We don't intend this to be a very competitive environment. Don't worry about your age or ability. Age 20+ please (unless agreed beforehand). Team entry is free. 5 a side with maximum two subs. Snacks and refreshments will be provided. The event will be covered by local and national media including FA TV. We encourage everyone to raise money for Children In Need and bring your totals on the day so we can see collectively how much of a difference we can make. If fundraising is something you do each year anyway and provide your employees with match funding incentives etc carry on exactly the same. Make all the noise on social media of the good work your organisation is doing but use the hash tag #footballunites to join our conversation online and help get your efforts noticed further than usual. Join us for what promises to be a thought-provoking and interactive afternoon exploring this theme through the lens of scripture. In this dynamic workshop you will have the opportunity to delve into passages from the sacred texts of the Jewish Muslim and Christian faiths a practice otherwise known as Scriptural Reasoning. Scriptural Reasoning (SR) is a tool for inter-faith dialogue whereby people of different faiths come together to read and reflect on their scriptures. Unlike many forms of inter-faith engagement SR is not about seeking agreement but rather exploring the texts and their possible interpretations across faith boundaries and learning to disagree better. SR is now practiced globally including in places affected by religion-related tensions and conflict. Free Booking essential: <http://bit.ly/1NXBpXL>

Questions ranged from opinions on how religious people should be reacting to the refugee crisis to what makes their faiths so important to them. The girls learned about religious practice as well as how beliefs from holy books are shaped to fit the modern context. They were beautiful listeners and challenged both themselves and our faith panel with insightful curiosity."

We found out that all of the main world faiths believe in variants of the Golden Rule that you should treat others the way you wish to be treated- something we value highly at Northway. Both conversations were particularly pertinent given the terrorist attacks in Paris the previous Friday. Bishop Sarah also visited the Mosque on the Thursday the Imam having arranged for a number of Muslim women to meet her along with himself. This was visit was covered by ITV. In these turbulent times of unrest across the world politics and religion seem to be at the centre of much of what is happening. Can interfaith action perhaps an "alliance of faith" bring about a greater effect on political will than acting alone?

The event will bring together those involved in chaplaincy from the areas of police prison and hospital together with those involved in wider faith-based chaplaincy. We want the day to be an occasion for individual development of chaplains around issues of diversity equality and well-being allowing for discussion around the evolving understanding of chaplaincy work as a multi faith service. Also we hope that by bringing chaplains together from different areas the sharing of experiences will strengthen / create connections which will continue after the event. Finally we hope that discussion around the needs of individuals will lead to ideas for joining up of chaplaincy support beyond the boundaries of particular services and even of how chaplains might be involved more pro-actively in front-line situations.

Residents can proactively report graffiti litter hotspots and book free bulky waste collections. The event will also have a foodie focus with 'Love Food Hate Waste' advisors offering advice information and some handy tools for reducing food waste reusing leftovers and eating healthier. Its common for us to buy too much or food goes out of date before we eat it so much so that on average households waste £50 per month on food that will never be eaten. During the event students had 30 to 40 minute workshops where each faith leader explored the concept of belief and talked about how and where they worshipped and why they followed this belief. Students completed a reflection booklet that made them think about what was special to them. Schools from across the borough were invited in and took part in the event. The event finished with a celebration of poetry where students read out their bio poems which talked about their faith and belief.

Students generated questions around religious, philosophical and ethical ideas which they then posed to representatives from the Christian, Jewish, Muslim and Hindu faiths. Chaired by Mr House students then responded with critical reflections on the stances of some faiths on topical issues such as free will, sexuality, and terrorism. The outstanding commitment of the students created an atmosphere of tolerance and acceptance which facilitated curiosity and learning promoting mutual understanding and recognising common values.

The children learned a huge amount and it was wonderful to hear them comment on the many similarities between the different faiths. Our visitors noted the thoughtful and intelligent questions that the children asked and it was great to see the children demonstrate our own school values through the respect they gave throughout the day.

CCJ's national director Dr Jane Clements takes as her theme is In Our Time! Changing Christian Views of the Jews. She will be reflecting on 50 years since the historic papal Nostra Aetate declaration on relations between the church and other faiths. This meeting is our contribution to Inter Faith Week 2015.

It was in October 1965 that the Catholic Church published its declaration on its relations with other faiths Nostra Aetate - In Our Time. Most significant for Jewish-Christian understanding was the repudiation of the ancient accusation against Jews as Christ-killers. Jane, who is an Anglican with many years of experience of inter faith relations and education, will reflect on the changes in hearts and minds that have followed from it.

Short description of event:

Join people of all faiths for a short event before we join together for the People's March for Climate Justice and Jobs. Floods typhoons and droughts are already impacting many millions of people both here and abroad. This humanitarian crisis affects those who have done least to create the problem the most and left unchecked would affect us all. Each of our great faith traditions speaks to the need to protect our planet. Jewish tradition teaches: When God created Adam God took him and warned Adam about all the trees in the Garden of Eden saying: See My works see how beautiful and perfect they are and all I created I created for you. Beware lest you spoil and destroy my world for if you will spoil it there is no one to repair it after you. (Ecclesiastes Rabbah And from within the Islamic tradition we our taught that: "Corruption has flourished on land and sea as a result of people's actions and He will make them taste the consequences of some of their own actions so that they may turn back." (Qur'an Chapter 30 Verse 41) Christians often look to the Psalms including Psalm 24 which begins: The earth is the Lord's and everything in it assuring us that creation is Gd's gift to us it is not an entitlement or something we can abuse. Climate change was the theme of the Pope's most recent encyclical Ahead of the rally we're bringing together people of faith from all over the UK to reflect on our faiths' teachings with contributions from those affected by climate change. We will then walk together as a faith 'bloc' to join the rally. There is no charge.
