million fund-raising appeal at which there were speakers from a number of faiths. The Rt Hon Eric Pickles MP, Secretary of State also spoke about the importance of the project.

The planned centre is also supported by the Honourable Society of the Inner Temple, the Corporation of the City of London and the Victoria and Albert Museum. Further information can be found at <http://www.coexisthouse.org.uk/>.

West Lothian handbook to encourage inter faith working

West Lothian Council has launched a Faith Handbook, a guide which aims to promote inter-faith working in West Lothian. The guide was developed by members of the West Lothian Inter Faith Group, and is supported by the West Lothian Community Planning Partnership. It highlights the needs and influences of different faith communities for local employers, members of the community and those delivering services locally, in order create a deeper sense of understanding of faith groups within West Lothian. Subjects covered in the handbook include an outline of foods, fasting and customs around death, mainly points of sensitivities. The handbook can be found online http://www.westlothian.gov.uk/media/6339/West-Lothian-Faith-Handbook/pdf/West\_Lothian\_Faith\_Handbook.pdf.

New Ministerial team at DCLG.

The 2015 UK General Election took place on 7 May.

The Department which takes the lead for the Government on faith and inter faith issues, as part of its integration role, is that of Communities and Local Government. Its new Ministers are:

- Rt Hon Greg Clark MP – Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government
- Rt Hon Mark Francois MP – Minister of State for Communities and Local Government
- Brandon Lewis MP – Minister of State for Communities and Local Government
- Marcus Jones MP – Parliamentary Under Secretary of State (Minister for Local Government)
- James Wharton MP – Parliamentary Under Secretary of State
- Baroness Williams of Trafford – Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government

Baroness Williams has been given the Integration and Faith portfolio at DCLG. Further information can be found at: <https://www.gov.uk/government/people/susan-williams-of-trafford>.

New anti extremism legislation

In The Queen's Speech on 27 May, it was announced that measures would be brought forward to "promote social cohesion and protect people by tackling extremism". The Anti-Extremism Bill is to include new immigration rules, powers to close down premises used by extremists and the power to make 'extremism disruption orders'.

A Counter Terrorism and Security Act received Royal Assent in February. This put the Prevent programme on a statutory footing. From 1 July every local authority will have a legal duty, "when exercising its functions, [to] have due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism". Higher Education institutions will also have to comply with the new Prevent statutory duty, as will schools, Further Education institutions, the health sector ..., prisons and probation and the Police.

Guidance on implementation of the Act was published in March.

EHRC report: Religion or belief in the workplace and service delivery

As noted in the last E-bulletin, the Equality and Human Rights Commission report on the findings of the call for evidence on religion or belief has now been published and can be found at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/our-work/key-projects/your-experiences-religion-or-belief> along with summaries of its findings. The EHRC will be drawing on the findings to produce guidance in due course.

EHRC Strategic and Business Plan

The Equality and Human Rights Commission has published its Business and Strategic Plans for 2015/16.

At the centre of the Business Plan are three new projects: to address pay gaps in relation to gender, race and disability; to examine the state of access to civil justice; and to assess the relationship between attitudes, values and behaviours. The full Business Plan can be found at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/about-commission/our-vision-and-mission/our-business-plan>.

The Strategic Plan has been revised with minor updates and extended for one further year. The Strategic Plan and the revision for 2015/16 can be found at <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/about-us/about-commission/our-vision-and-mission/our-strategic-plan>.

Office of the Public Guardian

The Office of the Public Guardian (OPG) is a Government agency that registers lasting powers of attorney (LPAs). These important legal documents allow people to choose someone they trust to help manage their affairs should they ever lose capacity. Setting up an LPA is straightforward and can be done online, but the OPG is concerned that too few people are taking this important step.

Every year, 225,000 people in the UK develop dementia. Every 90 seconds someone is admitted to hospital with an acquired brain injury. That's why it is so important to act now and plan ahead to make sure choices count, no matter what the future holds. The OPG wants to understand better what stops people taking out an LPA as well as what might encourage more people, including younger adults as well people from different cultural and ethnic backgrounds, to plan ahead.

The OPG is particularly keen to learn from the insights and knowledge of faith leaders who have strong links with their communities as well as a deep understanding of them. Anyone interested in assisting should email partnerships@publicguardian.gsi.gov.uk or call Munpreet Kaur Uppal on 0121 631 6814.

New Year's Honours Nominations

The Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) is keen to ensure that individuals from the full breadth of society who are making a significant contribution to public life are properly recognised through the Honours system. It is particularly keen to recognise individuals who have contributed to building integrated communities.

All nominations must be made on an official citation form and nominees should not be informed that they have been nominated. Citation forms can be obtained from integration@communities.gsi.gov.uk.

DCLG is holding a series of workshops at its offices in London giving a brief overview of the nominations process and guidance about how to draft a citation. These will be taking place during July and August. For further information contact Abdul Ghaffar at integration@communities.gsi.gov.uk.

RE Council 'Beyond the Ordinary' campaign

The Religious Education Council of England and Wales has launched a new campaign, entitled 'Beyond the Ordinary', to encourage graduates and career changers to train as RE teachers. The campaign highlights the benefits of a career in RE teaching and includes a short video looking at the experiences of an RE teacher and her students from Redhill Academy in Nottingham, one of the Young Ambassador for RE teams. The film presents RE teaching as a career that is far from ordinary and communicates the breadth and diversity of RE in schools today. ## 'BRIT' survey

A project called "The Building Resilience through Integration & Trust (BRIT) programme", which is funded from an EU fund – the Radicalisation Leading to Terrorism Programme, has attracted attention for a questionnaire given to Year 5 and 5 pupils in a London school which asked questions such as 'How much do you trust people of another race/religion?' and 'Would you mind if a family of a different race or religion moved next door?' and whether they agree that it is acceptable to marry someone from outside their race or religion. <http://www.theguardian.com/education/2015/may/28/fury-after-primary-pupils-are-asked-to-complete-radicalisation-seeking-surveys>

Colloquium on preventing and combating anti-Semitic and anti-Muslim hatred in Europe

The European Commission is seeking input to its first Annual Colloquium on fundamental rights in the EU. The Colloquium, being held in October, will aim at improving mutual cooperation and greater political engagement for the promotion and protection of fundamental rights in Europe. It will seek to strengthen dialogue between the EU and international institutions, policy makers, academia and civil society, and deepen the understanding of challenges for fundamental rights on the ground. The central theme will be "Tolerance and respect: preventing and combating anti-Semitic and anti-Muslim hatred in Europe".

The Commission would like to collect input on a number of questions http://ec.europa.eu/justice/events/colloquium-fundamental-rights-2015/files/2015colloquium\_questions\_en.pdf which will be at the centre of discussions during the Colloquium. The deadline for input is 31 May and contributions can be sent to JUST-Colloquium@ec.europa.eu.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

UK Women of Faith Network under development

Religions for Peace, a multi-religious coalition which advances common action for peace among the world's religious communities, is facilitating the establishment of a United Kingdom Women of Faith Network (UKWFN).

It is intended that UKWFN will: increase the visibility of religious women as powerful agents of change; create visibility of the leadership role of women of faith; harness the power and showcase the unique models of women of different faiths (and their vast networks) in transforming conflict, advancing just and harmonious societies and protecting the earth; be a mechanism to promote religion as an asset for peace – particularly where historically religion has been seen as a problem; allow women to share experiences and knowledge; be a forum for extended networking – Nationally, Regionally and Internationally; mainstream women of faith into peace building initiatives regionally, nationally and globally; move dialogue to action – Common concerns such as Restoring Dignity – End violence against women initiative; and foster partnerships and alliances with other secular and governmental organisations, such as the United Nations, European Parliament, Council of Europe and civil society.

Church opens facilities to Muslims for prayer after Mosque fire

Following a fire at Kingston Mosque on 9 June, the nearby church of St Luke's has welcomed the Muslim community into its facilities in Burton Road and members of the mosque have been praying in the church's music room. Fr Martin Hislop said: "We are happy to rearrange things so the Muslim community can use our music room for everyday prayers. We are just working out what they need." Although the Church cannot accommodate the Friday communal prayer needs, he said "We are going to do as much as we can. It does mean a bit of re-jigging – but that's what neighbours do." The fire, termed 'unsuspicious', caused damage but those in the Mosque were not endangered. Further information can be found at

JLGB summer inter faith NCS programme

Summer inter faith NCS programme

There are a last 30 spaces left on a special National Citizen Service (NCS) programme, designed for young people to explore their faith and cultural backgrounds.

NCS is a Government initiative being rolled out to every 16 and 17 year old. One of the key areas that NCS promotes is social mixing, and with specifically designed social cohesion sessions, it gives the participants a chance to experience and discuss their own and other people's faith, bringing the participants closer in sharing their cultures.

The Jewish Lads' and Girls' Brigade (JLGB), with other faith organisations, has campaigned for several years to ensure that a faith and culturally sensitive NCS model exists for young people of faith based communities. It will be running an inter faith NCS programme from 10 to 28 August in London and invites interested young people of any background from anywhere in England to apply.

The programme is across three weeks and is residential during the weekdays. The first two weeks take place in Colchester and Redbridge (London); the third can take place anywhere. Week One has a focus on adventure activities. In teams of around 12, participants will have the opportunity to take part in rock climbing, abseiling, archery, swimming and more. Week Two has the focus on learning a particular skill selected by the group such as cookery, graphic design or fitness. Participants will start to plan a social action project that they will carry out during the following week. Week Three: Social action project. Participants will spend 30 hours volunteering in the local community by carrying out a project they designed themselves. During the residential weeks, Kosher, halal and vegetarian food will be provided.

Due to a government grant, the programme can be offered to participants free.

For further information and to apply visit www.interfaithncs.org, or contact the JLGB team on 0208 989 5743.

Marie Curie support services

Marie Curie, a national charity that provides care and support for people affected by terminal illness, has recently launched a range of new information and support services to complement its existing nursing and hospice care. These include an information hub (mariecurie.org.uk/help), an online community (community.mariecurie.org.uk) and a confidential support line on 0800 090 2309.

The services are for anyone living with any terminal illness and their family, friends and carers. Marie Curie is keen to ensure that it supports the diverse needs of faith communities across the UK, and welcomes any guidance that will help it improve its services and help more people. Its information currently includes links to multi-faith pastoral support, and a recognition that spiritual or emotional pain can be a significant experience for people living with terminal illness, regardless of their faith.

Anyone wishing to share any feedback on the new services, should contact the team at infosupport@mariecurie.org.uk.

Faith and Place Network

The Arts and Humanities Research Council's Faith and Place Network aims to bring people together to inform the critical issues around faith, place and planning, especially for minority faith groups. It is a multi faith and interdisciplinary network, including faith groups' representatives, planners, policymakers and academics. Further details are at <http://faithandplacenetWORK.org>. A key aim of the Faith and Place Network is therefore to produce a policy brief for disseminating to various governmental levels, based on the Network deliberations. It has held two events so far and will be holding its final event on 30 June and 1 July at Grove House at the University of Roehampton in London. Information on the event can be found at <http://faithandplacenetWORK.org/events/futures-event/>.

RESOURCES AND TRAINING

Report on national day for local inter faith practitioners

IFN recently held a day event in Sheffield for local inter faith practitioners across the UK to come together for learning and sharing. Open to participants from groups anywhere in the UK, it was an opportunity to share experiences and discuss issues of common interest and concern, with focused learning opportunities on practical aspects of setting up, running and sustaining local inter faith initiatives with positive, long term impact. A copy of the report on the day can be found at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/publications/all-publications/all-publications>.

Young people and inter faith engagement microsite

In April IFN launched a new youth inter faith engagement 'microsite' linked to its main website: <http://youth.interfaith.org.uk/>.

On this site are materials flowing from a special event, 'Young Voices, Young Agents for Change', which took place in November and brought together over 80 participants of different ages from a range of organisations to explore aspects of inter faith activity developed by, with and for young people. The aim is to broaden and strengthen this area of activity, enabling even more young people to get involved. In preparation for the event, the IFN office contacted member bodies to ask if they had programmes or projects which were relevant to the day and a number were featured.

On the microsite is an illustrated report on the day and a summary of points made by participants in the course of the day. There are also videos of the presentations by the three young presenters who opened the day: Aamna Alam of Bolton Interfaith Young Ambassadors; Ankit Sinha of Redbridge Ambassadors of Faith and Belief and Megan Wallace of Interfaith Scotland and many more video clips of participants from other organisations and projects such as Rachel Silveira of 3FF; Dr Joyce Miller of the RE Council of England and Wales; Raheed Salam of the National Council of Faiths and Beliefs in Further Education and Isabelle King of the National Council for Voluntary Youth Services.

The work on the microsite and on the event was kindly made possible by support from the Church Urban Fund, Golden Tours Foundation, Inter Faith Youth Trust, National Association of SACREs, and Zoroastrian Trust Funds for Europe as well as through support from the Department for Communities and Local Government for the work programme of which this event formed part.

Beyond Forgiving film

Initiatives of Change has produced a documentary on the theme of Beyond Forgiving. The film features a former South African army commander who ordered retaliatory massacres on white civilians during apartheid and Ginn Fourie, whose daughter was killed in one of these massacres. The two of them now work together as peacemakers. The approach to conflict represented in the film is that of trust building, relationship building and respecting differences. Initiatives of Change are interested in partnering with any organisations interested in screening the film or running workshop discussions. For further information, including a trailer, visit <http://uk.iofc.org/Films-to-watch/Post-Apartheid-Beyond-Forgiving>.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS AND TENDERS

IFN call for information

Local inter faith updates

The Inter Faith Network for the UK regularly checks, through desk research, on new local initiatives which are emerging and seeks to keep its local groups list on the website fully up to date. This summer we are embarking on a more in depth updating process and we would be very pleased if local readers would like to check out the details of local groups at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/take-part/find-my-local-inter-faith-group>.

If you spot one that you think is missing, do let us know! You can email Ashley Beck at Ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk or ring 020 7730 0410.

Short films on religion and belief in the workplace

The IFN office has received some enquiries recently about short films on religion and belief in the workplace. If you have information on resources you have used and found helpful, the IFN office would be interested to have details: ifnet@interfaith.org.uk

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

Sewa Day - Sunday 4 October.

The Sanskrit word 'Sewa' means 'selfless service'. The aim of Sewa Day is to provide people a chance to give back to the local community through volunteering on a single day to make a difference. For more information and to get involved visit: www.sewaday.org

One World Week - Sunday 18 to Sunday 25 October.

Each year One World Week is an opportunity for people from diverse backgrounds to come together to learn about global justice, to spread that learning and to use it to take action for justice locally and globally. The theme for this year's One World Week is 'Hope in Action'. This aims to inspire a culture of hope to build a more equal and peaceful world. For more information, including guidance for inter faith and inter cultural events, visit <http://www.oneworldweek.org>.

National Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland - Sunday 15 to Saturday 21 November.

National Inter Faith Week is a programme of the Inter Faith Network for the UK. Its aims are:

- Strengthening good inter faith relations at all levels
- Increasing awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society
- Increasing understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs

Many different kinds of organisation will be holding events to mark the Week: faith community bodies; inter faith organisations; non-religious belief bodies; schools and Standing Advisory Councils on Religious Education (SACREs); universities and colleges; local authorities and Police and Fire and Rescue Services; hospitals; businesses; voluntary organisations; chaplaincies; and others.

Just a few possible ways of marking the Week are:

- Faith trails and open door days – opportunities to visit places of worship
- Highlighting an inter faith project or programme of your organisation
- Launching a new inter faith project or resource
- A social media inter faith awareness campaign
- Joint social action – like a community litter-pick or charity fundraising
- Dialogues, debates and talks
- Quizzes, poster and photography competitions
- Inter faith sports events
- Hands-on learning activities and exhibitions
- Exchange visits between members of different places of worship
- Whole school and classroom activities
- A young people's inter faith forum event
- Arts and cultural events
- Faith and food events

This year, why not consider a hands on social action project – from treeplanting to volunteering together in another way that helps the local community. Or hold a discussion about how living well together as people of different faiths and beliefs and how we contribute to our shared society.

For further ideas, resources, event information and to register your own event and put it on the map, go to www.interfaithweek.org

Mitzvah Day - Sunday 22 November.

Mitzvah Day is a Jewish led day of social action – around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. This year, Mitzvah Day takes place on the day following Inter Faith Week but the Week is delighted to include its events as part of the calendar.

Mitzvah Day 365 takes place year round and is a catalyst in building local communities by bringing together over 37,000 people each year, to take part in collective, hands-on social action projects which make a real difference to local issues. For further information, visit www.mitzvahday.org.uk.

Scottish Interfaith Week - Sunday 22 to Monday 30 November.

Scottish Inter Faith Week is led by Interfaith Scotland. The theme this year is 'Care for Creation'. Further information is online at <http://www.interfaithscotland.org/events/>.

Speech by Prime Minister on addressing extremism

On 20 July Prime Minister David Cameron made a speech setting out his plans to address extremism. This included: an announcement of a review to be led by Louise Casey to produce "a comprehensive review into boosting opportunity and integration to bring Britain together as one nation" and other plans including:

- Strengthen communications watchdog Ofcom role to take action against foreign TV channels broadcasting extremist messages
- 'Incentivise' schools to become more integrated
- Demand that internet service providers do more to remove extremist material and identify those responsible for it
- Overhaul the strategy to tackle extremism in prisons
- Consult on introducing lifetime anonymity for the victims of forced marriages
- Urge universities to do more to challenge the views of extremist speakers
- Set up a new engagement forum
- Launch a study looking at how extremism spreads

A copy of the full speech can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/speeches/extremism-pm-speech>.

Note: The May/June issue of the e-bulletin contained an update on recent legislation and guidance relating to anti-extremism.

National youth consultation on extremism

Faith Matters and British Muslim Youth launched a National Youth Consultation on 7 July in London, the 10th anniversary of the London bombings. The Consultation will take evidence from youth groups, academics, youth work practitioners and young people, with a view to assessing the accessibility and impact of extremist material on-line on young people. The Consultation will begin work in September and will visit Birmingham, Bristol, Manchester, Leeds and London. For further information, visit <http://faith-matters.org/2015/07/16/faith-matters-and-british-muslim-youth-launch-national-youth-consultation-on-extremism/>.

Far Right rally moved

A rally against the Shomrim, a Jewish neighbourhood watch group, in Golders Green in Barnet, North London timed for the Sabbath, was later moved, following high levels of concern, by Police order and took place instead in Whitehall.

http://www.huffingtonpost.co.uk/2015/07/04/neo-nazi-london-protest\_n\_7726658.html

Significant in the protest against the plans were Golders Green Together and the Barnet Multi Faith Forum. Local inter faith bodies in a number of areas of the UK, together with faith communities, continue to play an important role in seeking to defuse community tensions and tackle bigotry and extreme voices.

Cremation and coroner services

In the Summer Budget, presented on 8 July, Chancellor George Osborne announced that the Government will conduct a review into the size and provision of crematoria facilities to make sure that they are fit for purpose and sensitive to the needs of all users and faiths. This review will be carried out by the Department for Communities and Local Government.

The Chancellor was quoted in a press release from Hindu Forum of Britain of the same day as having said that over the past year, a number of British Hindus and Sikhs had raised with him their concerns about cremation facilities for their communities and told him that often the facilities were not large enough for everyone from the community to pay their respects and did not always pay enough regard to cultural sensitivities.

Separately, the Ministry of Justice will be carrying out a consultation on changes to rules for cremations and a review of the out-of-hours services provided by coroners in England and Wales to make sure they are sensitive to the needs of the whole community, including those whose beliefs require burials to take place quickly. The latter Review follows meetings Justice Secretary Michael Gove has had with faith groups on improving coroner services.

Review of Marriage Law

The Government has asked the Law Commission to conduct a review of the law governing how and where people can marry in England and Wales. The question underlying the review is whether the current law, which has evolved over a long period of time, provides a fair and coherent legal framework for enabling people to marry in a way which meets their needs and wishes while recognising the interests of society and the state in protecting the status of marriage.

The Law Commission has recently begun an initial piece of work to prepare the way for the potential future reform. This includes a preliminary study involving research of domestic and comparative law, and engagement with key stakeholders including faith communities. The aim will be to identify and provide an initial analysis of the issues that need to be addressed in order to develop proposals for the reform of marriage law. It expects to publish its findings by the end of 2015 when, with Government, it will consider next steps, including the possible involvement of the Commission.

The review will not include questions of who can be married; whether or not religious groups should be obliged to solemnize marriages of same sex couples which was recently decided by Parliament; or of the rights or responsibilities which marriage imparts, such as the financial entitlements of surviving spouses or consequences of divorce.

For further information see <http://www.lawcom.gov.uk/project/marriage-law/> or contact propertyandtrust@lawcommission.gsi.gov.uk.

Public consultation starts on the 2021 Census in England and Wales

The next Census in England and Wales will be in 2021. As part of the census research programme, the Office for National Statistics (ONS) has launched a public consultation asking users for their views on the topics that the 2021 Census questionnaire might cover. It is encouraging people to respond online to its current proposals. Anyone can take part in this public consultation which closes on Thursday 27 August and users' feedback will inform further research, development of questions, and consultations.

The consultation survey can be found at <https://consultations.ons.gov.uk/census/2021-census-topics-consultation/consultation>.

Religion and belief in school – a Westminster Faith Debates report

A Westminster Faith Debates report ‘A New Settlement: Religion and Belief in Schools’ by former Minister Charles Clarke and Professor Linda Woodhead was published in June. 18 policy recommendations are made by them, covering the act of collective worship, the content and formation of the legally required RE curriculum and the operation of faith schools. Among these there are proposals that: the requirement for schools to have an Act of Collective Worship should be abolished; consideration be given to using the phrase ‘Religious and Moral Education’ rather than ‘Religious Education’ in describing this part of the statutory curriculum; and the Religious Education syllabus in county and voluntary controlled schools should no longer be set by a system of locally agreed syllabuses, but be an agreed national syllabus which would have a similar legal status to the requirements of other subjects in the National Curriculum.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

Local inter faith practitioners day

The Inter Faith Network for the UK has, since it was established in 1987, advocated strongly for the importance of local inter faith activity. As foreshadowed in the previous E-bulletin, IFN held a day event in London on 30 July for local inter faith practitioners across the UK to come together for learning and sharing. The day was one of two such days being held this year, the first of which was held in March in Sheffield. A copy of the report on the Sheffield day can be found at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/publications/all-publications/all-publications>.

Community, Commemoration and the First World War

The Centre for Hidden Histories is interested in developing commemorative projects with national, faith and other emerging communities whose histories are rarely considered, and for whom the traditional Armistice Day celebrations may have strikingly different meanings.

Further information on the research project is available at <http://hiddenhistorieswwi.ac.uk/research-themes-2/>.

VJ Day commemorations will be happening on and around 15 August across the country. The Government is hosting a ceremony for veterans and their families in London. Further information is at <https://www.gov.uk/government/news/get-involved-in-vj-day-70>

It's summer: it must be inter faith cricket!

Inter faith cricket has become something of a phenomenon. 'Imams versus vicars' matches have taken place for some years in Leicester (organised by the St Philips Centre and the Community Football Academy), and Birmingham (Solihull Building Bridges Islamic Initiative). An annual tournament, 'The Bishop's Cup', has taken place between St Albans, Watford and Luton since 2011 when it was set up by the Inter Faith Adviser to the Diocese of St Albans.

There have also been inter faith cricket matches in cities such as Bradford and Leeds and in a number of other areas. For example the seventh annual inter faith cricket tournament recently took place at Boyne Hill Cricket Club in Maidenhead. This was organised by the Windsor and Maidenhead Community Forum and the Guru Nanak Sat Sang Sabha Sikh Temple, in Rutland Road. About 100 people of all ages and faiths took part and the money raised went to Slough-based charity Khalsa Aid to distribute to support projects in Nepal. <http://www.maidenhead-advertiser.co.uk/News/Areas/Maidenhead/In-pictures-Inter-faith-cricket-tournament-to-support-victims-of-Nepalese-earthquake-07072015.htm>

A number of local inter faith bodies such as Huddersfield Inter Faith Council, Swindon Interfaith Group and Woking People of Faith have held inter faith matches and some, such as Bolton Inter Faith Council, have been involved in holding tournaments for young people of different faiths:

http://www.theboltonnews.co.uk/news/11621476.In\_pictures\_Bolton\_s\_interfaith\_cricket\_tournament/ Girls as well as boys took part. Upcoming on 31 August in North Shields is an Interfaith Cricket Match and Family Fun Day - <http://www.newcastle.anglican.org/whatson-details.aspx?id=3804>

The Yorkshire Cricket Board runs a special Leeds Inter Faith Project, the aim of which is to use cricket as a vehicle for bringing together communities of different faiths and those from a disadvantaged background in order to break down perceived barriers and encourage friendship.

Fathers and Sons football project

Fathers and Sons is a project which aims to bring together fathers and sons to play football together weekly during the weekends. The project is supported by Near Neighbours and one of its main objectives is to get people of many religious backgrounds involved. The games take place every Saturday at 1pm at Paddington Recreation Ground in West London. The minimum age limit for sons is 9 years and there is a small charge to play, which includes refreshments. Further information can be found online at <http://www.fitcial.com/events/upcoming> or by telephoning 07722 446318.

Rooted Visionaries project

St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace and West London Synagogue are launching a new Christian-Jewish social action programme for young adults called Rooted Visionaries. The programme is running from October to December, and seeks to energise the next generation of Christians and Jews for faith based social action. It aims to inspire active and conscious reflection on the role of faith in daily life and to give participants the skills and confidence to articulate their vision for change in their community and provide ongoing mentorship and support to make this vision a reality. The focal point will be a residential held at Ammerdown Retreat Centre in Somerset, and there will also be an introductory evening and a number of follow-up sessions.

St Ethelburga's is looking for 'passionate, dynamic young Christians and Jews' who want to translate their faith into action, and would benefit from sharing experiences and learning across traditions. ## RESOURCES AND TRAINING

Faith and Domestic Abuse: Recommendations for faith leaders

In July faith leaders gathered at the House of Lords for the launch of a Faith Leaders' Declaration on Domestic Abuse. The event was hosted by Lord McColl of Dulwich with FaithAction and Restored.

Faith Action launched a publication which is a collection of recommendations for faith leaders on how to deal with domestic abuse in their communities, aimed at starting an oft-neglected but vital conversation. The recommendations included in the publication come from a series of interviews held with faith leaders, faith-based organisations and domestic abuse organisations. A copy of the Recommendations can be downloaded from <http://www.faithaction.net/portal/faith-and-health/our-projects/domestic-abuse/>.

Young people and inter faith engagement microsite

A youth inter faith engagement ‘microsite’ linked to the Inter Faith Network’s main website can be found at: <http://youth.interfaith.org.uk/>. On this site are materials arising from an IFN event, ‘Young Voices, Young Agents for Change’, which brought together over 80 participants of different ages from a range of organisations to explore aspects of inter faith activity developed by, with and for young people. The aim is to broaden and strengthen this area of activity, enabling even more young people to get involved.

Northern Ireland Foundation

The Northern Ireland Foundation is an organisation that works to secure a durable peace in Northern Ireland. Its priorities include: increasing an awareness and understanding of the themes identified in the Stormont House Agreement — civic conversation, economic renewal, integrated education, mixed housing, women in public life, reconciliation and a shared future; and promoting conflict transformation through projects such as the Forum for Cities in Transition. The Foundation’s website, <http://nifoundation.net/>, contains useful information about other projects working for reconciliation in Northern Ireland, including the Northern Ireland Inter-Faith Forum.

Faith communities and inter faith engagement - SCJC

Faith communities continue to develop ways to equip their clergy, staff and volunteers to engage with those of other faiths. For example, the Scottish Council of Jewish Communities (www.scojec.org) has recently launched a volunteer training course which aims to help people who wish to represent Judaism in the local community including through working with inter faith groups. The course focuses on particular areas of Jewish life such as festivals, food, the life cycle, as well as information about the Religious and Moral Education syllabus in the Curriculum for Excellence, presentation skills, session planning and preparation, and how to be mindful of each faith and practice at an inter faith event.

Faith Guiding

The Faith Encounter Programme offers training to people of all faiths in Birmingham as Faith Guides, so that places of worship can be better equipped to offer high quality educational visits.

The Faith Guiding course is an opportunity to:

- Get to know and understand people of different faiths
- Gain valuable skills in presenting your place of worship to visitors
- Help visitors, mainly schoolchildren, to understand and respect people of all faiths
- Receive and accredited qualification from the Institute of Tourist Guiding

The next course will begin in September and will take place on Wednesday evenings at the Faithful Neighbourhoods Centre in Birmingham. There is a registration fee to take part.

Further information is available at http://www.faithencounter.org.uk/Train/train\_guiding.html and any queries can be directed to Ruth Tetlow on 0121 449 4892 or at ruthtetlow@btinternet.com.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS, AND NOMINATIONS

Faith Through a Lens photography competition

Faith Through a Lens is an annual photography competition, linked to Inter Faith Week, held by Congregational and General Insurance. It aims to profile the positive effects of faith within a diverse range of communities.

This year's competition is now open and will close on 12 October. Entry is only open to amateur photographers and will be judged based on emotional connection, creativity and originality. The judges will be looking for the photograph that best encapsulates faith and the community and the organisers suggest considering the following:

- A moment of faith - Try capturing one of those special moments that really demonstrates that faith exists, whether it is a planned event or a one off snapshot that catches the eye and imagination.
- Community spirit against the odds - A photograph which conveys how your community has united despite specific challenges could make a great shot.
- A community hero - Is there a certain individual in your area who has represented faith in the community? Why not capture a shot of them doing what they do best.

For further information, visit www.faiththroughalens.co.uk.

Faith and Spirituality photography competition in Derbyshire

The Multi-Faith Centre at the University of Derby is holding a photography competition entitled 'Faith and Spirituality'. The competition is an opportunity to capture a snapshot of faith and spirituality in Derbyshire that conveys 'Something which seems to point beyond itself'. Winning and highly recommended photographs will be displayed at the Multi-Faith Centre in Derby. Some may also appear in The Derby Telegraph as part of coverage for Inter Faith Week 2015.

There are prizes in two categories: 17 and under and 18 and over. Entries must be submitted between 1 September and 16 October.

For further information, including an entry form, contact mfc@derby.ac.uk.

Honours List nominations

The Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) is keen to ensure that individuals from the full breadth of society who are making a significant contribution to public life are properly recognised through the Honours system. It is particularly keen to recognise individuals who have contributed to building integrated communities and notes that nominees can come from all levels; being in a junior role is not a barrier to a nomination.

DCLG is holding a series of workshops during August at its offices in London giving a brief overview of the nominations process and guidance about how to draft a citation. All nominations must be made on an official citation form before 4 September and nominees should not be informed that they have been nominated. Citation forms, as well as further information about workshops, can be obtained from integration@communities.gsi.gov.uk.

Near Neighbours programme

The Near Neighbours programme, a partnership between the Church Urban Fund and the Archbishops' Council, awards small grants of between £250 and £5,000 to projects that enable people of different faiths or none to work together for the benefit of the community. This is a rolling programme with no deadlines available in certain parts of England (maps showing eligible areas can be found at <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants/eligible-areas>). Its second phase is due to run until December 2015.

Details on eligibility and how to apply can be found online at <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/grants>.

Comic Relief Stronger Communities grants

Comic Relief's grants programme now has five themes, one of which is 'Stronger Communities'. Grants for the Stronger Communities theme are managed by Local Community Foundations and range in size from £1,000 to £10,000 per year. Priority is given to small, locally-based groups or organisations in areas of disadvantage that have a clear understanding of the needs of their community and are undertaking actions as a means of addressing these needs. Anyone wishing to apply for a Local Communities grant should contact their local community foundation. Further details can be found online at http://ukcommunityfoundations.org/programmes/comic\_relief/.

Interfaith Youth Trust

The Interfaith Youth Trust will again be making available a special programme of grants for Inter Faith Week this year. Grants of up to £500 are awarded for proposals for inter faith activities by children and young people from Christian, Jewish, Muslim, Hindu, Sikh and other faiths and those of no formal faith. The age range for young people is 11-25 years. Priority will be given to projects which:

- Actively involve young people in planning, running, and evaluation of the project.
- Promote positive action, ie young people from different backgrounds coming together to address shared problems, eg improving green spaces.
- Are run by non-statutory organisations, such as youth clubs, scout/guide groups, local voluntary and community organisations.

National Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland - Sunday 15 to Saturday 21 November.

National Inter Faith Week is a programme of the Inter Faith Network for the UK. Its aims are:

- Strengthening good inter faith relations at all levels
- Increasing awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society
- Increasing understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs

Many different kinds of organisation will be holding events to mark the Week: faith community bodies; inter faith organisations; non-religious belief bodies; schools and Standing Advisory Councils on Religious Education (SACREs); universities and colleges; local authorities and Police and Fire and Rescue Services; hospitals; businesses; voluntary organisations; chaplaincies; and others.

Just a few possible ways of marking the Week are:

- Faith trails and open door days – opportunities to visit places of worship

- Highlighting an inter faith project or programme of your organisation
- Launching a new inter faith project or resource
- A social media inter faith awareness campaign
- Joint social action – like a community litter-pick or charity fundraising
- Dialogues, debates and talks
- Quizzes, poster and photography competitions
- Inter faith sports events
- Hands-on learning activities and exhibitions
- Exchange visits between members of different places of worship
- Whole school and classroom activities
- A young people's inter faith forum event
- Arts and cultural events
- Faith and food events

This year, why not consider a hands-on social action project – from tree planting to volunteering together in another way that helps the local community. Or hold a discussion about how living well together as people of different faiths and beliefs and how we contribute to our shared society.

The listing form for events for 2015 goes live on 31 July. If you are holding an event, please take a few minutes to register it to that the IFN office can add it to the map so that it can inspire others to take part and to hold events too.

For further ideas, resources, event information and to register your own event and put it on the map, go to www.interfaithweek.org

Mitzvah Day - Sunday 22 November

Mitzvah Day is a Jewish led day of social action – around the world thousands of people take part in hands on projects to support existing charities and to build stronger communities. People are encouraged to volunteer for projects in their communities and anyone can take part regardless of their background. This year, Mitzvah Day takes place on the day following Inter Faith Week but the Week is delighted to include its events as part of the calendar.

Mitzvah Day 365 takes place year round and is a catalyst in building local communities by bringing together over 37,000 people each year, to take part in collective, hands-on social action projects which make a real difference to local issues. For further information, visit www.mitzvahday.org.uk.

FAITH AND PUBLIC LIFE UPDATES

Faith and inter faith response to Refugee crisis

Faith and inter faith groups are often in the forefront of reaching out to respond to the needs of asylum seekers and refugees with both practical and spiritual support.

In recent months, it is the Syrian refugee crisis which has been the main focus of much faith community response although there has also been stepped up engagement by a number with the issues more widely. See, for example, the many stories linked to at: <https://ctbi.org.uk/how-the-churches-are-responding-to-the-refugee-crisis/> and releases such as that from the Muslim Council of Britain <http://www.mcb.org.uk/british-muslims-join-calls-for-compassionate-response-to-refugee-crisis/>. A number of faith responses have also been made in the context of their links across Europe, for example <https://thebuddhistcentre.com/news/european-buddhist-union-calls-compassionate-refugees>.

There has also been widespread response at the local level from faith groups and also from inter faith bodies as the examples of Luton and Preston demonstrate: <http://www.itv.com/news/anglia/update/2015-10-14/community-leaders-come-together-to-respond-to-refugee-crisis/> and <http://www.prestonfaithforum.org.uk/>

The City of Sanctuary movement has been playing an active role with faith groups in Leeds, Newcastle and a number of other 'cities of sanctuary' responding.

Inter faith prayer vigils have taken place in a number of areas. One took place outside Westminster Cathedral organised by CitizensUK and in Wisbech, people of different faiths came together "in solidarity with the Syrian refugees in their desperate and dangerous journey into Europe".

Faith groups in a number of areas have offered practical assistance. For example in Southend, church and other faith leaders wrote to the local paper saying that they and community groups would host people in their own homes and fund school places and offer help and advice to Syrian refugees who may be resettled in Southend <http://www.echo-news.co.uk/news/>. At Surrey University, Jewish, Muslim and Christian students worked together to raise funds towards providing tents in Calais and support for refugees on the Greek Island of Kos. Volunteers from Woking Mosque will deliver the Interfaith Aid. <http://www.jewishnews.co.uk/surrey-jsocs-pop-up-succah-inspires-interfaith-action-for-refugees/>

The topic was reflected at IFN's National Meeting, which took place on 14 October, both in presentations in plenary by Mustafa Field of Faiths Forum for London and MINAB and Nadine Daniel of Hope+ in Liverpool, and also in a special focus discussion group on 'welcoming the stranger' with contributions from the Revd Fleur Houston of the Churches Refugee Network and David Walsh of the Board of Deputies of British Jews. Interfaith Scotland's AGM on 4 November will be accompanied by a public talk on Scotland's Response to the Syrian Refugee Crisis.

Report on First Minister's interfaith summit in Scotland

The First Minister of Scotland, the Rt Hon Nicola Sturgeon MSP, called an Interfaith Summit in September to find out more about the work being done by inter faith organisations and faith communities in Scotland. She met with a cross-section of religious leaders from diverse faith traditions along with the Director of Interfaith Scotland and project managers of Interfaith Glasgow and the Edinburgh Inter-faith Association. She said, "Inter faith work and the contribution of faith groups is essential in transforming lives and building a strong, fairer and equal Scotland. By working together with all communities I want to see a safer, stronger and more inclusive society which we are all able to fully contribute to and benefit from".

Counter Extremism Strategy

On 19 October, Home Office Secretary Theresa May announced a counter-extremism strategy described as "aiming to tackle the full spectrum of harms caused by extremism: violent and non-violent, Islamist and neo-Nazi – hate and fear in all their forms". The release speaks of partnership at the heart of the strategy between government and individuals, groups and communities, who want to see extremism defeated - "a partnership that will not only seek to counter the ideology spread by extremists, but will stand up for the shared values that unite us as a country: values that include democracy, free speech, mutual respect, and opportunity for all."

The strategy sets out four areas in which action will be taken:

- confronting the extremist ideology head-on
- actively supporting those who want to fight extremism, but are too often disempowered or drowned out of the debate
- disrupting extremists, aggressively pursuing the key radicalisers who do so much damage

- building stronger and more cohesive communities, tackling the segregation and feelings of alienation that can help provide fertile ground for extremist messages to take root

The Strategy can be downloaded from:

Community Engagement Forum

A Community Engagement Forum, foreshadowed in the Prime Minister's announcements of 20 July, met at Downing Street on 13 October to discuss countering extremism. This Forum is described at <https://www.gov.uk/government/news/prime-minister-i-want-to-build-a-national-coalition-to-challenge-and-speak-out-against-extremism>.

In a holding Written Answer in the House of Commons, Home Office Security Minister John Hays said that "Attendance at forum meetings would rotate to allow ministers to hear directly from a wide range of individuals and groups taking a leading role in challenging extremism in our communities."

Separate recording of anti-Muslim hate crimes

According to the Home Office report, Hate Crime, England and Wales, 2014/15, in 2014/15, there were 52,528 hate crimes recorded by the police, an increase of 18 per cent compared with the 44,471 hate crimes recorded in 2013/14, of which: 42,930 (82%) were race hate crimes; 5,597 (11%) were sexual orientation hate crimes; 3,254 (6%) were religion hate crimes; 2,508 (5%) were disability hate crimes; and 605 (1%) were transgender hate crimes. There was an overall increase of 18% on the previous year.

Prime Minister David Cameron announced at the first meeting of the Community Engagement Forum that for the first time, police forces in England and Wales will be asked to record anti-Muslim hate crimes as a specific category in the recorded crime statistics, bringing them in line with reporting of anti-Semitic attacks. Creating a separate category is intended to enable police, prosecutors, local authorities and the communities they serve to have a better understanding of the prevalence of anti-Muslim hate crime and allocate resources accordingly and to provide the first accurate picture of the extent of anti-Muslim hate crime in England and Wales.

Review of Coroner Services

When the coroner reforms in the Coroners and Justice Act 2009 (“the 2009 Act”) came into effect in July 2013, the Government made a commitment to review their impact after they had been in place for 18 months. The aims of the 2009 Act were described by Government as being to put the needs of bereaved people at the heart of the coroner service; for coroner services to be locally delivered within a framework of national standards; and to enable a more efficient system of investigations and inquests.

This review seeks to find out whether the coroner reforms are operating as planned and whether there have been any unintended consequences. The Ministry of Justice is interested in hearing about people’s experiences of aspects of coroner services that were reformed under the 2009 Act.

This review will run from 15 October 2015 to 10 December 2015. The Government’s response will be published in early 2016.

EHRC report on Review of equality and human rights law relating to religion or belief

Earlier this year the EHRC published the results of its consultation on how religion or belief affected experiences at work or when using services. It commissioned Oxford Brookes University to build on the findings of its consultation by reviewing the legal framework in Great Britain, the way courts have developed case law, and how experts have analysed this. The review looks at such key issues as how religion and belief are defined in the law, the legal protection for religion or belief, the balancing of competing rights, and the idea of a duty of reasonable accommodation, which is part of the law in Canada and America. The review takes a neutral approach and considers different views on these issues.

The review finds that the legislation and case law protects people with a religion or a belief and those who lack a religion or belief, but that several areas need more thought. These include the definition of belief and the position of the religious employer and religious service provider, and areas where the law is unclear such as the relationship between individual and group rights.

EHRC guide to increasing diversity in television broadcasting

The EHRC has produced a guide intended to increase diversity in television broadcasting. Figures show that some groups may be experiencing barriers to getting into the sector and progressing when they get there. The television industry has long been aware of the need to increase diversity, both on- and off-screen so that the industry can attract the best talent, but also because of the unique role television broadcasting has in shaping and reflecting society's values. The guide is aimed at decision-makers within the industry, at independent production companies as well as broadcasters, talent suppliers and others – from production managers to legal and business affairs executives, directors and commissioning editors.

The guide can be downloaded from <http://www.equalityhumanrights.com/publication/thinking-outside-box-supporting-television-broadcasting-industry-5>.

Inter Faith Network National Meeting and AGM

IFN held its National Meeting and AGM on 14 October at the Bond Co in Birmingham.

The National Meeting was on the theme of 'Living Well Together'. 'Living well together' is an ongoing project: a journey, and learning from one another along the way is part of this. The meeting was a chance to explore many different dimensions of this and how inter faith cooperation can contribute to this yet further.

During the plenary session, Mustafa Field of the Faiths Forum for London spoke on 'Interconnecting in inter faith contexts for the common good'; Dr Karen Jochelson of the Equality and Human Rights Commission spoke on 'Equality and diversity'; Nadine Daniel of Hope+ and Merseyside Council of Faiths spoke on 'Reaching out at times of need'; Dr Maureen Sier of Interfaith Scotland spoke on 'Appreciating diversity; negotiating difference'; and Reflections on themes of the day were offered by Krishan Kant Attri of Newcastle Council of Faiths and Hindu Chaplain to the Armed Forces; Julie Jones of the Inter-faith Council for Wales and Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Wales; Dr Norman Richardson of the Northern Ireland Inter Faith Forum; and Jatinder Singh Birdi of Warwick District Faiths Forum.

Discussion groups were held on: 'Living well together: cooperating for community benefit', with a presentation by Mgr Daniel McHugh and colleagues (Khalid Mohammed and Mauricio Silva) from the Communitas wellbeing project at BIRINUS Birmingham; 'Living well together as neighbours', with a presentation from the Revd Mark Poulson of the Church of England and Near Neighbours; 'Living well together: faith communities and responding well to refugees and asylum seekers as part of our shared life', with presentations from the Revd Fleur Houston of the Churches Refugee Network and David Walsh of the Board of Deputies of British Jews; 'Living well together: snapshot from campus', with a presentation from Sukhi Kainth of the National Union of Students; 'Living well together within the workplace', with a presentation from Dr David Perfect of the Equality and Human Rights Commission and reflections from Dr Shuja Shafi of the Muslim Council of Britain; and 'Equipping us to live together well: religious literacy and chaplaincy', with presentations from Prudence Jones of the East of England Faiths Agency and the Revd Prebendary Michael Metcalf of the National Association of SACRES and Stafford and District Friends of Faith.

A report on the Meeting will be published in due course.

Report on day event for local inter faith practitioners

As noted in the July/August issue of the e-bulletin, on 30 July IFN held a day event for local inter faith practitioners in London. This was the second of two such events held this year. The first was held in Sheffield in March.

The report of the July event was published in September and includes a summary of the plenary presentations and discussions and the workshop discussions as well as some images from the day. A copy of the PowerPoint presentations is available, together with the report, on the IFN website (www.interfaith.org.uk).

Many topics were discussed, including:

- Local inter faith relations and cooperation
- The contribution of local inter faith organisations to our shared society
- Developing programmes with impact
- Communicating the message well
- Dialogue, friendship and trust
- Inter faith cooperation, social action and social justice
- Women and local inter faith activity
- Active involvement of young people
- Responding together at times of tension
- Using Inter Faith Week to raise profile and widen engagement
- The value of different approaches - from grassroots dialogue and community projects to consultation and partnership with public agencies and other bodies
- The importance of initiatives that work with many faiths and also of those working with two faiths or three
- Resourcing the work
- The future of local inter faith - possibilities and challenges
- The vital importance of the work

National and regional faith, inter faith and academic and educational bodies in IFN's membership also make a vital contribution to the development of local inter faith understanding and cooperation. Some of the important ways that they do this have been covered in National Meetings and category meetings.

Local inter faith practitioners often comment on the significant impact that there can be from encouragement by national faith community organisations and other national and regional bodies to their local members to play an active role in local inter faith initiatives. It is hoped that the reports of the two day events may be useful in this work.

Inter faith and educational and academic bodies meet

A combined meeting for member National and Regional Inter Faith Organisations and Educational and Academic bodies took place in London on 8 September. The meeting included discussion on some of the outcomes of the November 2014 Young Voices, Young Agents for Change meeting; and the question of 'religious literacy' and different programmes that are being developed to address this (at all ages) as part of increasing understanding about and between faiths.

Westhill NASACRE awards – an inter faith dimension

The Westhill/NASACRE Awards have, for a number of years, been encouraging schools to engage with diversity through projects which will generate compelling learning experiences in RE for young people, relevant to today's context. Each year grants of up to £4,000 have been awarded to support suitable projects submitted by schools through their Standing Advisory Councils on Religious Education (SACREs). At IFN's Young Voices, Young Agents of Change event last Autumn, young people from one such project – Redbridge Ambassadors of Faith and Belief – spoke about their project which is about RE and also has a strong inter faith dimension. Among the 2015-16 grant recipients is a Faith Ambassador scheme in Barnet and Enfield where secondary School students are being trained as Faith Ambassadors, and delivering presentations in their local Primary Schools, and a digital project with secondary pupils, exploring Middlesbrough's religious heritage and connecting with faith communities today.

Nisa-Nashim Jewish-Muslim Women's Network launched

A new initiative bringing together Jewish and Muslim women aimed at breaking down barriers and enabling joint work on projects helping wider society was launched at the Islamic Girls School in London this month. It is called Nisa-Nashim - made up of the word for women in Hebrew and Arabic. It also aims to promote women's leadership. The project received a start-up grant from the Department from Communities and Local Government.

Early activities have included visits to mosques and synagogues, hosted kosher-halal meals, the launch of a business network and support for programmes to help refugees.

St Ethelburga's project on 'No wealth but life'

St Ethelburga's is running a 5 part series of events in November exploring how people can strengthen their capacity for peace building through new economic models that create systemic change.

This series of practical and participatory events will focus on five interconnected themes: participatory economics, not-for-profit/social enterprise models, re-inventing organisations, alternative finance and the co-operative and commons movement.

The series will give participants the opportunity to: learn from leading practitioners and case studies; explore how learning can be applied in your own work; engage in a community case study; and participate in a vibrant community of practice.

Network Rail Multi Faith Network

The Network Rail Multi Faith Network (MFN) is Network Rail's newest employee network open to thousands of staff across the company across all faith groups. Having launched earlier this year in April, the MFN's membership has grown into the hundreds, with staff from Glasgow to London, across many faiths.

The MFN arranges staff networking events, publishes periodic newsletters and Intranet articles on faith matters relevant to staff, advises Diversity & Inclusion Employee policy on faith issues, and arranges training workshops for staff in faith awareness in the workplace. The MFN is looking to increase membership and to work more closely with senior leadership to advise on faith issues that affect employees and branch out to other faith networks in different companies and industries.

Sussex Police appoint 'Interfaith Champion'

Sussex Police have appointed an 'Interfaith Champion'. Sergeant Simon Kind holds this role alongside his full-time job as a response team sergeant. He describes his purpose as to assist Sussex Police meet its public sector equality duties of eliminating unlawful discrimination and fostering good relations between people with and without protected characteristics, including religion and belief. He chairs an internal Interfaith Forum where staff of any faith or belief can raise issues on how force policies may be affecting them. During Inter Faith Week they are hoping to host a series of blog posts on the force website where staff members describe how their faith or belief assists them in an often-difficult job.

The force also has four faith champions for Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Buddhism, Hinduism and Sikhism. They tend to be 'outward facing', dealing with groups in the community. Sergeant Kind is also responsible for engagement with other religions and beliefs, including Paganism and Humanism.

Inter faith cricket heads to the Vatican

This summer the e-bulletin contained a special feature on inter faith cricket. The Vatican's cricket club has just played a Yorkshire squad made up of Muslim players. The St Peter's XI, which was formed in 2013, played Mount Cricket Club from Batley, West Yorkshire, in Rome, in its latest bid to build bridges with sportsmen from other faiths. Huddersfield Examiner reports that the home team clinched a narrow win in the last over. It is hoped that the Vatican team will come for a return match at Headingley.

Maimonides Interfaith Foundation – Interfaith Explorers

The Maimonides Interfaith Foundation has a free resource entitled Interfaith Explorers, www.interfaithexplorers.com, which offers guidance and support for how inter faith dialogue, RE as well as PSHE and Citizenship learning can be used to support teachers in these areas.

This resource, supported by UNESCO, aims to help pupils at Key Stage 2 and Key Stage 3 respect cultural and religious diversity. With a focus on the three Abrahamic faiths – Judaism, Christianity and Islam – it supports core personal and social skills development as well as self-directed, exploratory learning. Designed to compliment RE and PSHE teaching, alongside citizenship education it promotes universal core values and the development of ethical thinking. It also responds to the new Prevent Duty.

Holocaust Memorial Day 2016 resources

Holocaust Memorial Day (HMD) has launched its resources for 2016, the theme for which is 'Don't stand by'.

There are many resources including activity packs, ways to take action, guides for workplaces, libraries, local authorities, trade unions, faith and inter faith settings, universities, museums and galleries, emergency services and cinemas on how to get involved, and activity templates for different length activities.

National and Regional Resources provide tailored advice for marking HMD in Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales. Each guide features specific local experiences to help in planning an HMD event.

In partnership with Diversity Role Models HMD has also produced a guide exploring LGBT themes related to HMD. This explores the Nazi Persecution of LGBT people and offers contemporary perspectives on discrimination.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS, AND NOMINATIONS

FaithAction – Call for information on end of life care

FaithAction is looking for examples of faith and community places and groups that provide good spiritual care at the end of life. It was recently announced that end-of-life care in the UK has been ranked as the best in the world. The UK was praised, in a study of 80 countries, for both the availability of services here, and the quality of them. The hospice movement in particular was singled out – a movement which has its roots in faith – and it is often faith that motivates people to provide care and comfort for others as they come to the end of their lives.

FaithAction would like to highlight the care provided by faith communities and groups and would be interested to hear from anyone providing this kind of care. Anyone with information to share, should contact Rodie Garland at rodie.garland@faithaction.net or on 0845 094 6350.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

National Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland - Sunday 15 to Saturday 21 November.

National Inter Faith Week is a programme of the Inter Faith Network for the UK. Its aims are:

- Strengthening good inter faith relations at all levels
- Increasing awareness of the different and distinct faith communities in the UK, celebrating and building on the contribution which their members make to their neighbourhoods and to wider society
- Increasing understanding between people of religious and non-religious beliefs

Many different kinds of organisation will be holding events to mark the Week: faith community bodies; inter faith organisations; non-religious belief bodies; schools and Standing Advisory Councils on Religious Education (SACREs); universities and colleges; local authorities and Police and Fire and Rescue Services; hospitals; businesses; voluntary organisations; chaplaincies; and others.

Just a few possible ways of marking the Week are:

- Faith trails and open door days – opportunities to visit places of worship
- Highlighting an inter faith project or programme of your organisation
- Launching a new inter faith project or resource
- A social media inter faith awareness campaign
- Joint social action – like a community litter-pick or charity fundraising
- Dialogues, debates and talks
- Quizzes, poster and photography competitions
- Inter faith sports events
- Hands-on learning activities and exhibitions
- Exchange visits between members of different places of worship
- Whole school and classroom activities
- A young people's inter faith forum event
- Arts and cultural events
- Faith and food events

This year, why not consider a hands-on social action project – from tree planting to volunteering together in another way that helps the local community. Or hold a discussion about how living well together as people of different faiths and beliefs and how we contribute to our shared society.

The listing form for events for 2015 went live on 31 July. If you are holding an event, please take a few minutes to register it so that the IFN office can add it to the map and it can inspire others to take part and to hold events too.

For further ideas, resources, event information and to register your own event and put it on the map, go to www.interfaithweek.org

FAITH AND PUBLIC LIFE UPDATES

Refugees and migrants – faith and inter faith responses

With Syrian refugees arriving in a number of areas of the UK, faith groups and inter faith bodies are continuing to respond to assist. In Nottingham, for example, the Nottingham Post reports that refugees were warmly welcomed, with faith leaders in the city leading the way. A statement from Christian, Muslim, Jewish, orthodox and liberal groups was released. It begins: "We, the leaders of the faith communities in Nottinghamshire, wish to add our voices, and the voices of the people we serve, to those of good will everywhere who seek to provide compassion and practical help to those most affected by the current refugee crisis. We urge people of faith, and none, to come together to show the best of Nottinghamshire's proud heritage of welcome and care for those who have faced persecution and loss. We welcome those refugees and asylum seekers arriving in our county and pledge to continue to offer them our hospitality and support."

Read more: <http://www.nottinghampost.com/Faith-leaders-welcome-Syrian-refugees/story-28363341-detail/story.html#ixzz3v2hROYiX>

In many other areas help is being given or has been pledged. For example Fife Interfaith Group has written to the Chief Executive of Fife Council to state that its members stand ready to assist with this process in any way they can and that representatives from its various faiths have offered to convene at reception centres to welcome refugees and signpost them to their various faith communities, saying " In doing so we will not only make them feel welcome but will demonstrate to them that religious faiths can live in harmony and offer each other support as we have done since our group was founded ten years ago. There can be no better way of letting these families know that they have truly arrived at a safe haven."

The City of Sanctuary movement, involving people of many different faiths and none, continues to respond and has been chosen as an Observer/Guardian Christmas appeal charity <https://cityofsanctuary.org/2015/12/03/city-of-sanctuary-included-in-the-guardian-observer-christmas-charity-appeal/>

Citizens UK has launched an inter faith initiative to sponsor Syrian refugees to help them settle in the UK <http://www.thejc.com/news/uk-news/151238/jewish-groups-join-call-sponsorship-scheme-syrian-refugees>
http://www.citizensuk.org/save\_lives\_by\_helping\_resettle\_refugees

Faith and inter faith groups in a number of towns and cities have also been arranging or providing support for refugees and migrants in Calais. The London Churches Group and Faiths Forum for London arranged a delegation to Calais to see the conditions at the migrant camp on the outskirts of the city. The visit aimed to see how communities in the capital can provide support or assistance for the migrant crisis in Europe.
<http://www.huffingtonpost.co.uk/jasvir-singh/the-migrant-crisis-wont->

disappear\_b\_8718420.html There has also been assistance offered elsewhere by bodies such as the St Ethelburga's Centre, whose team recently went out to Lesbos to volunteer.

Churches Together in Britain and Ireland reports that Churches, Church leaders and aid organisations across Britain and Ireland are responding to the refugee crisis by calling on their governments to take action, encouraging donations from church members and providing support where possible, often through partner organisations.

<https://ctbi.org.uk/how-the-churches-are-responding-to-the-refugee-crisis/> During Advent and Christmas this is a special focus for many, with the Churches' Refugee Network holding a special Advent Vigil at St Margaret's Westminster.

The Joint Public Affairs Team has issued an FAQ sheet:

<http://www.jointpublicissues.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/FAQs.pdf>

Many faith based international aid initiatives are involved in response to the crisis on the international front, such as Christian Aid; Islamic Relief; Muslim Aid; Khalsa Aid; and World Jewish Relief, the UK Jewish community's international humanitarian agency. There are, of course, refugee crises in a number of parts of the world and these and other faith and non-faith based agencies such as Sewa International also work to assist in many areas with these and other humanitarian causes.

Faith and inter faith response to terrorist attacks in Paris

On the evening of 13 November a series of coordinated terrorist attacks occurred in Paris, France. The Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL) claimed responsibility for these.

In the UK faith and inter faith groups responded with prayers, vigils and statements. Many used already planned Inter Faith Week events to stand together in solidarity and remembrance. 'The terrorist attacks in Paris and inter faith relations in the UK: Statement from the Co-Chairs and Vice-Chairs of the Inter Faith Network for the UK' was issued on 14 November. <http://interfaith.org.uk/resources/statements-and-messages> Links to a number of responses can be found on the website of IFN at: <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/news>.

Commission on Religion and Belief in British Public Life - report

The Commission on Religion and Belief in British Public Life, chaired by Baroness Butler-Sloss, published its report on 7 December. The report is entitled 'Living with Difference: Community, Diversity and the Common Good'.

The Commission was convened in 2013 by the Woolf Institute to consider the place and role of religion and belief in contemporary Britain; to consider the significance of emerging trends; and to make recommendations for public life and policy. The report draws on a public consultation process including over 200 submissions, as well as research evidence. It describes the changing religion and belief landscape, before exploring six broad themes. It makes 12 detailed recommendations covering such issues as religion and belief literacy; a curriculum about religion, philosophy and ethics in schools; admissions and employment policies in schools with a religious character; the promotion of opportunities for interreligious and inter-worldview encounter and dialogue; compliance by religious and cultural tribunals with UK standards of gender equality and judicial independence; and counter-terrorism legislation.

The report is available at www.corab.org.uk. The Commission has also published a selection of the submissions it received during its national consultation, 2013-15. These can be accessed from <http://corablivingwithdifference.com>.

Government review of the Muslim Brotherhood

In April 2014 the Prime Minister commissioned an internal review of the Muslim Brotherhood. The main findings were published on 17 October and can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/muslim-brotherhood-review-main-findings>.

A written statement made by Prime Minister David Cameron when the report was laid before both Houses of Parliament is at <http://www.parliament.uk/business/publications/written-questions-answers-statements/written-statement/Commons/2015-12-17/HCWS418/>.

The statement concludes with the intent that the Government will “keep under review the views that are promoted and activities that are undertaken by Muslim Brotherhood associates in the UK in Arabic as well as English. We will consider whether any action under the Counter Extremism Strategy or as part of our wider work may be appropriate, including action in line with the new engagement policy the Government will develop to ensure central and local government does not inadvertently provide legitimacy or a platform for extremists. We will challenge extremists’ poisonous narratives and promote positive alternatives that show vulnerable people that there are better ways to get on in life”.

Law Commission Review of marriage law

As noted in the July/August issue of the e-bulletin, in December 2014 the Government asked the Law Commission to conduct a review of the law governing how and where people can marry in England and Wales. The question underlying the Review was whether the current law, which has evolved over a long period of time, provides a fair and coherent legal framework for enabling people to marry.

The Law Commission has carried out an initial piece of work, including a preliminary study involving research of domestic and comparative law, and engagement with key stakeholders, to identify and provide an initial analysis of the issues that need to be addressed in order to develop proposals for the reform of marriage law.

The resulting scoping paper, 'Getting Married' was published on 17 December and can be downloaded from <http://lawcom.gov.uk/project/marriage-law/> together with an executive summary. The next step is for Government to respond to the recommendations for further work.

Consultation on cremation

The Ministry of Justice has launched a consultation on cremation, which seeks views on proposals for a number of changes to the Cremation (England and Wales) Regulations 2008, and for improving other aspects of cremation practice. In writing the consultation document the Ministry of Justice has worked with the Department of Health, the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs and the Department for Communities and Local Government as well as the Human Tissue Authority and the Welsh and Scottish Governments.

The consultation document and details on how to respond are available at <https://consult.justice.gov.uk/digital-communications/consultation-on-cremation>. The consultation can be completed online or using a word document of the questionnaire submitted to coroners@justice.gsi.gov.uk. The consultation closes on 9 March. A consultation response is due to be published next year which will set out the changes that the Ministry plans to make.

National Faith Community Representative Bodies meet

A meeting for member National Faith Community Representative Bodies took place in London on 5 November. There was a special focus session on chaplaincy in prisons, with presentations by the Revd Canon Michael Kavanagh, Chaplain-General and Head of Chaplaincy and Faith Services for the National Offender Management Service, and Mr Mohinder Singh Chana, Network of Sikh Organisations and Sikh Chaplaincy Services UK - Area Manager, Yorkshire, Humberside and the North East region. This was the third in a series of FCF sessions looking at multi faith chaplaincy, following earlier sessions on health care chaplaincy and Higher Education chaplaincy.

Collective Worship and Religious Observance in Schools: An Evaluation of Law and Policy in the UK

The AHRC Research Network on Collective Worship published on 13 November a report entitled 'Collective Worship and Religious Observance in Schools: An Evaluation of Law and Policy in the UK'.

The report aims to stimulate fresh thinking on collective worship and religious observance in schools. It sets out the law and educational concerns relating to each country, and considers the merits of a range of options available to policy makers. While many of the observations made in the report apply to all schools, the report "restricts the majority of its recommendations to schools without a religious character, on the basis that separate and distinct consideration should be given to those schools with a designated religious character".

The report is available at <http://collectiveschoolworship.com>.

RE for Real report

The Faiths & Civil Society Unit at Goldsmiths, University of London published a report on 29 November, with funding from the Culham St Gabriel's Trust, entitled 'RE for Real'. It focuses on RE in Secondary Schools, and highlights broad support for RE among parents, pupils and employers. The report makes a number of recommendations, including – echoing both the report of the Commission on Religion and Belief in British Public Life and Charles Clarke and Linda Woodhead's 'A New Settlement' – development of a national framework for religion and belief learning, and continued investment in training opportunities for teachers, including CPD.

The report can be found at <http://www.gold.ac.uk/media/goldsmiths/169-images/departments/research-units/faiths-unit/REforREal-web-b.pdf>.

House of Commons Briefing Paper on RE

The House of Commons published a Briefing Paper on 11 December entitled 'Religious Education in Schools (England)'. The Paper gives an overview of the rules surrounding RE and Collective Worship in England for all types of school, summarises some concerns that have been raised in relation to the teaching and inspection of RE in schools, and refers to the recent CORAB, Goldsmiths and Clarke/Woodhead reports.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

Inter Faith Week

www.interfaithweek.org

An amazing range of different kinds of events and projects took place during Inter Faith Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland – all 400+ of them making a contribution to understanding and cooperation between people of different faiths and beliefs and raising the profile of the contribution that faith groups make to society. It was a Week when the importance of 'living well together' was highlighted including – in the wake of the terrorist attacks in Paris – many raising their voices together to affirm what they value in our shared society and against terrorism and other forces of destruction and division.

The Week saw good media coverage, including a segment on Songs of Praise during Day 1 (also featuring Mitzvah Day), and an extended article in the Huffington Post published toward the end of the Week. A number of community papers and on-line media such as Jewish News and The Asian Today featured the Week. The Week saw considerable use of social media, including a planned campaign running up to the start of the Week. Tweets linked to the Week reached the accounts of over 3.4million unique Twitter users, with over 11million impressions. Facebook activity had a reach of over 42,000 users. A number of bodies ran Twitter campaigns linked to the Week, including Near Neighbours, The Feast, DCLG and Faith Matters.

Mitzvah Day took place on 22 November this year and its events formed an official part of Inter Faith Week in England, Northern Ireland and Wales. As in previous years, many social action projects were run with participants from different faiths, and over 50 'Inter Faith Mitzvah Day' projects were listed on the Inter Faith Week website. For further information, visit <http://www.mitzvahday.org.uk/>.

Scottish Interfaith Week

<http://www.interfaithscotland.org/scottish-interfaith-week/>

Over 70 events took place across Scotland to mark Scottish Interfaith Week. The theme was 'Care for the Environment'. The theme was chosen partly because of the Climate Change Summit taking place in Paris in December as a time to focus on what faiths have to say about caring for the environment and protecting it for future generations.

'Extending Hand of Friendship' project

An initiative called 'Extending Hand of Friendship' took place during Hanukkah (6 to 14 December). It was an initiative of the Joseph Interfaith Foundation which seeks to build stronger ties between British Jews and Muslims.

The aim of the initiative was "to give the chance to individual Muslims who want to extend their hand of friendship towards the Jewish community through a safe forum". There was a greater than anticipated response to the project which saw over 200 cards sent from Muslims to Jewish synagogues during Hanukkah. The cards were sent online either giving a name or anonymously as a well-wishing Muslim neighbour.

Information about the project, which has now closed, can be found at https://www.launchgood.com/project/send\_the\_jewish\_community\_a\_message\_of\_friendship#.

Inter faith musical festival in London and Berlin

Faiths in Tune, an inter faith musical festival, will for the first time be held next year at the British Museum. The Festival, now in its fifth year, will be held on 22 May and will include classic music performances in the British Museum's lecture theatre, interactive music sessions in various museum galleries as well as an Interfaith Fair. Funding from the Berlin Lottery Foundation has also just been approved for the festival to be held in Berlin, entitled 'Fest der Religionen', in July. ## Birmingham Soup Kitchen

I Am Birmingham reports that Birmingham Central Mosque will be welcoming the homeless and hungry over the festive period, providing them with food during an open soup kitchen every evening between Christmas Eve and New Year's Day. Hundreds of homeless and vulnerable individuals and families are expected to attend the mass soup kitchen, which has been organised by the Birmingham Soup Kitchen, a new project aiming to regularly provide food to those in need at the Muslim faith centre. It is hoped this will become a regular fixture to complement the many already established food distribution and outreach services taking place daily and weekly in the city, many run by Christian, Muslim, Sikh and inter faith groups. ## RESOURCES AND TRAINING

'Faiths working together' toolkit

On 19 November, Near Neighbours and the Inter Faith Network for the UK launched, at the Vauxhall Gardens Community Centre in London, the Faiths Working Together toolkit.

Published in Inter Faith Week, the toolkit's aims are to support positive cross-faith engagement for the common good and inter faith understanding and help people to - reach out and engage with people of different faiths in their local area;

- create a successful project that engages people of different religious backgrounds;
- develop and deepen cross-faith understanding and relationships; and
- support people of different faiths as they engage in social action for the good of their neighbourhoods.

The toolkit includes practical pointers for making contact and for planning and publicising initiatives, as well as advice on key principles to consider, such as the importance of looking for shared values and experiences while working well with difference.

The launch was opened with words from Baroness Eaton, Chairman of Near Neighbours, and the Co-Chairs of the Inter Faith Network for the UK, the Rt Revd Richard Atkinson and Vivian Wineman. There were presentations from three local projects in Luton and Hounslow followed by discussion of the importance of working together between different faith communities.

Copies of the Faiths Working Together: Connecting for the Common Good toolkit can be downloaded from <https://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours/resources> and <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/publications/all-publications/all-publications>.

Northern Ireland guidance on inter faith and multi faith events

'Threads of Compassion' is the title of guidance published in November by the Northern Ireland Inter-Faith Forum. The booklet, which was launched during Inter Faith Week, provides advice on arranging multi faith and inter faith events.

The publication was supported by the Northern Ireland Community Relations Council and offers practical planning advice as well as a list of 'dos' and 'don'ts'. It can be found online at

Local inter faith group calendars

One of the best known multi faith calendars is that produced by the Shap Working Party on World Religions in Education: <http://www.shapworkingparty.org.uk/calendar.html>.

A number of local inter faith groups also produce inter faith calendars each year. Two examples of 2016 calendars which are now available are below.

Hampshire Interfaith Network produces a calendar each year which includes drawings made by schools students. Each year the Children and young people whose work has been chosen for inclusion attend a celebratory launch event at Hampshire County Councils headquarters in Winchester. The 2016 Interfaith Calendar produced by Hampshire County Council is now available for sale online at

Warwick District Faiths Forum produces a calendar each year which is supported by Warwick District Council, Warwickshire County Council and Warwickshire Police. The calendar includes photographs of religious artefacts and places of worship throughout Warwickshire and can be downloaded online from <http://www.wdfaithsforum.org.uk/>.

CCJ Snapshot 1945 Booklet

In the May/June issue of IFN's e-bulletin information was provided about a project being run by the Council of Christians and Jews entitled Snapshot 1945. This sought to understand what life was like for Jews and Christians living in Britain at the end of the Second World War.

The booklet has now been published and anyone interested in purchasing a copy can contact cjrelations@ccj.org.uk or call the office on 0203 515 3003.

Holocaust Memorial Day resources

Holocaust Memorial Day (HMD) has launched its resources for 2016, the theme for which is 'Don't stand by'.

There are many resources including activity packs, ways to take action, guides for workplaces, libraries, local authorities, trade unions, faith and inter faith settings, universities, museums and galleries, emergency services and cinemas on how to get involved, and activity templates for different length activities.

National and Regional Resources provide tailored advice for marking HMD in Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales. Each guide features specific local experiences to help in planning an HMD event.

In partnership with Diversity Role Models HMD has also produced a guide exploring LGBT themes related to HMD. This explores the Nazi Persecution of LGBT people and offers contemporary perspectives on discrimination.

For further information and to download the resources, visit <http://hmd.org.uk/resources/theme-papers/hmd-2016-dont-stand>.

Centre for Trust, Peace and Social Relations – PhD studentships and scholarships

The Centre for Trust, Peace and Social Relations at Coventry University is offering three full time PhD studentships and additional scholarships

They are seeking proposals for PhD research projects in distinct and cross disciplinary areas related to their current research themes: integrated peace building, living side by side and trust matters. For further information about potential supervisors interests and expertise, visit the CTPSR website at <http://www.coventry.ac.uk/research/areas-of-research/trust-peace-social-relations/>

The three studentships will cover the equivalence of UK/EU or overseas fee, plus the current Research Council (UK) stipend level at the point of commencement. The fee only scholarships will cover tuition fee only. In addition, the university will offer competitive two year post docs to enable the most successful of these PhD students to be retained and develop further as an early career professional within the Centre. For further information, visit <https://jobs.ac.uk/job/AMN412/phd-studentship-integrated-peace-building-living-side-by-side-and-trust-matters>.

Lessons from Srebrenica

Remembering Srebrenica is continuing to take British citizens to Srebrenica as part of its educational visits programme to Bosnia & Herzegovina called 'Lessons from Srebrenica'.

The programme includes learning from the survivors and the mothers of those killed in the genocide in 1995. Remembering Srebrenica arranges all aspects of the four-day visit, including flights, accommodation, guide, transport in Bosnia and food. Participants are asked to make their way to Heathrow and to make a donation to Remembering Srebrenica.

Every participant is asked to make a pledge to do something concrete in the UK on their return to tackle hatred and promote social cohesion. The pledge should help to achieve real change and applications will be based on the strength of each pledge.

The 2016 programme is particularly encouraging young people to apply. Applicants must be UK citizens aged 18 years and over. For further information, and to apply, visit <http://www.srebrenica.org.uk/lessons-from-srebrenica/interested-becoming-delegate/>. Enquiries can be addressed to visits@srebrenica.org.uk.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS, AND NOMINATIONS

Public Faith and Finance

Public Spirit and the Centre for the Study of Ethnicity and Citizenship has announced a new project on 'Public Faith and Finance'. Funded by the Barrow Cadbury

Trust's 'Resources and Resilience' programme, the research explores the role of faith-based organisations in addressing financial insecurity, developing alternatives to market-based financial services or models, and building sustainable and socially just economic systems.

They are conducting a short survey on the ways in which organisations engage with financial issues and would like to hear from any faith groups and civil society organisations which:

- is providing advice on how to deal with personal debts and money concerns
- is engaged in running financial activities or campaigns aimed at developing alternative financial products or promoting responsible finance
- has provided or is involved in providing food or financial assistance to those experiencing financial hardship

For more information and to complete the survey, visit www.publicspirit.org.uk/faith-and-finance. Any queries should be addressed to Katya Braginskaia on 0117 33 10477 or at katya.braginskaia@bristol.ac.uk.

Faith trails – your stories and images

Many local inter faith bodies run an annual inter faith pilgrimage, peace walk or faith trail. A number, such as Watford, have done so for many years:
<http://www.wifa.org.uk/interfaith-pilgrimages/>

If you hold, or have held, a walk or pilgrimage of faith trail, what are your top 3 tips for a positive and successful event? You can tell us by emailing ifnet@interfaith.org.uk. We will be working with volunteers over the next couple of months on some pointers to help organisers.

If you have photographs of a recent walk, trail or pilgrimage that you think capture its spirit well, we would also be pleased to have copies, together with details of who took them and permission to use them.

Faith and social action

Is your local inter faith organisation involved in social action projects such as assisting on winter shelters for the homeless or assisting refugees and asylum seekers? Or are you aware of local projects involving different faith groups working together on social action and social justice issues and projects?

If you have details to share please email ifnet@interfaith.org.uk. We plan to include a feature on this in a future e-bulletin and will also be adding information to the IFN website.

Sandford St Martin Trust Awards

The 2016 Sandford St Martin Trust Awards are now open for entries. The awards are for radio, TV and online content exploring religious, spiritual or ethical themes and this year there is a new Interview of the Year category.

Entries are welcome from people working across the broadcast media – producers, broadcasters, online content creators and publishers. The new Interview of the Year Award category is for a broadcast TV, Radio or online interview that explores religion, spirituality or ethics from a personal perspective. This could be with a leading religious figure or an ordinary person.

The 2016 Awards, worth around £10,000, will be presented at Lambeth Palace in June. The closing date for entries is 5 February. For details on how to apply, visit www.sandfordawards.org.uk and for further information, contact Sarah Parfitt on 07900 4117 15 or at sarah.parfitt@sandfordawards.org.uk.

Honours List nominations

The Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) has said that it is keen to ensure that individuals from the full breadth of society who are making a significant contribution to public life are properly recognised through the Honours system. It is particularly keen to recognise individuals who have contributed to building integrated communities and notes that nominees can come from all levels; being in a junior role is not a barrier to a nomination.

DCLG is holding a series of workshops during January, February and March at its offices in London, giving a brief overview of the nominations process and guidance about how to draft a citation. All nominations must be made on an official citation form before 4 February and nominees should not be informed that they have been nominated. Citation forms, as well as further information about workshops, can be obtained from integration@communities.gsi.gov.uk.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Heritage Lottery Fund grants to commemorate First World War

The Heritage Lottery Fund has made an additional £4million of funding available so that more communities can get involved in projects marking the Centenary of the First World War.

Projects applying for funding must be able to meet one of a number of successful outcomes based on heritage, people and communities. Grants can be given between £3,000 and £10,000. There is no current deadline for applications.

Further information can be found at <https://www.hlf.org.uk/looking-funding/our-grant-programmes/first-world-war-then-and-now>.

Community foundations

Community foundations are impartial, local, grant-making organisations to which local community organisations can apply for funding. There are 48 community foundations in the UK, covering Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland and England. They provide donors with information about local needs, what groups are tackling which issues, and how donations can be strategic and best support the community. A map of community foundations across the UK and how to contact them, can be found at http://ukcommunityfoundations.org/community\_foundations/map.

Comic Relief Stronger Communities grants

Comic Relief's grants programme now has five themes, one of which is 'Stronger Communities'. Grants for the Stronger Communities theme are managed by Local Community Foundations and range in size from £1,000 to £10,000 per year. Priority is given to small, locally-based groups or organisations in areas of disadvantage that have a clear understanding of the needs of their community and are undertaking actions as a means of addressing these needs. Anyone wishing to apply for a Local Communities grant should contact their local community foundation. Further details can be found online at http://ukcommunityfoundations.org/programmes/comic\_relief/.

SPECIAL WEEKS/DAYS

Holocaust Memorial Day – 27 January

Holocaust Memorial Day provides an opportunity for everyone to learn lessons from the Holocaust, Nazi persecution and subsequent genocides and apply them to the present day to create a safer, better future. The theme for Holocaust Memorial Day 2016 is 'Don't Stand By'.

A list of events taking place throughout the UK can be found on the HMD website at <http://hmd.org.uk/page/activities>. Anyone interested in organising an event to mark HMD can order or download an Activity Pack at <http://hmd.org.uk/campaign-pack>.

World Interfaith Harmony Week – First week of February

World Interfaith Harmony Week is a UN recognised Week which takes place each year during the first week of February. The Week was proposed to the UN General Assembly by HM King Abdullah of Jordan, and the first UN World Interfaith Harmony Week took place in February 2011. Further information about the Week, including its aims and objectives, can be found on its website at <http://worldinterfaithharmonyweek.com>.

DIARY DATES

This section includes some of the events taking place around the UK.

IFN has been trialling the inclusion of diary date information received between e-bulletins on its website at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/take-part/events>. Your feedback on that is welcome.

National Faith Community Representative Bodies meet

A meeting for member National Faith Community Representative Bodies took place in London on 8 February. There was a special focus session on the safety and security of faith communities, with input from Inspector Andy Burton of the Metropolitan Police and an opening reflection from Mr Satya Minhas of the Hindu Council (UK) who is also Deputy Chair of the Hindu Association of the Metropolitan Police.

There was also discussion of the inter faith engagement of faith communities, including reflections on the inter faith relations and multi faith social cooperation aspects of the work of national faith communities. Canon John O'Toole, National Ecumenical Officer and Secretary to the Department for Dialogue and Unity of the Catholic Bishops' Conference of England and Wales, gave a short opening report on recent activities marking the 50th anniversary of Nostra Aetate, which continues to inform Catholic inter religious engagement. An agenda item on extremism, radicalisation and 'British Values' was opened with a short reflection from Dr Shuja Shafi of the Muslim Council of Britain, including on the recent Government consultation on 'out-of-school education settings'.

Note: The Faith Communities for Forum was set up within the framework of the Inter Faith Network for the UK by its Executive Committee to facilitate discussion between member faith communities at a national level on issues of common concern to them as faith communities and thereby to promote the development of closer working relationships between Britain's faith communities. In the coming months among the issues it will be looking at is religious literacy. Reflecting the commitment to that in its own work, this year sees inclusion of opening reflections for each item from a member of a different faith community with bodies in IFN membership.

Educate Against Hate

The Rt Hon Nicky Morgan MP, Education Secretary, launched a new website called Educate Against Hate on 19 January. It contains information for schools and parents on tackling extremism as part of a drive to protect children from the "spell of twisted ideologies". The website includes information for parents, teachers and school leaders and can be found at <http://www.educateagainsthate.com/>. This was part of a number of announcements made on that day: <https://www.gov.uk/government/speeches/nicky-morgan-speaks-about-tackling-extremism>.

Faith Communities continue to respond to refugee crisis

The last two editions of the e-bulletin have contained extended coverage of ways that faith and inter faith bodies have been responding to asylum seeker and refugee needs. This important work continues.

A regular update on Church responses across the UK can be found at <https://ctbi.org.uk/how-the-churches-are-responding-to-the-refugee-crisis/> and other communities also continue to respond. The link includes reference to a statement that has been issued calling for coordinated action following the World Council of Churches/UN high level conference on the refugee crisis in Europe in January. IFN assisted in arranging a UK inter faith input to the conference and provided information on UK inter faith responses. Participant, Faith Forum for London Co-Chair Jasvir Singh's reflections can be seen at http://www.huffingtonpost.co.uk/jasvir-singh/we-must-collaborate-to-so\_b\_9068756.html.

Local inter faith initiatives are also continue to focus reflection on the issue. For example, at the Salford Interfaith Network AGM on 24 February the theme of the event was 'refugees, hospitality and security, bringing faiths together discuss the current global crisis around refugees'.

There have also been a number of significant one off inter faith initiatives. A group of Orthodox rabbis and imams has recently visited the Calais refugee camp in a joint initiative – organised by the Board of Deputies' Rabbi Natan Levy and Mustafa Field of the Faiths Forum for London - <http://www.jewishnews.co.uk/rabbis-and-imams-unite-to-help-calais-refugees/>.

The Annual Human Rights Lecture of the Equality and Human Rights Commission Wales is being given by the Revd Aled Edwards, Secretary of the Inter-faith Council for Wales, on 10 March on 'Asylum Seekers, Migrants and Refugees and the key human rights challenges for Wales' - <http://www.participationcymru.org.uk/about-us/news/2016/01/migrants-to-wales-what-about-human-rights>.

In Scotland, a Scottish Faiths Action for Refugees website has been launched <http://www.sfar.org.uk/>. Information on the Interfaith Glasgow Weekend Club for refugees, asylum seekers and migrants that has been set up can be found below.

National Voter Registration Drive

The National Voter Registration Drive, which took place in the first week of February, is an annual campaign, working together with thousands of people around the UK coordinating local activities which engage, inform and encourage communities to register to vote. Further information can be found at <http://bitetheballot.co.uk/nvrd/>. You can register to vote at <https://www.gov.uk/register-to-vote>.

Events encouraging people to register to vote thus far have included one at which Faiths Forum for London invited John Penrose MP, the Minister for Constitutional Reform, to discuss the importance of democratic participation and electoral registration and to hear from others on how to motivate communities to run voter registration campaigns. He was joined by several representatives of faith based and inter faith organisations.

Events are still taking place around the UK and the Democratic Engagement Team at the Cabinet Office would be pleased to hear from any faith or inter faith groups holding democratic engagement related events - DemocraticEngagement@cabinetoffice.gov.uk or tweet @signup2vote.

The Cabinet Office has a number of resources which may be relevant: <https://www.gov.uk/government/collections/democratic-engagement-resources>.

Consultation on cremation

As noted in the December/January issue of the e-bulletin, the Ministry of Justice has launched a consultation on cremation, which seeks views on proposals for a number of changes to the Cremation (England and Wales) Regulations 2008, and for improving other aspects of cremation practice. In writing the consultation document the Ministry of Justice has worked with the Department of Health, the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs and the Department for Communities and Local Government as well as the Human Tissue Authority and the Welsh and Scottish Governments.

The consultation document and details on how to respond are available at <https://consult.justice.gov.uk/digital-communications/consultation-on-cremation>. The consultation can be completed online or using a word document of the questionnaire submitted to coroners@justice.gsi.gov.uk. The consultation closes on 9 March.

On Monday 29 February, from 12 noon to 1pm, the Department of Justice is hosting a web chat at <https://www.justice.gov.uk/ministry-of-justice-webchats/>. It is particularly interested to hear views on: a definition of ashes; the cremation of babies of less than 24 weeks' gestation; a national cremation working group; inspectors; and the collection of ashes. Views or questions can be submitted until Sunday 28 February, by emailing coroners@justice.gsi.gov.uk (and should indicate how you wish your name to be displayed in the web chat). Following the event, comments and suggestions will be fed into the consultation to help inform the way forward.

Surge in graduates wanting to teach RE

Religious Education is one very important way that many people come to know about other religions and beliefs.

The RE Council for England and Wales has been running a campaign, Beyond the Ordinary, to encourage more to train as RE teachers. The Times newspaper reported on 22 February that this is linked to a 31 per cent rise in trainee teacher applications for RE - up from 650 a year ago to 850. This was also featured at <http://schoolsImprovement.net/surge-in-graduates-who-want-to-teach-religious-education/> and in an IFN Facebook post at <https://www.facebook.com/ifnetuk>.

New curriculum for Wales - RE

A new curriculum for Wales will be developed with educational professionals across Wales for 3 to 16 year olds. The aim is that it will be available to schools and settings by September 2018. The curriculum will include 6 'learning and experience' areas. One of these areas, Humanities, will include RE, which will continue to be compulsory up until age 16. Further information is available at <http://gov.wales/topics/educationandskills/schoolshome/curriculum-for-wales-curriculum-for-life/?lang=en>.

RE PD portal

The RE PD portal includes a database of professional development courses for RE teachers across the UK and online. The Portal is administered by the RE Council of England and Wales. The RE Council would be pleased to hear from organisations offering any PD courses, workshops, or other provisions over the next academic year - <http://www.theredirectory.org.uk/pdportal/submit-pd>.

Organ donation and faith communities

Since the UK organ donation taskforce reported in 2008, faith communities have been involved in helping find ways to increase levels of organ donation. A publicly available paper produced for the Church of England's Synod earlier this month gives an overview of relevant legislation and guidance. Synod backed the call for all 16,000 Church of England churches to encourage their congregations to consider becoming blood donors or registering as organ donors. The relevant paper can be downloaded from [https://www.churchofengland.org/media/2442638/gs\_2022b -

Other denominations and faith communities have also taken a proactive approach. See <https://www.organdonation.nhs.uk/faq/religion/>.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

International Women's Day

On 8 March, many bodies around the UK will be marking International Women's Day with programs designed to celebrate and engage women of faith or no faith in dialogue and reflection. Among these will be a number of faith and inter faith organisations.

The United Kingdom Women of Faith Network (UKWFN), facilitated by Religions for Peace (<http://www.religionsforpeace.org.uk/>), will be launched on that day at the House of Lords. The occasion will include an opportunity to visit an exhibition entitled "The Dignity of Women: Scriptural Reflection." The goal of UKWFN will be to "increase and empower women as powerful agents for change, highlight examples of women from different faiths that are galvanizing change and promoting just and harmonious societies" and "to create a network for women to engage and share knowledge on ways to promote religion as an asset of peace." For further information on the group or launch event, contact Ravinder Kaur Nijjar at rknijjar@rfpwomenoffaith.eu.

The Women's Interfaith Network (<http://www.wominet.org.uk/index.php>) is promoting a talk on March 8 by Ruth Barnett on her experience as one of the Kinderchildren in the 1940s put on by the East Sussex Fire and Rescue Services. Further details from eastsussexwin@gmail.com.

Several inter faith organisations are taking this time to organise or promote events related to women's issues and women in faith communities. Here are just a few from around the UK:

Interfaith Scotland will mark IWD with a second annual women's inter faith dialogue tea at the Stirling Hotel on March 8 from 2-4pm. The theme for this event is 'Health and Wellbeing for Body and Soul.' More information from frances@interfaithscotland.org.

Edinburgh Women's Interfaith Group is hosting an afternoon of 'colour and insight and action' on 8 March to mark IWD and celebrate the volunteers who support their organisation. Details can be found on their website at <http://www.eifa.org.uk/>.

St Philip's Centre (<http://www.stphilipscentre.co.uk>) is promoting an event organised by the Leicestershire Police celebrating women in the community and encouraging dialogue about important issues like hate crimes. Information about the event is available from Michelle Wilson at michelle.wilson@leicestershire.pnn.police.uk.

JW3 (Jewish Community Centre London) is hosting a Sacred Voices Festival (www.jw3.org.uk/sacredvoices) in Finchley, London, to showcase female performers and artists from around the world over three days, including an art exhibition titled 'What Women Believe' and a Gala Concert.

St. John's Parish Centre in Southall has planned a women's-only celebratory event that will include creative activities, fitness class, and dancing. More information can be found from Kiran of Sri Guru Singh Sabha at 07951 772 215 or Rachel of St John's Church at 07507 786 182.

As noted in the Diary Dates section, Herefordshire Interfaith Group will be launching a Faith to Faith, Women to Women's project to encourage and strengthen bonds among women of faith. Further information from Ven Tenzin Choesang on 01568 750082 or at june@the-hermit-online.co.uk.

Many inter faith organisations in the UK have women's groups or focus specifically on women's issues. Just a few examples:

The Women's Interfaith Network, founded in 2003, "brings together women from all walks of life from different ethnic, religious and non-religious backgrounds. It supports them in joining and creating local groups that undertake a diverse range of activities of mutual interest." <http://www.wominet.org.uk/>

The Women's Peace Group of Birmingham has an inter faith dimension and has met for many years. Contact Patricia Earle at patriciaearle@blueyonder.co.uk for additional details.

Leicester's Christian Muslim Forum features a women's network designed to "unite faith communities, promote community cohesion and connect women of differing religions." Information can be found at <http://www.christianmuslimforum.org/women/>.

Merseyside Women in Faith Group (WING) is a group and a network of women from all faiths who come together to "break down the walls of ignorance that lead to conflict, hatred and mistrust between the many religions of the world. We teach each other and share with one another our faiths to help move towards understanding and solidarity in faith."

There are also a growing number of inter faith initiatives run by women – some particularly for women and some also including men. Examples of the former include a women-only sports program returning for a second term put on by an Interfaith Women's Sports Group organised by the Council of Christians and Jews in Manchester (<http://www.ccj.org.uk/>). The Near Neighbours programme has supported a significant number of women's projects in recent years including a women's inter faith choir in Burnley: <http://bbburnley.co.uk/2013/02/13/interfaith-choir-for-women/>.

Note: International Women's Day is a campaign sponsored by a number of governments, NGOs, charities, corporations, academic institutions, women's networks and media hubs to highlight the contribution of women to social, economic, cultural, and political achievement in light of this year's theme: making progress towards gender parity. ### Inter Faith Week and Scottish Interfaith Week

www.interfaithscotland.org/scottish-interfaith-week/

Inter Faith Week 2016 in England, Northern and Ireland and Wales, now in its eighth year, will run from Sunday 13 to Sunday 20 November.

Why an '8 day week'? This year, the Week begins on Remembrance Sunday and many people of different faiths and beliefs will be marking that in some way. The additional Sunday will provide additional opportunity for weekend events to take place.

Scottish Interfaith Week will run from 27 November until 4 December.

IFN is due to begin work shortly on an Inter Faith Week toolkit. More information on this can be found below.

Jain Centre to have a multi faith centre

Plans are well under way to build a new Jain Centre in Colindale, North London. Plans for the Centre can be seen at <http://jainnetwork.com/jaincentreondon.php#>. It is expected to be completed by 2018. In addition to providing a place of worship for Jain traditions, the Centre also aims “to provide sustainable community services such as advocacy, educational, environmental, employment, health, social, travel, spiritual, civic and cultural services, youth and women empowerment and to work with Voluntary Community Organisations, Social Enterprises and Charities.” One of its key features will be a multi faith centre for use by other faith communities.

World Congress of Faiths 80th Anniversary

The World Congress of Faiths this year reaches its 80th anniversary. It was founded in 1936 by explorer Sir Francis Younghusband and each year holds a lecture in his memory. Further information about the history of the organisation can be found at <http://www.worldfaiths.org/our-history/>.

To celebrate its anniversary this year WCF is holding a number of events. It began with a symposium at Sarum College in Salisbury in February on ‘Promoting spiritual life: and interfaith perspective’. The topic leaders were Revd Dr James Woodward, Principal of Sarum College; Marianne Rankin, Director of Communications for The Alister Hardy Trust; Desmond Biddulph, President and Chairman of the Buddhist Society; and Dr Jonathan Rowson, Director of the Social Brain Centre at the RSA. In July it will be holding a Summer Garden Party in London and plans are underway for an Autumn conference in Cambridge on ‘Interfaith past and present: learning for the future’. More details can be found on the WCF website at <http://www.worldfaiths.org/future-events/>.

EU Spirit project

The EU Spirit project engages faith based organisations to promote energy efficient behaviour and energy saving activities in homes, supporting members of these organisations to become Energy Champions who share energy advice with their friends, families and local communities. Through this, the project aims to achieve measurable energy savings, CO<sub>2</sub> emissions reduction and lasting behaviour change. The project is co-funded by the European Union’s Intelligent Energy Europe programme, and is being delivered by a partnership of 8 organisations in 8 EU member states – coordinated by Groundwork London.

Further information can be found at www.spirit-project.eu. The project is still looking for more faith communities to work with. Anyone interested, should contact Boglarka Meixner at spirit.volunteering@groundwork.org.uk or on 0300 365 9900.

Fire Fighters Charity Multifaith Chaplaincy and Faith and Fire

The Fire Fighters Charity provides rehabilitation, recuperation and support services to members of the fire community across the UK at Jubilee House near Penrith in Cumbria and at their centres in Devon and West Sussex. The Fire Fighters Charity multi faith chaplaincy was launched during National Inter Faith Week at Jubilee House, which is the Charity's first Centre to introduce multi faith chaplaincy support. Working with the Fire and Rescue Service Chaplains' Association the Charity also hopes to introduce a similar service at its other centres in the near future.

Further information can be found at <http://www.firefighterscharity.org.uk>.

Faith and Fire is a partnership between the Chief Fire Officers Association, Fire and Rescue Services and faith communities to develop mutual respect. It also increases the awareness of faiths to FRS staff and volunteers. Further information is at <http://faithandfire.co.uk/>.

Patron's Lunch to mark HM The Queen's 90th Birthday

This year marks the 90th Birthday of Her Majesty The Queen. A number of official celebrations will be taking place to mark the occasion and information on these can be found at <http://www.royal.gov.uk/LatestNewsandDiary/Pressreleases/2015/EventstomarkTheQueens90thbirthday.aspx>.

As for the Queen's Diamond Jubilee in 2012, Beacons are being lit across the UK and the Queen will be lighting the Principal Beacon on 21 April. Many faith communities were involved in the beacon ceremonies in 2012 and information on how communities can take part this year can be found in the guide at

One of the main celebration events will be the Patron's Lunch, taking place on 12 June. This is a ticketed event in The Mall in London for people from the over 600 charities across the Commonwealth of which the Queen is Patron. In addition to the event in the Mall the organisers hope that street parties and lunches will take place across the UK to celebrate Her Majesty's birthday and to raise money for local initiatives. They say that they hope it will "re-ignite the famous British 'community spirit' and have villages, towns and cities all over the UK and across the Commonwealth to hold their own street parties. It is hoped these local 'Patron's Lunches' will help raise money for their own communities and local initiatives. In addition to the fundraising generated at a local level, the event will also serve as a unique platform for the charitable organisations to which The Queen acts as Patron, to maximize their own fundraising efforts."

The Big Lunch in which many faith communities and inter faith organisations have taken part since it began is also being held on 12 June and it is anticipated that many will be using this as a birthday celebration – www.thebiglunch.com.

Research Group: Faith and Peaceful Relations

The Faith and Peaceful Relations Group at the University of Coventry explores the role religion can play in achieving more peaceful and just societies. It notes that “Faith can be a driver of peace, reconciliation and social justice, yet it can also be a source of violence, exclusion and misunderstanding. Our research explores the positive difference faith and belief can make in today’s world and how conflicts relating to religion can be overcome.”

It promotes religious literacy in academic fields, especially politics, international relations, sociology and theology; carries out international research; runs an MA in Peace and Conflict Studies and a PhD programme; and delivers projects with and for organisations including the Anglican Communion, the Arts and Humanities Research Council, the British Council, Department for International Development, the Economic and Social Research Council, the International Society for the Sociology of Religion, Norwegian People's Aid, the Church Urban Fund and a range of international universities. It has particular expertise in faith-based conflict resolution, inter-faith dialogue, religion in conflict, contextual theology, gender and religious leadership.

RESOURCES AND STUDY/TRAINING

Faith at the end of Life

In January Public Health England (PHE) published a resource entitled 'Faith at end of life'. PHE describes it as a resource which aims to help frontline professionals and providers working in community settings and commissioners maintain a holistic approach to the people dying, caring or bereaved. It provides information "to help ensure that commissioning and delivery of services and practice takes account of spiritual needs of the largest 6 faith groups in England and remains appropriate to the community setting in which they work." The resource can be downloaded from https://www.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment\_data/file/496231/Faith\_at\_end\_of\_life\_-\_a\_resource.pdf.

Near Neighbours

The current Near Neighbours grant programme has now closed but its work continues and its website carries a number of useful resources: <https://www.cuf.org.uk/how-we-help/near-neighbours>. At a special event in Leeds at the end of January, bringing people from funded and supported projects together, an inter faith song was added to these. The song, entitled Lost in Peace, was composed and performed by Sam Slatcher and Bhuvanewari Balasubramanian - <https://samandbhuvi.bandcamp.com/album/lost-in-peace>.

3FF ParliaMentors programme

ParliaMentors is a 3FF programme where teams of university students of different faiths and non-religious beliefs collaborate to create real social change while being mentored by MPs. The programme aims, through expert-led training, support from local and national NGOs and access to Westminster, to give students the networks and skills they need to affect real change in their communities, in their careers and in the political arena.

Students on the programme:

- See politics in action: Gain a unique insight into the political process while being mentored by MPs and Peers.
- Create social change: Work in mixed-belief teams to create social action projects with support from leading charities.
- Develop leadership skills: Learn through direct experience, expert-led training workshops and events.
- Build networks: Create new professional and personal links with institutions and organisations and by joining our Alumni Network.

Applications for the 2016/17 academic year are now open, to students from nine specific universities: SOAS University; Queen Mary; University of Manchester; Salford University; University of Nottingham; Nottingham Trent University; University of Birmingham; Birmingham City University; and Coventry University.

Further details about the programme and eligibility are at <http://www.3ff.org.uk/parliamentors>.

Building an Interfaith Community WCC summer course

The World Council of Churches is hosting its Bossey Interreligious Course this year from 25 July to 12 August in Switzerland. The theme for it is 'People and Faith on the Move: Migration in Judaism, Christianity and Islam'. Organisers describe the aim of the course as to 'Build an Interfaith Community' and at the same time explore a key theme of importance in the Abrahamic religions. It is open to Christians, Jews and Muslims between the ages of 20 and 35 years. This year the course will be accredited by the University of Geneva which may enable some students to be sent supportively by their universities. Scholarship support is available and religious and dietary requirements can be met. The closing date for applications is 18 March.

For further information, visit <https://institute.oikoumene.org/en/study-at-bossey/study-courses/certificate-of-advanced-studies-cas-in-interreligious-studies>. Applications should be sent to Bossey\_Admissions@wcc-coe.org.

Ariane de Rothschild Fellowship

The Ariane de Rothschild Fellowship aims to harness the entrepreneurial drive of mainly Jewish and Muslim social entrepreneurs from across Europe to build sustainable impact and at the same time develop a new brand of dialogue and leadership. It is open to those of a Jewish/Muslim cultural background but others with an interest in cross-cultural dialogue are welcome. This year it takes place from 24 July to 5 August at the University of Cambridge and is likely to be followed by a business bootcamp in the Winter of 2017.

Further information, including how to apply, can be found at <http://adrfellowship.org/>. The closing date for applications is 18 March.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS, AND NOMINATIONS

Inter Faith Week Toolkit – Your tips and ideas

The Inter Faith Network will shortly be developing a toolkit with tips for Inter Faith Week event planners to help them develop successful events and engage with new audiences; publicise these; and afterwards, evaluate and report on them and follow up so that the outcomes have a lasting impact. Work will be beginning shortly on the toolkit. It would be helpful to hear reflections from local, regional and national faith and inter faith bodies on whether there are any particular kinds of tips and stories it would be good to include. Any ideas and comments can be sent to Mr Ashley Beck ashley.beck@interfaith.org.uk by 21 March.

Equality and Human Rights Commission guidance on freedom of expression

The Equality and Human Rights Commission has published legal guidance on freedom of expression. The guide explains the legal framework which protects freedom of expression and the circumstances in which that freedom may be restricted in order to prevent violence, abuse or discrimination. It explores the boundaries between freedom of expression, unlawful discrimination and harassment, and hate speech. It also considers various contexts in which freedom of expression is curtailed. The guidance is available from <https://www.equalityhumanrights.com/en/publication-download/freedom-expression-legal-framework>

Responding to the refugee crisis

Faith communities and inter faith organisations continue to respond to the current refugee crisis. A new website dedicated to covering the crisis in Europe has been launched by Churches Together in Britain and Ireland. This aims to be “a one-stop source of information covering news, policy, practical action and resources for those in the faith community interested in refugee and asylum issues”. The website is at www.focusonrefugees.org.

The Christian Muslim Forum is encouraging churches and mosques to work to welcome refugees arriving from areas of conflict, to assist those already in the UK and to pool resources when sending humanitarian aid to those overseas. More information is at <http://www.christianmuslimforum.org/index.php/news/572-refugees-migrants-churches-mosques-working-together>.

Khalsa Aid is one of a number of UK faith based aid agencies offering support on the ground - <http://www.theguardian.com/world/2016/may/05/first-laugh-since-syria-the-clowns-getting-refugee-children-smiling>.

A number of local authorities have pledged to take refugees and faith groups have been playing an active role, as in Birmingham where they have done so through Citizens UK:

<http://www.birminghammail.co.uk/news/midlands-news/birmingham-commits-taking-500-syrian-11188796>. Citizens UK runs a 'Refugees Welcome' campaign, which has a website at <http://www.refugees-welcome.org.uk/>.

IFN's 2015 National Meeting report, available at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/publications/all-publications> carries several contributions about faith groups and refugees.

Local and devolved national elections

People across the UK last week took part in local and devolved national elections. Many faith communities were involved in volunteering on Election Day, such as this multi faith team in Cardiff - <http://www.walesonline.co.uk/news/wales-news/volunteers-who-taking-day-work-11281822>.

One of the elections that took place was for Mayor of London. The Rt Hon Sadiq Khan was elected as Mayor of London and was sworn in on 7 May. His swearing in ceremony was held at Southwark Cathedral rather than City Hall at his request and included people from many different faiths. In his speech, he said that he had asked for it be there because he wanted to start his mayoralty as he intended to go on, representing every single community and every single part of the city as a mayor for all Londoners.

Referendum on membership of the European Union

A referendum is being held on 23 June to decide whether Britain should leave or remain in the European Union.

General information about the referendum has been produced by a number of bodies such as the BBC at <http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-politics-32810887>. The Government's information can be found at <https://www.eureferendum.gov.uk/>. Its information leaflet is based on a 'remain' position.

A number of faith community bodies have been providing resources and opportunities for informed discussion and decision making, such as <https://ctbi.org.uk/eu-referendum-resources/> and <https://www.bod.org.uk/board-of-deputies-hosts-eu-referendum-debate-for-the-jewish-community/> and others, such as the Sikh Council UK, are encouraging debate <http://bit.ly/21NBAbY>.

The Electoral Commission is keen to ensure that as many people as possible are registered to vote by 7 June ahead of the European Union referendum on 23 June. It takes just a few minutes to register online at <https://www.gov.uk/register-to-vote>. Anyone who will be away on 23 June and unable to vote in person can apply for a postal vote or a proxy vote. The Commission has asked that communities disseminate information about registering to vote as widely as possible.

Statement on Religious Freedom

On 29 March, following the murder of shopkeeper Asad Shah in Glasgow, stated at the time by the Police to be likely to be linked to the expression of his beliefs, the IFN Officers issued a statement on Religious Freedom. This can be found at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/statements-and-messages>. The Statement makes clear the importance of IFN's principles to this issue and to living well and harmoniously together, without resort to violence where there is difference of belief. It also noted how faith communities in the UK seek to respond to incidents here and also to support those around the world whose religious freedom is truncated, often brutally, including through murders and terrorist attacks, such as, just before the issuing of the statement, the Easter day attacks in Lahore, and in other parts of the world.

RE Council Commission on RE to be established

The Religious Education Council of England and Wales is working to establish a Commission on RE. Following a consultation with its members in February and March, the REC has set four tasks for the Commission:

- To consider the nature, purposes, and scope of religious education.
- To identify the enabling factors that currently promote high quality RE, and the barriers that currently limit it.
- To identify what changes are needed to ensure the highest quality provision of RE.
- To ensure that recommendations focus on realistic and specific proposals aimed at both immediate and long-term implementation in the context of continuing educational reform.

For further information, contact the RE Council at info@religiouseducationcouncil.org.uk.

Religious Literacy

The All Party Parliamentary Group on Religious Education, chaired by Fiona Bruce MP, announced on 15 March an inquiry into religious literacy. The inquiry aims to “assess how Religious Literacy can be improved through a range of means including, but not limited to, schools and other formal and informal education settings such as workplace training schemes, life-long learning, media and literature, sports and other leisure activities and community forums.” The period for written submissions ended in mid April and there have subsequently been two Oral Evidence Sessions on 25 April and 3 May. The APPG plans to publish a report on present its findings to Government.

Consultation on reforms to death certification process

On 10 March the Department of Health launched a consultation on its proposed reforms to the death certification process. The consultation document describes how the new death certification process and medical examiner system will work. It seeks views about the system and on the accompanying draft regulations, which will provide the framework for death certification in England and Wales. The consultation is aimed at local authorities who will establish a medical examiner service, health and care professionals involved in the process as well as members of the public and all service providers involved when a death occurs.

The consultation and supporting documents are at <https://www.gov.uk/government/consultations/death-certification-reforms>. Enquiries or responses to the consultation should be sent by email to deathcertificationconsultation@dh.gsi.gov.uk. The consultation runs until 15 June.

The Department of Health has advised that the Welsh Government will consult separately on the arrangements for appointing and funding medical examiners in Wales, after the forthcoming National Assembly for Wales elections.

Faith based service providers

A Commons debate on 4 May saw wide-ranging inputs on the contribution that faith organisations make to the voluntary sector as well as to faith-based social activism more generally. In the course of the debate, the Chair of the All-Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) on Faith and Society, chaired by the Rt Hon Stephen Timms MP, pressed for national support and uptake of the Faith Covenant. The Covenant, developed after hearing evidence from faith groups across the country, was the idea of David Lammy MP, who was keen to develop a set of principles that faith groups and local authorities could adopt to promote joint working. For further information, visit Hansard at <http://goo.gl/L6sn7I> and <http://www.faithandsociety.org/>.

Early this year Theos and the Centre for Theology and Community published a short practical guide for faith-based organisations intended to “support decision makers and practitioners as they shape high quality and effective services which are consistent with their values”: <http://www.theosthinktank.co.uk/publications/2016/01/20/keeping-the-faith-a-guide-for-faith-based-organisations>. This follows its earlier publication The Problem of Proselytism <http://www.theosthinktank.co.uk/publications/2015/10/20/the-problem-of-proselytism> which explores three areas where it says that faith-based organisations need to exercise caution: prioritising the public good, respecting the dignity of religious and other minorities and protecting vulnerable service users. It argues that faith-based organisations do not need to secularise in order to head off these concerns.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

Inter Faith Week and Scottish Interfaith Week

Inter Faith Week 2016 in England, Northern and Ireland and Wales, now in its eighth year, will run from Sunday 13 to Sunday 20 November. Why an ‘8 day Week’? This year, the Week begins on Remembrance Sunday and many people of different faiths and beliefs will be marking that in some way. The additional Sunday will provide additional opportunity for weekend events to take place. For further information, visit www.interfaithweek.org

Scottish Interfaith Week has announced that from 2016 its dates will be the same as for the Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland. The theme for the Week in Scotland will be ‘Religion and the media’. For further information, visit www.interfaithscotland.org/scottish-interfaith-week/.

As noted below IFN will shortly be launching a Toolkit on developing successful Inter Faith Week activities.

HM The Queen's 90th Birthday

Over 900 beacons were lit throughout the UK, including at a number of places of worship, to mark the 90th Birthday of Her Majesty the Queen on 21 April.

Information on official celebrations to mark the occasion during the rest of the year are at <http://www.royal.gov.uk/LatestNewsandDiary/Pressreleases/2015/EventstomarkTheQueens90thbirthday.aspx>.

One of the main celebration events will be the Patron's Lunch, taking place on 12 June. This is a ticketed event in The Mall in London for people from the over 600 charities across the Commonwealth of which the Queen is Patron. In addition to the event in the Mall the organisers hope that street parties and lunches will take place across the UK to celebrate Her Majesty's birthday and to raise money for local initiatives. They say that they hope it will "re-ignite the famous British 'community spirit' and have villages, towns and cities all over the UK and across the Commonwealth to hold their own street parties. It is hoped these local 'Patron's Lunches' will help raise money for their own communities and local initiatives. In addition to the fundraising generated at a local level, the event will also serve as a unique platform for the charitable organisations to which The Queen acts as Patron, to maximize their own fundraising efforts."

Further information can be found at <http://www.thepatrons-lunch.com/how-to-get-involved/>.

The Big Lunch in which many faith communities and inter faith organisations have taken part since it began is also being held on 12 June and it is anticipated that many will be using this as a birthday celebration – www.thebiglunch.com.

Interfaith Scotland

Interfaith Scotland has moved to new premises at Flemington House in Glasgow. It has created a Dialogue Centre at the new offices and held a training day for volunteers there in April.

Inter faith social enterprises

Social enterprises trade to tackle social problems, improve communities, people's life chances, or the environment. They make their money from selling goods and services in the open market, but they reinvest their profits back into the business or the local community.

A number of social enterprises with a faith or inter faith focus exist. A recently established one is a social enterprise called Faith in Society which was started in April "dedicated to bridging the gap between faith communities wanting to become more involved in civil society locally or nationally, and those in the public, private and charitable sectors wishing to engage more effectively with religion and belief". Further information can be found at: www.faithinsociety.org.uk.

Faith Walks

With the warmer weather, many faith walks, both new and well established, are now underway.

Redditch recently held its 2nd Annual Faith Walk. Walkers included the Deputy Lord Lieutenant of Worcestershire, the Mayor of Redditch and other civic leaders. At the heart of this was a pledge stating "We as people of Redditch, pledge ourselves as one united community, respecting all races, faiths and beliefs, to build on our common values to achieve happiness and progress for all." <http://redditchstandard.co.uk/news/magnificent-hundreds-throng-second-redditch-faith-walk-sign-redditch-pledge/>.

This year marks the 31st Multi-Faith Pilgrimage for Peace held by Westminster Interfaith (an inter faith agency of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Westminster). It is held in different London boroughs each year and this year will be held on 21 May in the boroughs of Knightsbridge and Kensington. Further information is available from Jon Dal Din at jondaldin@rcdow.org.uk.

Other forthcoming Walks include Lewisham Inter Faith Walk, which will take place on 31 May http://content.met.police.uk/Event/Interfaith-walk--Lewisham/1400031247923/1257246745828?scope\_id=1257246764187, Northampton Inter Faith Forum Unity Walk on 22 May <http://www.niff.org.uk/events.html> and Bristol Multi Faith Trail which takes place as part of Bristol Walk Fest during May <http://bristolmultifaithforum.org.uk/bristol-walk-fest-2016-multi-faith-trail/>.

Faith in Birmingham

Birmingham Museums has created a new gallery called Faith in Birmingham, which is now open to the public at Birmingham Museum and Art Gallery.

The gallery development involved nearly a year of consultation with faith groups and communities across Birmingham. Birmingham Museums says that “The groups and individuals identified objects in our collection, and from further afield, to enable them to tell stories about their beliefs to other people. The gallery contains objects, images and film to tell the stories of faith practice in the city. Initially the gallery focuses on the six main faith groups in Birmingham; Christianity, Islam, Buddhism, Hinduism, Sikhism and Judaism. Over the next two years the Birmingham Museums will work with other faiths to incorporate more voices and communities into the gallery.”

The gallery contains insight into each faith through a significant ‘gateway object’ to demonstrate the individuality of each faith. Other areas of the gallery are organised into themes that demonstrate the similarities and shared beliefs between faiths. These themes are: Faith and History; Spiritual Life; Life’s Journey; and Faith and Community.

De Montfort University and St Philip’s Centre partnership

The St Philips Centre in Leicester, which celebrates its 10th anniversary this year, is dedicated to building understanding and friendships between different faiths and cultures. In April the St Philip’s Centre signed a new agreement with De Montfort University for the two organisations to work more closely together. Students will be able to volunteer for community projects while Frontrunners – DMU’s paid internships which give experience to students – will offer roles in inter faith work as part of #DMUlocal, the university's programme to support work to benefit people across Leicester.

DMU will also work alongside the St Philip’s Centre on its Near Neighbours project, which offers funding to communities to develop joint projects, while academic research will strengthen future funding bids. A programme of joint lectures will examine key issues for society and faith. ## 'Footsteps - Faiths for a Low Carbon Future'

Following a successful pilgrimage and gathering in the city centre in November, an inter faith group has been formed in Birmingham to take forward the climate change agenda.

The group includes Christian, Hindu, Jewish, Muslim and Sikh members, and is chaired by a Senior Adviser to Birmingham Council of Faiths (BCF). It has been accepted as a project of BCF, and is founded on the Lambeth Declaration signed by Faith Leaders in June 2015. There are plans for several events during the coming year, starting with a multi faith panel discussion on 15 May, with speakers from Operation Noah, Eco Islam and an Eco Sikh group. There are also plans for a series of workshops for young people during the summer and a multi faith walk to highlight environmental actions being taken by different places of worship in the city. Any similar groups in other parts of the country are invited to get in touch at ruthtetlow@btinternet.com to share ideas.

RESOURCES AND STUDY/TRAINING

Inter Faith Week Toolkit

It was noted in the February/March issue of the e-bulletin that the Inter Faith Network would shortly be developing a toolkit with tips for Inter Faith Week event planners to help them develop successful events and engage with new audiences; publicise these; and afterwards, evaluate and report on them and follow up so that the outcomes have a lasting impact. The toolkit will be launched on 16 May and available from the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org.

Tony Blair Faith Foundation – Essentials of Dialogue

The Tony Blair Faith Foundation (TBFF) has developed a resource for use in the classroom entitled 'Essentials of Dialogue'. The resource is part of the Face to Faith project and focuses on the core concept of respectful dialogue.

The TBFF website says "It is imperative that we give students the tools to build societies that welcome diversity rather than fearing it. That encourage an open-minded approach to the other, rather than the cultivation of prejudice; that includes rather than excludes."

The resource is free to download from <http://tonyblairfaithfoundation.org/projects/supporting-next-generation/supporting-next-generation-essentials-dialogue-0>

British Library Sacred Texts course

The British Library is running a course during May on 'Sacred Texts of Judaism, Christianity and Islam'. The course runs on Wednesday afternoons and explores the origins and development of the Hebrew Bible, the Christian Bible, and the Qur'an. It also offers an opportunity to see original manuscripts from the three faiths dating back to the 3rd century.

The course is led by leading academics and British Library curators and will focus each week on a single religious tradition through its manuscript heritage, culminating in a collective session that will further illustrate the concept that the books of the three faiths form one linked textual tradition.

PhD opportunity to research the impact of 3FF's work

The Centre for Trust, Peace and Social Relations at Coventry University is now offering a PhD studentship to research the impact of 3FF's work. The successful candidate will work closely with the 3FF team over three years. The opportunity is fully funded and includes a bursary plus tuition fees.

Coventry University is inviting proposals for a PhD project exploring the role and impact of 3FF in fostering peaceful relations. It welcomes proposals that are interdisciplinary, innovative and use participatory research methods. Proposals should challenge existing ideas, expand current thinking and contribute to change within 3FF and the communities it works with. The PhD studentship will be based within the Faith and Peaceful Relations Research Group, one of six research groups in the Centre for Trust, Peace and Social Relations. The closing date for applications is 20 May. ## FAITH AND PUBLIC LIFE UPDATE

UK vote to leave European Union

On 24 June, the results of the European Union Referendum were announced. The UK voted, by a majority of overall numbers of votes cast, to leave the European Union. The vote was close, with the majority of people in Northern Ireland and Scotland voting to remain, and deep divisions of view were evident throughout the UK. Among those calling for unity following the outcome of the Referendum were faith leaders such as the Archbishops of York and Canterbury whose statement of 24 June called on people to “unite in a common task to build a generous and forward looking country, contributing to human flourishing around the world” -

<http://www.archbishopofcanterbury.org/articles.php/5743/eu-referendum-statement-by-archbishops-of-canterbury-and-york>. See also <https://ctbi.org.uk/eu-referendum-church-reactions/>

During the following politically and economically turbulent days, there were reports of abuse and attacks on some members of minority groups.

<http://www.independent.co.uk/news/uk/home-news/brexit-eu-referendum-racial-racism-abuse-hate-crime-reported-latest-leave-immigration-a7104191.html>

The Inter Faith Network’s Co-Chairs and Vice-Chair made the following statement:

“On Friday, the results of the European Union Referendum were announced. The UK has voted, by a majority of overall numbers of votes cast, to leave the European Union.

There are rapidly moving discussions and strongly held views on the issue.

An immediate need is extending support to those who have been targeted with abuse in the wake of the vote, including some members of the Polish community and also people from other ethnicities and of a number of faiths, including Muslim and Sikh.

This abuse and hostility is entirely at odds with the values of tolerance, valuing of diversity, and mutual respect. IFN’s member bodies, like many others around the UK, will no doubt be finding ways to reach out and to be supportive at this difficult time.

We are entering a period when the need for bridge building within society will be more important than ever. Faith and inter faith organisations have an extremely important role to play in this as well as in contributing to the debate about future identity of the UK.”

Faith and inter faith groups are already playing an active role in reaching out to those affected and also in thinking about what the referendum outcome may mean for the future of their local community as well as the UK more widely. Information on some of the responses, events and statements of IFN member bodies and others are on IFN's website at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/news>.

Note: There is no implication in this piece that the hate incidents from relatively small groups and individuals in any sense reflect the views or attitude of the majority who voted to Leave.

Rise in reported hate crimes linked to race and religion

According to Home Office figures, reported racially and religiously motivated crimes have increased in level by 40% since 2012. In England and Wales 39,672 instances of racially or religiously motivated crimes were recorded in 2015. The figure for 2015 was a 16% increase on the 34,270 such crimes in 2014 and 44% higher than the 27,489 in 2012. (<https://www.gov.uk/government/statistics/hate-crime-england-and-wales-2014-to-2015>) The figures are understood by Government to reflect both increase in incidents and also greater willingness to report.

A Tell MAMA report, 'A Geography of Anti-Muslim Hatred', published on 29 June, says that in 2015 there was a 326% increase from 2014 in street based anti-Muslim incidents reported directly to Tell MAMA, such as verbal abuse in the street, and women's veils being pulled away, with 437 incidents reported to Tell MAMA. Murdered MP for Batley and Spennings, Jo Cox, concerned about the impact on young women in her own constituency, had been due to help launch the report and present it and it has been dedicated to her by its publishers.

The National Council for Hindu Temples (UK) has announced that, following a spate of racist incidents and reports of other similar Hate crimes, it has set up a monitoring project "to gather data on the degree to which the British Hindu Community are being targeted by extremists and criminals." More information is at <http://www.nchtuk.org/index.php/8-news/latest-news/438-post-referendum-hate-crimes>.

Police forces across England and Wales are asked to report religious hate crime according to religion. This began voluntarily in April 2016, with all police forces disaggregating their hate crime data by religion from April 2017. This will mean that it is possible to know how many incidents have been reported relating to particular faith communities.

Tackling hate crime

Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, Greg Clark, addressed issues of community cohesion since the EU referendum, while visiting Dar Al Islam Mosque in London for the Big Iftar. As well as speaking about the importance of upholding values of religious freedom, respect for others, pleasure and strength from diversity, he underlined the importance facing down discrimination and bigotry and stamping out hate crime. Key points from his speech are at <https://www.gov.uk/government/news/communities-secretary-visits-dar-al-islam-mosque>

On 29 June the Prime Minister announced that there would shortly be a new action plan on tackling hate crimes, wanting new steps to boost reporting of hate crime and supporting victims. Home Office Minister Karen Bradley MP subsequently made a statement that the Home Office would be providing extra funding in order to tackle hate crime and that it will also take steps to boost reporting of hate crime and to support victims, issue new CPS guidance to prosecutors on racially aggravated crime, provide a new fund for protective security measures at potentially vulnerable institutions and also offer additional funding to community organisations so they can tackle hate crime.

How to report hate crime

The police and Crown Prosecution Service define as hate incidents where the victim or anyone else thinks the incident was motivated by hostility or prejudice based disability; race; religion; transgender identity; or sexual orientation. Hate crime can be any criminal or non-criminal act such as vandalism to a property, name calling, assault or online abuse using social media.

Hate incidents can be reported directly to the Police. They can also be reported via the True Vision website at www.report-it.org.uk/home and, in some areas, to the Stop Hate website at www.stophateuk.org/report-hate-crime. In Scotland, hate crime can be reported at <https://www.scotland.police.uk/secureforms/hate-crime/>.

Additionally, the Community Security Trust of the Jewish community records and reports on anti-Semitic incidents at <https://cst.org.uk/antisemitism/report-antisemitism> and Tell Mama <http://tellmamauk.org> supports victims of anti-Muslim hate and is a public service which also measures and monitors anti-Muslim incidents.

Europe wide compendium of good practice on hate crime

The European Union Fundamental Rights Agency recently launched a compendium of Good Practice for Hate Crime including a number of UK based initiatives. The online compendium (<http://fra.europa.eu/en/theme/hate-crime/compendium-practices>) contains measures that EU countries are using to combat hate crime, with details on their implementation and evaluation.

Code of Conduct on illegal online hate speech

The European Commission together with Facebook, Twitter and YouTube (collectively the “IT Companies”) have unveiled a code of conduct that includes a series of commitments to combat the spread of illegal hate speech online in Europe.

The Commission’s website notes that “the Commission and the IT Companies recognise that the spread of illegal hate speech online not only negatively affects the groups or individuals that it targets, it also negatively impacts those who speak out for freedom, tolerance and non-discrimination in our open societies and has a chilling effect on the democratic discourse on online platforms. By signing this code of conduct, the IT companies commit to continuing their efforts to tackle illegal hate speech online. This will include the continued development of internal procedures and staff training to guarantee that they review the majority of valid notifications for removal of illegal hate speech in less than 24 hours and remove or disable access to such content, if necessary.”

Fleeing Persecution: Asylum Claims in the UK on Religious Grounds

Earlier this month the All Party Parliamentary Group on Religious Freedom and the Asylum Advocacy Group published ‘Fleeing Persecution: Asylum Claims in the UK on Religious Grounds’. This explores how the Home Office handles applications for asylum by individuals on the grounds of religious persecution and makes a number of recommendations.

The report notes that while the law is clear that religious persecution constitutes grounds for asylum, assessment of religion-based asylum applications is complex and challenging due to the inherently internal and personal nature of religion and belief. This is compounded by the fact that persecution on the basis of religion or belief encompasses a wide range of human rights violations and relates to complex dynamics of communal identities, politics, conflicts and radical organisations.

The report explores what it sees as disparity between Home Office policy guidelines and what is actually happening in practice.. Its recommendations include training for greater religious literacy on the part of officials. It says that all such individuals should be trained to have adequate knowledge of different forms of religious persecution and the right to freedom of religion or belief, the specific religious terminology of different religious groups as well as the cultural contexts of applicants, especially if the applicant identifies as a member of a religious group perceived as ‘heretical’ by others adhering to the same religion. It says that this depth of knowledge is needed so that the religious and cultural contextual meaning of the asylum applicants’ words can be understood and clearly conveyed.

Office for National Statistics – Census consultation full response

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) has published The 2021 Census – Assessment of initial user requirements on content for England and Wales: Response to consultation in May. Among other items, it sets out the topics the ONS intends to include within the 2021 Census. Page 20 of the report notes that the ONS intends to include the same religion question as in the 2001 and 2011 Censuses, following the consultation. The report can be found at <https://www.ons.gov.uk/census/censustransformationprogramme/consultations/the2021censusinitialviewoncontentforenglandandwales>.

In Scotland, users were asked for their views on the topics to be included. The consultation ran from 8 October 2015 – 15 January 2016 (<http://www.scotlandscensus.gov.uk/consultation-2021>) and the responses from it are currently being analysed with a report due this summer.

Foster carers

Fosterline has highlighted that carers are needed from all ethnic origins with varying faiths, cultures and languages. It says: “The diversity of the population in England is represented by many different beliefs and faiths, from all sections of the community, and this needs to be reflected in the people coming forward to be assessed to enter the fostering population. Every child deserves the right to allow their own heritage and faith to be explored and developed whether in the care system or not. It is vitally important that children are placed with foster carers who can meet their needs and they are more likely to thrive if their religious and/or ethnic background is taken into consideration. The Fostering community desperately requires more potential foster carers to come forward for assessment from as many varied backgrounds as possible. It does not matter what your religion is, this should not affect your application to foster.”

Charity Commission Consultation on independent examination

The Charity Commission is consulting on updating the framework for independent examination. Independent examination is the alternative form of scrutiny to an audit which is available to smaller charities. A new style of examiners’ reports is proposed along with revised guidance on when to report matters directly to the commission.

The consultation is open until 30 September and the revised framework for independent examination is proposed to take effect for reporting periods (financial years) ending on or after 31 March 2017. For further information, visit

Charity Commission consultation on approach to using new statutory power

The Charities (Protection and Social Investment) Act 2016 gives the Commission a power to disqualify individuals from acting as trustees. While a person is disqualified under this power they are also disqualified from holding senior management positions in the charity or charities concerned. The power will enable the commission to disqualify, for a proportionate period, individuals who are unfit to be a trustee in order to protect a charity or charities generally, other trustees and the public. This is a significant new power and the commission is seeking views on its proposed approach set out in the policy paper.

The consultation closes on 22 August and the policy document and further information can be found at <https://www.gov.uk/government/consultations/consultation-on-power-to-disqualify-from-acting-as-a-trustee>.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

Inter Faith Week and Scottish Interfaith Week

Inter Faith Week 2016 in England, Northern and Ireland and Wales, now in its eighth year, will run from Sunday 13 to Sunday 20 November. Why an '8 day Week'? This year, the Week begins on Remembrance Sunday and many people of different faiths and beliefs will be marking that in some way. The additional Sunday will provide additional opportunity for weekend events to take place. For further information, visit www.interfaithweek.org

As noted in the May issue of IFN's e-bulletin, Scottish Interfaith Week has announced that from 2016 its dates will be the same as for the Week in England, Wales and Northern Ireland. Events for Scottish Inter Faith Week will be listed on the interactive map at www.interfaithweek.org. The theme for the Week in Scotland will be 'Religion and the media'. For further information, visit www.interfaithscotland.org/scottish-interfaith-week/.

As noted below IFN launched a Toolkit on Developing Successful Activities on 16 May.

Day event for local inter faith practitioners – 28 July Coventry

On 28 July in Coventry IFN will be holding a day event for local inter faith practitioners from local inter faith groups anywhere in the UK to share their experiences, discuss issues of common interest and concern and have focused learning opportunities about practical aspects of developing successful inter faith programmes. There will also be two special issue strands - one on local inter faith response to the vulnerability of some communities following the referendum vote to exit the EU and the other on religious literacy.

In 2015 IFN held two day events in Sheffield and London for local inter faith practitioners. Reports from those events can be found at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/publications/all-publications/all-publications>.

St Ethelburga's Sacred Activists programme

'Sacred Activists: Leadership & spirituality in action' is a new 9 month programme of the St Ethelburga's Centre. It will bring together "young people who want to create a more beautiful world and empowers them to bring it into being" and "calls those with the spark of the future in their hearts, with committed spiritual lives and the impulse to act and lead".

The programme is based in London and will include: workshops with teaching input from leaders in the field; fieldtrips to inspiring communities where faith and action are combined in innovative ways; one to one mentoring from leaders involved in faith-based social change; building community through shared devotional practice, inner work and celebration; ongoing support to develop youth-led projects; a week volunteering at a refugee camp in Europe; a closing retreat and 'vision quest'.

Sacred Activists will involve the following themes and explorations:

- Sacred activism and the inter-spiritual manifesto
- Worldview and a 'new story' of inter-being
- The inner dimension of sacred activism
- Action learning

For further information and to download an application form, visit <https://www.stethelburgas.org/sacred-activists-leadership-spirituality-action>.

The closing date for applications is 30 July.

Inter faith gardening

There has been a growing interest (excuse the pun) in inter faith gardens. In this issue we include a special feature about these with some examples.

Watford Interfaith Association and the Rangers of Cassiobury Park are working with members of the faith communities in Watford to create “The Watford Peace Garden”, a shared space for quiet contemplation, meditation or meeting together. A dedicated page gives regular updates on stages of the journey, <http://www.wifa.org.uk/the-watford-peace-garden/>.

A special Holocaust Memorial Garden at Edgware and District Reform Synagogue in London is an example of how a garden space can be created both as a space to remember and to renew commitment to peace and cooperation. It has been created as a communal space where people across the community and from different faiths can come together for inter faith work and discussion. Communities Minister Baroness Williams unveiled a new plaque at the Holocaust Memorial Garden which has at its centre a 'tree of life' sculpture representing the six million Jews whose lives were lost in the Holocaust. More information is at <http://jewishnews.timesofisrael.com/communities-minister-unveils-plaque-at-edgware-holocaust-memorial-garden/>.

Some faith gardens have been planted for quite a time. For example, in Swindon, TWIGS garden developed a ‘Faith Garden’ several years ago with the help of Swindon Interfaith Group. TWIGS, which is a charity which operates on land of the Borough Council, held a series of workshops both at TWIGS and out in the community to pull together garden features which had relevance and meaning to several different faith groups. Contributions for the garden came from Buddhist, Christian, Sikh, Hindu, Muslim, Baha’i and Pagan faiths, though all faith groups were invited and encouraged to contribute to the garden. Garden designers then worked with them to make the faith garden a reality. In the garden is to be found a bench provided by the Swindon Inter Faith Group in honour of the 20 years of service to it of Vernon and the late Margaret Griffiths.

In Fife, members of the Inter Faith Group planted a tree in Beveridge Park, Kirkcaldy, to commemorate the formation of the group. This led to the vision for an Interfaith Peace Garden. At the heart of the garden is the Peace Pole. About 100,000 Peace Poles have been erected world-wide and can be made from any material and usually about 2 metres high. The pole is four-sided, and on each side, in a different language, are the words "May peace prevail on earth". The labour and engraving were donated by local tradesmen and the four languages chosen were the four most widely spoken in Fife: English, Polish, Urdu and Arabic. The garden was opened in 2012, supported through ‘Awards for All Scotland’, the Fife Environment Trust and local business people.

At Oakwell Hall in Birstall, Kirklees, is a faith garden designed to provide 'a special place', inspired by the world's major faiths and the natural environment of the park, which can be used for quiet reflection and as an outdoor classroom where children will learn about common themes of faith and understanding between different communities. The garden incorporates themes of faith such as circles and the points of the compass. It comprises a circular stone seating area with turfed surround, a circle of standing stones which represent the points of the compass and, to give a different perspective to the circle theme, a grass mound. It was partly funded by the Area Committee for Birstall and Birkenshaw, the ward of the councillor who inspired the project while Mayor. It also received funding from the Kirklees Standing Advisory Council for Religious Education (SACRE).

In Sheffield, there is a Multifaith Forest Garden at Parkwood Springs which is being developed by Sheffield city Council with volunteers. Just outside the city centre, it relies on committed volunteers for maintenance and people of many faiths and none help take care of it. For more information, contact sheffieldinterfaith@hotmail.com.

Weymouth has a Peace Garden which is a multi-faith community garden created to promote a commitment to peace and understanding in the local area. The garden lies on the secluded site of an old burial ground, once owned by the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers). Visitors can experience walking the labyrinth, enjoy a time of silence amongst the landscaped garden or prefer a moment of reflection by the peace pole. The garden is managed by a dedicated group of volunteers with the support of Weymouth and Portland Borough Council. Further information is at <https://www.dorsetforyou.gov.uk/article/408672/Weymouth-Peace-Garden>.

Faith and inter faith gardens are popular with schools too. For example Pupils at Bryntirion Infants School in Bridgend helped created a faith garden which includes religious symbols and multi-sensory plants, will help to stimulate and develop children's learning. Further information can be found at <http://www.walesonline.co.uk/news/local-news/school-plants-faith-garden-1916480>.

The Near Neighbours grants programme has made grants supporting a number of inter faith gardening and allotment projects. Examples of these are a peace garden in Luton, created by renovating an overgrown area into allotments for community members to grow healthy food - <http://www.cuf.org.uk/News/near-neighbours-blogs-changing-the-face-of-englands-communities>; a community garden in East Ham in London holding events to mark faith festivals - <http://www.bonnydowns.org/inter-faith-events>; and an 'edible garden' soon to launch in the London Borough of Brent - <https://www.brent.gov.uk/services-for-residents/sport-leisure-and-parks/allotments/food-growing-conservation-and-gardening-projects/st-raphael-s-edible-garden/>; .

Big Iftar

The Big Iftar is a volunteer-led project where mosques, churches, synagogues, community centres, and schools invite the community to join the fast-breaking meal during Ramadan, called the 'iftar'. It was launched in 2013 to help explain the Islamic faith and to bring communities of all faiths closer together. A number of this year's inter faith Big Iftars, such as those at the West London Synagogue and London Central Mosque, are 'Royal Iftars', in honour of the 90th birthday of Her Majesty The Queen.

Exchange greetings project

In 2015 imams and other members of the Muslim community were invited by the Joseph Interfaith Foundation to send Happy Chanukah cards to the synagogues and Chief Rabbi Ephraim Mirvis. Following the success of that, the Jewish community is reciprocating by extending their hand of friendship towards the Muslim community by sending Eid Mubarak cards. The aim of the initiative is to create further social interaction and extend good relations between the Jewish and Muslim communities nationally.

Update on Inter Faith Network for the UK meetings

The Inter Faith Network for the UK works throughout the UK to promote good relations between people of different faiths and beliefs and it has in membership the national inter faith linking bodies of Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales – the Northern Ireland Inter-Faith Forum, Interfaith Scotland and the Inter-faith Council for Wales. Each year these bodies meet together with IFN staff and the meetings rotate between countries in the UK. This year's meeting took place on 24 May in Cardiff, hosted by the Inter-faith Council for Wales. In addition to the usual round up of key developments since the last meeting, the meeting discussed: the development of local inter faith activity, including Inter Faith Week; IFN's changing governance – the devolved nations trustee nomination and appointment process; and integration and anti-extremism and inter faith work in the different nations.

On 14 June an Inter Faith Network meeting was held for member bodies in the Educational and Academic category and for National Faith Community Representative Bodies (which usually meet as the Faith Communities Forum). The meeting had a special focus discussion on religious literacy, including Religious Education. There will be further information on religious literacy in the next issue of the e-bulletin.

RESOURCES AND STUDY/TRAINING

Inter Faith Week Toolkit – get ready for Inter Faith Week 2016!

On 16 May the Inter Faith Network launched an Inter Faith Week Toolkit on Developing Successful Activities. Speakers at the launch event included Ashley Beck and Sofi Hersher, IFN office; the Revd Alan Bayes, Inter-faith Council for Wales; Riaz Ravat, St Philip's Centre Leicester and Minou Cortazzi, Leicester Baha'i community; Ben Shapiro, 3FF; Chan Parmar, Bolton Inter Faith Council and Meera Solanki, Bolton Interfaith Young Ambassadors; and Suzanne Kochanowski, Head of Race and Faith, Integration Division, Department of Communities and Local Government.

The Toolkit is packed with suggestions for marking the Week and examples and illustrations drawn from the many successful activities held for the Week to date. It also includes practical guidance and links to further information. You can download it from the Inter Faith Week website at www.interfaithweek.org Hard copies are available from the IFN office.

An electronic copy of the Toolkit and the 2016 Week flyer are being circulated with this e-bulletin.

Charity Commission guidance on Protecting Charities from Harm

The recent period has seen the introduction of legislation and guidance relating to prevention of violent extremism and counter extremism and there are implications for charities.

Many charities further their charitable aims by arranging meetings involving invited speakers and by distributing literature and other educational materials. Charities, by the nature of their work and the issues they deal with, will raise issues which some people find emotive or which may be controversial. In most cases, this causes no problems.

However, terrorists and those who encourage terrorism have been known to use charities to make their views known. The Charity Commission has guidance on how trustees, staff and volunteers can protect their charity from abuse by those encouraging extremism, terrorism or illegal activity.

This can be found in Chapter 5 of the commission's Compliance Toolkit, entitled 'Protecting Charities from abuse for extremist purposes and managing the risks at events and in activities' which is online at <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/protecting-charities-from-abuse-for-extremist-purposes>.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS, AND NOMINATIONS

NATRE's 'Art in Heaven' Competition

The National Association of Teachers of Religious Education (NATRE) is holding its 13th Annual 'Art in Heaven' competition for school pupils aged 4 to 19 years.

Entries for the competition, which is also supported by RE Today, can be created using drawing, painting, art, video, sculpture or other media and there are five themes from which to choose: Visions and Prophecy; Could Britain be a Rainbow Nation?; It's not Fair! Faith and Justice; Where is God today?; and Seeing Jesus. The choice of theme is dependent on whether the submission is from primary or secondary school pupils.

There is full, detailed guidance available online at <http://www.natre.org.uk/about-natre/projects/spirited-arts/introduction/2015-competition/>. Submission of entries, to be considered for an award, must arrive at NATRE on or before 31 July.

Faiths Together in Lambeth – call for artwork

Faiths Together in Lambeth is calling out to all artists, amateurs or professionals, to donate artworks on the theme of 'Living Together in Harmony' and welcoming artworks in any medium, with the only limitation being the size of the stand.

All artworks donated will be sold to raise funds for the work of the charity. The theme 'Living Together in Harmony' was selected to highlight the mission statement for the charity, which works to promote religious harmony for the benefit of the public, improving knowledge and facilitating mutual understanding and respect of the beliefs and practices of different religious faiths.

Artwork can be donated by 2 July to Faiths Together in Lambeth, 24 Holmewood Gardens, London SW2 3RS.

Faith Through a Lens photography competition

Faith Through a Lens is an annual photography competition, linked to Inter Faith Week, held by Congregational and General Insurance. It aims to profile the positive effects of faith within a diverse range of communities. The competition encourages amateur photographers from across the UK to capture what faith means to them. It is funded by Congregational & General Insurance and supported by the Inter Faith Network and Churches Together in England.

This year's competition is now open and will close on 3 October. Entry is only open to amateur photographers and will be judged based on emotional connection, creativity and originality. For further information, visit www.faiththroughalens.co.uk.

Honours List nominations

The Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) is keen to ensure that individuals from the full breadth of society who are making a significant contribution to public life are properly recognised through the Honours system. It is particularly keen to recognise individuals who have contributed to building integrated communities and notes that nominees can come from all levels; being in a junior role is not a barrier to a nomination.

DCLG is holding a series of workshops from July to September at its offices in London giving a brief overview of the nominations process and guidance about how to draft a citation. All nominations must be made on an official citation form and nominees should not be informed that they have been nominated. Citation forms, as well as further information about workshops, can be obtained from integration@communities.gsi.gov.uk.

Near Neighbours grants programme

The Near Neighbours programme offers small grants of between £250 and £5,000, as seed funding for local groups and organisations working to bring together neighbours, and to develop relationships across diverse faiths and ethnicities to improve their communities.

As part of the criteria, projects should:

- Bring together peoples of two or more different faiths and/or ethnicities, to build friendships and develop relationships of trust.
- Work locally. We want to see people who are living very locally (i.e. in the same street, estate or neighbourhood) come together.
- Work sustainably. We want to see long term and natural relationships grow, that will last beyond the period of funding.
- Work to improve the community. We want to see people working to make their communities a better place to live.
- Involve diverse people in planning and implementation. People from more than one faith group and/or ethnicity are involved in planning and implementing the proposal.

The full criteria, information on areas in which the grants are available and information on how to apply can be found at <http://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours-grants>. For general enquiries, contact near.neighbours@cuf.org.uk.

Community foundations

Community foundations are local, grant-making organisations to which local community organisations can apply for funding. There are 48 community foundations in the UK, covering Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland and England. They provide donors with information about local needs, what groups are tackling which issues, and how donations can be strategic and best support the community. A map of community foundations across the UK and how to contact them, can be found at http://ukcommunityfoundations.org/community\_foundations/map.

Comic Relief Stronger Communities grants

Comic Relief's grants programme now has five themes, one of which is 'Stronger Communities'. Grants for the Stronger Communities theme are managed by Local Community Foundations and range in size from £1,000 to £10,000 per year. Priority is given to small, locally-based groups or organisations in areas of disadvantage that have a clear understanding of the needs of their community and are undertaking actions as a means of addressing these needs. Anyone wishing to apply for a Local Communities grant should contact their local community foundation. Further details can be found online at http://ukcommunityfoundations.org/programmes/comic\_relief/.

DIARY DATES

This section includes some of the events taking place around the UK. IFN includes information on diary dates between e-bulletins on its website at <http://www.interfaith.org.uk/take-part/events>.

The St Ethelburga's Centre is holding an event on Thursday 30 June entitled 'Opening listening: after the Referendum'. Open listening "is a model that enables a diverse community to gather and share perspectives in response to an event of global significance. It allows everyone to speak their truth, to listen and be heard, but without generating argument or assigning judgement." The event is to enable people to share concerns and responses to the result of the EU Referendum. It will be held in the St Ethelburga's Tent in London from 4.30pm to 6pm. For those who wish to stay, the dialogue will be followed by half an hour of prayer and silent meditation. For further information, visit <https://www.stethelburgas.org/civicrm/event/info?reset=1&id=804>.
