FAITH AND PUBLIC LIFE UPDATES

Remembering the Manchester Arena attack – standing together one year on 22 May marked a year since the terrorist attack at the Ariana Grande concert in the Manchester Arena. Among the events held to mark the anniversary was a service at Manchester Cathedral. HRH Prince William and Prime Minister Theresa May joined families of victims in remembrance. The Dean of the Cathedral spoke of how people of all faiths and none had come together and there were also short addresses from Hindu, Jewish, Muslim and Sikh leaders and from a Humanist. This reflected the strong multi faith response to the attack and in supporting those affected.

The BBC reported that a multi-faith group holding banners reading "Manchester City United" and "Total Love" were met with applause by those outside the cathedral.
<http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-enWgland-manchester-44197949>

Among the speakers at the Cathedral Service was Rabbi Warren Elf, whose reflections on the multi faith response to the attack have been offered at IFN meetings in London and Manchester and can be read at <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/moving-forward-together-report-of-the-30th-anniversary-national-meeting-of-> and https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/ifn-day-event-for-local-inter-faith-practitioners-a-short-report-manchester.

Integrated Communities Strategy consultation

The consultation on the Green Paper on the proposed Integrated Communities Strategy that was launched in March by the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government remains open for another week until Tuesday 5 June. As noted in the March/April issue of the e-bulletin, the Green Paper invites views on the Government's vision for building strong integrated communities "where people – whatever their background – live, work, learn and socialise together, based on shared rights, responsibilities and opportunities". It sets out a programme of actions that it is proposed to take across Government to deliver this vision at the local and national level.

Key proposals in the Green Paper include:

- identifying priority policies and services to review across government to determine how they can drive integration;
- testing a package of information for recent migrants to support them to integrate into their communities and to build understanding of life in Britain;
- addressing the segregation of schools along ethnic or faith lines that exists in some places, even where the local population is very diverse, for example by promoting mixing and twinning arrangements between schools in areas of high segregation;
- developing a new strategy for English Language in England, to improve the coordination of provision to learners and help improve their outcomes;
- trialling new approaches through Jobcentre Plus to break down the barriers to employment and support people from isolated communities into work; and
- empowering marginalised women, including exploring the legal and practical challenges of limited reform of the law on marriage so that civil marriages are conducted before or at the same time as religious ceremonies.

The Green Paper can be found at

Muslims Against Anti-Semitism

On 17 May a group called 'Muslims Against Anti-Semitism' took out a full-page advert in the Telegraph.

Minister's 'faith tour' continues

Lord Bourne of Aberystwyth, Minister for Faith at the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government, is completing the second part of his 'Faith Tour'. The tour aims to highlight the UK's 'diverse landscape of faith communities and places of worship'. This part of the tour has included visits to Manchester to a mosque for an Iftar meal to mark the beginning of Ramadan, a gurdwara and a Chinese Buddhist temple; Bradford, to the Hindu Cultural Society; and to Blackburn, with a meeting with local authority and community leaders. The tour has a link with the Government's Integrated Communities Strategy consultation (see above).

The faith tour can be followed on Twitter at @lordnickbourne, and by searching the hashtag #faithtour2.

New guidance for coroners – respect for religious and cultural wishes

At the end of April, the High Court ruled illegal the 'cab rank' system of burials operated by North London Coroner Mary Hassell. Following this judgement, in R (Adath Yisroel Burial Society & Anor) v HM Senior Coroner for Inner North London, the Chief Coroner, HHJ Mark Lucraft QC, issued in May guidance for coroners: <https://www.judiciary.gov.uk/wp-content/uploads/2018/05/guidance-no-28-report-of-death-to-the-coroner-2010517.pdf>.

Guidance No. 28, 'Report of death to the Coroner: decision making and expedited decisions' is "intended to be a practical guide to assist coroners in situations where (a) a bereaved family has made a request to the coroner for urgent consideration of the death of a loved one and/or early release of the body or (b) the coroner or coroner's officers otherwise become aware of features of a particular death which may justify treating it as especially urgent".

The guidance underlines that proper respect should be given to representations based on religious belief including wording that "The Chief Coroner understands and is sensitive to the fact that some faith groups, particularly Jewish and Muslim, have religious and cultural wishes about treatment of a body and burial following a death. Coroners should pay appropriate respect to those wishes, within the framework of their legal duties and in the context of their other responsibilities."

Humanism and SACREs in Wales

The Welsh Government's Cabinet Secretary for Education, Kirsty Williams AM, wrote to Directors of Education in Wales' 22 local authorities saying that "It is the view of the Welsh Government that: to ensure compatibility with the Human Rights Act 1998 the provisions relating to the constitution of SACREs [Standing Advisory Councils on Religious Education] and ASCs [Agreed Syllabus Conferences]... are to be interpreted as permitting the appointment of persons who represent holders of non-religious beliefs in the same way as they permit the appointment of persons who represent holders of religious beliefs." The letter also said that that the new guidance supersedes paragraph 103 of Circular 10/94 which precluded humanist membership on the same basis as membership by religious representatives.

This followed a legal challenge after Vale of Glamorgan Council would not admit humanist representative Kathy Riddick to its SACRE group on the grounds only religious representatives could join. The local authority later withdrew its decision after Humanists UK was granted permission for a judicial review.

Further information is at <http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-wales-44054815>.

The National Association of SACREs, an IFN member body, has made a statement in response. This can be seen at <http://www.nasacre.org.uk/file/nasacre/1-659-response-to-welsh-guidance.pdf>.

25th Anniversary of the National Association of SACREs

The National Association of Standing Advisory Councils for Religious Education (NASACRE) works to support, strengthen and promote the work done by local SACREs and represents the interests of members at a national level. In May it celebrated its 25th anniversary with a conference and AGM in London focussed on 'Standing Together – Celebrating the Power of Community'. Details of the anniversary event are at <http://www.nasacre.org.uk/conference-and-agm/2018>.

Inter faith participation in launch of new Hindu temple

There is a growing trend for faith community places of worship to invite other communities at special moments such as opening of new places of worship and key festivals.

An example of this was the launch of North Kent's first Hindu temple in May. This reflected the inter faith engagement of the Gravesend Hindu community with guests from many faiths and the local inter faith body as well, of course, as leading figures from their own community and civic leaders. <http://www.gravesendreporter.co.uk/news/first-hindu-temple-in-north-kent-opens-1-5513262>

Taylor Review Pilot for Places of Worship

The Taylor Review was commissioned in 2016 to examine the funding and sustainability of listed Church of England buildings and ensure that they are conserved for future generations. The Review's report was published in December and it has now been announced that the Taylor Review Pilot, administered by Historic England on behalf of the Department of Digital, Culture, Media and Sport, will run in Greater Manchester and Suffolk from September 2018 until March 2020.

The pilot will fund: a project manager (based in Manchester, Cambridge or London); 2 x fabric support officers (one each in Manchester and Suffolk); 2 x community development advisers (one each in Manchester and Suffolk); and a minor repairs fund in the two pilot areas. It aims to test the impact of fabric support officers focussing on maintenance and repair of historic fabric and community development advisers helping to increase engagement beyond the worshipping community in both an urban and rural context.

It is open to all faith groups who manage listed places of worship and meet the eligibility criteria. For further information, visit <https://historicengland.org.uk/advice/caring-for-heritage/places-of-worship/churches-sustainability-review/>.

Faiths invited to mark 10th Anniversary of the Climate Change Act

The 10th anniversary of the Climate Change Act will be marked in November. The Act made the UK the first country to set legally binding targets for reducing carbon emissions.

The Committee on Climate Change, an independent committee created by the Act, is encouraging organisations to celebrate this milestone as a chance to talk about the decarbonisation of society, and the importance of the UK continuing to lead on climate change internationally. It has particularly reached out to encourage faith and inter faith organisations to get involved.

Interfaith Scotland visit of UN prevention of genocide adviser

Adama Dieng, the UN Secretary-General's Special Adviser for the Prevention of Genocide, visited Interfaith Scotland in May for a dialogue event. He presented the UN's Plan of Action for the Prevention of Genocide which has been developed for 'Religious Leaders and Actors' to prevent incitement to violence that could lead to atrocity crimes. This can be found at www.un.org/en/genocideprevention/documents/Plan_of_Action_Religious_Prevent_Incited.pdf.

West Midlands Faith Action Plan

Diverse faith communities in the West Midlands are supporting an action plan launched in early May by West Midlands Mayor Andy Street to tackle key issues like youth unemployment and homelessness. This follows a number of months of engagement between the Mayor and different communities.

Action Plan recommendations include:

- Offering faith communities the opportunity to bid for social programmes tendered by the West Midlands Combined Authority (WMCA), such as skills contracts
- Rolling out the Mayor's Mentors programme through faith groups to provide young people with mentoring in and around places of worship
- Working with faith organisations to prevent and deal with homelessness, providing ideas and practical advice for those who want to help but are not sure how

One proposal under the plan is to work with the West Midlands Police and Crime Commissioner to explore proposals for an anti-hate crime campaign similar to the successful 'Kick it Out' initiative used to tackle racism in football.

The Faith Action Plan is a result of the Mayor and Faith Conference, staged at the University of Birmingham in November, which saw more than 400 individuals from different faiths come together to discuss issues like reducing hate crime, increasing job opportunities and tackling homelessness.

Campaign honouring WWI soldiers of different faiths

The Jewish News reports that a campaign to honour First World War soldiers of different faiths in synagogues, mosques, temples and churches has had a £2 million boost from a Government fund. ‘There But Not There’, an initiative led by Lord Dannatt, former Chief of the General Staff, and backed by Chief Rabbi Ephraim Mirvis, includes artistic silhouettes placed throughout places of worship in the UK.

<http://jewishnews.timesofisrael.com/campaign-honouring-first-world-war-soldiers-of-different-faiths-gets-2m-boost/>

Venues where the silhouettes had already been installed at the time of the article were Arundel Cathedral; Alyth Synagogue, Gurdwara Sri Guru Singh Sabha and Palmers Green Mosque in London; a Belfast classroom; a Welsh church; and the Indian Army Memorial Room at the Royal Academy Sandhurst.

The £2 million in extra roll-out money, from the Armed Forces Covenant Fund, will be made available to faith schools, community centres and places of worship in the form of £500 micro-grants, with application accepted until 30 June.

Further information about the installation project is at www.therebutnotthere.org.uk/.

INTER FAITH NETWORK FOR THE UK NEWS

Inter Faith Week – 6 months to go!

This year Inter Faith Week takes place from 11-18 November. We hope that all our readers will take part and encourage their organisations to do so.

The 6 months to go press release is at <https://www.interfaithweek.org/resources/press-release-inter-faith-week-2018-6-months-to-go>. The flyer for the 2018 week can be downloaded from www.interfaithweek.org/resources/flyer.

This year’s is the 10th such Week. www.interfaithweek.org Inter Faith Week has grown steadily ever since its launch. It is a fantastic opportunity for people of all faiths and beliefs to mix and learn; visit places of worship of your neighbours and find out why their faith matters to them; get past stereotypes and misunderstandings and increase religious literacy; celebrate; dialogue; and volunteer together to help their local community.

Lord Bourne of Aberystwyth, Minister for Faith at the Ministry for Housing, Communities and Local Government, said, in the press release: “Inter Faith Week is a great way to recognise the amazing contributions of communities of all faiths and none from across the country. It’s important that we celebrate the great efforts of those who come together and build valuable relationships to the benefit of British life.”

In May IFN published a report on last year's Week, Stories from 2017, Inspiration for 2018 www.interfaithweek.org/resources/inter-faith-week-stories-from-2017-inspiration-for-2018. Many illustrated examples from IFW 2017 can be found in this.

IFN's Inter Faith Week Toolkit is packed with suggestions for marking the Week and examples and illustrations drawn from the many successful activities held for the Week to date by faith and belief bodies, local inter faith organisations, community and voluntary organisations, businesses, local authorities, emergency services, SACREs, schools, colleges, universities, chaplaincies, sports organisations, and others. It also includes practical guidance and links to further information. The Inter Faith Week team at the Inter Faith Network Office will be happy to assist.

Inter Faith Week is timed to begin on Remembrance Sunday, which this year is the Centenary Armistice Day. This supports and encourages remembering of the service of soldiers and civilians of different faiths and beliefs. It is also an opportunity for events focussing on peace.

Sunday 18 November will be Mitzvah Day (www.mitzvahday.org.uk) - a Jewish-led day of social action involving people of all faiths and none working together in their local communities. Many events are being jointly held to mark both Inter Faith Week and Mitzvah Day and these will form a part of Inter Faith Week.

Inter Faith Week is a programme of the Inter Faith Network for the UK (www.interfaith.org.uk), which manages the Inter Faith Week website: www.interfaithweek.org, working with the Inter-faith Council for Wales (<http://interfaithwales.org.uk>), and the Northern Ireland Inter-Faith Forum (<http://niinterfaithforum.org>) in relation to Wales and Northern Ireland.

Scottish Interfaith Week

Scottish Inter Faith Week (SIFW) has taken place with great success since 2004 and is led by Interfaith Scotland (www.interfaithscotland.org). The dates of SIFW 2018 are 11 to 18 November. More details are at <http://scottishinterfaithweek.org>.

The Scottish Government has declared 2018 the 'Year of Young People'. One of the main aims of the Year is to develop better understanding, co-operation and respect between generations. The fact that faith communities have an important role to play in providing opportunities for people of different generations to dialogue and engage in activities together is reflected in the theme for this year's SIFW which is 'Connecting Generations'.

Meeting of IFN member National and Regional Inter Faith Organisations and Educational and Academic Bodies

A joint category meeting for National and Regional Inter Faith Organisations and Educational and Academic Bodies was held on 28 March. The two main Agenda Items were: Youth Inter Faith Engagement and Tackling Hate Crime and Prejudice. In the first of these there were presentations from Ashley Beck about IFN's youth inter faith engagement programme and from Phil Champain of 3FF about its youth engagement. In the second of these there were reflections on the hate crime related section of the Integrated Communities Strategy Green Paper and on the role of inter faith organisations and educational and academic bodies in providing resources and skills for tackling hate and prejudice and how they are currently engaged with these topics. There were also round table updates on member bodies' current inter faith work and issues of concern to them and a number of IFN matters including membership fees and ways of working.

Working for solidarity

IFN's Co-Chairs wrote to IFN's member bodies on 18 May underlining the importance of standing up for each other saying, "The significance of faith communities standing up for each other to oppose prejudice and hatred has been underlined in a number of contexts this week. In a context where events here or overseas can have impact on inter faith relations, solidarity and continued extending of the hand of neighbourly friendship are particularly important. IFN member bodies' work in this regard continues to be vital" and drawing attention to some IFN's publications with particular relevance, especially Looking After One Another <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/looking-after-one-another-the-safety-and-security-of-our-faith-communities-2017> and <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/lets-talk-practical-pointers-for-inter-faith-dialogue>.

INTER FAITH PROJECTS, PROGRAMMES AND DEVELOPMENTS

Sport and inter faith relations

In recent e-bulletins there has been information about the event that IFN held with Sporting Equals on ‘Using the Power of Sport to Build Good Inter Faith Relations’ in Inter Faith Week last year. For the report on this event, see <https://www.interfaith.org.uk/resources/using-the-power-of-sport-to-build-good-inter-faith-relations>.

Sport and physical activity are enjoyable and important in their own right. They can also be valuable tools for creating and deepening understanding between people of different Backgrounds – young and old. During May IFN has been profiling some of the many ways that sport and physical activity can help build inter faith understanding and cooperation on Twitter and Facebook. www.twitter.com/ifnetuk www.facebook.com/ifnetuk

The IFN office, in consultation with Sporting Equals, circulated member bodies in May with ideas for using sport as a catalyst for building bridges and supporting greater integration. These can be seen at www.interfaith.org.uk/activity/sport.

Faith and Belief Inclusion Charter

The Three Faiths Forum relaunched at the beginning of May as the Faith and Belief Forum. It has produced a new Faith and Belief Inclusion Charter intended to “establish a supportive network of those who believe in a diverse society which is welcoming to all people, of all backgrounds and beliefs”. Its principles are outlined thus:

- “We believe in an inclusive society where people of different faiths and beliefs have strong and positive relations. We believe that intolerance has no place in our communities or workplaces, and that diversity adds value to our society.
- By connecting people of different faiths and beliefs, we can create a society which is fair to people of all backgrounds – religious and non-religious. We encourage people to engage more across differences and learn to understand each other better.
- We recognise the need to create a more positive conversation about faith and belief in our communities and in all of the UK. We will have these conversations in a spirit of mutual respect and curiosity, and be open to different perspectives.”

Signatories of the Charter will commit “to working together in a spirit of partnership to promote good relations between people of different beliefs in our communities, workplaces and wider society.” To read more, including how to sign up, visit <https://faithbeliefforum.org/>.

Inter faith iftars

The period of Ramadan observed by Muslims began on the evening 16/17 May. Throughout the UK many Muslim communities are inviting their neighbours and people of other faiths to join them as they break their fast at the end of the day at an inter faith iftar meal. For example, Christian, Hindu and Sikh guests and others joined Muslims in breaking the fast at the invitation of the Maidenhead Mosque. <https://www.maidenhead-advertiser.co.uk/gallery/maidenhead/131720/people-of-different-faiths-gather-to-break-ramadan-fast.html>

A number of mosques and other bodies are hosting inter faith events as part of the Big Iftar. Many of these are listed at <http://www.thebigiftar.org/events/> Some places of worship of other faith communities are also holding iftars with their Muslim friends, such as the Alyth Synagogue in London which is holding a 'kosher iftar' for the fifth year in a row, <http://www.thebigiftar.org/event/alyth-synagogue/>.

Local inter faith organisations, such as Barnet Multi Faith Forum and Epsom and Ewell Inter Faith Forum, are also hosting inter faith events including iftars throughout June. This is as part of their overall programmes which also see marking of other key faith community periods and festivals such as Diwali.

This year, Ramadan and the Jewish festival of Shavuot coincided and a special joint gathering was held by young Jews and Muslims at Moishe House in London. <https://faithbeliefforum.org/moishe-house-shavout-iftar/>

21 for 21 – Abrahamic Inter faith youth project

The Church Times, British Muslim TV and Jewish News, together with Coexist House, have launched a competition to find 21 young inter faith leaders who have worked to break down barriers between Christians, Muslims and Jews. The project hopes to highlight the value of inter faith dialogue and activity, and the winners' work will be showcased in print and on air across the three media organisations. The project will conclude with an awards ceremony hosted by the Archbishop of Canterbury at Lambeth Palace during Inter Faith Week in November.

For more information, and to nominate a person aged under 35 to become one of the 21 young leaders, visit <https://21421.co.uk/>. Nominations close on 29 June, and will be selected by a panel of faith leaders, inter faith practitioners and others from across the three faith traditions.

Women Peace-ing Together

Leeds Concord Interfaith Fellowship's women's group have been making letter-flags that will spell out 'Women Peace-ing Together'. They will be contributing to a display in Leeds City Museum's Broderick Hall later in the year, commemorating the 100th Anniversary of the WWI Armistice with symbols of peace.

A number of the group are also featured in an exhibition entitled 'A Woman's Place' at Abbey House Museum, which features stories and objects from strong, pioneering women from 1860 to the present day.

Watford Interfaith Association Peace Garden

Watford Interfaith Association's Peace Garden has been opened to the public by the Mayor Dorothy Thornhill, who is a patron, at a multi faith ceremony. It contains a labyrinth with grassed seating, flower beds, special trees and a specially donated bench. It was initiated by the Watford Interfaith Association (WIFA) five years ago starting from a half acre plot of rough ground in the Orchard. Volunteers from various faith groups and others have worked hard to create the labyrinth from scratch and dug flower beds and mowed the long grass. Last Autumn many members of different faiths came together over two days to plant 2,000 bulbs in the garden.

RESOURCES AND STUDY/TRAINING

ACAS guidance on religion or belief and the workplace

The Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS) has published Religion or belief: key points for the workplace. The guidance offers employers, managers, HR professionals, employees, trade union representatives and job applicants advice on how to avoid discrimination taking place in the workplace on the grounds of religion or belief. It also offers good practice advice on dealing with these matters should they arise. The guidance advises on how to create inclusive workplaces, where religion and belief are respected, and where people of different faiths and beliefs feel they belong. It can be downloaded from <http://www.acas.org.uk/media/pdf/a/p/Religion-or-belief-discrimination-key-points-for-the-workplace.pdf>.

GEO guidance on workplace dress codes

The Government Equalities Office (GEO) has published a guidance document, Dress codes and sex discrimination: what you need to know, for employers who set dress codes and employees and job applicants who may have to abide by them.

Among its findings, the report notes that employers should be flexible and not set dress codes which prohibit religious symbols that do not interfere with an employee's work; and that if an employer wants to implement a dress code or uniform policy, it must ensure that this does not directly or indirectly discriminate against employees with a particular religion or belief or no religion or belief. Reflection document on faith and forced migration

Christian Aid Scotland and Scottish Faiths Action for Refugees have published a new theological reflection on migration. Becoming Human Together is the name of a new resource exploring Christian theology from the Reformed tradition as it relates to faith and forced migration. It is interspersed with real life stories of people who have direct experience of forced migration, and examples of how churches and faith groups in Scotland can respond.

It can be downloaded at <http://www.sfar.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2018/05/Becoming-Human-Together.pdf>.

Prisons and the role of faith-based organisations

‘What works in prisons? Contributions of the Faith and Voluntary Sector to Prisoners and their Families’, was launched this week at an event in Parliament with the All-Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) on Faith and Society and the APPG on Penal Affairs. The report highlights the different kinds of support that faith-based organisations provide for prisoners, whether by supporting them with their individual faith, or with other practical and emotional needs. It illustrates the often innovative approaches they take – approaches which also offer considerable value for money. And it also considers the important work of the wider voluntary sector.

The report was produced by FaithAction for the APPG on Faith and Society, which is chaired by the Rt Hon Stephen Timms MP, and for which FaithAction provides the secretariat. Further information, including the full report is available at <http://www.faithaction.net/news/2018/05/17/new-from-faithaction-what-works-in-prisons/>.

Faith Awareness course, Leicester

Christians Aware is holding its next Faith Awareness course on Monday evenings from 4 June to 2 July. The course offers “opportunities for encounter between members of all faiths in the hope that participants will seek to develop mutual understanding, trust and respect, not hiding difference, and recognising the uniqueness and special contribution of each faith to its people and to the world”. Participants will visit a different place of worship each week and will involve meeting and talking with members of different communities, and finding out how the spaces are used for special occasions. For more information including the full programme, visit <https://www.stphilipscentre.co.uk/faith-awareness-summer-course-visiting-places-of-worship> or contact Eliam Ngoma on 01162 540 770 or at eliam@christiansaware.f9.co.uk.

CALLS FOR INFORMATION, COMPETITIONS, AND NOMINATIONS

FaithAction – Anti-human trafficking survey

FaithAction is seeking responses to a survey about the level of interest in, and knowledge of, human trafficking and modern slavery among faith-based organisations in the UK. It is part of a research project carried out in conjunction with the Universities of Sheffield and Leeds, and funded by the Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC).

The responses gathered will contribute to the design of workshops and activities for faith-based organisations interested in getting more involved in anti-trafficking. The information may be used to contribute to research findings on faith-based responses to anti-trafficking.

The survey will be open until 15 June. For more information, contact info@faithaction.net.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES

Near Neighbours grants programme re-opening in June

The Near Neighbours programme is reopening in June. It will again be offering small grants of between £250 and £5,000, as seed funding for local groups and organisations working in a number of areas of England to bring together neighbours, and to develop relationships across diverse faiths and ethnicities to improve their communities.

As part of the criteria, projects should:

- Bring together peoples of two or more different faiths and/or ethnicities, to build friendships and develop relationships of trust.
- Work locally - the programme wants to see people who are living very locally (ie in the same street, estate or neighbourhood) come together.
- Work sustainably - the programme wants to see long term and natural relationships grow, that will last beyond the period of funding.
- Work to improve the community – the programme wants to see people working to make their communities a better place to live.

- Involve diverse people in planning and implementation. People from more than one faith group and/or ethnicity are involved in planning and implementing the proposal.

For more information, visit <https://www.cuf.org.uk/near-neighbours-small-grants> or email near.neighbours@cuf.org.uk with general enquiries.

SUPPORT THE INTER FAITH NETWORK'S WORK TO INCREASE INTER FAITH UNDERSTANDING AND COOPERATION

We need your help to ensure that the Inter Faith Network for the UK's work to promote inter faith understanding and cooperation continues and grows, helping people of all backgrounds to live and work together with mutual respect and shared commitment to the common good.

Gifts at all levels are much valued and make a real difference. You can donate directly at www.interfaith.org.uk/donate or via PayPal or JustGiving at <https://www.justgiving.com/interfaithnetwork-uk>

Donations can also be made by sending a cheque to The Inter Faith Network for the UK, 2 Grosvenor Gardens, London SW1W 0DH.

REMEMBERING A FAMILY MEMBER OR FRIEND

If you would like to make a gift in memory of a loved one, please get in touch by emailing remember@interfaith.org.uk or call us on 0207 730 0410.

A GIFT IN YOUR WILL

By leaving a gift in your will to the Inter Faith Network for the UK, you can leave a living inheritance to help deepen and strengthen inter faith understanding and cooperation in this country – for now and for the future. If you are thinking about making a will, the best thing to do is to get in touch with a professional will writer, such as a solicitor or advocate; they can help to ensure it is legally correct and that your wishes are met. If you have already made a will, you can still make an addition or amendment in the form of a codicil. If you would like to pledge a gift, please provide our name and address, along with our registered charity number 1068934.

Please get in touch with us if you have any queries.
You can call us on 0207 730 0410 or contact us at remember@interfaith.org.uk

Thank you!
